SPEIGHT JENKINS

Speight Jenkins, you have realized the dreams of opera enthusiasts throughout the Pacific Northwest by establishing Seattle Opera as one of the nation's most outstanding companies.

As general director of Seattle Opera since September 1983, you have led an unparalleled revival of the company beginning with your first production, Douglas Moore's "Ballad of Baby Doe," in 1984. Prophetically, the critics wrote, "If this production is any indication, the Jenkins era promises to give Seattle Opera some banner years."

Your impact on the company was evident in new productions of "Tannhauser," "Manon," "Carmen," "Cosi fan tutte," "Orpheus and Eurydice," "Die Meistersinger," "Il Trovatore," "The Dialogues of the Carmelites" and "Rusalka."

Your productions have consistently drawn the raves of critics and admiring fans at home and abroad. In three languages, critics reported on your 1986 production of "The Ring." They wrote, "For the first time, an American opera company has offered a 'Ring' that evidenced the kind of strong stage direction and careful re-thinking of the work that Europeans had come to expect from a major new production."

You oversaw the landmark production of Prokofiev's "War and Peace," an elaborate production heralded as the "jewel of the 1990 Goodwill Games."

Your imagination and creativity has been evident in your role as host of television's, "Live at the Met" and on the Texaco-Metropolitan Opera broadcast. Your knowledge of opera has been expressed in your writing for the New York Times, the New York Post, Stereo Review, Ovation magazine, Opera Quarterly, Opera News and the British magazine, Opera.

You have guided the Seattle Opera to achieve new standards of excellence, establishing the company as one of the world's finest. As a result, new benchmarks for attendance at company productions have been established. Opera aficionados around the world have benefited from your expert commentary.

Therefore, in recognition of these accomplishments, upon you, Speight Jenkins, Seattle University proudly confers the degree, doctor of humanities.

KATHLEEN A. ROSS

Kathleen A. Ross, you are an educational leader whose vision and commitment gave life to Heritage College, a remarkable institution in Toppenish, Washington, and new hope to many with a thirst for knowledge and independence.

As president since 1981 you have guided the development of Heritage College with the support of a dedicated faculty and staff, including members of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Your mission to provide quality accessible higher education at the undergraduate and graduate levels to a multicultural population which has been educationally isolated has been acknowledged by educators and public officials across the country.

You have positioned Heritage College at the cutting edge of multicultural education. The institution's motto "Knowledge Brings Us Together" embodies the spirit you have instilled within the college community.

You exemplify the many dimensions of higher education: the scholar, the teacher, the administrator, the planner and the people person. God blessed you with a talent for music and a keen sense of humor.

Everyone associated with higher education is indebted to you for your articulate and tireless leadership, a beacon light of inspiration and courage.

Therefore, in recognition of all these accomplishments, upon you, Kathleen Ross, Seattle University

SAM SMITH

Sam Smith, you have exemplified statesmanship as a member of Seattle City Council for 24 years. You served four terms as council president.

Your civic leadership extended beyond the boundaries of King County as you served five terms in the Washington state Legislature with distinction.

Your commitment to the cause of civil rights is demonstrated by your lifetime affiliation with the Seattle Urban League and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Your efforts on behalf of human rights have been recognized by the Samoan National Chief's Council, the Central Area Chamber of Commerce, the National Business League, the Central Area Public Development Authority, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The LINKS named you Human Rights Man of the Year in 1991.

You organized and guided the development of the Northwest Conference of Black Public Officials in Washington, Oregon, Alaska and Colorado because of your interest in assuring that black public officials were welcomed and nurtured.

You were among 100 distinguished individuals who received a Centennial Alumni Award from your alma mater, Seattle University. You received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the university in 1976.

The acknowledgement of your accomplishments by your colleagues, civic and service groups, and churches brings honor to your alma mater.

Therefore, in recognition of all these accomplishments, upon you, Sam Smith, Seattle University proudly confers the degree, doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

Recipient: Jerel Thomas Frauenheim

Award to the student who most closely realizes the Matteo Ricci College ideal: one who marvels at the wealth of human experience, yet wonders at its meaning; is open to diverse explanations, yet demands critical reflection; acknowledges any truth, yet questions its value and relevance; serves the human community, yet asks whether its values accord with the continuing revelation of the divine to humanity.
