Doctor of Laws Honoris Causa

At this convocation for the Commencement Exercises of 1966, the faculty of Seattle University and its administrative officers, together with the members of the graduating class, their parents, families and friends, join in academic tribute to four eminently notable leaders whose varied and significant achievements have enriched the time and society in which we live.

Seattle University is proud on this occasion to confer the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, upon the following distinguished citizens:

HENRY BRODERICK, LL. D.

Upon one of Seattle's first citizens and elder statesmen, who is an honored member of the University family. A legendary figure in his own lifetime, his career spans the years of transformation of the City of Seattle from a frontier outpost on Puget Sound to a metropolitan expanse of steel and stone. A man in the mold of Yesler, Denny and Mercer, he has left his stamp on our city and has helped form its unique character.

As an original member of its Board of Regents, he has had a close and enduring relationship with the University and his contributions to its development have been manifold. He is equally renowned as a guardian of our Northwest heritage and as an intimate chronicler of its culture and history. His writings have become a priceless legacy.

Upon Henry Broderick, respected business leader, moulder of our community, friend and builder of Seattle University.

KENNETH MELVIN HARDEN, LL.D.

Upon an outstanding member of our economic society, whose corporate "green thumb" has infused new life and vigor into the organizations with which he has been associated. An enlightened economic leader, his efforts and skills for the development of both mass and quality education through the Encyclopedia Britannica and the Great Books programs have brought these primary sources of knowledge within reach of all segments of our society.

Now engaged in a challenging new enterprise, he has given his corporation a new dynamism and made it a major producer of sophisticated instrumentation for our space and defense systems and a pioneer in the development and sales of new optical systems and equipment.

Upon Kenneth Melvin Harden, outstanding economic citizen, stimulator of the search for knowledge and new techniques, born in this Puget country, generous friend of Seattle University.

VERY REV. JOHN JOSEPH KELLEY, S.J., LL. D.

Upon a priest, notable for direction and command, the current provincial superior of the Oregon members of the Society of Jesus, whose fresh and stimulating address at yesterday's Baccalaureate Mass has appropriately set the tone of these observances. Appointed to his responsible position for his prudence, wisdom and far-reaching energies, he has under his leadership the diverse and significant affairs of all the Jesuits in five Northwestern states and in one of the emergent nations of Africa.

As he has served as an adviser for his Order's reorganizational council in Rome, so no less significant have been his prior achievements during the 15 years he served as an administrator of this University which does him honor today. His active and intimate contributions to the University's emergence as a major educational force are a legacy shared alike by this afternoon's graduates and by all who will follow them.

Upon John Joseph Kelley, exemplary follower of Ignatius, able administrator, shaper of Seattle University.

WARREN GRANT MAGNUSON, LL. D.

Upon the esteemed senior senator from our state, whose commanding seniority and distinguished leadership in the legislative councils of this nation distinctively serve that land, this state and our educational enterprise. His perceptive and active interest in the broad sweep of human affairs has brought valued legislation in diverse areas ranging from terrestrial commerce to space exploration.

A graduate of this state's major public university, his impartial concern for both public and private education has been a vital force in the formation of national educational policy and has contributed greatly to the preservation of the traditionally dualistic character of American higher education. No less important have been his efforts in the harnessing of science and technology to the public good. Among the fruits of his concern are the National Science Foundation, our educational television system, and the National Cancer Institute.

Upon Warren Grant Magnuson, lawmaker and statesman, preserver of public and private education, protector of the commonweal.

Academic Costume

The caps, gowns and hoods universally worn by faculties and candidates for degrees at graduating exercises are a costume dating back to the Twelfth Century. In medieval days the scholars were clerics; the buildings were cold; capes and hoods were required for warmth, and robes of scholars were similar to the cassocks of the clerics.

In the course of years of development, caps with tassels have replaced capes for the head covering, the hooded cape has been modified into the present hood, and the gowns with long flowing sleeves have been redesigned to indicate the character of the degree of the wearer. In 1893, a student movement in the United States endorsed academic apparel as overcoming awkwardness and difference in dress at graduation exercises and resulted in a standardization of academic costume in this country.

The Intercollegiate Code, adopted in 1895, recognizes three styles of gowns: a bachelor's gown, a master's gown, and a doctor's gown. The differences in these gowns are mainly in the cut and shape of the sleeves and in the trimming. Hoods are also recognized for each of the above degrees and vary in shape, size and length. The shell of the hood matches the black material of the gown, and is lined with the color or colors of the institution conferring the degree. The velvet bordering of the hood is of a color indicative of the field of learning to which the degree pertains. The Oxford cap, proper for all degrees, is worn both indoors and outdoors with academic costume. The tassel, worn over the left eye once the degree is conferred, is also symbolic of the degree and conforms to the code of colors for hood trimming. Prior to the actual conferring of the degree the tassel is worn over the right eye. Holders of doctor's degrees are entitled to wear a gold tassel. The tassel of a bachelor's degree indicates the field in which the degree is granted. The color for each field of learning follows:

Arts and Letters	White	Library Science	Lemon
Theology and Divinity	Scarlet	Education	Ice Blue
Laws	Purple	Forestry	Russet
Philosophy	Blue	Commerce and Finance	Olive Drab
Science	Golden Yellow	Engineering	Orange
Medicine	Green	Nursing	Apricot
Dentistry	Lilac	Physical Education	Sage Green
Veterinary Science	Gray	Agriculture	Maize
Fine Arts	Brown	Economics	Copper
Music	Pink
