PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Graduates,

On the occasion of your commencement in the 105th year in the history of Seattle University, I want to express my congratulations to each and every member of the Class of 1997.

This commencement marks an important moment in your life. Today, when your name is called and you walk across the stage to receive your undergraduate, graduate, or doctoral degree, in one way or another you will also enter a new stage of your life.

Your degree, evidence of your commitment to the pursuit of knowledge, represents a significant accomplishment. For many of you, I know your educational journey at Seattle University has extended beyond the classroom and the campus boundaries. The many hours of volunteer service you have provided to individuals and organizations are symbolic of the values of your Jesuit education.

This commencement marks a transition for the university as well as for each of you. On July 1, Fr. Stephen Sundborg, S.J. will become its twenty-first president and I will return to my post as provost.

So, in a sense, today's ceremony also marks the beginning of a new era for Seattle University. I encourage you to continue your relationship with the university in the years ahead.

I know that each member of the Seattle University community, the faculty, staff, and the more than 40,000 graduates who have preceded you, wish you well as you celebrate this commencement and step into a new phase of your life.

Sincerely,

John D. Eshelman, PhD
Acting President

A Graduation to Remember

Seattle University

From humble beginnings 105 years ago, Seattle University is now the largest independent institution in the Northwest. More than 6,000 students are enrolled in 49 undergraduate and 22 graduate programs, including a doctoral program in educational leadership.

The 43-acre campus on Seattle's First Hill has the atmosphere of a small college. Teaching is the faculty's priority at Seattle University. Low student-to-faculty ratios and caring attitudes ensure that faculty members are readily available to students.

As an institution of higher learning, Seattle University's objective and purpose include the discussion, interpretation, and transmission of knowledge, ideas and values.

Under the auspices of the Society of Jesus, Seattle University supports Christian ideals and values. It affirms the belief in unity and totality of all human knowledge, whether experiential, speculative, or divinely revealed. As a community inspired with the Spirit of Christ, the campus atmosphere encourages the development of an unbiased, liberated, and enlightened intelligence in its faculty and student body.

One of 28 Jesuit colleges in the United States, Seattle University offers a broadly based academic program, including a strong liberal arts core curriculum that prepares students for community service and personal fulfillment, as well as professional success.

One of Seattle University's marks of distinction is the nation's first graduate program in software engineering. The university is also known for innovative undergraduate programs, such as the nation's first addiction studies program and the first undergraduate program in environmental engineering in the Northwest.

The true measure of the university's excellence is the success of our graduates. Seattle University's alumni includes distinguished individuals in business, public affairs, education, the performing arts, athletics, and other fields.

The History of the Graduation Cap and Gown

American academic costume (also referred to as academic "dress" or "regalia") had its origins in the ancient European universities. Apparently it was devised to distinguish academic persons such as doctor, licentiates, masters, and bachelors from other parts of the population. Gowns probably were a necessity because of unheated buildings, and hoods were needed to cover the heads of medieval scholars. Most universities issued strict regulations concerning the design and use of academic dress.

As they were founded, American colleges and universities inevitably adopted the gown, hood, and cap from their European antecedents. Although some common standards and practices were observed, no uniform code or system existed until late in the 19th century.

The principal features of academic dress are three: the gown, the cap, and the hood. The flowing gown comes from the 12th century. It has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing underneath. It is black for all degrees, with pointed sleeves for the bachelor's degree; long, closed sleeves for the master's degree; and round, open sleeves for the doctorate degree. The gown worn for the bachelor's or master's degree has no trimmings. The gown for the doctoral degree is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

The wearing of the cap was a privilege won by freed slaves in ancient Rome, and so the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize the book, although some authorities claim that the mortar board or cap is a symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. The color of the tassel on the cap denotes the discipline.

Heraldically the hood is an inverted shield with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining of the hood designates the university from which the degree was granted. The length of the hood varies by academic degree. The hood for the doctoral degree is the only one with panels at the sides.

HONORARY DEGREES

Hazel Wolf, PhD

Hazel Wolf, your remarkable career as an organizer, advocate for social justice, and environmentalist, is unique and unequalled.

Born in 1898 in Victoria, British Columbia, you have resided in Seattle since 1923 and have been at the forefront of several movements to foster social change during pivotal points in our nation's history. When the Great Depression pushed many to desperation and hopelessness, you organized and aided the poor and the unemployed. During the divisive McCarthy Era, a time when your allegiance to this country was challenged, you worked tirelessly on behalf of others who chose to resist the excesses of McCarthyism.

Thirty years ago, at an age when most choose leisure over leadership, you became a full-time volunteer organizer on behalf of the environment. You assumed the position as secretary for the Seattle Audubon Society, a post you still hold today.

You have campaigned on behalf of old-growth forests, native salmon, wetlands, migratory birds, and clean air and water. You have championed the causes of Native Americans and served as the primary organizer of the first Native American-Environmental Conference in the Pacific Northwest.

You are the co-founder and member of the board of the Community Coalition for Environmental Justice, and also serve on the boards of the Anne Frank & Friends Coalition and Country Doctor. You have served as editor of Outdoors West magazine, as president of the Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs, and chair of the Audubon Publishing Committee.

Through media interviews and presentations to school children, university students, and adults, you have educated individuals about environmental and social justice issues and inspired thousands to defend the earth and human rights.

Among numerous awards you were named Conservationist of the Year by the National Audubon Society in 1985 and you received the Paul Beeson Peace Award from Washington Physicians for Social Responsibility in 1995 for your lifelong dedication to peace and the preservation of the environment.

Therefore, in recognition of your philosophy on environmentalism and stewardship of the planet, based largely on the writings of Thiehard de Chardin, a Jesuit priest who believed that no animal will knowingly destroy its habitat, upon you at the age of 99, Hazel Wolf, Seattle University proudly confers the degree of doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

Rhoady R. Lee Jr. and Jeanne Marie Lee

Rhoady R. Lee Jr. and Jeanne Marie Lee, your lives as parents, community servants, and benefactors epitomize the characteristic values of your Catholic faith and of Jesuit education.

Jeanne Marie, you were born in Seattle, graduated from Holy Names Academy, and received a bachelor's degree from Seattle University.

Rhoady, you were also born in Seattle, graduated from O'Dea High School, and received a bachelor's degree from Seattle University. You are currently the chairman and chief executive officer of Lakeside Industries.

As you nurtured three sons and three daughters, you also served your community. Jeanne Marie, as a member of the Holy Names Academy Board of Trustees, you guided the school through a period of institutional uncertainty.

Rhoady, you have previously served your alma mater as a member of the Board of Regents, the Alumni Board of Governors, and the Graduates Club. You have been a trustee since 1982. For your unceasing dedication to your alma mater, you were honored as the first University Alumnus of the Year in 1985.

Your community service has included the Bob Hope International Heart Research Institute, the Bellevue Chamber of Commerce, and Forest Ridge School of the Sacred Heart.

Together you chaired Seattle University's President's Club and the annual Gala that raises funds to support scholarships for university students. In 1991 the university recognized you both as Centennial Alumni Award recipients.

Your generosity and vision helped the university build the Chapel of St. Ignatius, thus providing the university community with a remarkable spiritual sanctuary and an architectural jewel for the campus and the community.

Therefore, in grateful appreciation and in recognition of your dedication to family, your community, and to Seattle University, upon you Jeanne Marie and Rhoady R. Lee Jr., Seattle University proudly confers the degree of doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

Archbishop
Thomas J. Murphy

Most Reverend Thomas J. Murphy, native of Chicago, Archbishop of Seattle, your leadership of the Catholic Church in Western Washington has been marked by a deep commitment to pastoral leadership, an abiding compassion for those in need, and a strong witness to the power of faith.

Your enthusiastic care for the youth and young adults of this region has helped them to know how much they are loved and valued by the church, and has challenged them to even greater commitment to their faith.

Your active social concern for the economically depressed, especially those adversely affected by reverses in the timber industry, has given us hope and has helped us all to look again at the economic structures which affect our lives.

Your consistent concern for the needs of culturally diverse communities and the gifts they bring to the universal Church has truly helped broaden our identity as the people of God. And your attention to the spiritual care of priests and for the sick and dying has truly reflected the compassion and love of Christ.

Your interest in spiritual, theological and ministerial education and development has encouraged new forms of lay leadership throughout the archdiocese. Seattle University is especially grateful for your ongoing commitment to our joint venture, the Institute for Catholic Theological Studies.

Your recent struggle with serious illness has not only been a cause for our prayerful concern, but also a source of edification and grace. Your abiding faith in God, your deep prayerfulness and your complete trust in God's love and wisdom continues to be a source of inspiration and courage to us all.

Therefore, in recognition of your outstanding pastoral leadership, your unfailing compassion for those in need, and your courageous witness to the power of prayer and spirituality, upon you, Most Reverend Thomas J. Murphy, Seattle University proudly confers the degree of doctor of humanities, honoris causa.

William J. Sullivan, S.J.

On May 17 during commencement ceremonies for the School of Law, William J. Sullivan, S.J., president emeritus, received an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Law. Reading from the citation, James E. Bond, dean, School of Law, citing Fr. Sullivan's bold decision to acquire the Law School said "Only one inspired by faith, hope, and love could have made such an unprecedented decision, fraught, as it was, with great risk. Father Sullivan was inspired by faith, a faith that had called him as a young man to the education of others. Understanding that knowledge is both interdisciplinary and universal, that the discernment of truth is our proper end, and that the achievement of social justice must be our ultimate goal, he realized that the study of law must therefore be an integral party of any comprehensive, humane education."

Loretta Jancoski, PhD, Dean

Dr. Leo Stanford Leadership Award

Recipient

Diane Frances McQuiston

Awarded to an outstanding student in the School of Theology and Ministry who closely realizes the STM vision: ministers who are compassionate and competent, inclusive and courageous, rooted in the Gospels, and able to translate Christian theology into ministry. The award honors the memory of Dr. Leo P. Stanford, founding director of the Institute for Theological Studies. Dr. Stanford pioneered a vision for lay ministry within the church that became a model for other lay ministry programs in the United States. In this model students learn to integrate academic theology, pastoral skill training, and spiritual formation leading toward personal and global transformation.

Matteo Ricci College Award for Excellence

Recipients

Dana Marie Alloway

Darragh Shane O'Mahony

Awarded to the student or students who most closely realize the Matteo Ricci College ideal; one who marvels at the wealth of human experience, yet wonders at its meaning; is open to diverse explanations, yet demands critical reflection; acknowledges any truth, yet questions its value and relevance; serves the human community, yet asks whether its values accord with the continuing revelation of the divine to humanity.
