SEATTLE UNIVERSITY
A Tradition of Excellence

Commencement | KeyArena | June 14, 2009

*There is no more powerful affirmation that we,
as a university, are fulfilling our mission than when you,
our graduates, go forth to do wonderful things.*

TO THE 2009 GRADUATES
OF SEATTLE UNIVERSITY

Welcome to your Seattle University commencement ceremony. You are the first students to graduate in the Key Arena, the new home court for the Seattle University Redhawks. We are confident that they will be winners in this arena.

I am also confident that as alumni of Seattle University you will be "winners in life" according to the values you have come to know so well in your education these past years. Our first value is "we put the good of students first." I hope we have fulfilled that pledge in your experience. I ask you now "whose good will you put first in your life?" I hope it will include the poor, people of other nations, and all who are hungry for the kind of education you have enjoyed.

Our second value is "excellence in learning with great teachers who are active scholars." I hope that your Seattle University education has launched and inspired your ongoing learning. Who now will be the "great teachers" and "active scholars" in your learning experience? Perhaps you realize today at your commencement that among your "great teachers" are not only certain special professors, but your parents and other mentors. Today would be a good day to thank them.

As a Jesuit and Catholic university, we value faith and we have sought to support your own spirituality. I ask on this day that you remember and pray for us that we be faithful to the university you have loved and treasured. I assure you also of my prayers for you and the prayers of the Jesuits and other faith-filled people at Seattle University.

Thanks for all that you have given to us. Congratulations on your graduation. You are now one out of one hundred people in our world village who has a college degree. Enjoy it and use it.

ABOUT SEATTLE UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1891, Seattle University is a Jesuit Catholic institution that today is the most racially and culturally diverse, the most genuinely urban, and the largest multidisciplinary independent university of the Northwest.

Inspired by the Catholic intellectual tradition and the Jesuit philosophy of education, Seattle University forms independent critical thinkers rooted in the humanities and open to finding God in all things. Responding to the Jesuit imperative that calls for "the service of faith and the promotion of justice," Seattle University students are challenged to address issues of poverty, injustice, discrimination, violence and environmental degradation with competence, compassion and creativity.

At the heart of every undergraduate, graduate and professional program at Seattle University is an intellectually rigorous education delivered by excellent faculty whose attentiveness as teachers is rivaled only by their commitment to generating new knowledge as scholars. In partnership with their students, Seattle University's dedicated faculty and their colleagues create a vibrant, educational experience that comes alive in the classroom, campus and community, and develops character and leadership.

As SU President Stephen Sundborg, S.J., has often said, "Only the alumni of Seattle University can tell us whether we are fulfilling our mission." It is through their actions that our alumni most clearly attest to the power of an SU education. They are leaders in banking and business, in publishing and politics, nursing and nonprofits, engineering and education. Today, we welcome our newest graduates into a special group of women and men who are excelling in their professions and working to build a more just and humane world.

THE HISTORY OF GRADUATION CAP AND GOWN

The academic apparel—gown, hood, and cap—donned today by both faculty and graduates reminds us that in this commencement ceremony we celebrate our students as accomplished scholars who now join the ranks of their professors and others who have earned their university degrees. Indeed they become part of a cadre whose membership stretches back to medieval Europe.

The origins of academic dress date back to the 12th and 13th centuries when European universities were first taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric; with few exceptions, the medieval scholar had taken orders, made vows, and perhaps been tonsured. Gowns were mandated by religious affiliation but were also a necessity in the unheated university buildings. Hoods at first covered the tonsured head but eventually a skull cap became the normal headpiece and the hood evolved into a cape that could be pulled up during unpleasant weather. Eventually the hoods became entirely ornamental, draped over the shoulders and down the back.

Some say the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship which evolved from the cap worn in ancient Rome by freed slaves. Scholars first wore it as a symbol of the master's degree and it existed in various forms; stiff, soft, square, and round with a tuft in the center. Today's tassel is believed to be an elaboration of the tuft. England's Oxford University originated the mortarboard style cap worn by our graduates today.

When academic costume came to America in 1754, styles varied widely as they still do in Europe today. In the late 19th century an Intercollegiate Commission met at Columbia University and adopted a code of academic dress which regulates the gowns and prescribed the colors which represent the different fields of learning.

Today the American Council on Education's, Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies is charged here in the states with the standardization of American academic apparel.*

2009 UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

The Seattle University Honors Program was founded in 1958. The two-year cohort program takes an historical approach to the humanities and the social sciences as a way of exploring and critically engaging the depth and breadth of ideas that have shaped human civilization. The program stresses the integration of knowledge in a vital challenging learning community, embracing the true spirit of Jesuit education. After completing the University Honors Program, students pursue degree requirements in a specific major.

2009 CORE HONORS PROGRAM

The Seattle University Core Honors Program was founded in 2004. By bringing highly motivated students into a cohort group that pursues its Seattle University Core courses together, the Core Honors program permits more advanced study in these courses than would otherwise be possible. In maintaining this cohort over three years of study, Core Honors creates a learning community in which each member contributes to the learning experience of the others. In pursuing a rich and vital experience of liberal education in the humanities and social sciences, Core Honors embodies in a special way Seattle University's commitment to education for values, leadership, and service.

HONORARY DEGREE

James C. Pigott

In an unassuming yet unmistakable way, James C. Pigott makes a difference in the lives of others.

As chairman of the board for the Rural Development Institute (RDI), Pigott is playing a central role in alleviating poverty in places like Africa, China and India. Since RDI's inception four decades ago, the Seattle-based nonprofit has helped 400 million of the world's poorest people secure land rights and lift themselves out of poverty.

Widely recognized as one of Seattle's most committed civic leaders, Pigott's influence is particularly significant at Seattle University. He has been a trusted advisor to SU presidents William J. Sullivan, S.J. and Stephen V. Sundborg, S.J. Pigott spearheaded the university's first capital campaign, which was completed in 1986. At the time, it was the largest-ever fundraising effort in Seattle.

He later served for six years as chairman of SU's Board of Trustees.

A leading steward of the Methow Valley in eastern Washington, Pigott has ensured the conservation of hundreds of acres near the scenic Moccasin Lake while sustainably developing projects that improve the quality of life in the valley. Pigott has also written View of the Methow from Moccasin Lake Ranch. The book, which recounts the area's history, earned an Independent Publisher Book Award Honorable Mention for the West-Pacific region in 2006.

An inveterate entrepreneur, Pigott has created two businesses and today is president of Pigott Enterprises. This year, after 37 years of service, he retired from the board of Paccar, the manufacturer of premium commercial vehicles that his grandfather founded. Pigott received a bachelor's degree in engineering from Stanford University and an MBA from Harvard University.

ARCHBISHOP RAYMOND G. HUNTHAUSEN OUTSTANDING SERVICE AWARD

Given to the student who has offered significant service to both the university community and the community at-large, and in so doing, has exemplified the values of collaborative leadership in service to others.

WALLACE LOH ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AWARD

Jonathan Lucas Green

The Wallace Loh Academic Excellence Award is given to the outstanding graduating student in the College of Arts and Sciences Graduate Programs. Selection is based upon exceptional graduate work in the classroom. Qualification evidenced by paper/article submission, conference presentations, fellowship or scholarship awards, and interdisciplinary scholarship work. The award honors the impact that Dr. Wallace Loh had upon graduate programs in the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Loh served as Dean of the college from 1999-2008. Under his leadership, four of the seven Arts and Sciences graduate programs were created.

LEADERSHIP AND SOCIAL JUSTICE AWARD

Sheelarani C. Mauck

The College of Arts & Sciences Leadership & Social Justice Award recognizes the graduating student in the College of Arts and Sciences Graduate Programs who has demonstrated exceptional leadership abilities and commitment to social justice by the academic work in their program and their work in the community. The recipient is an innovative forward thinker, making new roads in their chosen field and carrying with them the founding principles of a Jesuit education, making choices as a leader for a just and humane world.
