

10-26-1933

Spectator 1933-10-26

Editors of The Spectator

Follow this and additional works at: <http://scholarworks.seattleu.edu/spectator>

Recommended Citation

Editors of The Spectator, "Spectator 1933-10-26" (1933). The Spectator. 17.
<http://scholarworks.seattleu.edu/spectator/17>

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks @ SeattleU. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Spectator by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks @ SeattleU.

Remember the date—
November 11

Seattle College SPECTATOR

Remember the place—
Seattle Yacht Club

Volume II.

Seattle College, Seattle, Wash., Thursday, Oct. 26, 1933

Number 1

DATE SET FOR FIRST DANCE

Assembled Students Discuss Coming School Activities

At the opening meeting of the Student Body of Seattle College, held on Monday, October 9, Student Body President Wendel Shay gave the informal welcome to the new members of the association.

The first business up before the house was concerning the possibility of having a school paper, whether it would exist as second class printed matter or as the mimeographed expression of a schools' ambition and pride. After a lengthy discussion the matter was, in true congressional fashion, pigeon-holed until a later date. Since then, however, a small group of students met and decided on having a paper printed, and now the success of the paper is assured.

The next question raised was in regard to other activities of the student body. A series of dances was agreed upon, the first of which has been set for Saturday, November 11.

Calls for candidates for the dramatic and debating societies were then issued by Fr. Concannon,

Debating Society Holds Meeting

The Debating Society of Seattle College with Rev. Fr. John Concannon as Moderator held its opening debate of the year on Monday evening, October 16. The subject up for debate was, "Should the United States recognize Soviet Russia." Defending the affirmative were Rodney Macquaid, Edward Mayovsky, and James Casey, while the negative was upheld by Joseph Hurley, Herbert Conyne, and Bob Smith. The debate was very well represented, the negative winning by a vote of 7-4, the judges being the students themselves.

For Monday, October 23, the topic chosen was "Should Capital Punishment be Abolished." On the affirmative were Corrigan, Steele, and Mayovsky, while on the negative were Freeley, Maher, and Lecture.

The next argument will arise on October 30, with the question "Shall Cuba be Annexed" as the subject under discussion, Gallagher, Halpin, and Kline will advance the arguments of the affirmative, while their opponents will consist of Galvin, Brislaw, and Steele.

FATHER FITZGERALD ADDRESSES STUDENTS

On Friday, October 20, the Rev. Fr. Fitzgerald, S. J., Provincial of the Jesuit province of the Northwest, paid a visit of inspection to the school and while here delivered a brief message to the assembled students.

In his informal address he expressed his pleasure at the increased enrollment in the College and told of his special affection for the school wherein he was a teacher some twenty-five years ago. He expressed his confidence in the faculty and his desire that the students would cooperate with it in the fulfillment of the purposes of the college.

Particularly, he stressed the importance of the students as factors in the program of the Pope. In regard to Catholic Action itself, he said that it does not consist in a fanatical expenditure of energy to gain converts to its cause and the cause of the Church, and neither is it found exemplified in one who wanders about with a rosary in his hand, but lies in the greater personal sanctification of each of us.

He said further that the mere teaching of Catholic doctrine and philosophy in a secular institution would not be conducive to that personal godliness because that intangible something, which is the atmosphere of general spirituality which is found in and which emanates from a Catholic institution, would be lacking.

In concluding his short talk, Father Provincial told of some of the more interesting and humorous incidents which befell him on his recent visit to the Indian missions in his province.

Reception for New Bishop

On Friday, November 3, at 1 p.m., a reception for the new Bishop of Seattle will be held at Garrigan Gymnasium, located at Seattle College High School. It is planned that the College and High School attend as a body to greet the new leader. Music will be furnished by the High School Orchestra, and Student Body President Wendel Shay will deliver the introductory speech, to be followed by a few words from the Bishop. All are urged to attend and give to him the respect due one of his standing.

TICKETS ON SALE MONDAY

Informal to be Held November 11
At Seattle Yacht Club;
"Blue Lyres" Music

The Seattle Yacht Club, popular rendezvous for the younger set of the city, has been chosen by the Dance Committee of Seattle College as the setting for the opening of its social season. The date set is Saturday, November 11, at 9 p.m.

The student body cannot be exhorted too earnestly to turn out and make this, the first affair on our social calendar, a notable success.

Jim Casey, chairman of the committee, promises all a good time with the music of "Blue Lyres", Seattle's newest and most popular orchestra, fitting decorations, and tasty refreshments.

The committee is composed of the following: Georgina Kilkelly, Ray Basel, Morgan Boyle, Marjorie O'Neil, Emmett Freeley, Joe Hurley, Mary Jo Welch, Robert Lee, Maurice Maher, John Martin, Art Olmer, Frank O'Leary, Bernard Pearce, Leo Sebastian, Wendel Shay, and Ward Smith.

FATHER PRANGE ORGANIZES SODALITY

On Thursday, October 12, the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary held its initial meeting of the school year. An address was given to the "active" and prospective members of the organization by the College Moderator, Rev. Fr. Prange, during which he told of the organization of the Sodality in Seattle under Rev. Fr. Louis Fink S. J. of Seattle College High School.

The "active members" were given the privilege to elect officers from their own ranks for the year, the offices themselves to be mainly honorary positions. As a result of the elections, Mr. Bernard Ouellette was chosen President, Mr. Cadwell Corrigan received the office of Vice-President, Mr. Joseph Dobler that of Secretary-Treasurer, and Mr. Emmet Freeley, Sergeant-at-Arms.

These officers attended a meeting of the Sodality Union at the Knights of Columbus' on Sunday, October 16. The Union

(Continued on Page Three)

Seattle College Spectator

The Spectator is published semi-monthly by the students of Seattle College. Persons, other than students, desiring copies, should address the Business Manager.

Staff

EDITOREARL SIFFERMAN
 Assistant EditorWendel Jahn
 Business ManagerCarl Robinson
 Special Writers—Geis, Casey
 News—Shay, Freeley, McClaire, Townsend, Pearce, Steele
 AlumniMr. Howard Sylvester
 Faculty AdviserMr. Paul McLane

EDITORIAL

This, the first issue of the greatly improved Seattle College Spectator, is published with the hope and desire on the part of the editor and staff that it will meet with the whole-hearted approval of the students, the faculty, and the alumni. This is the first time that the task of publishing a printed paper has been undertaken by the students of Seattle College. Because of this fact the reader will realize that there are certain difficulties that must be overcome before attempting a paper of this kind. In reorganizing and rebuilding, as it were, the old Seattle College Spectator, the staff has taken upon its shoulders a definite responsibility, for hinging upon the present success or failure of the paper is the fate of future volumes. The paper then, in order to survive, must accomplish a dual purpose—it must be successful financially, and it must meet with the approval and the reasonable expectations of the students, the faculty, and the alumni.

For the past two weeks, two of the more active members of the staff have devoted the majority of their time in soliciting advertisers and subscribers, in order that the financial success of the paper might be assured. They have, to a large degree, accomplished their objective and the paper is now a reality. The remaining task is up to the students themselves and so we ask each and everyone of you to do your part toward making the paper a complete success. You can do this by paying the subscription fee at the earliest possible date, by reporting to the editor any interesting incidents, by writing humorous or news articles, and finally by offering any constructive criticism.

Remember that cooperation is the keynote of success.

Patronize Spectator Advertisers

At this time the Editor and Staff of the SPECTATOR earnestly exhort each and every one of the students, and subscribers to patronize, to their fullest abilities, the advertisers in this paper. The students will realize and must keep in mind the

MESSAGE FROM STUDENT PRESIDENT

We students should feel most grateful for being granted the blessed privilege of living under the influence and inspirations of the educational system of the successors of St. Ignatius Loyola. They aim to train us to be men imbued with the love and fear of God, and they are giving us a definite interpretation of life, a philosophy of life that brings each of us face to face with God as our First Cause and Last End and that urges us to deal with life's interior mental problems and to govern our external relations with other human beings in this light. An educational equipment of this kind begets certain obligations.

We are bound to carry out to men those Christian ideals which have been taught us here, the philosophy of human conduct which the world needs so badly today.

Another obligation is that of enthusiasm. We should realize that an institution such as ours is a veritable "voice crying out in the wilderness" against "the divinizations of human nature and the humanizations of God". Consequently, we should be proud and glad to belong to such a school, and we ought to appreciate our relationship to it. Each of us should take an interest in school affairs. We ought to recognize our relationship to one another and to the composite group as a whole.

We must put our studies first, and that for three reasons. First, we will receive the maximum from our college education and a great deal of pleasure, likewise, for hard work is a necessary background for the enjoyment of everything else.

Second, after the first few months we will stand in better with our fellow students. At first, cheaper roads to distinction appear, but their cheapness is soon found out. We can gain the highest respect of our fellows' best by showing that we can accomplish something that is intellectually difficult.

Third, our future career depends upon it and as Catholic college men we must study in order to bring to civilization the only hope of its preservation.

Having put study first let us realize that college is also a world artificially created for the express purpose of our development and enjoyment, and put college life a close second.—Wendel Shay

Alumni News

The Seattle College Alumni Association started off its year of 1933-34 with a real bang. At the year's first monthly meeting new officers were elected. President Walter Gallagher was succeeded by Howard Sylvester, and Malcom McKinnon was elected to the Vice-Presidency. The incoming president was given authority to select a Secretary-Treasurer. His choice was Tom McHugh, a very popular and devoted member of the Association.

The older members of the Alumni Association are desirous of seeing new blood in the organization. They have welcomed the younger members to carry on the splendid work which they have started.

As was expressed by President Sylvester in his acceptance speech, membership will be increased, new activities will be undertaken, and the Association will hold as its highest aim the welfare of the present students at Seattle College.

The Association's meeting has served as an ideal place for former students to gather and meet their old school chums. In this way many pleasant friendships have been renewed and others prolonged. This is a very encouraging feature of the Alumni Association. But with the growth of the College, there must also be a growth of the Alumni. If not a growth in membership, at least an improvement and advancement in their work.

With a knowledge of its newly acquired obligation, that is, of cooperating with the students in every activity that will be of benefit to the College, the Association sets out with a firm resolve to back to the limit whatever will make for a greater Seattle College.

A great school is slowly arising at Broadway and Madison and the members of the Alumni Association eagerly look forward to the future Seattle College. Every former student is called upon to lend some of his time and energy in building this great school that is slowly but surely evolving.

The night school at the College was established primarily to aid older students. If the Association will take upon itself the duty of helping the night school, it will be performing a great task and one for which it will be commended. Members of the Association are continually contacting prospective students. And herein lies the possibility of doubling the enrollment at the night school and, at the same time, giving financial aid to the College. For with every new student there comes additional financial assistance to the College.

When the Alumni Association considers that at this time the night school can best be helped merely by sending friends and acquaintances there, they will find that their task is small.

Compliments of
FRANK M. EGAN
Attorney-at-Law

ELiot 0101 1001 Smith Tower

Compliments of
DR. GEO. R. MARSHALL

ATHLETIC STOCK BOOSTED AS NEW STUDENTS ENROLL

With a considerable increase of students we look forward to a greater year of athletics at the College. The basketball team of last year, which fared none too well in junior college competition, remains intact, and to bolster the squad some new talent has come to the school. When Ed Mayovsky, Herb Conyne, and Hal Gilham joined our ranks, basketball stock jumped 30 points. Initial turnouts will begin some time after November 15 and, as far as is known at present, Dr. James Logan, former star at Creighton University, will again boss the casaba boys.

In addition to basketball, three new sports—baseball, golf, and tennis, have found champions among the students.

The national sport will no doubt make its bow again at Seattle College after an absence of many years, since there are a number of promising high school lettermen now enrolled. Former prep stars include Hal Gilham, all-city pitcher of two years ago, Fred Marino, Jim Twohig, Joe Hurley, Jim Casey, Herb Conyne, Wendel Shay, Ray Basel, Art Olmer, and Ray Brotherton.

Earl Sifferman, Art Olmer, and Bill McClaire will carry the colors of the school in that fascinating game of golf, while John Martin, Jack Gallagher, Earl Sifferman, and Leo Sebastian are the tennis stars.

RELIGIOUS ARTICLES MAKE THE
MOST ACCEPTABLE GIFTS
THE KAUFER CO.
CATHOLIC SUPPLY HOUSE
1904 4th at Stewart

WASHINGTON TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY
L. S. Booth, Treasurer

EMPIRE LAUNDRY CO.
Dry Cleaning
MAin 1849

NEUPERT & CO.
Good Groceries at Cut Prices
STALLS 18-25 FIRST and PIKE
Corner Public Market, Lower Floor
Phone MAIN 6996

Indian Summer Hits Seniors

Looks like the Last of the Mohicans are gathered together for a final pow-wow. There's old "medicine" man Harrington smoking his pipe of peace yet, and uttering words of wisdom. Big Tyee O'Callaghan seems to be as interested as ever in his "fire-water". Frank O'Leary crawls into the tepee now and then, while a new blood of another tribe has joined the grunting redskins and has the name of Jack McMullen carved on his bow and arrows. Townsend, the snake charmer, is still "wrapped up" in his business, and from all signs it appears that these elders will stick together now until they reach the happy hunting ground.

Wit of the Weak

A jellyfish cannot wear suspenders.
Typewriters were not found in King Tut's tomb.

A pin has a head on only one end.
Indians did not invent the "whooping cough".

It is dangerous to wear a bottle of nitroglycerine for a watch-charm.

Never eat canned corn without first removing the can.

A magazine article states that racehorses do not eat the day before the race.
That's nothing. Often McGinley doesn't eat for days after the race.

A Word From the Freshmen
Resolved,—that we, of the Freshman Class, shall endeavor to uphold the good name of Seattle College and to live up to the expectations that the clergy and laity of the diocese have of this Catholic institution of higher learning.—Bernard Pearce

Phone ELiot 0242
MERZ SHEET METAL WORKS
NEW AND REPAIR WORK FOR Industrial Plants, Residences
Frank J. Merz, Prop. 208 Jackson St.

DRAMATICS

"Stop Thief", a three-act farce by Carlyle Moore, will be presented this quarter by the Dramatic Society of Seattle College, organized at the first of the year by Rev. Fr. Concannon.

Initial practice for the play started on Tuesday evening, October 10. Students appearing were cast as follows:

Joan, Margaret Peabody; Mrs. Carr, Mary Jo Conley; Caroline, Mary Jo Welch; Madge, Georgina Kilkelly; Nell, Jane Prouty; Mr. Carr, Emmet Freeley; Cluney, Allan Steele; Jamison, John Martin; Dr. Willoughby, Jim Casey; Rev. Mr. Spelain, Gene Galvin; Jack Doogan, Jack Gallagher; Joe Thompson, Hal Gilham; Police Sergeant, Frank Harrington.

Sodality Organized

(Continued from Page One)

includes every Catholic high school in the city, and the Providence and Columbus Schools of Nursing. Seattle College, the infant member, was wholeheartedly welcomed into the Union by Rev. Fr. Fink. A temporary chairman, Mr. Deady, was elected.

The Sodality was instituted to give honor in a special manner to Our Blessed Mother and to propagate the faith of her Divine Son. That it is accomplishing these things is widely acknowledged.

Martin—"Great Scott! I've forgotten who wrote 'Ivanhoe'."

Olmer—"I'll tell you if you tell me who the Dickens wrote 'Tale of Two Cities'."
Oh! Oh!

SCIENTIFIC SUPPLIES CO.
Laboratory Apparatus and Reagents
For Physical, Biological and Chemical Laboratories
123 Jackson St.

With best wishes to the Spectator
FRANK M. PETSCHL
QUALITY MEATS
Institution and Restaurant Specialists
1901 Pike Place (Foot of Stewart St.)
Phone ELiot 2871

Young People Who Are Particular About Their Associates . . .

Dance at FAUROT'S

EVERY FRIDAY NIGHT — :: — Boys 35c — Girls 25c

NEW CLASS FRIDAY, 7:30 P.M. 8 LESSONS $3.50
Nov. 3rd

13th and East Pike

Afternoon Classes Well Filled

The latest innovation at Seattle College, afternoon classes for young women, is, judging by its popularity, very successful.

Every Tuesday and Thursday at 1 p.m., Father McGoldrick presides over a large class in Psychology. Perhaps these young men and women are not all future Ph.D.'s, but at least they are intent upon gaining as much knowledge of their subject as a year will permit.

The Spanish Class which meets at 1 p.m. on Mondays and Tuesdays is under the capable direction of Fr. Concannon. The class consists of but five young men at present, but it is hoped that in the near future there will be a greater influx of students.

Chemistry is taught daily during the first period by Mr. Marshall. On laboratory days, which occur twice each week, the period lasts for two hours.

Daily at 2 p.m. Father Prange takes eight boys and five girls under his wing and teaches them the rudiments of College Physics. Their laboratory classes occur on Wednesdays and Fridays and also last two hours each.

Next comes Mr. McLane's class of English to a large class of girls at 3 o'clock, while Father Nichols explains the mysteries of irregular French verbs to his half-dozen French students at the same hour. That period is complete with Fr. Reidy's class of Ethics, while the Logic class from four to five o'clock writes "finis" to the school day.

Sophs Have Troubles

The Second Year Latin Class, having been forced to hold its sessions in no less than three different rooms in as many days, and having been politely but firmly ejected from the best classrooms in the building, is becoming inured to the vicissitudes of college life.

Last week the members of that group had resigned themselves to the fate of studying Latin in the Lounge, but some over-zealous creature found the Freshman room unoccupied. The critter is still at large.

Peeping Tom

Townsend in golf knickers . . . Jahn cultivating his sour-dough mustache . . . "Dynamite" Macquaid going around end—with a knapsack . . . O'Leary and Fr. Reidy deep in a discussion of metaphysics . . . Finn with the Interbay element at the Seattle College-O'Dea game . . . Some of the boys at the "Black and Tan" . . . Martin and Jahn taking up dancing seriously . . . Tembruell using his money machine in the smoking room . . . Harrington with last year's pipe . . . Lucid betting with the faculty . . . Mary Lou Dodge playing timekeeper . . . Hurley and Conyne crying after the O'Dea game . . . Robinson and Jahn getting ads . . . McGinley longing for the horseraces . . . Marjorie O'Neill late for Physics Class . . . Freeley with his new "wolf" dog . . . Steve Bezick slinging shakes for Horluck's . . . Steele on his way to Tacoma, but WHY?

The favorite pastime of a certain Freshman is to "sleep off" the morning classes. This peculiarity is accounted for in some quarters as being merely an eccentricity of a genius. It has been observed, however, that the majority of the students have simpler words to express his case.

"Shush!" said O'Callaghan who had just fled a group of boresome misses. "I'm a fugitive from a Jane gang!"

One of the unappreciated heroes of the College is Bob Lee, Freshman. His is the duty to announce the end of each class by ringing the school bell. Many a student has been saved just in the nick of time from a self-condemning recitation by Bob's timely action.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS—IT PAYS!

Compliments of

JOHN P. GALLAGHER
Attorney-at-Law

L. STAVIG

Fancy Groceries and Meats
1002 23rd Avenue North
P.Rospect 0500

Eat

FRIGID-ZONE
Shrimp Meat

ALUMNI

DO YOUR PART

Subscribe Now

And Help Us Make
This Paper A Success

SUBSCRIPTION RATE

ONE DOLLAR

PER YEAR

COMPLIMENTS
OF A FRIEND

Compliments of
STANLEY J. PADDEN
—and—
CHARLES P. MORIARITY

Compliments of
EDWARD L. COCHRANE
Attorney-at-Law

Compliments of
JOHN L. CORRIGAN
Attorney-at-Law

MAIN 5120 511 Olive Street
Med.-Dent. Bldg.
WESTERN OPTICAL CO.
PRESCRIPTION OPTICIANS
J. Charles D'Amico

WORLD WIDE RECEPTION
—on—

SHORT WAVE SETS

BUY SETS AND PARTS FOR RECEIVING and TRANSMITTING at lowest prices at

MAin 3195 WEDEL CO. 520
INC. 2nd