Honorary Degrees

JAMES R. ELLIS

James R. Ellis, you are an attorney and civic leader whose contributions to life in our region cannot truly be measured.

You have enriched the lives of us all with your ability to envision our future needs and with your selfless dedication, wisdom and courage in finding solutions to our critical and complex urban problems.

All of us have profited greatly from your leadership in the creation of an agency, Metro, to clean up our polluted waters; from your work to develop a countywide transit system; and from your service as president of Forward Thrust, Inc., a program which has resulted in public authorization for the Kingdome, the marine aquarium, Freeway Park and many other parks and public improvements throughout the Puget Sound area.

You also led the public effort to protect endangered farmlands and lent your support to higher education through your tenure on the University of Washington Board of Regents.

Your dedication to public causes is evidenced not only in your activities locally, but in your service as a director of the Ford Foundation, and in your many national awards and honors.

As grateful as we are for your efforts, our gratitude will not equal that of the future citizens of this area. To that next generation you have insured an opportunity to preserve and carry on the privileged and much envied life we lead here in Seattle, King County and the Northwest.

Your life's work has been an illuminating and unparalleled example of what a civic-minded spirit can accomplish.

Upon you, James R. Ellis, Seattle University proudly confers the degree Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

ANN IDA GANNON

Ann Ida Gannon, you are a woman with vision and foresight, one whose pioneering effort in creating programs in higher education for all adults, but especially for women, has been extraordinary.

You are a philosopher, a dedicated woman religious, a former college president, and a Christian leader who believes in and is devoted to the principle of equality for women in our society. Your efforts for many years have helped open doors for women, educating and preparing them for a number of roles.

For eighteen years, as President of Mundelein College in Chicago, you did not waver in your devotion to the cause of higher education. Retiring as President of Mundelein in 1975, you returned to a long-favored position, that of professor of philosophy.

Your intellect, experience and wisdom have been widely recognized by business, industry and education as well as by the Church and the civic community, and you have served as an adviser to a wide variety of these organizations.

You continue to give sterling witness through your unique contributions as woman, as religious, as educator — influencing, challenging and forging ahead to teach the values, goals and realities of a Christian and humanistic life.

Upon you, Sister Ann Ida Gannon, BVM, Seattle University proudly confers the degree Doctor of Humanities, honoris causa.

JOHN D. SPELLMAN

John D. Spellman, you are a public official whose integrity, compassion and leadership are strongly and singularly reflected in your life's work, service to others.

As a King County Commissioner, the first King County Executive and now as Governor of the State of Washington, your efforts as a public servant have exemplified the highest of values and fulfilled the inviolate trust placed in you by the citizenry.

For eleven years as King County Executive, your leadership shaped the successful development of a new form of government in a most diverse and rapidly changing area.

Your work in initiating policies and programs that have benefited the elderly, improved medical care, protected undeveloped lands and constructed one of the most successful multi-purpose stadium complexes in the nation, is distinguished evidence of your sincere concern for people and for the quality of life in our region.

From the day 32 years ago when you were the valedictorian of the Seattle University graduating class of 1949, through this year when you and your wife Lois received the Outstanding Alumni Award from this institution, you and your family have retained a close association with Seattle University.

Your life and career have mirrored the very purpose and mission inherent in a Jesuit education — leadership, service and a commitment to values.

Upon you, John D. Spellman, alumnus, Seattle University proudly confers the degree Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

REVEREND THEODORE M. HESBURGH, C.S.C.

PRESENTED APRIL 23, 1981

Distinguished university president and faithful priest, you have devoted your energy and spirit as the longest in office of presidents of major American universities, in this twenty-ninth year of your Presidency at the University of Notre Dame.

Renowned for your role as contemporary statesman in American education, you personally have interwoven the areas of education, government, and public affairs with your spiritual integrity, achieving the highest respect among Americans not only within the field of education, but in all sectors of our society. Chief among your contributions as educator, religious, scholar, author, statesman, university president for three decades is your keen insight and personal commitment to civil rights and international development. Appointed chairman of the United States Commission on Civil Rights, you established at Notre Dame a Center for the Study of Human Rights which promotes the cause of human dignity in this country and abroad. You have won admiration and acclaim for your firm belief in interdependence of the earth's people as the key to human survival.

Seeking the common welfare and spiritual dignity of all people, you served as United States ambassador to the United Nations conference on the transfer of technology from developed to underdeveloped countries. Recognizing the courageous pursuit of independent and religious freedom in oppressed people, you are chairman of the Select Commission of Refugee and Immigration Policy which recommended revisions in current laws to the President. Your contributions to Catholic higher education are well documented and cannot truly be measured but are reflected in your leadership of the International Federation of Catholic Universities.

In recognition of the highest human and spiritual values you represent and of the service of others you exemplify, Seattle University proudly confers upon you, Theodore M. Hesburgh of the Congregation of Holy Cross, President of the University of Notre Dame for twenty-nine years, the degree of Doctor of Humanities, honoris causa.

HONORS PROGRAM GRADUATES

Seattle University Humanities Honors Program was founded in 1958. The two-year program is a historically ordered, integrated study of the great thinkers of the western world designed to create and stimulate a broad appreciation and a critical awareness of human thought and achievement in the socio-cultural context. After completing the Honors Program, students pursue degree requirements in a specific major.

The following graduates have completed the program, Leslie Ann Budewitz (English); Rex Thomas Elliott (Political Science); Larry Allen Erickson (History); Brian Thomas Kelly (History); Kelly William Knox (Drama); Joseph Ransom LaCugna (Philosophy); Caroline Ann Leachtenauer (Political Science); Craig Michael McAllister (Philosophy and Chemistry); Kelli Jayn Nichols (English); Brian Lavern Placzek (English); and David C. Smith (Philosophy and Chemistry).

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The presidential medallion is the badge of office worn by the University president on formal academic occasions.

The medallion is triangular, carrying forward the motif of the University mace, and symbolizing both the Triune God and the triality of man, creature of body, mind and spirit.

The front surface of the medallion is of etched bronze and carries elements of the University seal. At the top are the letters IHS, drawn from the Greek spelling of Jesus and especially appropriate to the University which is conducted by the Society of Jesus. The American eagle and shield signify the relationship of the University to the nation it serves.

Two wolves hovering over a large pot symbolize the generosity of the house of Loyola, family of the founder of the Society of Jesus, and seven diagonal stripes indicate awards for valor made to the family.

In the lower portion, the crescent is the sign of the Immaculate Conception, patroness of the University; the evergreen tree represents the state in which it is located; and the tepee commemorates Chief Seattle, whose name the University and the city in which it is located both bear.

The reverse side of the medallion is of sterling silver and is engraved with the name of the University in Latin and the date of its founding.

Academic Costume

The caps, gowns and hoods universally worn by faculties and candidates for degrees at graduating exercises are a costume dating back to the Twelfth Century. In medieval days the scholars were clerics; the buildings were cold; capes and hoods were required for warmth, the robes of scholars were similar to the cassocks of the clerics.

In the course of years of development, caps with tassels have replaced capes for the head covering, the hooded cape has been modified into the present hood, and the gowns with long flowing sleeves have been redesigned to indicate the character of the degree of the wearer. In 1893, a student movement in the United States endorsed academic apparel as overcoming awkwardness and difference in dress at graduation exercises and resulted in a standardization of academic costume in this country.

The Intercollegiate Code, adopted in 1895, recognizes three styles of gowns: a bachelor's gown, a master's gown, and a doctor's gown. The differences in these gowns are mainly in the cut and shape of the sleeves and in the trimming. Hoods are also recognized for each of the above degrees and vary in shape, size and length. The shell of the hood matches the black material of the gown, and is lined with the color or colors of the institution conferring the degree. The velvet bordering of the hood is of a color indicative of the field of learning to which the degree pertains. The Oxford cap, proper for all degrees, is worn both indoors and outdoors with academic costume. The tassel, worn over the left eye once the degree is conferred, is also symbolic of the degree and conforms to the code of colors for hood trimming. Prior to the actual conferring of the degree the tassel is worn over the right eye. Holders of doctor's degrees are entitled to wear a gold tassel. The tassel of a bachelor's degree indicates the field in which the degree is granted. The color for each field of learning follows:

Arts, Letters and Humanities	White	Library Science	Lemon
Business	Olive Drab	Medicine	Green
Dentistry	Lilac	Music	Pink
Economics	Copper	Nursing	Apricot
Education	Ice Blue	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Engineering	Orange	Physical Education	Sage Green
Fine Arts	Brown	Public Affairs	Peacock Blue
Journalism	Crimson	Science	Golden Yellow
Laws	Purple	Theology and Divinity	Scarlet

The appearance of names in this program should not be construed as official recognition that all degree requirements are completed.
