CONGRATULATIONS TO THE GRADUATES OF THE CLASS OF 2019

To the 2019 Graduates of Seattle University,

Congratulations to you on this occasion of your Commencement from Seattle University. Please know of our gratitude for having chosen Seattle University for your education and for all that you have contributed in your leadership and service. We are a better university for the time you have been here. As I express my gratitude, I'm sure you have deep gratitude for your family and friends who have been supportive of you in these years.

It's common at a Commencement ceremony for the speaker to say, "As you go out into the world..." I believe it's important that all students of Seattle University never leave the world they were involved in while they were here. We don't withdraw from it or live in a period of separation from the world. A Seattle University education engages with the most important issues of the world, asks its students to be engaged in the community, promotes internships and preparation for careers and welcomes on its campus people with a depth of experience. An education at Seattle University is an education in being engaged with the world.

*In his most recent book, The Second Mountain: The Quest for a Moral Life, David Brooks stresses that it's important for us to consider not what we ask of life, but what life asks of us. On this milestone day for you, what is it that life is asking of you? What commitment does it ask you to make? With whom does it want you to stand? What impact does it call you to have? In summary, what is your vocation?*

As Brooks expresses so well in his exceptional book—which I encourage you to read—there is a great difference between happiness and joy: happiness comes from accomplishment, achievement or winning; joy comes from serving others with all that we are. Therefore, on your Commencement, I wish you a life of great joy in your dedication to others, utilizing the education and values you have developed in these years for the good of others.

Thank you again for what you have given to Seattle University. I hope that your Seattle U education continues beyond this day, that you remain in contact with us and always know you are welcome back here, your home, on campus.

Sincerely,

Stephen V. Sundborg, S.J.

An aerial photograph of Seattle, Washington, showing a dense urban landscape with numerous skyscrapers and buildings. The Space Needle is a prominent landmark in the center. In the background, a range of snow-capped mountains stretches across the horizon under a clear sky. The foreground shows a mix of modern and older buildings, with a large red-tinted area at the bottom where the text and logo are placed.

MISSION STATEMENT

Seattle University is dedicated to educating the whole person, to professional formation, and to empowering leaders for a just and humane world.

ABOUT SEATTLE UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1891, Seattle University is a Jesuit Catholic institution that today is among the most racially and culturally diverse, the most genuinely urban, and the largest multidisciplinary independent university of the Northwest.

Inspired by the Catholic intellectual tradition and the Jesuit philosophy of education, Seattle University forms independent critical thinkers rooted in the humanities and open to finding God in all things. Responding to the Jesuit imperative that calls for “the service of faith and the promotion of justice,” Seattle University students are challenged to address issues of poverty, injustice, discrimination, violence and environmental degradation with competence, compassion and creativity.

At the heart of every undergraduate, graduate and professional program at Seattle University is an intellectually rigorous education delivered by excellent faculty whose attentiveness as teachers is rivaled only by their commitment to generating new knowledge as scholars. In partnership with their students, Seattle University’s dedicated faculty and their colleagues create a vibrant, educational experience that comes alive in the classroom, campus and community and develops character and leadership.

As SU President Stephen Sundborg, S.J., has often said, “Only the alumni of Seattle University can tell us whether we are fulfilling our mission.” It is through their actions that our alumni most clearly attest to the power of an SU education. They are leaders in banking and business, in publishing and politics, nursing and nonprofits, engineering and education. Today, we welcome our newest graduates into a special group of women and men who are excelling in their professions and working to build a more just and humane world.

THE HISTORY OF THE CAP AND GOWN

The academic apparel—gown, hood, and cap—donned today by both faculty and graduates reminds us that in this commencement ceremony we celebrate our students as accomplished scholars who now join the ranks of their professors and others who have earned their university degrees. Indeed they become part of a cadre whose membership stretches back to medieval Europe.

The origins of academic dress date back to the 12th and 13th centuries when European universities were first taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric; with few exceptions, the medieval scholar had taken orders, made vows and perhaps been tonsured. Gowns were mandated by religious affiliation but were also a necessity in the unheated university buildings. Hoods at first covered the tonsured head but eventually a skull cap became the normal headpiece and the hood evolved into a cape that could be pulled up during unpleasant weather. Eventually the hoods became entirely ornamental, draped over the shoulders and down the back.

Some say the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship that evolved from the cap worn in ancient Rome by freed slaves. Scholars first wore it as a symbol of the master’s degree and it existed in various forms—stiff, soft, square and round with a tuft in the center. Today’s tassel is believed to be an elaboration of the tuft. England’s Oxford University originated the mortarboard style cap worn by graduates today.

When academic costume came to America in 1754, styles varied widely as they still do in Europe today. In the late 19th century an Intercollegiate Commission met at Columbia University and adopted a code of academic dress that regulates the gowns and prescribed the colors that represent the different fields of learning.

Today, the American Council on Education’s Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies is charged here in the states with the standardization of American academic apparel.*
