

5-13-1933

Spectator 1933-05-13

Editors of The Spectator

Follow this and additional works at: <http://scholarworks.seattleu.edu/spectator>

---

Recommended Citation

Editors of The Spectator, "Spectator 1933-05-13" (1933). The Spectator. 14.
<http://scholarworks.seattleu.edu/spectator/14>

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks @ SeattleU. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Spectator by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks @ SeattleU.

SPECIAL

Vol. 1. No. 14.

Seattle College Week Ending May 13, 1933.

MOTHERS TO ATTEND BREAKFAST!

SCHOOL YEAR

DRAWS TO CLOSE!

Time marches on, and in three more weeks school will again be dismissed for the summer vacation. No doubt many of us are already beginning to crave for the coming examinations.

But before the examinations, and probably sometime during next week, a student body meeting will be held.

The primary purpose of this meeting will be to elect the student body officers for the coming school year, and all the students are urged to be in attendance and to vote for the various officers.

Among other business to be brought up at the meeting, there will in all probability be something said about school colors and the awarding of letters, and likewise about the picnic.

As this will probably be the last meeting of the year and the final business will be settled, you are again urged, one and all, to attend.

E.S.

FINAL PICNIC

PLANS COMPLETED!

Plans for the picnic have been completed and are now being executed. After execution they will be carried out.

Arrangements have been made to have plenty to eat and drink. This can be done very reasonably, as Frank O'Leary will purchase the pop, ice-cream, and sandwiches at wholesale prices.

The cost of the rolls, cakes, hot-dogs, etc. will be taken care of with the 25¢ fee to be extracted from each student.

The call for cars has been issued and any student who can bring a car that day is asked to hand in his name to Jim Casey together with the number he can carry.

Likewise, if anyone can donate a cake he is urged to give his name to Harold Malone.

The 25¢ fee will be collected next week, and we take this opportunity to remind every student to please remember this fee.

J.G.

ALL SET FOR

MOTHERS'DAY BREAKFAST!

Friday, May 12, marks a red-letter day for the students of Seattle College. For then, at 9:00 A.M., at the Seattle College High School Chapel, Mass is to be celebrated, with breakfast immediately following, for the mothers of the students.

The students have all sent invitations to their respective mothers and we hope to see a 100% turnout of both mothers and sons.

For those students whose mothers are dead, let us remind them that this is the best way in which they can pay honor and respect to them.

We are confident, therefore, that each and every student will be there with his mother, if possible.

We have been attempting to make this Mothers-day breakfast an annual affair and have so far been successful.

And so, if each student will cooperate by being there, we are sure it will continue being successful.

We kindly ask each one of you to bring the small sum of 10¢ to help defray expenses.

THINGS I NEVER KNEW TILL NOW

That the hoarders have been hoarding for decades. More than $472,000,000 worth of the old type (large paper) money has never been exchanged for the new and smaller paper currency.

A New York judge fined a starving artist named Paul Rahm $2 or 2 days - because the hungry man drew a picture of the Akron with chalk on a pavement - and got some needed coins from passersby. (hiss).

The students of McGill University have started a monocle wearing fad. (If you have tears - etc.).

That they are even perfuming (oh, you'll never guess this one) shoe polish. That's stooping pretty low.

The New York Museum is seeking permission to open Peter Stuyvesant's vault - in order to obtain his silver shaft and to settle the argument over which of his stems was phony.

The melody "42nd. St. was copped from Irving Berlin's "Putting on the Ritz" (Slightly changed, of course).

BOOKS

A PRIMER OF MONEY by Woodward and Rose.

The book explains simply and clearly the birth, growth, and development of money and monetary systems. It answers in the plainest and most direct manner, the questions the average citizen is asking these days, when the newspapers are full of monetary troubles and complications.

It is written with the assumption that the reader has read nothing else on the subject, has never studied economics, or that his school days are so far behind him that he has forgotten what he learned.

The book explains many theories, but advocates none, and is always careful to make extremely clear what is theory and what is conceded fact.

The book is particularly timely in 1933 but should be valuable for years to come, since whatever developments may take place in the financial world cannot affect the underlying principles it sets forth. Written in a semi-narrative style, the book is very engrossing and has been received favorably by all the leading critics.

SOME CALL IT HUMOR WIT OF THE WEAK.

Movie note: there is no truth to the rumor that Kate Smith has been signed to act the part of Queen Kong.

"Did you hear the story of the three aspirin tablets?"

"Huh?"

"Did you hear -"

"No!"

"Maybe I should have said the three Bayers."

(Who threw that?)

TRY THIS

Motor Cop: Hey, you! Didn't you hear me say, "Pull over there?"

Driver: Why, I thought you said "Good afternoon, Senator."

M.C. (Smiling): Isn't it a warm day, Senator?

She: "Are you thinking of me?"

Sylvester: "Oh, was I laughing? I'm sorry, pardon me."

They laughed when I said I could crack a joke, but they stopped when I cracked it.

We hear that Geis calls his razor little cut-up, but that's just a nickname.

And another glut-ton for punishment is the stammerer who started raising chrysanthemums.

****

A.O.