President's Message

DEAR GRADUATES:

I extend my sincere congratulations to each of you on the occasion of this commencement in the 102nd year in the history of Seattle University.

Today, you join an alumni body of more than 30,000. It's been said that the true measure of a university is its graduates. Seattle University is established as the premiere institution in the Northwest, not because of high rankings determined by various national magazines and numerous academic rating services, but in reality because of the quality of our Seattle University graduates.

Graduates have made their mark in business, organizational management, public affairs, entertainment, the fine arts, athletics, health care, education and more.

Now, collectively and individually, the Class of 1993 will apply the knowledge and competency gained through experiences at the university. I hope that for each of you, Seattle University represents a period of personal growth and development. I hope Seattle University will be an important factor toward achieving personal and professional success, and nurturing your commitment to the service of others.

The desire to serve people will cause some to take a look to see where in the world you can make a difference. The city, Washington state, the Pacific Northwest, the United States and the world can all benefit from your experiences at Seattle University.

Our graduates are at work and are engaged in service for the betterment of the human race in every corner of the world. Whether helping Mother Teresa in Calcutta, providing support at a day care center in Philadelphia, teaching English to school children in American Samoa or serving meals to the poor at Seattle's St. James Family Kitchen, Seattle University graduates are demonstrating their commitment to the human values and to the service elements of the university's mission.

Seattle University is a richer place because of your contribution to the intellectual and social spirit that is woven through the fabric of the university community.

I join the faculty, staff, volunteers, leaders and friends of the university in wishing you congratulations and God's blessings.

Sincerely,

William J. Sullivan, SJ
President

SEATTLE UNIVERSITY

From humble beginnings 102 years ago, Seattle University is now the largest independent institution in the Northwest. More than 4,800 students are enrolled in 49 undergraduate and 18 graduate programs. The university also offers a doctoral program in educational leadership.

The 46-acre campus on Seattle's First Hill has the atmosphere of a small college. Teaching is the faculty's priority at Seattle University. Low student-to-faculty ratios and caring attitudes ensure that faculty members are readily available to students.

As an institution of higher learning, Seattle University's objective and purpose include the discussion, interpretation and transmission of knowledge, ideas and values. Thorough, intelligent training in theory and principle provided by Seattle University prepares students for professional careers.

Under the auspices of the Society of Jesus, Seattle University supports Christian ideals and values. It affirms the belief in unity and totality of all human knowledge, whether experiential, speculative or divinely revealed. As a community inspired with the Spirit of Christ, the campus atmosphere encourages the development of an unbiased, liberated and enlightened intelligence in its faculty and student body.

One of 28 Jesuit colleges in the United States, Seattle University offers a broadly based academic program, including a strong liberal arts core curriculum that prepares students for community service and personal fulfillment, as well as professional success.

One of Seattle University's marks of distinction is the nation's first graduate program in software engineering. The university is also known for innovative undergraduate programs, such as the nation's first addiction studies program and the first undergraduate program in environmental engineering in the Northwest.

The true measure of the university's excellence is the success of our graduates. Seattle University's alumni includes distinguished individuals in business, public affairs, education, the performing arts, athletics and other fields.

THE HISTORY OF THE GRADUATION CAP AND GOWN

American academic costume (also referred as academic "dress" or "regalia") had its origins in the ancient European universities. Apparently it was devised to distinguish academic persons such as doctor, licentiates, masters and bachelors from other parts of the population. Gowns probably were a necessity because of unheated buildings, and hoods were needed to cover the heads of medieval scholars. Most universities issued strict regulations concerning the design and use of academic dress.

As they were founded, American colleges and universities inevitably adopted the gown, hood and cap from their European antecedents. Although some common standards and practices were observed, no uniform code or system existed until late in the 19th century.

The principle features of academic dress are three: the gown, the cap and the hood. The flowing gown comes from the 12th century. It has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing underneath. It is black for all degrees, with pointed sleeves for the bachelor's degree; long closed sleeves for the master's degree; and round open sleeves for the doctorate degree. The gown worn for the bachelor's or master's degree has no trimmings. The gown for the doctorate degree is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

The wearing of the cap was a privilege won by freed slaves in ancient Rome, and so the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize the book, although some authorities claim that the mortar board or cap is a symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. The color of the tassel on the cap denotes the discipline.

Heraldically the hood is an inverted shield with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining of the hood designates the university from which the degree was granted. The length of the hood varies by academic degree. The hood for the doctorate degree is the only one with panels at the sides.

Honorary Degrees

JEAN ENERSEN

Jean Enersen, you are the consummate professional broadcaster and civic leader.

You are consistently recognized as the most popular and most respected anchorperson in the Northwest.

In addition to your daily broadcast assignments for KING 5 and your role as co-host of KING 5's prime time news magazine Our Times, you have been involved in a number of historic broadcasts.

In 1987 you were the host of Face to Face: US/USSR, a documentary filmed in the former Soviet Union and Seattle as part of a joint effort of KING 5 and Soviet television.

In 1988, at the invitation of the government of the former Soviet Union, you were the first American journalist to appear live on Soviet television offering commentary on Soviet society.

You have been involved in several award-winning KING 5 specials including Korea: The Dragon Decides, Living With AIDS, and Washington 2000, which won a national DuPont-Columbia Award for journalism.

In the best use of the medium, you have effectively practiced television journalism to instruct and to benefit society. A special broadcast you hosted, called No Place Like Home, helped raise $3 million to build the first homeless shelter for families on the Eastside.

Numerous community agencies have benefited from your volunteer service including the United Way, New Beginnings, a shelter for battered women, the Northwest AIDS Walk, and the Seattle-King County Boys and Girls Clubs.

You have been named Seattle's Most Trusted News Anchor, Seattle's Best Television Interviewer, Best Local Journalist/Reporter, Best TV Personality and Best Anchor.

Therefore, in recognition of your remarkable career in broadcasting, your dedication to international understanding and goodwill and your unselfish service to your community, upon you, Jean Enersen, Seattle University proudly confers the degree, doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

REVEREND JAMES E. ROYCE, SJ, PhD

Father James E. Royce, you have had a distinguished career as a scholar in the fields of psychology and alcoholism.

You founded the Department of Psychology at Seattle University in 1949 and served as chair for 16 years. You co-founded two divisions of the American Psychological Association, which elected you as a fellow. The American Association of State Psychology Boards accorded you with the same honor.

For your pioneering research and teaching in developing the relationship between psychology and religion, you were recognized by Division 36 of the American Psychological Association.

Your accomplishments in the field of alcoholism are equally impressive.

You are a recognized authority and have lectured nationwide to students and experts in the field of alcoholism.

In 1950 you initiated the first course on alcoholism in the United States taught as part of the regular curriculum.

In 1981 you authored the best-selling and authoritative textbook, Alcohol Problems and Alcoholism: A Comprehensive Survey. The book won two national awards and continues to be widely circulated and read.

A charter member of the Washington Governor's Advisory Board on Alcoholism, you have also served in vital volunteer capacities with the Washington State Council on Alcoholism and the National Council on Alcoholism which honored you with the second NCA/Marty Mann Founder's Award in 1988.

During your distinguished career as an academic and administrator, including serving as associate dean and later dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, you served as a member of Seattle University's Board of Trustees and you were named Alumni Teacher of the Year in 1980.

Therefore, in recognition of your service to your professional fields, your students and to Seattle University, upon you, James E. Royce, SJ, Seattle University proudly confers the degree, doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

GERARD SCHWARZ

Gerard Schwarz, you have had a productive and remarkable career as a conductor, music director and recording artist.

Since your conducting career began in 1966 as music director for the Erick Hawkins Dance Company, your impact on classical music and the opera has been evident on the national and international stage.

After serving as founding music director of the Waterloo Festival, in 1977 you were appointed founding music director of the New York Chamber Symphony, where you expanded the group's programming from a few concerts to a full schedule of New York appearances, tours and recordings.

As music director of the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra you led the ensemble on tours of the United States and at the Casals Festival. You have served as guest conductor for the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Orchestre National de France.

Your operatic conducting career includes productions by Wagner, Gluck, Mozart, Beethoven and Debussy.

You began your tenure with the Seattle Symphony in 1983. You have initiated several concert series, introduced many new works to the Seattle Symphony's repertoire and led the group in several award-winning recordings, including a Record of the Year Award and several weeks' standing on Billboard's best selling charts. You have received 10 Grammy Award nominations.

Your imagination and creativity has been evident in numerous television broadcasts including the PBS series Live From Lincoln Center, KING-TV's Front Row Center, A Romantic Evening, which aired locally on KCTS-TV and nationally on PBS, and a nationally telecast performance in France with the Orchestre Philharmonique.

Clearly, you guided the Seattle Symphony to a standard of excellence and established the Seattle Symphony as one of the nation's finest.

Therefore, in recognition of these accomplishments, upon you, Gerard Schwarz, Seattle University proudly confers the degree, doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

Matteo Ricci College Award for Excellence

Recipients: Emily Elizabeth Buck

Joshua David Petersen

Award to the student who most closely realizes the Matteo Ricci College ideal: one who marvels at the wealth of human experience, yet wonders at its meaning; is open to diverse explanations, yet demands critical reflection; acknowledges any truth, yet questions its value and relevance; serves the human community, yet asks whether its values accord with the continuing revelation of the divine to humanity.
