Organization

A holistic approach to teaching and learning is the cornerstone of a Seattle University education, which nurtures the intellectual, spiritual and personal growth of our students. At SU, scholarly pursuits go hand-in-hand with the Jesuit tradition of social justice and service learning. Our undergraduate and graduate students excel in the classroom and are making their mark in their communities and beyond.

History

Founded in 1891, Seattle University offers a values-based education steeped in the Jesuit tradition. The university's positioning as the Northwest's premier independent universities is closely woven with the history of Seattle and the Puget Sound region.

The early years of what would become Seattle University began to take shape in 1890, when Father Aegidius Junger, bishop of what was then called the Nisqually Diocese became concerned over the lack of educational opportunities for Catholic youth in the Seattle area. He made repeated requests to the Jesuits of the Rocky Mountain Mission territory to establish both a parish and a school in the young city. In response to the bishop's requests, Fathers Victor Garrand and Adrian Sweere arrived in town from the Yakima station in the spring of 1891.

The two Jesuits immediately leased St. Francis Hall, a building constructed the previous year at 6th and Spring in downtown Seattle by Father Francis X. Prefontaine, the area's first resident priest. The building became the parish and School of the Immaculate Conception, and with the support of two Holy Names sisters who served as full-time teachers, the fathers were underway with an ambitious educational initiative. By 1898, the parish school of young men officially became Seattle College and the progenitor of what would become Seattle University.

Forward to present-day Seattle University, a vibrant and diverse campus with more than 7,500 undergraduate and graduate students that continues the traditions of its founders through a commitment to a mission- and purpose-driven education.

About Seattle University

Situated on 48-acres, SU is home to eight schools and colleges: the Albers School of Business and Economics, the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Education, the College of Nursing, the College of Science and Engineering, Matteo Ricci College, the School of Law and the School of Theology and Ministry.

Seattle University, one of 28 Jesuit Catholic universities in the country, cultivates intellectual and spiritual development with its high-caliber faculty, small class sizes, academic rigor, challenging curriculum and emphasis on education for justice.

The university, its colleges and programs consistently rank among the best in the nation by U.S. News and World Report and Princeton Review's Best Colleges guide.

Located within steps of Seattle's downtown core, SU provides distinctive learning, service and career opportunities for students. There are 59 undergraduate and 31 graduate degree programs that offer a variety of specializations, plus 27 certificate programs.

To balance the intellectual demands of the curriculum, students take advantage of the abundant cultural and recreational opportunities afforded by our location within a dynamic, global city and the natural wonders of the Pacific Northwest.

Students don't need to venture off campus to enjoy the serenity of an urban oasis with the university's lush green spaces and distinctive Japanese gardens. In 2007, Seattle University was certified as a wildlife habitat by the National Wildlife Federation, which followed the university's designation in 1989 as a Backyard Wildlife Sanctuary by the Washington State Department of Fish and Wildlife.

Seattle University is also widely known for its efforts and initiatives that support sustainability. As a green campus, SU is a nationally recognized leader in recycling—the university recycles more than 62 percent of its waste. Water conservation and renewable energy are also important to the university. In 2006, SU President Stephen Sundborg, S.J., and Seattle Mayor Greg Nickels co-signed the Seattle Climate Partnership agreement to reduce greenhouse gas emissions in the workplace. SU also participates in Seattle City Light's Green Up program, which helps fund renewable energy resources. The university committed 15 percent of its electrical usage to support new renewable energy.

At SU, facilities are more than simply bricks and mortar; they play an important role in how we educate our students and the programs we provide. In the past 15 years, the campus has undergone more than $200 million in facilities improvements, with more than $21 million in the last year alone. Recent additions include the Clinical Performance Nursing Laboratory and the Jeanne Marie and Rhoady Lee, Jr. Center for the Arts, a premier performing arts center to showcase the university's dramatic and visual arts and music. In 2007, the university revamped its central entry point to the campus; a large, bold SU logo was painted on the asphalt near a main walking path and the visitor parking lot to make the area more visible and inviting.

The centerpiece and spiritual center of SU remains the Chapel of St. Ignatius, the vision of architect Steven Holl that recently marked its 10th anniversary. In addition to being a campus and civic landmark, the chapel is a popular place of worship for the campus community and its friends and neighbors.

How We Educate

At Seattle University, excellent teaching—supported by high quality scholarship and personalized attention to student learning—ensures an intellectually challenging education, which is at the heart of our mission in undergraduate, graduate and professional programs.

The university culture supports a total experience, one that promotes vision, character and leadership.

The Jesuit-Catholic educational tradition sows independent thinkers who are informed by the humanities and social justice as they grow into global citizens.

Course work, programs and activities reflect the Jesuit principles of the service of faith and promotion of justice to address issues of poverty, injustice, discrimination, violence and the environment in committed and effective ways.

For the faith component of an SU education, the university encourages and assists all students in exploring their relationship with humanity, nature and God, and provides all members of the university community the means to deepen their understanding of faith.

Student Academic Services and Programs

Meeting the needs of a diverse student body means providing a variety of programs, activities and resources to enhance the educational experience. It also means helping students achieve success from the moment they step on campus to the day they walk across the stage at commencement.

Academic Advising and Support Services

"The central element in advising excellence," as written in Seattle University's Faculty Handbook, "is genuine and sustained concern for students as persons and belief in their capacity for self-directed growth." Faculty and staff members who advise or provide related services in support of academic success and retention recognize the vital role an advisor plays in the overall college experience. Faculty, professionals and peers serve as academic advisors in the various colleges and schools.

Student Academic Services provides support to develop and promote high-quality campus advising services. This includes ongoing skill-building opportunities for faculty advisors and dissemination of the latest advising information.

Student Academic Services also coordinates a referral system that identifies students experiencing academic difficulties and extends resources and support.

Athletics

The Department of Athletics takes a holistic approach to developing student-athletes by creating a culture where they can achieve success while balancing academics and athletics. The mission of the department is the development of ethical leaders, teamwork and sportsmanship central to the Jesuit mission of educating the whole person.

The university sponsors 14 intercollegiate sports at the Division II level: men's and women's basketball, cross country, indoor and outdoor track and field, and soccer, and women's softball, volleyball and swimming. The university will add men's baseball, men's and women's golf and tennis between 2008 and 2010, and by 2012 the athletics program will be a full Division I institution.

Many of our student-athletes are high achievers off the field and in the classroom, earning All-American recognition. Our athletes were honored with the 2006–07 Great Northwest Athletic Conference (GNAC) Academic All-Sports Award, as the combined GPAs of students posted one of the conference's top two cumulative grade point averages in six sports.

Office of Fellowships

Seattle University has a proven track record when it comes to prestigious scholarships, fellowships and awards.

In the 2006–07 academic year, 18 students received fellowships and grants, including three Fulbright scholarships; a Soros Fellowship; a Rotary Ambassadorial Scholarship; a Goldwater Scholarship; and two Truman Scholar Awards.

In 2007, Caroline Dennis, '08, and Nazir Harb, '08, became the 10th and 11th Truman Scholars from SU—the first time two Truman Scholars were selected from SU in the same year. In 2008, junior Kai Smith became SU's 12th Truman Scholar. The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation designated SU as an Honor Institution, a distinction given to universities that have several Truman Scholars and that promote the values of public service.

The Office of Fellowships supports undergraduate and graduate students in their search for fellowships, grants and other academic opportunities. The office provides a clearinghouse of information about various funding opportunities and assists students in locating fellowships that fit their interests, experience and goals.

A range of fellowship opportunities is supported through the Office of Fellowships, from smaller, local competitions to prominent national contests.

While the Office of Fellowships offers guidance in choosing a fellowship, its primary mission is to support students through the application process. This includes writing assistance, advising and interview preparation.

Educating the Whole Person

A well-rounded education is about more than scholastic success—it is values- and mission-driven; it enriches and inspires. Confident, skilled student leaders are developed through our top-notch educators and service and social justice offerings. In addition to academic achievements and personal growth, Seattle University provides many opportunities for exploration of faith, and fitness and wellness.

Campus Ministry

Campus Ministry brings together and supports the many faith communities at Seattle University. In addition to outreach and education, the office promotes social justice, pastoral care and service, and personal and spiritual growth through various programs and regional and international learning experiences.

The heart of the university's Catholic faith community is the Chapel of St. Ignatius, which offers daily and Sunday liturgies and special events, such as concerts and Taize prayer. The Campion Ecumenical Chapel provides a large worship space for denominational and ecumenical Christian worship, and the Campion Multifaith Prayer Room offers a sacred place for daily personal prayer and group prayer for persons of all faiths. The Immaculate Conception Chapel, located on the second floor of the Administration Building, offers a place of refuge and prayer, and is the site of a weekday Mass.

Campus Ministry offers many resources and service-learning opportunities through the Maguire Center and Hunthausen Resource Center, both located on the first floor of the Student Center.

Education Abroad

The Education Abroad Office facilitates intellectual and intercultural experiences that contribute to leadership and service in the Jesuit tradition.

Almost half of the students who participate in education abroad take short-term trips, and the rest spend a quarter or longer abroad at schools in Austria, Japan, France, Belize, China, Spain or Mexico.

Additional international abroad opportunities are available through the Research for Development Graduate Program and the International Development Internship Program. The Research for Development Graduate Program places graduate students in internships where they conduct research for non-governmental organizations (NGOs) in Africa and Southeast Asia, Burma and Thailand. The International Development Internship Program is a 20-credit academic program for undergraduate students—now in its seventh year—that connects students with internships with NGOs in Latin America, Africa and Asia. Both programs focus on students acquiring a sense of responsibility for social justice, which enables them to serve communities at local, national and international levels.

To prepare for this international service and deepen their understanding afterward, students attend on-campus seminars before and after their time abroad.

Mission and Ministry

Mission and Ministry consists of several branches that extend outward to connect the Jesuit and Catholic character of Seattle University with academic and service-learning programs. The office encompasses Jesuit Mission and Identity, the chaplain for faculty and staff, Magis: Alumni Committed for Mission, and Campus Ministry, which coordinates on-campus chapels and liturgical services.

Center for Service and Community Engagement

In keeping with the Jesuit tradition and principles of service and justice, students have opportunities to serve and learn through the Center for Service and Community Engagement.

More than two-thirds of SU's undergraduates took a course with a service-learning component and 70 percent volunteered in 2006–07.

The office promotes student leadership in the community, supports service-learning courses and builds partnerships with local community-based organizations through various service opportunities. Several major Center for Service and Engagement projects include the annual Serve Seattle Day, a series of service immersion trips and the year-long Student Leaders for a Common Good program.

Visitors can join a pick-up game of basketball in one of the two indoor gyms, work out in the weight room or challenge friends to a game of handball. Tennis courts, a softball field, running track and soccer field complete the sports facilities.

Throughout the year, students can compete in men's, women's or co-ed intramural leagues. There are a variety of intramural sports leagues at SU, including tennis, racquetball, softball and floor hockey.

The university also offers a wide range of intramural and club sports, including skiing, golf, tennis, ice hockey and ultimate frisbee. Classes are available in aerobics, taekwondo and yoga.

Club sports are student-run and include baseball, cycling and cheerleading.

There is a small fee for preventative services such as physicals and annual exams for women. Prescription medications and lab tests are available at a minimal cost. There are also nominal fees for minor routine office procedures; most immunizations are provided to students at cost. Students who need a medical specialist or who experience a serious illness or injury must obtain and pay for these services at facilities other than the Student Health Center. The health center staff will assist in obtaining referrals for such services they cannot provide.

All services are confidential and no information is released without a student's permission. Students under the age of 18 must have an authorization form for treatment signed by a parent or guardian.

Meeting the Changing Needs of Students

A dynamic component of Seattle University graduate studies was first offered at Seattle University in 1948, with a master's degree in a division of the College of Arts and Sciences. Additional graduate degree programs have been introduced over the years, primarily to meet the needs of working professionals. Today, more than 3,200 graduate and professional students are enrolled in full- and part-time programs. While teaching is the heart of the enterprise, Seattle University's graduate programs strive to meet the changing academic and service-level needs of our diverse student body while retaining a high value on personal interactions.

Degree Programs

The academic deans are responsible for administration and supervision of all programs leading to a degree. The colleges or schools with associated departments provide courses of instruction for graduate students, direct their studies and conduct examinations, as well as maintain requirements and make recommendations for degree programs.

Graduate admission is granted through the director of graduate admission in consultation with the appropriate graduate program coordinator. The university's registrar supervises academic transactions involving registration and awarding degrees.

Graduate Admission

Admission Requirements and Procedures (Policy 2004-02)

Admission to a graduate program is granted to those with U.S. equivalent bachelor or advanced degrees from regionally accredited institutions, and whose credentials indicate the ability to pursue graduate work. Some programs extend a limited number of admission offers and only accept applications for specified terms of entry. Undergraduate degrees or their U.S. equivalent in the field from which students select their graduate work may be required. For specific program requirements and terms of entry, consult the appropriate graduate application instructions and the applicable academic sections of this Bulletin.

Grade point averages for admission are calculated on course work leading to the bachelor's degree, usually credits earned in the last 90 quarter/60 semester credits of the degree and any post-baccalaureate courses, or all graduate-level course work for post-master's Educational Specialist or Doctor of Education programs, as specified by each program. Calculation of the GPA for international students is performed based on globally recognized standards and converted, when possible, into U.S. equivalencies. Course work must be completed at regionally accredited institutions or, for applicants to the School of Theology and Ministry, from an institution accredited by the Association of Theological Schools.

Deans and program directors reserve the right to request test scores and other supplementary data. Applicants earning degrees from non-grading institutions are usually required to submit the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT), Graduate Records Exam (GRE), Miller Analogies Test (MAT), or other specified exams as requested by individual programs. Applicants should contact Graduate Admissions or program chairs for further information on requirements and exceptions.

Application Process

Admission applications should be submitted as early as possible, but no later than the program deadline for the term an applicant plans to begin study. All applicants for graduate admission must submit an application and fee, and official transcripts of academic credits from schools attended as required by their program of study. Transcripts must be received by Seattle University in sealed envelopes as originally sent by each issuing institution to be considered official. For an application to be considered complete and eligible for consideration, applicants must also submit by the program deadline all forms and documents as requested by individual programs and the Graduate Admission Office.

Applicants are not officially admitted graduate students until the Office of Graduate Admission issues a formal letter of acceptance. Offers of admission are for regular, probationary, provisional or non-matriculated status. An applicant's acceptance of an admission offer constitutes a commitment by the student to abide by university policies, rules and regulations.

Applicants are expected to fully and truthfully complete all information requested by the university in connection with the admission application, and to supplement the application if any information changes between submission of the application and enrollment. False or misleading information or material omissions in connection with the application process will result in denial of admission, withdrawal of admission, dismissal, cancellation of course credit, or other appropriate action as determined by the university.

Selection Criteria

Seattle University is committed to providing access to graduate-level educational opportunities to those who indicate the academic potential to benefit from such programs. Due to the specialized nature of the graduate curricula, the measures employed are program-specific and vary accordingly. Prior to application, prospective students need to become familiar with the individual admission requirements of the academic programs they are considering.

An individual's past conduct, particularly as it may relate to unlawful or criminal behavior, is relevant to the admission process. Accordingly, Seattle University reserves the right to deny admission or continued enrollment to individuals who have engaged in unlawful or criminal behavior. Each applicant and each student is responsible to disclose in writing the required documentation and information on any and all criminal convictions classified either as a felony or gross misdemeanor as specified in Policy 2004-08.

Non-discrimination in Admissions

Refer to Seattle University's non-discrimination policy inside the front cover of this publication.

Applicants with Disabilities

It is the policy of Seattle University to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act regarding students and applicants with disabilities. Under these laws, no qualified individual with a disability will be denied access or participation in services, programs and activities at the university. The university's Equal Opportunity Officer, who can be reached at (206) 296-5869, is the person designated as the ADA/Section 504 compliance officer. For information about services on campus for students with disabilities, visit seattleu.edu/SAD/DS/.

Applicants are not required to indicate on an admission application whether they have a disability. An applicant may choose to identify a physical, learning, psychological or other disability and ask that it be considered a relevant factor in the admissions process. The information is intended to enhance an individual's opportunities for admission and will not be used to discriminate against the applicant. The decision to report a disability is a personal one, and the university respects an applicant's decision not to do so. All information supplied by an applicant to the university regarding any disability will be treated confidentially and used only for special admissions review.

Individuals who do not identify as having a disability at the time of applying to the university will be evaluated for admission in the regular manner. If an admitted applicant does have a disability requiring special services or accommodation, it is the individual's responsibility to report any such condition as soon as possible to Disabilities Services. For assistance and more information, contact Disabilities Services at (206) 296-5740.

Probationary and Provisional Admission

Applicants whose academic credentials do not meet the expected prerequisite course work, grade point average and/or test scores of those typically accepted to specific programs, but who convey the potential for academic success, warrant offers of provisional or probationary admission.

Probationary admission involves a specific time limit during which the enrolled student is expected to achieve the minimum GPA noted at the time of admission. When this condition is fulfilled, the department usually recommends advancement to regular graduate student status.

Provisional admission is granted typically to applicants needing to fulfill specific requirements within a stated time period to qualify for formal unconditional admission to their program of study, graduate standing or, in some cases, to remain eligible to continue course work.

Non-matriculated Admission (Policy 92-02)

Non-matriculated graduate student status is granted to eligible students for post-baccalaureate study not intended to culminate in a Seattle University degree or certificate. A graduate-level Non-matriculated Student Application must be completed and submitted along with a fee. (See the classification of student policy in the Academic Regulations section of this Bulletin.)

English Proficiency Admission Requirements (Policy 2008-01)

Applicants for whom English is not the first or native language must demonstrate English proficiency regardless of English language studies, academic history, residence in the United States or other English-speaking countries, or immigration status. Proof of English ability can be satisfied with the TOEFL, IELTS or the institutional MELAB. Required scores for each exam are noted on the full policy. Applicants who have earned baccalaureate or advanced degrees at Seattle University or at recognized colleges or universities in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Ireland, New Zealand or Australia and who have resided in countries where English is the primary language for two years just prior to application may be exempted from the English proficiency requirement.

International Admission Requirements (Policy 76-06)

International students must meet the admission requirements outlined for their intended graduate program to be considered for admission. International students seeking a student visa must also submit a Declaration of Finance form and cannot be admitted conditionally or as non-matriculantes. Completed application files must be on record, including official transcripts and proof of English proficiency, when required, before admission decisions can be made.

English proficiency requirements for admission consideration are outlined in Policy 2008-01. Applicants must meet the international application deadline or specific program deadline for the quarter of intended entry, whichever is earlier. Transcripts and other academic documents must be provided in the original language and with English translations as necessary.

Readmission (Policy 76-10)

Students will continue to receive registration materials and will be eligible to register for the four consecutive quarters (including summer) after the last quarter of attendance. After this point, students must apply for readmission and will be subject to the requirements of their school, department, and programs in effect at the time of readmission. (Refer to the readmission policy in Academic Regulations in this Bulletin.)

Student Financial Services

Student Financial Services has four main service functions:

Registration Information: The information and document intake site for the Registrar's Office as well as for Student Financial Services. Students may pick up or drop off registration forms or request transcripts from the representatives at our front windows.

Student Accounts: Student Accounts prepares and distributes bills for tuition and fees, room and board and insurance. The office takes payments, assesses late charges, sets up payment plans and distributes aid.

Financial Aid: Financial aid counselors evaluate the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and determine eligibility for federal, state and institutional need-based funds.

Student Employment: At SU Online, jobs are posted that are funded through the need-based work-study programs that are included in eligible students' financial aid awards as well as those that are funded by the employer and open to any interested student—not just those with work-study awards.

Tuition Payment

By registering for classes at Seattle University, the student agrees to pay all applicable tuition, fees, room and board charges, and other university expenses (e.g., late fees and library fines) in accordance with university policies or as stipulated in this Bulletin.

Tuition and fees are due and payable on or before Sept. 15 for fall quarter, Dec. 15 for winter quarter, March 15 for spring quarter and June 15 for summer quarter. Students who register late have 14 days after registering to pay tuition without incurring a late fee.

The tuition and fees paid by students help to cover not only the direct costs of the classes they enroll in, but also the costs of providing library and health services, the student newspaper, allocations to student organizations, building funds and admission to athletic events.

Health Insurance

Graduate students are not required to have health insurance; however, health insurance for domestic students may be purchased through somerton-ins.com.

International students are required to purchase student health insurance. Contact the university's International Student Center for information regarding cost and coverage levels.

Official Withdrawal

Students are responsible for payment of all tuition, fees and other charges related to courses for which they have registered.

The official date of a student's withdrawal is the date of the first signature by any official of the university on the withdrawal form, the date of the online withdrawal, or the last date of attendance as verified by the instructor, whichever is earlier.

Payment Methods

1. Pay by Mail: Send payments to Seattle University, Student Financial Services, 901 12th Avenue, PO Box 222000, Seattle, WA 98122-1090. Include your student SU ID number or social security number on the check or money order.
2. Pay Online: Pay using VISA, MasterCard or electronic check by accessing SU Online. If a credit card is used to make payment, a 2.5 percent service fee will automatically be added to the payment amount. There is no fee for making an electronic check payment. New students will receive login instructions for SU Online in the packet of information sent to them upon admission to the university.
3. Pay by Drop Box: Place checks in the "24/7 Forms Drop" box located across the lobby from the Student Financial Services windows and adjacent to the elevator in the University Services Building. This drop box is accessible 24 hours a day, every day, and is secure and emptied daily.
4. Pay in Person: Visit Student Financial Services in Room 105 of the University Services Building. The office is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday.
5. Sign up for a Payment Plan: Seattle University offers several payment plans as described below.

Payment Plan A: Nine Installment Annual Plan

Students who will register for consecutive fall, winter, and spring quarters are eligible to sign up for an annual nine-month payment plan through Seattle University. Students enrolling for fewer than these three quarters cannot use Payment Plan A and should look instead at Payment Plans B and C below to determine the best plan to suit their needs. Payment Plan A is an excellent way to plan ahead for tuition costs and spread payments over the course of the academic year, resulting in lower monthly payments instead of large, lump sum payments at the start of each quarter. This is not a loan and there is no interest charged. The only additional cost is a $50 non-refundable enrollment fee.

This plan takes the estimated total cost for fall, winter and spring quarters—less verified financial aid (excluding any work-study)—and divides the remaining balance into nine monthly installments. Payments are due on the first of each month, beginning Oct. 1 and ending June 1. Applications, accompanied by the $50 non-refundable enrollment fee, must be submitted no later than Sept. 15.

The application for this plan is included with the paper, Registration and Payment Invoice that is mailed to new students before the start of their first term at Seattle University. After the first term, instead of a paper invoice, students receive an e-mail notification at their SU e-mail addresses that their invoice is available for viewing at SU Online. The payment plan application is available by going to seattleu.edu/sfs and selecting Printable Forms from the Quick Links menu and then Payment Plans.

Once we receive a completed application and the $50 non-refundable enrollment fee, we will send a payment schedule to whoever is designated as the bill payer on the application, outlining the monthly installment amounts. Payment schedules are not mailed until August so students who apply before Aug. 1 will experience a delay in receiving these schedules. Students who apply on or after Aug. 1 should allow at least two weeks for application processing and to receive by mail the payment schedule. If the payment schedule is received after the first payment is due, any missed payments as of the date the schedule is received must be included in the initial payment. If two consecutive payments are late, participation in the plan is cancelled. The remaining amount due for the current quarter becomes immediately past due and payable in full, and future registration is blocked unless/until the student's account is brought current.

Payment Plan B: Three Installment Quarterly Plan

This is a three-month payment plan for which students must apply each quarter. One-third of the balance on the student account plus a $30 non-refundable enrollment fee is due on the student account balance due date. Another third is due on the 15th of the following month and the remaining balance on the 15th of the next month. Payment Plan B due dates are given below.

The application for this plan is included with the paper Registration and Payment Invoice that is mailed to new students before the start of their first term at Seattle University. After the first term, instead of a paper invoice, students receive an e-mail notification at their SU e-mail address that their invoice is available for viewing at SU Online. For a payment plan application, go to seattleu.edu/sfs, select Printable Forms from the Quick Links menu and then select Payment Plans. The deadline to submit the application, $30 non-refundable enrollment fee and one-third of the balance on the student's account is the due date shown on the quarterly Registration and Payment Invoice.

Payment Plan B Due Dates:

	Fall	Winter	Spring
Payment 1	Sept. 15	Dec. 15	March 15
Payment 2	Oct. 15	Jan. 15	April 15
Payment 3	Nov. 15	Feb. 15	May 15

Payment Plan C: Deferred Quarterly Single Payment Plan

This quarterly plan defers payment of the balance due on a student's account until the last day of the month following the scheduled student account balance due date. To use this plan an application must be submitted each quarter by the student's account balance due date. The balance on the student's account is due by the date shown below.

The application for this plan is included with the paper Registration and Payment Invoice that is mailed to new students before the start of their first term at Seattle University.

After that first term, instead of a paper invoice, students receive an e-mail notification to their SU e-mail address that their invoice is available for viewing at SU Online. For a payment plan application, go to seattleu.edu/sfs, select Printable Forms from the Quick Links menu and then select Payment Plans. The deadline to submit the application and $30 non-refundable enrollment fee is the student account balance due date shown on the student's quarterly "Registration and Payment Invoice."

Payment Plan C Due Dates:

Fall	Winter	Spring
Oct. 31	Jan. 31	April 30

Payment Plan E: Employer Paid Tuition Deferred Payment Plan

If a student will receive tuition reimbursement through their employer after coursework is completed and grades are posted, they can elect to sign up for this payment plan that defers payment of tuition and fees until 30 days after grades are available at the end of the term. There is a $30 non-refundable enrollment fee. For this form, go to seattleu.edu/sfs, select Printable Forms from the Quick Links menu and then select Payment Plans. The deadline to submit the application and $30 non-refundable enrollment fee is the student account balance due date.

Seattle University reserves the right to change its charges at any time without notice. Questions about student accounts, payment methods or the payment plans should be directed to Student Financial Services at (206) 296-2000. The office is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday.

Late Payment/University Collection Fee

A late fee of $50 per month (up to a maximum of $100) will be assessed on any unpaid balance remaining after the tuition due date. Students with an outstanding balance after a final demand letter for payment has been sent will be assessed a collection fee of $100 in addition to the late fees.

Exceptions to this policy will be made only if:

- Payment arrangements for the term's charges have been made with Student Financial Services by the term's tuition due date. If the requirements of the plan are not met, all applicable late fees will be applied retroactively; or
- An institutional error results in delays in the application of financial aid.

Students are responsible for ensuring that all awarded financial aid is applied to their account by the first day of the term. This includes endorsing co-payable grant or scholarship checks and signing all required loan documents.

Finance and Service Charges

By registering for classes at the university, a student agrees to pay their account in full by the due dates established by the university. Additionally, the student agrees to pay a 1 percent per month finance charge (12 percent APR) that may be assessed on unpaid balances, including finance charges previously assessed, and all service fees and late fees established by the university.

A service fee of $25 will be charged for all checks not honored by the bank and returned unpaid to Seattle University. If the returned check was for tuition, and charges are still outstanding after the tuition due date, a late fee will also be assessed to the student's account. Students with two or more dishonored personal checks will no longer be allowed to submit a personal check as a form of payment.

Past-Due Accounts/Collection

A student's failure to pay all tuition and other fees for any quarter or session in full by the specified due dates will result in a restriction being placed on the student's academic transcript and the student will be prohibited from future registration. Delinquent accounts may be referred to a commercial collection agency and reported to national credit bureaus. All costs, expenses and fees including, but not limited to attorney fees, court costs, collection costs and other out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the university in collecting or attempting to collect a past-due account are the responsibility of the student, and will be charged to the student's account. By registering for classes at the university, a student agrees to pay these charges and any fees associated with the collection.

Tuition Refunds (Policy 75-9)

Refunds are based on the official date of withdrawal. See the quarterly schedule of classes for specific dates. A refund to a financial aid recipient is applied first to the financial aid sources from which it came and the balance, if any, is remitted to the student. Loan proceeds are returned directly to the lender. Student Financial Services will issue a check for any credit balance. Petitions for tuition adjustment and fee waivers will be approved only to correct a university error.

Tuition Refund Policy

Official withdrawal (full or partial) fall, winter or spring terms

Through the last day to Add/Drop .....	100 percent
Through the second Saturday after the first Monday of the term .....	75 percent
Through the third Saturday after the first Monday of the term .....	50 percent
Thereafter .....	No refund

Official withdrawal (full or partial) summer term

Four-week and intersessions

Through the last day to Add/Drop .....	100 percent
Thereafter .....	No refund

Seven- and eight-week sessions

Through the last day to Add/Drop .....	100 percent
Through the second Saturday .....	50 percent
Thereafter .....	No refund

Short courses (any session not listed above) will be refunded at 100 percent if withdrawal occurs on or before the second day the class meets. No refunds thereafter.

Overpayment of Account (credit balance)

Credit balances created by financial aid, tuition adjustments or overpayment will be remitted to the student. Credit balance checks will either be electronically deposited to the student's checking account if direct deposit has been authorized and established or sent to the mailing address shown for the student at SU Online. Students may elect to have credit balances transferred electronically to their checking account by filling out a Direct Deposit Authorization and submitting it with a copy of a voided check to Student Financial Services. The application is available at seattleu.edu/sfs under the Printable Forms Quick Link in the Authorizations, Certifications and Access Permissions category. After a student signs up, all refunds will be deposited directly to the designated checking account for availability beginning on the first day of classes each quarter and/or as they become available after the first day of the quarter. There is a 14-day confirmation period after the student submits the application before transactions may occur.

Electronic transfers or checks will be issued automatically in the following situations:

- There is a credit balance on the student account for the current term due to excess payments or reduced charges.
- No other balances are due to the university.
- The student meets all requirements to receive the aid that creates the credit balance.
- No check or credit card payment has been made within the last seven days.
- Students who do not meet any of the criteria above must either:
  - a) Contact Student Financial Services for resolution, or
  - b) Have appropriate checks issued after review and approval (minimum five-day delay).

Additionally, students who expect a refund after the balance on their student account has been paid in full may elect to transfer some or all of that refund to their Campus Card, which can then be used to purchase books and supplies at the SU Bookstore, parking permits, copies, or snacks and beverages. To take advantage of this option the student's financial aid needs to be finalized 30 days prior to the start of the quarter to enable access to these funds on the first day of classes.

The Campus Card Deposit Authorization form is available at seattleu.edu/sfs by selecting the Printable Forms Quick Link and then selecting the Authorizations, Certifications and Access Permissions category. Submit the completed form to Student Financial Services and allow a minimum of two weeks for processing to have funds available on the first day of each quarter.

NOTE: Federal regulations require Seattle University to forward Title IV financial aid resulting in a credit balance to the student within 10 days. Students are encouraged to establish direct deposit for the most efficient transfer of funds. If direct deposit has not been authorized and established, financial aid refund checks will be sent to the student's mailing address shown at SU Online.

Financial Aid

Applications for Federal Student Aid

To be considered for need-based financial aid, students must complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or Renewal FAFSA each year. The FAFSA for the upcoming academic year—summer, fall, winter and spring quarters—becomes available on Jan. 1 at fafsa.ed.gov. Students are encouraged to apply for a Personal Identification Number (PIN) that can be used to access FAFSA online. Students may apply for the PIN from within the FAFSA website as they are completing the application or visit pin.ed.gov to apply ahead of time. When completing the FAFSA, be sure to list Seattle University's Federal School Code—003790—the appropriate section so results will be sent to the university.

While FAFSAs are accepted and processed year-round, graduate students are strongly encouraged to have their FAFSAs filed by Feb. 1, or as soon after that date as possible, for the academic year starting in September. The earlier a file is completed the more likely it is that funding will be available on the first day of class.

Eligibility or financial need is defined as the difference between the amount it will cost a student to attend Seattle University in the 2008–09 school year and the student's Expected Family Contribution (EFC), which is calculated using a formula mandated by Congress, from information provided on the FAFSA. Student Financial Services prepares a financial aid award to meet as much of a student's needs as possible. That award may include a combination of scholarships, grants, work-study and/or loans. Descriptions of the federal, state and institutional aid programs for which students are eligible are below. To be eligible for most financial aid programs students must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents.

Scholarships

Seattle University offers a limited number of scholarships to graduate students. These scholarships are provided in recognition of a student's ability to enhance our educational community. Scholarship renewal is based on scholarship specifics, satisfactory academic progress and, in some cases, continued need.

Marylou Wyse Scholarship

The Marylou Wyse Scholarship is awarded through the Graduate Admissions Office in consultation with the academic departments for select programs that vary year to year. This is a limited need-based scholarship that is awarded for two years. Students must maintain continuous enrollment of at least three credits per term but with a minimum of 12 credits per nine-month academic year. To be eligible students must complete the FAFSA each year.

Graduate Diversity Scholarship

The Graduate Diversity Scholarship is a limited scholarship available to outstanding candidates from under-represented populations. Students must be admitted into one of the following graduate programs: Education (Curriculum and Instruction, Educational Administration, Pre-service teacher certification—MIT only), nursing and theology and ministry. Students should contact their department to apply.

Catholic School Special Tuition Grant

Eligible full-time religious and lay teachers and principals of Catholic schools under the auspices of the Archdiocese of Seattle may apply for this grant through Student Financial Services. Master in Teaching (MIT) and Doctor of Education (EdD) students are not eligible. The grant cannot be used to pay for MIT or EdD credits. Grant recipients pay half of regular tuition for eligible graduate education courses; and this grant covers the other half.

Matteo Ricci Consortia Schools Tuition Remission

Full-time employees of the six Matteo Ricci College consortia schools may be eligible for grant funds of up to 85 percent of tuition. Eligibility for the grant is determined by Matteo Ricci College.

Program Specific Scholarships

Several graduate departments and programs offer program-specific scholarships and/or assistantships. Scholarships are generally limited; some awards may be based on need and some may be renewable. Students should contact their departments for specific information about availability, eligibility and application procedures.

Outside Scholarships

Outside scholarships are scholarships students bring with them to Seattle University. Students must inform Student Financial Services if they are receiving outside scholarships because they must be included in the resources available to meet costs. These scholarships then are listed as "Private Outside Scholarships" on the Seattle University Award Letter.

Outside scholarships that have been announced for Seattle University students are posted at seattleu.edu/go/outside\_scholarships/. The search features on the right side of the screen allow students to narrow their search to scholarships that are pertinent to their interests.

Loans

At Seattle University, graduate students typically receive funding through three federal loans: the Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan, the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan, and the Federal Direct PLUS Loan for Graduate Students. These are low-interest student loans that must be repaid. To be eligible to receive these loans, graduate students must be enrolled at least half time (a minimum of three credits each term).

For Federal Direct Stafford Loans, in addition to the annual maximum loan limits discussed below, the maximum aggregate lifetime loan limits for graduate students are $65,500 for the Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan and $138,500 for the combined total of Federal Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Stafford Loans.

Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan

This need-based loan has a fixed interest rate of 6.8 percent. Interest does not accrue until repayment begins. Repayment begins six months after a student leaves school or drops below half-time enrollment. A 2 percent origination fee less a 1.5 percent rebate for on-time monthly payments when repayment begins on timely repayment will be deducted from each loan. Students will see this half (.5) percent reduction on each disbursement of the loan. By federal regulation, graduate students may receive up to a maximum of $8,500 in Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan funding per year.

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan

This non-need-based loan has the same interest rate, terms and conditions as the Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan described above, except that it accrues interest while the student is in school. This loan is available to students who do not qualify for need-based Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loans. Some students may be awarded partial Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loans and partial Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loans because they do not qualify for a full Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan. The combination of a graduate student's subsidized and unsubsidized loans cannot exceed an annual limit of $20,500.

Federal Direct PLUS Loan for Graduate Students (Grad PLUS)

This is a non-need-based loan with a fixed interest rate of 7.9 percent. The lender will charge a fee of 2.5 percent that will be deducted from the awarded amount before the loan is disbursed to a student's account. Repayment begins 60 days after the loan is fully disbursed for the academic year. For an academic year loan for three quarters, repayment begins 60 days after the spring quarter disbursement in March. In-school deferment is available.

As part of the PLUS Loan application process, graduate students must complete a FAFSA, which will determine eligibility for both subsidized and unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan funding. They must have applied for their annual loan maximum eligibility under the Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Direct Stafford Loan programs before they can be considered for a PLUS Loan.

Students can apply by going to seattleu.edu/sfs, and selecting the Printable Forms Quick Link, then the PLUS Loan Request Form. From there, download and print the graduate student version of the form. That form includes information about who is eligible to apply, how the loan is processed and authorizes the required credit check. Once completed, the form is submitted to our office where we verify eligibility and send the information to the U.S. Department of Education to verify the "absence of adverse credit."

First-time borrowers are required to complete an entrance counseling session and sign a master promissory note, which can be done electronically using the FAFSA PIN, before funds will be released to the student's account.

While not mandatory, we strongly encourage students to take advantage of their annual Federal Stafford Direct Loan eligibility before applying for a Graduate PLUS Loan because the terms and conditions of the Direct Loan are better than those for the Graduate PLUS Loan.

Private Educational Loans

Students who find they need more financial assistance than Seattle University is able to offer may secure additional funding through a private educational loan where they can borrow up to their total cost of education minus any financial aid. Eligibility to receive these loans is based on credit-worthiness as determined by specific lenders.

Student Financial Services certifies private educational loans from any lender the student selects and regardless of whether or not the student has chosen to apply for federal loans or other financial aid. However, it is strongly recommended that students look at the federal loans first and carefully compare the rates, terms and benefits offered with any private loan they are considering because federal loans generally have better repayment terms and conditions.

For more information, visit the loan page of Student Financial Services on the university website at seattleu.go/student\_loans/.

Federal Perkins Loan

This low interest loan is very limited and is not included in initial awards to graduate students. Graduate students interested in this loan should contact Student Financial Services to be placed on the waiting list should funding become available.

Work-study

Work-study is not included in initial awards for graduate students because funding is limited. Graduate students interested in work-study should contact Student Financial Services. If funds are available, graduate students may be considered for these programs:

On-Campus Federal Work-Study

This need-based work program is federally funded. Students may work up to 20 hours per week at a position on campus and are paid monthly for hours worked.

Federal Work-Study (Off-campus Community Service)

The need-based Federal Work-Study Community Service program provides students with off-campus employment in jobs that foster career-related development skills through community service work, offering positions in approved non-profit businesses as well as in government agencies.

Off-Campus State Work-Study

This need-based work program is state-funded with first priority given to Washington residents. Participating students may work up to 19 hours per week in off-campus positions. Opportunities are available in approved private businesses, non-profit organizations and in city and county government.

Student Employment

Students who are not awarded need-based work-study but who want to work while attending Seattle University can use the university's free job listing service. Jobs are posted at suonline.seattleu.edu. Select the Access Student Menu, then Student employment opportunities and enter the academic year you are seeking employment.

Veterans' Educational Benefits

Selected academic programs at Seattle University are approved by the Washington State Higher Education Coordinating Board's State Approving Agency for enrollment of persons eligible to receive educational benefits under Title 38 and Title 10 U.S. Code.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy

Federal regulations mandate students make satisfactory academic progress toward completing their degree in order to receive federal financial aid. This requirement applies to the entire period of attendance at Seattle University, even though financial aid may not have been received for some periods of enrollment. Student Financial Services staff currently reviews satisfactory progress at the end of spring quarter. Students who have not maintained satisfactory progress are notified; however, it is each student's responsibility to monitor their own progress quarter by quarter to ensure they are meeting this standard.

Students must complete the number of credits for which financial aid is received, based on the "Enrollment Status" line of the award letter and the chart below:

GRADUATE STUDENTS

Full-time:.....	Six credits each quarter
3/4-time:.....	N/A
1/2-time:.....	Three to five credits each quarter

Grades of "I" (incomplete), "W" (withdrawal), "HW" (hardship withdrawal), "LW" (petitioned late withdrawal), "F" (failed, including unsatisfactory), "M" (grade not received from instructor), "CR" or "NC" (the results of credit by examination), "N" (no grade), "Z" (administrative withdrawal), ungraded and "Y" (audited class) do not count as passed credits.

While the individual graduate programs set GPA requirements, in general graduate students must maintain a minimum 3.00 cumulative GPA.

Grades earned at other schools, the results of credits by examination, "M" (grade missing), "N" (no grade) and "Y" (audited class) are not used to compute the Seattle University GPA.

Graduate students are eligible to receive financial aid until they have 1) attempted a maximum of 150 percent of the minimum number of credits required to receive their degree, or 2) completed all the course work required to receive their degree, whichever comes first.

Graduate students who have Alaska State Loans must enroll for at least six credits per quarter and maintain a minimum 3.00 cumulative GPA.

Students who fail to meet satisfactory progress standards may appeal based on special circumstances that prevented normal progress. An appeal must be submitted in writing and include a statement or explanation of the special circumstances that prevented the student from passing the required number of credits, achieving an acceptable GPA or completing a degree within the maximum time frame. The appeal should include supplemental documentation to support the appeal and an explanation of how the difficulty has been overcome and why renewed progress is now anticipated. In the case of the maximum time frame requirement, a letter of support and degree completion plan from an academic advisor should be included. Students may also appeal to rectify deficiencies through a summer contract to take coursework without the benefit of Seattle University-sponsored assistance in the summer. It is important to note that a student's GPA can be raised to the minimum required level only through coursework taken at Seattle University.

Cost of Attendance 2008–09

Seattle University uses the following figures to determine a full-time student's annual cost of attendance:

On/Off Campus

Tuition*	$9,324
Room	$5,265
Board	$3,075
Books/Supplies	$810
Personal	$2,145
Transportation	$1,527
Average Loan Fee	$134
Total	$22,280

*NOTE: The amount shown is for illustrative purposes only. Actual tuition will be based on the per credit rate for each program. Refer to the Tuition and Fees section in this Bulletin for more information.

Dropping or Withdrawing from a Class

Students who drop or withdraw from some classes at SU may have adjustments made to their financial aid depending on several factors. Therefore, while general information about dropping or withdrawing from classes is given below, it is strongly recommended that students contact a financial aid counselor in Student Financial Services before dropping any classes. Eligibility for federal loans requires continuous enrollment during the entire loan period. Therefore, any drop to less than half-time enrollment may require a new loan to be processed for subsequent quarters.

In general, financial aid for students who drop or withdraw from classes after classes begin, but are still enrolled for at least one credit, and whose federal and/or state financial aid has been transmitted to their student accounts, will not be affected for the quarter in progress as long as original eligibility requirements are met. However, if one or more classes are dropped during the add/drop period, institutional aid for the quarter will generally be withdrawn if the student drops below full-time. Thereafter, institutional aid will be reduced proportionally to the reduction in credits and the tuition refund level in effect at the time of the withdrawal. Any credit balance that results from dropping or withdrawing from classes will be refunded to the student. Because eligibility to receive financial aid in subsequent quarters may depend on the number of credits passed in the quarter in progress—and dropped or withdrawn classes do not count as passed—dropping or withdrawing from classes may affect eligibility to receive financial aid in the future.

In general, if a student drops or withdraws from class before eligibility for aid has been established, but is still enrolled at least half-time (three credits or more as a graduate student), financial aid will be revised based on the new enrollment status.

In general, dropping below half-time enrollment (less than three credits as a graduate student) before eligibility for aid has been established will result in most or all financial aid being canceled.

Complete Withdrawal

Following is general information about the financial aid impact of complete withdrawal from all classes. Because additional, individual circumstances and information vary widely from student to student, it is strongly recommended that financial aid recipients see a financial aid counselor in the Student Financial Services Office before dropping or withdrawing from all classes for the quarter. Aid for subsequent quarters will be canceled unless the student notifies Student Financial Services of plans to return in a subsequent quarter. Students may need to make up credits for the quarter from which they withdrew in order to receive aid again from Seattle University in the future. Be sure to refer to the Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy at seattleu.edu/sfs/financialaid for more information.

The official date of a student's withdrawal is the date of the first signature of a university official on the withdrawal form, the date of the online withdrawal, or the last date of attendance as documented on the withdrawal or grade form, whichever is earlier. For the required return of financial aid, the official withdrawal date for students who begin attendance but cease to attend classes without notifying the university and whose last date of attendance is not documented will be based on attendance for 50 percent of the quarter. In these cases, students will not be eligible for a tuition refund.

The Student Financial Services Office will determine eligibility for a refund of charges for the quarter based on the official date of withdrawal as described above. Refer to the published academic calendar for refund periods and amounts.

According to federal regulations, federal funds must be returned to federal programs based on the percent of the term remaining after students are no longer enrolled unless they have completed more than 60 percent of the term. If more than 60 percent of the term has been completed, no return of federal funds is required. If 60 percent or less of the term has been completed, Student Financial Services will determine how much federal aid was unearned as defined in federal regulations, and then return the unearned aid in the following order:

- Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan
- Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan
- Federal Graduate PLUS Loan
- Federal Perkins Loan
- Other Title IV Programs

Seattle University is required to return, on the student's behalf, the balance of unearned aid to the federal programs. Work-study funding is not included in the calculation that determines the return and students are not required to repay any work-study payments received for hours worked. Students are responsible for repaying, in accordance with the terms of their promissory note, any balance owed on the federal student loans disbursed to them that are not required to be returned by the university.

Federal law requires students who received federal student loans while attending Seattle University to obtain loan exit counseling through the university. That counseling provides more information about borrower rights and responsibilities. Loan repayment will begin at the end of the grace period(s) as defined by the promissory note(s).

Student Financial Services will return SU-sponsored aid to its source, based on the university's tuition refund calendar. If 50 percent of a student's tuition costs will be refunded, then only 50 percent of university-sponsored financial aid will be applied to that student's account.

If most of a student's tuition costs are covered by financial aid, then most of the refund will be returned to those financial aid programs. This does not apply to private educational loans for which repayment is solely the responsibility of the borrower once the funds have been applied to the student's account.

For tuition paid with cash, check or credit card, the amount refunded will be based on the applicable refund percentage at the time of the student's withdrawal.

Some students' complete withdrawal may result in a balance due to the university. In such cases, Student Financial Services will send a revised account invoice to let the student know of the amount owed as a result of their withdrawal. Future registration will be blocked and transcripts will be withheld until this balance is paid.

Sample "Return of Funds" calculations can be found by going to seattleu.edu/sfs. Once there, rest the cursor on the Financial Aid tab at the top of the homepage and click on Withdrawing from Some or All of Your Classes from the dropdown menu. Scroll to the bottom of the resulting page and click on the highlighted Sample Return of Funds Calculations link.

Z Grades and Hardship Withdrawals

Z Grades. Z grades are assigned by the registrar when it is documented that a student has registered for a course, stopped attending prior to the end of the scheduled add/drop period or never attended the class, and did not officially withdraw according to university policy. Students who were awarded financial aid and subsequently receive a Z grade for some or all of their classes will have their aid adjusted based on a revised enrollment status—the number of credits a student is enrolled in excluding those for the class where the Z grade is assigned). This may lead to students owing money to the university. Contact Student Financial Services to determine the affect a Z grade will have on financial aid. When a continuing—not a first-quarter—student receives a Z grade rather than a withdrawal, a $100 fee will be charged to that student's account for each Z grade received.

Hardship Withdrawal. Students granted a hardship withdrawal by their dean should keep in mind this withdrawal is for academic purposes only; tuition refunds follow the standard refund policy and are based on the official withdrawal date. A separate petition is required to request an exception to the standard refund policy. These requests are typically approved only if there was a death in the student's immediate family or the student had an illness or injury that required three or more days of hospitalization.

Student Consumer Information and Disclosures

Academic Regulations

Students are responsible for informing themselves of the academic regulations, requirements and policies set forth in this Bulletin and of other applicable university policies, rules and regulations. References to applicable policy statements are noted parenthetically. Students should always consult the Office of the Registrar website at seattleu.edu/registrar for the most up-to-date version of policies, rules and regulations. In all cases, the official academic policies are considered to be the overriding authority of any rule or regulation listed in this Bulletin.

Students are also responsible for the satisfactory completion of their program of study. Students should not rely on verbal representations of degree requirements or waivers thereof. Students should ensure through their advisor, program director, or other authorized individual that information and understandings pertaining to academic issues are accurate and that all agreements are entered in their official academic file in the Office of the Registrar.

Failure to meet the requirements or comply with regulations because of lack of knowledge does not excuse students from responsibility for compliance.

A faculty or professional advisor must approve students' programs of study. Such approval does not, however, excuse a student from any failure to meet university requirements.

The enrollment and graduation of each student, the awarding of academic credits, and the granting of any award or degree are strictly subject to the authority of the university. The university reserves the right to cancel any class that does not meet the required minimum enrollment, as determined by the university. The university also reserves the right to change any academic requirement or policy without notice and to require students to withdraw at any time.

Classification of Students (Policy 82-2)

Graduate Students

Graduate students are classified as those admitted to Seattle University to pursue a program of study leading to a specific graduate certificate, masters, educational specialist or doctoral degree.

In special circumstances, undergraduate seniors or post-baccalaureate undergraduate students may be allowed to enroll in graduate courses with prior approval from the director of the graduate program in the area of the course in question, or the dean of the college or school in which the course is taught.

Post-baccalaureate Graduates

A student with an acceptable baccalaureate degree admitted to the university to pursue a specific graduate certificate, and is eligible to enroll in 500-level courses only.

Non-Matriculated Graduate Status (Policies 82-2, 92-2)

An admission category that includes (1) those students admitted to Seattle University by means of a special application form and fee for the purpose of post-secondary or post-baccalaureate study that is not intended to culminate in a Seattle University degree or certificate; or (2) those students who are recorded in the computer system via a manual registration process through the Office of the Registrar for particular programs offered by the schools or colleges in which the student is not required to be admitted to the university. Students in this second category are not eligible for the same access to systems and services as students in the first category.

As per Policy 92-2, approval of non-matriculated credits (category 1 above) toward a graduate degree program at Seattle University is at the discretion of the academic department. In no case, however, will more than 12 credits taken at the graduate non-matriculated level be accepted toward a graduate degree.

There is no limit to the number of quarters which a student may attend Seattle University as a non-matriculated student, but not all courses are open to non-matriculants. During fall, winter and spring terms, non-matriculated students will be admitted to courses on a space-available basis after all matriculated students have had the opportunity to register. During summer term, non-matriculated students may register when registration opens for the term.

Course Work

Academic Honesty (Policy 2004-01)

Seattle University is committed to the principle that academic honesty and integrity are important values in the educational process. Academic dishonesty is a serious offense and will be addressed according to this policy.

Academic Load, Graduate Students (Policies 77-5, 82-1)

Master's Degree and Educational Specialist candidates

- Full-time: Six or more quarter credits. A minimum of nine quarter credits is required for any graduate student attending on a student visa.
- Half-time: Three quarter credits.
- Doctoral Program Students—Educational Leadership refer to Policy 82-1 for special exceptions.

Academic Overload (Policy 2001-02)

The normal load for full-time graduate students is nine credits per quarter. Some programs have credit limits for registration. Students who plan to register for more than nine credits in one quarter should check with their department to determine the upper limit before completing their registration.

Add/Drop

Students are held accountable to complete every course for which they register. If it is necessary to add or drop a course or change a grading option, the student must do so by the last day of the add/drop period. Failure to properly drop a course could result in a failing grade or an administrative withdrawal, which carries a financial penalty.

Attendance Requirement

Attendance is an essential and intrinsic element of the education process. In any course where attendance is necessary to the achievement of the course objectives, it may be a valid consideration in determining students' grades. Although there is no university regulation requiring class attendance, each instructor and each program has the discretion to establish attendance standards. The student is responsible for becoming familiar with any attendance requirements applicable to their courses or program of study.

Auditing a Course (Policy 97-7)

Graduate courses cannot be audited.

Course Numbering System

100 to 499 are undergraduate courses

500 to 599 are graduate courses*

600 to 699 are doctoral courses*

800 to 899 are post secondary professional development courses

900 to 999 are post-baccalaureate professional development courses

*Graduate standing or special permission is required for courses 500 to 699.

Registration

All students must register by the dates published. No registration is permitted after the last day to add/drop as published in the university academic calendar. Students registering after the first class day are held responsible for absences predating registration. No person may attend any university course unless officially registered.

Repeating a Course (Policy 77-2)

A graduate student must repeat a required course graded C- or below, but may repeat a graduate course graded C+ or C only once. The grade earned the second time will be used in computing the cumulative GPA. The original grade will remain on the record but course credits will be counted only once toward a degree.

Substitution of a Course

In some situations, a sponsoring degree department may approve the substitution of a previously completed graduate course for an equivalent required graduate course. The substitution, however, in no way reduces the total number of credits required for the degree.

Withdrawal from a Course (Policy 75-22)

Students must officially notify the Office of the Registrar when they withdraw from any course. Graduate students may withdraw via SU Online, or via the withdrawal form, which is obtained from the Office of the Registrar and presented to the instructor, other applicable offices, and the Office of the Registrar, in that order, for approval and signature.

The official date of a student's withdrawal is the date of the online withdrawal, the date of the first signature on the withdrawal form by any official of the university, or the last day of attendance as verified by the instructor, whichever is earlier.

Failure to properly withdraw from a course by the withdrawal deadline will result in a failing grade.

Credit, Alternate Sources

Extension Credit/Correspondence Credit

Graduate-level credit for extension courses is not normally allowed. Any exceptions are at the discretion of the dean of the appropriate college or school. Credits earned through correspondence are not accepted under any circumstances.

Transfer Credit (Policies 77-1, 79-1)

At the masters- or educational specialist-level, a maximum of 10 credits may be transferred from another accredited institution if they are earned with a grade of 3.00 or better on a 4.00 American grading scale, were taken for graduate credit, fall within the six-year limitation, and are approved by the academic department. See additional guidelines under specific academic programs in this Bulletin.

Undergraduate Course Work (Policy 87-2)

In certain circumstances and with approval, it may be appropriate for graduate students to take courses at the 300, 400 or 900 level. There is a 15-credit maximum limit for courses that normally include undergraduate, post-baccalaureate and graduate students. Graduate students are expected to perform at a level consistent with receiving graduate credit and, when enrolled in these courses, will be expected to do additional work in the form of projects, papers or other suitable assignments.

Master's degree programs may, under special circumstances as outlined in the academic program's section of this Bulletin, allow candidates to apply not more than six content hours of graduate course work taken as part of their undergraduate degree to meet credit hour requirements for the master's degree. This policy does not apply to those students in a combined undergraduate/graduate program where six or more undergraduate credits have already been applied toward the graduate degree.

Enrollment

Dual Enrollment at Two Colleges (Policy 75-6)

Seattle University regulations require students to seek written permission on a Petition for Exception to Policy form to be enrolled simultaneously at another institution. Courses completed at a second institution are transferable in limited circumstances when, prior to enrolling elsewhere, a form authorizing dual enrollment and credit transfer is approved by the program chair or director and the dean of the appropriate college or school.

Readmission (Policies 75-3, 76-10, 81-3)

Readmission must be requested when a student has not enrolled at Seattle University for four consecutive quarters, including summer, or has otherwise withdrawn from the university.

Students will continue to receive registration materials and be eligible to register for the four consecutive quarters, including summer, after the last quarter of attendance if they do not formally withdraw. See the policy for specific exceptions.

Returning students who have attended other post-secondary institutions after leaving Seattle University must submit official transcripts before applications for readmission will be considered.

Students who have not attended the university for more than four consecutive quarters will be held to the degree requirements in effect at the time of readmission.

Grading

Grades are available for viewing on SU Online the day following the final grade submission deadline.

Grading System

The following system of grading is used to indicate the level of individual student achievement. Each letter grade has a quality point value assigned to the grade achieved as follows:

A	4.00	Superior performance
A-	3.70
B+	3.30
B	3.00	Good performance
B-	2.70
C+	2.30
C	2.00	Minimal performance
C-	1.70	Courses graded C- or below will not count toward graduate degree or certificate
D+	1.30
D	1.00
D-	0.70
F	0.00	Failing

The grades of CR, HW, I, IP, LW, M, N, NC, P, Q, R, W, Y, YW or Z have no quality point value.

CR/F—Mandatory Credit/Fail

Some graduate courses, and other courses so designated by individual departments are graded only credit (CR) or fail (F). When passed with the minimum acceptable standard of C, the course will be graded CR and credit will be granted. There will be no effect on the grade point average. Should the student fail to satisfy the instructor's minimal expectations, the course will be graded F and will be included in the computation of the grade point average.

Colleges and programs may have a higher-grade standard for what constitutes a credit. Consult the appropriate school or college handbook for this information.

HW—Hardship Withdrawal (Policy 75-22)

Hardship withdrawals may be granted for the death of a family member, catastrophic illness in the family, or an illness or injury to the student that incapacitates. The dean will require the student to provide documentation to support the request. If granted, the student is withdrawn from all courses for that term. There is no effect on the grade point average. Any tuition refund follows the regular refund policy. Financial aid recipients are advised to check with the Office of Student Financial Services before requesting a hardship withdrawal because this action may negatively affect financial aid.

I—Incomplete (Policy 97-3)

An incomplete is a temporary grade indicating that work in the course was acceptable, although a critical portion of it was not completed because of illness or other serious circumstances beyond the student's control. It may not be used for the convenience of the faculty member or student. The I grade is not counted in the credits earned or used in the grade point average computation. When the instructor assigns an I grade at the end of a term, a default grade is submitted that will be automatically assigned by the Office of the Registrar if the deadline expires without student action. This default grade is calculated to include all work completed up to the date of final attendance plus a failing grade for work or examinations the student did not complete. If no default grade is submitted, the Office of the Registrar will assign a grade of F once the I deadline expires. Once a degree has been posted, removal of an I grade is not permitted. The deadlines for removing I grades are:

Term I earned in	Date final grade is due
Spring, summer or Intersession	Oct. 25, 2008
Fall 2008	Jan. 31, 2009
Winter 2009	April 25, 2009

IP—In Progress

Symbol used on the academic transcript to indicate current quarter's courses.

LW—Late Petitioned Withdrawal (Policy 75-22)

Each student is limited to three LW grades.

M—Missing

Symbol used when the instructor has not submitted a grade to the Office of the Registrar.

N—No Grade (Policy 75-19)

A grade used for courses where the course work is not scheduled for completion until after the quarter closes, e.g., thesis, research or internship courses. It is the responsibility of each student to arrange with the instructor to remove the N grade no later than the following deadlines:

Term N earned in	Date final grade is due
Summer	Aug. 1 of the following calendar year
Fall	Nov. 15 of the following calendar year
Winter	March 1 of the following calendar year
Spring	May 1 of the following calendar year

Once the deadline has passed, re-registration and payment of regular tuition is required in order to obtain credit for the work completed. Once a degree has been posted, removal of an N grade is not permitted.

Q—A Suspended Grade

For doctoral project/dissertation work-in-progress at the 600-level only, the Q grade must be removed within the six-year limit for all the degree course work. Once the six-year limit has expired, the Q becomes permanent and the student must re-register for the course, paying regular tuition to obtain credit for work completed.

R—Doctoral Research or Mandatory Registration

Indicates registration in a required non-credit doctoral research or mandatory registration course. This is a permanent grade that does not affect the grade point average.

W—Withdrawal (Policy 75-22)

Official withdrawal.

Z—Administrative Withdrawal (Policy 75-22)

Grade assigned by the Office of the Registrar when it can be documented that a student has registered for a course, stopped attending or never attended the class by the end of the add/drop period, and did not officially withdraw according to university policy. There is no effect on the grade point average. There is a $100 fee per Z grade.

Academic Standing*Good Standing

Graduate students must maintain a B average which is equivalent to a cumulative 3.00 grade point average on a 4.00 scale, and must have a minimum 3.00 cumulative GPA in order to earn a master's or doctoral degree.

Probation and Dismissal for Academic Deficiencies (Policy 75-14)

A student will be placed on probation if their cumulative GPA falls below 3.00, or for other reasons as determined by the university or the college or school in which the student's program is located. Additional bases for academic probation or dismissal are detailed in the university policy on probation and dismissal for academic deficiencies and the policies of the various schools, colleges and programs.

Grade Changes

Changing an end-quarter grade is permitted only on the basis of an actual error in computation or transcription whether discovered by the student or the instructor. Changing a grade is not permitted by reason of revision of judgment on the part of the instructor or by submitting new or revised work. Errors in grades must be reported within six months of the date of issue of grade reports. In the event that a student disputes an end-quarter grade, the grading grievance procedure should be followed.

Grading Grievance—Challenging Course Grades (Policy 2004-07)

The ultimate responsibility for the integrity of the academic grading process belongs to the university as an institution. Individual faculty members routinely act as agents for the institution in evaluating a student's academic performance and in assigning final course grades. If a student challenges a final course grade, the burden of proof lies with the student. The faculty member has an obligation to award course grades on the basis of standards set at the beginning of the course.

This policy guides the university's response to allegations that a faculty member acted arbitrarily and capriciously in assigning course grades. The grading grievance policy does not apply to mathematical errors in calculating the grade, academic dismissals from the university or a program, or questions of professional judgment concerning course content, instructional methods, or appropriateness of performance standards. In addition, this policy does not apply to the School of Law.

Grade Point Average (Policy 75-2)

The grade point average is computed by dividing the total number of quality points achieved by the total number of credit hours attempted in which the student earns a letter grade of A through F for a course included in the graduate record.

Transcripts (Policies 76-3, 97-6)

Current students may obtain official Seattle University transcripts of their academic record by accessing SU Online or submitting a written request to the Office of the Registrar. Former students may obtain official Seattle University transcripts by accessing the National Student Clearinghouse website or submitting a written request to the Office of the Registrar.

No official transcript will be released to students with an unsatisfied financial or other obligation to the university. Unofficial transcripts are available via SU Online.

The university is not responsible for any error on a transcript that is not brought to the attention of the Office of the Registrar within six months of the closing date of the quarter in which the error occurred.

Earning a Degree

All responsibility for fulfilling requirements and for applying for graduation rests with the student.

Academic Progress (Policy 75-1)

Seattle University recognizes that students progress at different rates and their time to complete a degree is often dictated by individual circumstances. However, all requirements for the master's, educational specialist or doctoral degree, including transfer courses, must be completed within six years after course work has begun.

Degree Requirements

Candidacy

Students in selected programs must file the candidacy form pursuant to the regulations of the individual colleges/schools. Doctoral students should consult the doctoral program section of this Bulletin on doctoral candidacy. Approval of candidacy eligibility is at the discretion of the dean of the college or school where the student belongs.

Catalog Year (Policy 75-1)

The academic year begins with summer term. Students are held to the degree program requirements in effect at the time of first enrollment. Students who are readmitted after an absence of more than four consecutive quarters are required to meet the degree requirements in effect at the time of readmission.

Students may, by petition, elect to graduate under degree requirements specified in subsequent Bulletins; however, under no circumstances will the requirements from earlier Bulletins be applied.

Credits Required to Graduate (Policy 75-1)

To earn a master's degree, candidates must complete a minimum of 45 graduate-level credits as well as all program requirements. Of these credits, 36 must be taken at Seattle University.

For those candidates who have already earned an acceptable master's degree in a related area, requirements for a second master's degree may be reduced by up to 10 credits upon recommendation of the program chair. Some programs may require additional course work.

Up to 15 credits may be earned at Seattle University in courses at the 300-499 or 900 level, if the subjects are suitable to the program. However, all work must be of distinctly advanced character, and requires the approval of the department and the dean of the appropriate college or school.

Comprehensive Testing

Candidates may be required to pass a comprehensive examination in the major field of study. This examination shall be written and/or oral at the judgment of the department and the approval of the dean of the appropriate college or school.

Thesis

Graduate students may request to complete theses on topics approved by their program departments and the dean of the appropriate college or school. For this work, no more than 10 credits are granted. A thesis is not necessarily a work of original research, but it must demonstrate the candidate's ability to develop material and ideas in an original, lucid way. Additionally:

- Thesis topics are to be approved by students' mentors, graduate program advisors and the dean of the appropriate college or school, and filed with the department;
- All thesis work must be done under the direct supervision of an assigned advisor;
- Four unbound copies of an approved thesis are to be submitted to the dean four weeks before the graduation date. Two of these copies will be bound and placed on file in the university library; one copy will go to the department chair and one to the student;
- An oral examination on the content of each thesis, cognate literature and available source material may be held before a board appointed by the departmental chair and approved by the dean of the appropriate college or school; and
- Doctoral theses are required.

For more information, consult the academic program section of this Bulletin.

Change of Program

To transfer from one college or school to another or from one program to another, a student must obtain a change of program form from SU Online, notify the former department by obtaining the chair's signature, and presenting the form to the new program director for approval. Students must meet the minimum entry requirements of the new program, and must also satisfy any additional requirements of the new college or school in order to earn the degree. The approved form is returned to the Office of the Registrar by the department and the student's record will be adjusted to reflect the new program.

Graduation/Commencement

Official commencement ceremonies are held annually in June. All responsibility for fulfilling the requirements and for applying for graduation rests with the student.

Application for a Degree

Application for a degree must be made with the Office of the Registrar via SU Online according to these deadlines:

Graduation term	Application deadline
Winter	Oct. 1
Spring	Nov. 1
Summer or Fall	Feb. 1

Application for a Certificate (Policy 76-11)

Application for a certificate must be made during the first week of the term in which the certificate course work is to be completed. After the department completes its part, the form is submitted to the Office of the Registrar.

Commencement with Deficiencies (Policy 83-1)

Students who have not completed their degree requirements by the time of the official commencement exercises may, under the following conditions, participate in commencement:

- Have six or fewer credits of degree requirements remaining to be satisfied after spring quarter and meet the grade point standards for their degree programs by the end of winter quarter; or
- If completing two degrees simultaneously, students are held to the same standards and must have six or fewer credits remaining to be completed for both degrees after spring quarter.

Students with deficiencies who plan to participate in the June commencement must apply for graduation no later than Nov. 1, prior to the ceremony.

Doctor of Education/Education Leadership (EDLR) students who have not completed their dissertation and have more than six-quarter credits remaining in their program requirements are not eligible to participate in commencement.

Other Academic PoliciesFair Process Policies (Policies 2001-01, 2005-01)

The Fair Process Policies apply to students enrolled in clinical, field or contextual education experiences at Seattle University and set out the process in which a student may seek review of certain types of decisions affecting their status, standing or continued participation in a program. Policy 2005-01 applies to students in the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Education and Nursing. Policy 2001-01 applies to students in the Albers School of Business and Economics, College of Science and Engineering and the School of Theology and Ministry. Students are referred to the most current online versions of the Fair Process Policies for a description of decisions that may and may not be reviewed under these policies.

Privacy of Student Records

Seattle University's practices regarding the privacy of student records are in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). The university maintains as confidential all personally identifiable information in education records except information considered to be directory information. Students have the right to request that directory information not be disclosed to third parties and may do so by submitting their request in writing to the Office of the Registrar by the last day to register each term, as announced in the university academic calendar. For a definition of directory information see the FERPA annual notification on the Office of the Registrar website.

In addition, FERPA affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days of the day the university receives a request for access;
2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes are inaccurate, misleading or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights; and
3. The right to consent to disclosure of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

FERPA permits disclosure without consent to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility. The university may also disclose personally identifiable information from a student's education records without the student's consent if the disclosure is to parents of dependent children as defined by the Internal Revenue Code, Section 152; or to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll. Furthermore, the university is required by law to provide the name and address of all students to any legitimate military recruiter who makes such a request in writing to the Office of the Registrar. Other exceptions exist that allow disclosure without a student's consent.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Seattle University to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue SW
Washington, D.C. 20202-4605

Complete copies of Seattle University's guidelines on the privacy of student records (76-09) and the annual FERPA notification to students are available at seattleu.edu/registrar under Academic Policies, or the Student Handbook.

Bias-related Harassment

Seattle University values and celebrates the diverse backgrounds, cultures, experiences and perspectives of our community. By encouraging and protecting diversity, we create an environment that promotes freedom of thought and academic excellence.

It is a violation of university policy and the Code of Student Conduct to engage in bias-related conduct that has the purpose or effect of unreasonably creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive educational, living or working environment. "Bias-related" conduct refers to language or behaviors that demonstrate bias against persons or groups because of race, color, ethnicity, religion, faith, national origin, political orientation or sexual orientation.

These categories are examples and are not an exhaustive list of attributes or characteristics protected under this policy.

A student feeling unsafe or threatened because of bias-related harassment should always seek help from a responsible member of the university community who is trained and able to assist. The university offers informal and formal procedures for processing and responding to concerns of hostile or unwelcome behavior. The following individuals are available to assist students:

Jacob Diaz, dean of students, (206) 296-6066

Monica Nixon, director, Office of Multicultural Affairs, (206) 296-6070

Romando Nash, director, Housing and Residence Life, (206) 296-6305

Faizi Ghodsi, executive director, Student Services;

director, International Student Center, (206) 296-6260

Mary-Antoinette Smith, associate professor, English, (206) 296-5415

Tim Wilson, director, Student Activities, (206) 296-2525

Students may also make formal or informal complaints using the procedures contained in the Sexual Harassment Complaint Procedure for Students, available online at seattleu.edu/studentdevelopment/file\_category.aspx?ID=5. In the case of allegations involving a member of the faculty, staff or administration, students may also contact Human Resources at (206) 296-5870 to make a complaint or discuss a concern.

Discrimination Complaint Resolution Procedure for Students

At Seattle University, we are united in the common goal of teaching and learning, educating for values, preparing for service and fostering the holistic development of persons. Consistent with our mission and the law, Seattle University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, sexual or political orientation, or status as a Vietnam-era or special disabled veteran in the administration of any of its education and admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletics, and other school-administered policies and programs and employment related policies and activities.

A student who has a concern about possible discriminatory treatment experienced in connection with university programs, services, facilities or activities is encouraged to discuss those concerns with a member of the university community who is trained and able to assist. There are formal and informal complaint resolution procedures available to students.

It is a violation of the university's non-discrimination policy to discriminate or retaliate against any student because he or she has opposed any discriminatory practice proscribed by university policy, or because the student has filed a complaint, testified, assisted or participated in any manner in any university procedures designed to resolve an allegation of discrimination. A copy of the Discrimination Complaint Resolution Procedure for Students is available at the Office of the Provost and at the Office of the Vice President for Human Resources/Equal Opportunity Officer or online at seattleu.edu/student-development/file\_category.aspx?ID=5.

Policies Against Sexual Harassment

Seattle University seeks to promote and maintain an environment free from harassment of any type. Sexual harassment can interfere with a student's academic performance and emotional and physical well being. Preventing and remedying sexual harassment at SU is essential to ensuring a nondiscriminatory environment in which students can learn.

If a student has a concern about harassment by another student or group of students, this should be reported to the Dean of Students or any of the contact persons listed below. A complete copy of the Policy and Complaint Procedure Relating to Sexual Harassment of Students by Students is available in the Office of the Vice President for Student Development. If a student has a concern about harassment by a member of the faculty, staff or administration, or by anyone in an employment or teaching situation, this should be reported to Human Resources and is governed by the Seattle University sexual harassment policy.

Definitions

Sexual harassment is defined as any unwelcome, offensive behavior of a sexual nature; unwelcome sexual advances; requests for sexual favors; and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of employment or academic admission or advancement;
- Submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as the basis (or threatened to be used as the basis) for employment actions or academic decisions or evaluations; or
- Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or educational performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work or learning environment.

Sexual harassment can occur between or among supervisors, managers and subordinates, faculty and staff, or students, peers, vendors, subcontractors, visitors and employees or students, and any combination thereof. The harasser is often, but not always, in a more powerful position than the person being harassed. In such situations, sexual harassment is particularly serious because it may unfairly exploit the power inherent in a supervisor's or faculty member's position. All forms of sexual harassment are violations of the university's policy and will not be tolerated.

Students may consult informally or make a complaint with one of the following designated people:

Jacob Diaz, dean of students, (206) 296-6066

Monica Nixon, director, Office of Multicultural Affairs, (206) 296-6070

Romando Nash, director, Housing and Residence Life, (206) 296-6305

Faizi Ghodsi, executive director, Student Services;

director, International Student Center, (206) 296-6260

Mary-Antoinette Smith, associate professor, English, (206) 296-5415

Tim Wilson, director, Student Activities, (206) 296-2525

As sexual harassment is a form of sex discrimination, it can be a violation of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. In addition to the contact persons listed above, the university has designated three individuals responsible for coordinating the university's Title IX compliance. Students with concerns or complaints about harassment on the basis of sex in an education program or activity may also contact the following Title IX coordinators:

Ruth Donohue

Human Resources Manager

Equal Opportunity Officer

University Services Building 107

(206) 296-5865

donohue@seattleu.edu

Jacob Diaz

Dean of Students

Student Center 140C

(206) 296-6066

diazj@seattleu.edu

Jacquelyn Miller

Associate Provost for Academic Affairs

Administration 104

(206) 296-5446

jcmiller@seattleu.edu

Those persons responsible for consulting about, investigating and resolving complaints of sexual harassment will make efforts, to the extent possible, to protect the privacy of both the complainant and the respondent.

Individuals may also contact the Office for Civil Rights of the U.S. Department of Education.

Complaint Procedures Relating to Alleged Sexual Harassment of Students by Students

Any student who believes they have been a victim of sexual harassment by another student or group of students and wishes to report or discuss the matter may use either a formal or informal complaint procedure.

No individual shall be penalized or retaliated against in any way by a member of the university community for their participation in this complaint procedure.

Informal Complaint Procedure

The informal complaint procedure seeks to achieve a resolution upon which both the complainant and the alleged harasser agree. An informal complaint may be oral or in writing and should be brought to one of the contact persons as listed previously.

Informal complaints may have several outcomes. The person raising the issue may only want to discuss the matter with a neutral third party to clarify whether harassment may be occurring and to determine their options, including the pursuit of more formal action.

In such a situation, the contact person will give assistance and offer suggestions on how the issue might be resolved, without drawing a conclusion as to whether harassment has occurred.

In other cases, the contact person may be asked to act as a mediator, to talk to the other person(s) to see whether an informal resolution of the issue can be reached. If this process reaches a resolution, no further actions will be taken, and the matter will be considered closed.

The Dean of Students will keep a record of the complaint and its resolution, including the names of the involved parties. Issues not resolved may require further inquiries and/or that the university take a more active role in finding a solution to the problem. If a satisfactory resolution cannot be reached, the formal complaint procedure may be used at the option of the complainant, the respondent or the university.

Formal Complaint Procedure

A complainant may make a formal complaint without first using the informal complaint procedure. A formal complaint should be in writing and submitted to the Dean of Students. The formal complaint should include the alleged harasser's name; the times, dates, places and circumstances surrounding the allegation of harassment; and the names of any witnesses to the incident(s). The complainant may request assistance from a contact person in preparing a written complaint.

A formal complaint can be initiated by any of the contact persons, including the Dean of Students. The President, Provost, Vice Presidents or Deans may request the Office of the Vice President for Student Development conduct an investigation or conduct a review without a formal complaint from any one individual.

After receipt of the formal complaint, the Dean of Students or their designee will review student files and will consult with the complainant, the person against whom the complaint is made, any witnesses and appropriate faculty, staff and students in an attempt to resolve the matter and/or to determine whether further investigation is warranted. A copy of the formal complaint will be provided to the individual against whom the complaint is made. A formal investigation can be terminated at any time (e.g., if a satisfactory resolution is agreed to before a written finding is made, or if an appropriate resolution is implemented.)

Upon completion of the investigation, the Dean of Students will determine if the complaint merits adjudication, and will notify the complainant and respondent, if any, in writing of the findings and recommendations. Even where prohibited harassment is not found, the Office of the Vice President for Student Development may determine that the conduct is inappropriate or otherwise violates the Code of Student Conduct.

A complainant or respondent dissatisfied with the findings or recommendations may file a rebuttal statement with the Dean of Students for inclusion in the investigative file. Core courses teach analytical and interpersonal skills and perspectives required to manage and lead public sector organizations. Topics include organizational behavior and theories for management, public sector finance, research techniques, policy making and policy analysis, the legal environment, and public sector ethics. The two specializations in Government and Nonprofits offer topics such as the legal environment, advanced policy analysis, and information management. Seattle University's MPA program received the honor of being accredited by NASPAA in 2004 without conditions until 2011, the first MPA program in Washington state to receive this distinction.

Students can complete the program entirely on weeknights, Saturdays, or a combination of the two. Students may enter during any academic quarter, including summer. A full complement of courses is offered each quarter. MPA students may register for up to nine credits per term without permission of the director. Although the University's limitation of 10 transfer credits will apply to most students, those who transfer from another university's MPA program may be allowed as many as 18 quarter credits in transfer.

Master of Arts in Criminal Justice

Criminal Justice is an interdisciplinary social science involving the study of crime and societal responses to it. The MACJ program emphasizes the application of theory and research to criminal justice policy and practice. We hope to instill in students a responsibility to integrate and evaluate conceptual and empirical contributions to the field of criminal justice. The mission of the criminal justice department is to produce graduates who approach their roles in the criminal justice field with knowledge, empiricism, innovation, humanism, and with a deep concern for justice issues faced by offenders, victims, citizens, and governmental and private agents affected by and charged with responding to crime. Graduates are prepared for positions and advancement as practitioners; administrators, victim advocates, and/or research analysts in law enforcement, courts, corrections, social service, and research agencies at the private, county, state, and federal levels. The MACJ program provides foundation for understanding organizational relations in criminal justice, the ability to critically analyze and evaluate criminal justice policy and practice, and the necessary skills to conduct methodologically sound research in specialized areas in criminology and criminal justice. The program is designed to accommodate professionals in the criminal justice field who desire graduate education for advancement purposes as well as students entering upon completion of their bachelor's degree. The specific objectives of the criminal justice master's program are to:

- Develop in students the knowledge, insight, critical thinking skills, values and ethical consciousness essential to becoming responsible practitioners, researchers, and leaders in criminal justice.
- Provide comprehensive, rigorous, analytic, focused study of crime and justice issues with emphasis on the application of theory and research in criminal justice to criminal justice initiatives, policies, and practices.
- Provide a strong foundation in criminology, research methods, statistics, organizational theory, criminal justice ethics, issues of diversity in criminal justice, and broad-based analysis of the criminal justice system with focus on law enforcement, the adjudication process, and corrections.

- Prepare students for positions and advancement in law enforcement, courts, corrections, social service, and research agencies in private, county, state, and federal agencies.

Certificate in Crime Analysis

The Certificate in Crime Analysis is designed to meet the growing demand for criminal justice professionals with applied quantitative and analytic skills. The curriculum provides the knowledge, skills, and abilities necessary to perform as entry-level crime analysts in Federal, State, and local criminal justice agencies. The certificate also prepares students for a broader role as intelligence analysts.

Crime analysts typically perform detailed statistical analyses of crime data, prepare periodic reports on criminal activity and trends, identify emerging crime patterns, and communicate their findings to a variety of internal and external audiences. They may analyze a wide variety of data including arrests, convictions, known criminal associates, and other criminal intelligence data, in order to explore relationships and identify patterns and correlations in support of investigative efforts. These data come from diverse sources, including existing agency databases, financial and telecommunications records, and the Internet. Crime analysts must be skilled in manipulating data and creating relational databases that can accommodate a wide variety of data formats and sources.

Crime analysts may also be called upon to design and execute managerial and administrative studies forecasting personnel, budgeting, and other resource needs. They may also conduct citizen surveys of crime victimization, satisfaction with police services, and perceptions of departmental performance. They need to have broad knowledge in law enforcement operations, criminological theory, statistics, research methods, and relevant computer technology. They need good critical thinking skills, logic and reasoning ability. Finally, effective writing and presentation skills are essential for crime analysts.

Department of Fine Arts

Carol Wolfe Clay, MFA, Chair

Kevin Maifeld, MFA, Director of Arts Leadership

Degree Offered

Master of Fine Arts in Arts Leadership (MFAL)

Master of Fine Arts in Arts Leadership

The Master of Fine Arts degree in Arts Leadership is a collaboration between the Department of Fine Arts and the Center for Nonprofit and Social Enterprise Management (Nonprofit Leadership). The program provides future arts leaders with an opportunity to merge the latest management practices of nonprofit organizations with the specific skills necessary to lead complex arts organizations.

MFA students work alongside arts management professionals in local performing and visual arts organizations; all MFAL students meet weekly to share and discuss their practicum experience. Course work includes strategic planning, marketing, fundraising, budgeting/finance, advocacy, program development and community relations. The blend of classroom instruction and hands-on practical experience prepares students for challenging arts leadership positions.

Classes will be taught by Fine Arts and Nonprofit Leadership faculty as well as professional guest faculty members from the leadership of Puget Sound arts organizations. Students will have the opportunity to participate in a series of scholarly and practical activities, which will result in a combination of knowledge and experience necessary to compete in today's job market.

Admission Requirements

Admission is competitive; the program is designed to accommodate six students each year. Applicants are required to submit the following documents for consideration:

Degree Requirements

Master of Fine Arts in Arts Leadership

The MFA in Arts Leadership requires 54 credits total. Students share many course requirements with students participating in two related graduate programs: Nonprofit Leadership and Public Administration. The Graduate Management Practicum experience continues each quarter allowing the student to apply their academic work in local arts organizations. This experience culminates in the Summary Project, synthesizing the work that each student has done in his/her focus area, visual or performing arts, with the work they have produced in their community practicum experiences.

Organization Systems Renewal (OSR)

Michael Bisesi, EdD, Program Director

Bill Koenig, MA, Program Administrator

Degree Offered

Master of Arts in Organizational Design and Renewal (MAODR)

This program is delivered as a cooperative partnership with the nonprofit Organization Systems Renewal Northwest (OSR-NW), which has been engaged in educating leaders of organizational change in the Pacific Northwest since 1979. OSR offered this master's program for 20 years at another local university and joined Seattle University in 2005. This program brings expertise in the design and leadership of organizational and community change, using a systemic approach.

Master of Arts in Organizational Design and Renewal

The Organization Systems Renewal (OSR) program provides the opportunity for students to achieve excellence as designers and leaders of systemic change within their organizations and communities. The curriculum integrates academic knowledge, consultative skill development, practical application, reflective practice, and adaptive leadership. The program design operates on multiple levels, paying equal attention to theory and application. When combined, the curriculum and the program design provide adult learners with opportunities to:

- Design processes and structures for leading and managing systemic change
- Develop holistic and sustainable perspectives about individuals, groups, organizations, and global communities
- Recognize the synergistic qualities and opportunities inherent in living systems
- Develop the heart (courage, love, compassion), skills and integrity to move theory to practical action
- Develop a congruence of personal development and professional practice to help others manage their own transformation and renewal

Core curriculum areas emphasized in the program include organizations, change, leadership, ethics, design, consultative skills, and intercultural perspectives. The curriculum is based on the work of classical and contemporary theorists and practitioners, including Malcolm Knowles, Kurt Lewin, Ron and Gordon Lippitt, Eva Schindler-Rainman, Marvin Weisbord, William Bridges, Chris Argyris, Mary Parker Follett, Donald Schön, Peter Senge, Margaret Wheatley, Fritjof Capra, Ralph Stacey, Jay Forrester, Donella Meadows, Otto Scharmer, Edward Hall, Edgar Schein, Gareth Morgan, William Isaacs, David Orr, Russell Ackoff, Peter Block, Ron Heifetz, and David Cooperrider.

Core faculty (lecturers) support the day-to-day operation of the program and provide hands-on student support. The student core faculty ratio is approximately 10:1, allowing for individualized coaching and mentoring. The program is designed within a 21-month cycle, with students typically in session once a month for three to five days. Session days are scheduled to include weekends and there are two residential sessions during the cycle. In addition to the core faculty, OSR enjoys long-standing relationships with a host of distinguished visiting presenters who are leading thinkers and practitioners in their field. Consistent with adult learning theory, another portion of the OSR curriculum is designed and delivered by the students themselves. Core faculty members serve as mentors for these student-led Design Teams.

Candidates for Admission

The primary aim of the OSR program is to help students become competent, confident and successful designers and leaders of systemic change, especially within organizations and communities. The program's structure supports study while working full time.

Admission Requirements

Applicants provide the following for consideration:

- Completed Application for Graduate Admission form and a non-refundable $55 application fee (waived for Seattle University alumni)

- Minimum of 3.00 grade point average (GPA) calculated with course work from all post-secondary educational institutions attended in the last 90 quarter/60 semester credits of your bachelor's degree and any post-baccalaureate course work. In special cases, those with less than a 3.00 GPA may be admitted on a probationary status. Applicants with a non-graded bachelor's degree must submit official MAT or GRE scores.
- Two recommendations using the OSR forms provided from individuals who are able to assess your qualifications for this program
- OSR admission essay following the guidelines stated in the application packet

Organization Systems Renewal Courses

ODVR 501	Foundations of Organizational Systems, Design, and Renewal ..... 4
-----------------	---	--

As the first course in an integrated seven-quarter program, this course introduces the program design and its core competency domains of theory, skill, and personal development. Particular emphasis is given to systems theory, intercultural communication, and ethics as themes woven through the 21-month curriculum. Students will apply theory and specific skills through small group and individual work. This course is conducted off-site. Required.

-----------------	--	--

Students identify personal values and purpose and then integrate this foundation with their personal and professional goals. They learn strategies for applying theory to understanding the self as system and the self as learner. Students learn about themselves and the use of self-assessments by completing instruments relating to learning styles and strengths. Further, students are introduced to a personal learning contract as a core design element for their personalization of the OSR program. This course is conducted off-site. Required.

-----------------	---	--

Students will develop an introductory understanding of qualitative and quantitative approaches to applied research. This course also will develop foundational research literacy for students, emphasizing the knowledge necessary to locate, read, and assess knowledge claims in information resources such as academic journal articles and books. These introductory skills will enable students to understand what they read and how the theoretical claims of authors fit into the subjects they explore. Further, it will help them to begin conceptualizing how they might conduct research related to their Design Teams, Theory Paper, and Consultation Project. Required.

ODVR 506	Systems – An Overview of Theory and Perspectives ..... 2
-----------------	---	--

Students develop an overview of the development and principles of systems theory, understanding the shift from the mechanistic paradigm to one of holism and interrelatedness. Key principles such as context, boundaries, feedback, interdependence, complexity, emergence, and paradox are explored. Various branches of systems theory are introduced and examined as a way to familiarize students with the vastness of this theory base. Required.

ODVR 507 Skills – Designing and Leading Participative Meetings ..... 3

This hands-on application course develops the capacity to design and lead change actions through a participative process. From an application perspective, students will gain hands-on experience and real-time feedback in designing and leading a variety of participative meetings. Students will also learn the theory base and ethics upon which the participative meeting process rests. Course concepts are connected to professional applications. Required.

ODVR 508 Design – Principles and Practice ..... 2

Students explore and experience design as an intentional co-creating process of being and acting in the world. The design approach invokes creative thinking and encourages innovative action. This is necessary for leading intentional change, where organizational shifts are in sync with the system's larger context. The course provides students the theoretical framework and practical skills essential for helping clients imagine, conceptualize, and implement their preferred future. Creative change is explored in conjunction with the notion of "serving others" in a manner that can facilitate personal and organizational change and renewal. Required.

ODVR 509 Organizations – Theory and Culture as a Foundation for Inquiry ..... 2

Students explore the classical theories of organizations as a way to understand the historical roots of contemporary organizational practices. They become familiar with seminal organizational theorists whose philosophies, values, and practice surface in issues such as change, effectiveness, and participation. Special emphasis is given to organizational culture as a key concept within organizational theory. Students learn how to use their understanding of theory and culture as a foundation for organizational inquiry, which focuses on obtaining valid data as the basis for effective and ethical interventions. Required.

ODVR 510 Organizations – Intra and Inter Group Relations ..... 2

This course lays a theoretical and practical foundation in group dynamics, teams, and collaboration. Students gain knowledge, awareness, and skills in working with task, relationship and process issues in groups. The exploration of group development models and intercultural communication theory helps to understand and inform work in small groups. Students also explore the structure and function of teams, including, defining characteristics, when and how to use teams, and characteristics of high performance teams. Successful teaming within or between groups requires an ability to go beyond mere coordination or cooperation to a level of collaboration. Students explore the qualities of this level of engagement and the conditions necessary to bring forth such a relationship. Required.

ODVR 511    Change – Theory and Ethical Interventions ..... 2

Students will explore contemporary organizational change models and theories to learn more about their strengths and limitations in creating real and sustainable change in organizations. Students will learn to distinguish between first and second order change and change that is planned and unplanned. Intervention is a "helping" process to intentionally "disturb" the system in order to improve the functioning and performance of the system. The principles of designing interventions will be explored, ranging from facilitation of, or participation in, a meeting to entering an organizational system with the intent of helping it effect systemic change. Ethical issues will be explored, particularly the importance of ascertaining and working at the appropriate depth of intervention. Required.

ODVR 512    Change – The Theory and Practice of Appreciative Inquiry ..... 2

Appreciative Inquiry is a participative and powerful method for creating change in social systems. Rooted in social constructionism and the power of image, it involves a systematic discovery and mobilizing of what gives a social system life in human, ecological, and economic terms. Students will learn the theory and practice of this approach as it represents a major shift in how organizational development practitioners work with organizations. This course is conducted off-site. Required.

ODVR 515    Skills – The Consultative Approach ..... 3

Students deepen their knowledge of the consultative process of entry, contracting, and intervention. Students also learn how to work with clients during the feedback and action-planning phase of the consultation. This includes principles for interpreting data, planning and conducting feedback sessions, and helping the client move into action. Additionally, students explore the role of the self as consultant/helper, learning how personal values, self-awareness, and ethical principles are essential to any consultative process. This course is conducted off-site. Required.

ODVR 516    Leadership – Leadership of Systemic Organizational Change..... 2

This course focuses on the practice of adaptive leadership as developed by Ron Heifetz and explores the qualities of leadership and followership needed for a systemic and holistic approach to designing and leading change. Skills focus on discernment of the adaptive challenge facing an organizational system as opposed to technical problems, advancing the purpose of the organization, orchestrating tension in service of systemic change, listening to and communicating the "song beneath the words," leveraging informal versus formal leadership, differentiating self from roles, being on the dance floor and in the balcony, thinking politically, and giving the work back to the group. Required.

ODVR 517    Change – Participatory Methods for Designing the Future..... 2

Students develop an understanding of "futuring" and how it differs from conventional planning. Exploration of theory, models, and methods associated with futuring helps students understand how to apply this perspective at an organizational and individual level. Emphasis is placed on methods featuring a participatory and whole systems approach. Intercultural considerations are explored. Students will have an opportunity to experience aspects of futuring models and methods as a way to strengthen their application skills. Required.

ODVR 518 Skills – Consultative Praxis..... 4

Students engage with the full consulting intervention cycle, including issue exploration, contracting, data gathering and interpretation, feedback, recommendations, and closure. This course contains the final in-depth and hands-on session intended to provide opportunities for students to practice their competency to design and conduct organizational development interventions before they implement their Consultation Project. Students consult to issues and opportunities related to the renewal of the OSR program, thus grounding the experience in reality. Required.

ODVR 519 Systems – Living Systems Theory ..... 2

This session provides a deeper exploration of living systems theory, one of the main branches of systems theory emphasized in the OSR program. Concepts such as adaptive systems, self-organizing, emergence, complexity, autopoiesis, dissipative structures, and structural coupling are emphasized. Implications for viewing social systems as living systems are explored, particularly in terms of the design and leadership of change. Required.

ODVR 520 Organizations – At Work in the World ..... 2

While cultural perspectives are integrated throughout the program, it is in this course that students immerse themselves in the theory, principles, models and implications of individuals and organizations working in a multi-cultural global system. The interdependence of our belief, political, economic and natural systems demands new consciousness and mental models. This course explores the global perspectives of this transformation and the challenges associated with embracing our differences and diversity. Students learn to develop a way of knowing and navigating within such broad perspectives. Core topics explored are demographic, climatic, environmental, political, cultural and economic trends. A central question of the course asks how we live, grow, and design for this future, sustaining those qualities that relate to what is most meaningful. Required.

ODVR 521 Systems – Dynamics of Social Systems ..... 2

This course examines how systemic approaches to organizational development and change are being learned and applied within all types of organizations. Tools of systems thinking, system dynamics, model building, archetypes, and simulations will be explored for their usefulness in understanding the dynamics inherent in organizational systems. The latest research in social networking will also be investigated. As the final course in systems theory, particular emphasis is placed on learning events that provide students opportunities to continue building on their capacity to apply their theoretical knowledge of systems to the intentional design of systemic change. Required.

ODVR 523 Change – Transition, Renewal, and Life-long Learning ..... 2

As the final course in an integrated seven-quarter program, focus is on group endings and managing transitions at the individual level. The learning is highly experiential and personal in that this course includes the adjournment of the learning community. Design considerations for group endings are examined. Engagement in renewal occurs with a continuance design for the cohort and individual next steps in life-long learning. Required.

- ODVR 524      Leadership – Theory and Personal Mastery..... 2
 Leadership development is a core skill component and the instrument of systemic organizational change. Students are introduced to the evolution of leadership theory and styles, such as situational, shared, servant, steward, feminine and adaptive leadership through the lens of culture, gender, and systems. Leadership is distinguished from authority and recognized as an action that complements followership; both require courage - following the heart in the face of fear. Thus development of leadership and followership capability is rooted in personal learning, awareness, emotional intelligence, and mastery. Coaching is foundational to the development of leadership and followership. Required.
- ODVR 571      Individual – Learning Reflection and Synthesis I ..... 2
- ODVR 572      Individual – Learning Reflection and Synthesis II ..... 2
- ODVR 573      Individual – Learning Reflection and Synthesis III ..... 2
- ODVR 574      Individual – Learning Reflection and Synthesis IV ..... 2
- ODVR 575      Individual – Learning Reflection and Synthesis V ..... 2
- ODVR 576      Individual – Learning Reflection and Synthesis VI ..... 2
 Oral and written communication skills are essential in relating with others in personal and professional settings. Students practice academic and reflective writing as a means of developing professional competence and increasing self-awareness. Reflective inquiry and critical thinking are developed through dialogue methods and writing assignments. Examples of writing assignments include an Entry Statement, monthly academic and reflective learning papers, and an Exit Statement. Students reflect on their courses, the dynamics of the learning community, progress on their Learning Contract, and their design and facilitation of Degree Committee meetings. Quarterly synthesis papers develop the ability to see themes from the quarter and integrate these themes with prior learning. Large and small group discussions develop dialogue skills. Students take these courses over six quarters building up their capacity for both reflective and critical thinking. Required. Graded CR/F.
- ODVR 581      Skills – Curriculum Design and Delivery I..... 3
- ODVR 582      Skills – Curriculum Design and Delivery II ..... 3
 Students deepen their learning about research, instructional design, adult learning, consultative skills, and team process within a learning environment of Design Teams designing and delivering course curricula. Students participate in a Design Team during each year of the program. Design Teams provide students with opportunities to apply design principles and to engage in collaborative creation of adult learning activities. Additionally, students research a specific body of knowledge vital to understanding and designing for change and renewal. Students design the learning session — which is presented to the entire cohort — to meet learning goals determined by the core faculty. They receive faculty and student feedback about the effectiveness of overall design, content, and delivery, as well as their individual performance. It is a forum for deepening practice, leadership, and team membership skills, as well as providing an opportunity to experience the paradoxes of group life. Students are assigned to a particular Design Team, with preferences taken into consideration. While the required deliverables are the same for each Design Team, activities may be spread over two or three consecutive quarters. Required.

ODVR 591-593 Special Topics ..... 1 to 6

ODVR 595 Skills – Consultation Project..... 4

The Consultation Project provides consultative design and delivery practice in organizational change for a client outside the OSR system. The Project is conducted under the supervision of the student's faculty advisor and the review of their Degree Committee. The Project provides a vehicle for the student to demonstrate proficiency of OSR program-related core competencies as well as attainment of the student's goals in their Learning Contract. In addition to supporting the student's learning, the Project is designed to contribute to the primary client's real-time organizational needs in an ethical and effective way, within the parameters agreed to by both client and student. Work on the Consultation Project generally carries over 2 to 3 consecutive quarters. A Consultation Project requires OSR program advisor sign-off before the student begins work. Required.

ODVR 596 Individual – Theory Paper, Consultation Project Design..... 4

This course involves a thorough literature review of a theory base related to the student's Learning Contract and professional interests. Based on the review, students write an academic paper summarizing and contrasting the seminal contributors to the field as well as elaborating on the theory. Understanding their theory base deepens the student's knowledge foundation before moving into practicum level application via the Consultation Project. Students also write their Consultation Framing Document, in which they develop and demonstrate their ability to propose a type of consultation project that is in service to client needs as well as their own Learning Contract and professional aspirations. Required.

College of Arts and Sciences and Law Joint Degree Program

The Seattle University College of Arts and Sciences and School of Law joint degree program is designed to allow students interested in obtaining both the JD and a graduate degree to complete the degrees in less time than if the two degrees were obtained independently outside the program. Full-time students are able to complete the two degrees in less time because, through the program, specified courses taken in the School of Law may count toward the graduate degree and specified courses taken in the College of Arts and Sciences may count toward the JD degree.

Degree Offered

JD/MPA (Juris Doctor/Master of Public Administration)

Program of Study

The Seattle University public administration and law joint degree program allows students to choose whether their first year is spent in the Institute of Public Service (IPS) or in the School of Law. Once a student chooses, he or she may not cross over into the other area during that first year. The second year is spent in the other school (e.g., if the student chose law first, the second year would be in public administration and vice versa). The last two years (or more) are mixed in that students may take courses in both the IPS and the law school. The Institute of Public Service operates on a quarter system and the School of Law operates on a semester system. Therefore, specific schedules must be carefully coordinated with and approved by the associate dean for students at the School of Law and the director of the IPS.

Admission Requirements for the Joint Degree Program

Students are required to be admitted separately to both the School of Law and the Institute of Public Service, and should consult the Graduate Bulletin for the specific admissions requirements for each school. Students may be admitted to both schools before starting in the joint program; alternatively, students may seek admission to the other school during their first year of law or public administration. In any case, students will be expected to meet the respective school's admissions deadlines for the coming year.

Length of Program

The minimum length of time required to complete the joint degree program is four years for full-time students. The length of time required for completion of the joint degree program will be longer if the student is part-time.

Credit Requirements

Students in the joint program are required to complete 90 semester credits for the JD degree and 54 quarter credits for the MPA degree. In the joint degree program, students can satisfy the requirements for each degree by using a specified number of crossover credits to be chosen from a list of approved courses in each school. This allows the student, whether full-time or part-time, to complete the two degrees in a shorter period of time than if the student sought to obtain the JD and MPA degrees independently. Of the 90 semester credits required for the JD degree, 12 semester credits can be satisfied by 18 quarter credits chosen from a list of specified courses from the Institute of Public Service. (One quarter credit is the equivalent of .67 semester credits. So, for example, a 3 quarter credit crossover IPS course could be used to satisfy 2 semester credits for the JD degree).

Of the 54 quarter credits required for the MPA degree, 33 are required credits and 21 are elective. A student enrolled in the joint program may satisfy up to 12 of the elective quarter credits (or 9 if the student completes the capstone in the Law School) with credits earned in the law school from a list of approved courses.

Crossover Courses for Joint Degree Program

The following courses can be used to satisfy elective credits toward the juris doctor and master of public administration degrees. Not all courses are offered each quarter, semester, or year, and some courses may require particular sequencing or have prerequisites. In addition to the courses listed below, students may, upon approval, receive crossover credit for other appropriate courses that may be offered from time to time. Crossover credit will not be granted for courses that are substantially similar to courses already taken in the other school.

Juris Doctor/Master in Sport Administration and Leadership Joint Degree Program (JD/MSAL)

Participants in the JD/MSAL Joint Degree Program must spend their first year in the School of Law. Once the student has completed the required first year courses in the School of Law, he or she may then take courses in both the JD and MSAL programs. Because the School of Law operates on a semester system and the rest of the university operates on a quarter system, joint program participants must carefully coordinate their schedules with the Associate Dean for Students in the School of Law and the Director of the Center for the Study of Sport and Exercise in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Admission Requirements for the Joint Degree Program

Students are required to be admitted separately to both the School of Law and the College of Arts and Sciences and should consult the Graduate Bulletin for the specific admissions requirements for each school. Students may be admitted to both schools before starting in the joint program; alternatively, students may seek admission to the MSAL program during their first year of law school. In any case, students will be expected to meet the respective school's admissions deadlines for the coming year.

Length of Program

The length of time required to complete the joint degree program is between 3 and 4 years for full-time students. The length of time required for completion of the joint degree program may be longer if the student is part-time.

Credit Requirements

Students in the joint program are required to complete 90 semester credits for the JD degree and 45 quarter credits for the MSAL degree. In the joint degree program, students can satisfy the requirements for each degree by using a specified number of crossover credits to be chosen from a list of approved courses in each school. This allows the student, whether full-time or part-time, to complete the two degrees in a shorter period of time than if the student sought to obtain the JD and MSAL degrees independently. Of the 90 semester credits required for the JD degree, 10 semester credits can be satisfied by 15 quarter credits chosen from a list of specified courses from the MSAL program (listed below). Of the 45 quarter credits required for the MSAL degree, a student enrolled in the joint degree program may satisfy up to 12 of the quarter credits with 8 semester credits earned in the law school from a list of approved courses (listed below). Joint degree students will be required to take Sports Law in the School of Law. One quarter credit is the equivalent of .67 semester credits. So, for example, a 3 quarter credit crossover MSAL course could be used to satisfy 2 semester credits for the JD degree.

Joint JD/MSAL Degree Summary

- Students must be admitted to both programs under the programs' standard requirements.
- Students may be admitted to the joint degree program before beginning any studies. Alternatively, first year students in the School of Law may apply for admission to the joint degree program during the fall semester.
- Joint JD/MSAL students must complete their first year in the School of Law before taking MSAL courses.
- Candidates for the joint JD/MSAL will have to satisfy the core requirements of the MSAL degree and the requirements of the JD degree.
- The JD Degree for joint JD/MSAL students requires 90 semester credits, consisting of at least 80 semester credits earned in the law school and up to 10 semester credit equivalents (15 quarter credits) earned in the MSAL program.
- The MSAL degree for joint MPA/JD students requires 45 quarter credits, consisting of at least 33 quarter credits earned in the MSAL program and up to 12 quarter credit equivalents (8 semester credits) earned in the School of Law.
- Joint degree students will be required to take Sports Law (SPRT-310) in the School of Law in lieu of Legal Issues in Sport (SADL 504) in the MSAL curriculum.
- The MSAL degree consists of 45 required credits. The joint degree candidate may earn up to 12 of these quarter credits with credits earned in the law school from a list of courses approved for this purpose.
- The JD degree requires 90 credits. The joint degree candidate may earn up to 10 of these semester credits with credits earned in the MSAL program from a list of courses approved for this purpose.

Crossover Courses for Joint Degree Program

The following courses can be used to satisfy credit towards the juris doctor and master of sports administration and leadership degrees. Not all courses are offered each quarter, semester, or year, and some courses may require particular sequencing or have prerequisites. Crossover credit will not be granted for courses that are substantially similar to courses already taken in the other school.

A maximum of 12 credits taken in non-matriculated status may be applied towards any master's degree in the Albers School.

Albers students may take one elective course from another Seattle University graduate program with prior approval of the program director with the exception of cross registration with the School of Law.

Math and Computer Proficiency

All graduate students in the degree programs of the Albers School of Business and Economics must establish their proficiency in basic mathematics (college algebra and introductory calculus) and in computer use (word processing, intermediate-level skills in spreadsheet analysis, communication via e-mail, and conduct research via the Internet). All students must have access to a computer with a modem, wireless connectivity, or the flexibility to use campus computer labs.

Math proficiency can be established by previous credit course work in calculus with a grade of B (3.00) or higher, or the non-credit course offered by the Albers School.

Students are encouraged to complete these proficiency requirements prior to starting their graduate degree program. These requirements must be completed by the end of the first year in each program.

Business and Law Joint Degree Program

The Seattle University business and law joint degree program allows students to obtain the JD and a graduate degree in business. Specified courses taken at the Law School may contribute to the business degree and specified courses completed in the Albers School of Business and Economics may contribute to the JD Degree. The joint degree is available to both full- and part-time students but it should be noted that the American Bar Association requires that the JD be completed within six years.

Seattle University and the Albers School of Business and Economics offers four graduate degrees which may be earned in combination with the JD degree: master of business administration, master of science in finance, master of international business, and master of professional accounting.

Transfer Credit

Students are allowed to transfer up to nine quarter credits from AACSB International-accredited institutions with prior approval of the dean or director of the program. Any transfer credits from international universities are subject to prior approval of the dean. The six-year limit policy applies to courses approved for transfer from other universities.

As an exception the Albers School is a party to the Memorandum of Understanding for AACSB International-accredited AJCU Business Schools. The agreement allows students in participating Jesuit AACSB accredited business schools to transfer up to one-half of their degree requirements from their original university to the receiving university.

Business and Law Joint Degree Program

The Seattle University business and law joint degree program is designed to allow students interested in obtaining both the JD and a graduate degree in business to complete the degrees in less time than if the two degrees were obtained independently outside the program. Full-time students are able to complete the two degrees in less time because, through the program, specified courses taken at the School of Law may count toward the graduate business degree and specified courses taken in the Albers School of Business and Economics may count toward the JD degree. The joint degree program is also available to part-time students.

Degrees Offered

JD/MBA (Juris Doctor/Master of Business Administration)
JD/MSF (Juris Doctor/Master of Science in Finance)
JD/MIB (Juris Doctor/Master of International Business)
JD/MPAC (Juris Doctor/Master of Professional Accounting)

Program of Study

The Seattle University business and law joint degree program allows students to choose either to spend their first year in the Albers School of Business and Economics or in the School of Law. Once a student chooses, the full first year must be spent in that school. The second year is spent in the other school (e.g., if the student chose law first, the second year would be in business, and vice versa). In the last two years (or more) students may take courses in both the business and law schools. The Albers School of Business and Economics operates on a quarter system and the School of Law operates on a semester system. Therefore, specific schedules must be carefully coordinated with and approved by the School of Law associate dean and the Albers director of graduate programs.

Admission Requirements for the Joint Degree Program

Students must be admitted separately to both the School of Law and the Albers School of Business and Economics, and should consult this Graduate Bulletin for the specific admissions requirements for each school. Students may be admitted to both schools before starting in the joint program; alternatively, students may seek admission to the other school during their first year of law or graduate business school. In any case, students will be expected to meet the respective school's admissions deadlines for the coming year. Prospective applicants should note that the admissions requirements for the MBA, MSF, and MIB programs include a current resume reflecting continuous full-time work experience in business. Work experience requirement will be waived for joint degree students who have completed the first year of law at Seattle University.

Length of Program

The minimum length of time required to complete the joint degree program is four years for full-time students. The length of time required for completion of the joint degree program will be longer if the student is part-time and/or if the student must complete fundamental business classes for the graduate business degree.

This joint degree program is available to both full- and part-time students.

MPAC degree: Full-time students ordinarily complete the master of professional accounting degree in a minimum of two years. MPAC students must demonstrate computer and math proficiency and complete eight business and six accounting fundamental business classes, or they may seek to have some or all of those courses waived. In addition to the fundamental courses, students in the master of professional accounting program must complete 46 credits of course work in designated areas, including eleven required courses and five electives. See specific MPAC course requirements in this Graduate Bulletin.

JD degree: Full-time law students ordinarily complete the JD degree in three years; part-time students may take four years or longer. Students must complete a total of 90 semester credits of course work. In the full-time program, students complete 30 credits of required course work in their first year. In their second and third years, law students must complete 15 credits of required course work and 45 elective credits. For specific JD course requirements see the School of Law Bulletin.

JD/MPAC Joint Degree Program: Full-time students can complete the JD/MPAC joint degree program in a minimum of four years, which is one year less than would be required to complete the two degrees independently. Time to completion will be longer if the student is part-time and/or if the student must complete the business prerequisites for the MPAC degree. Students in the JD/MPAC program must complete the equivalent of 90 semester credits for the JD degree and the equivalent of 46-88 quarter credits plus the prerequisites (unless-waived) for the MPAC degree. Students can satisfy the requirements for each degree by using a specified number of crossover credits chosen from a list of approved courses in each school. Of the 90 semester credits required for the JD degree, 12 semester credits can be satisfied by 18 quarter credits chosen from a list of specified graduate business degree courses. Of the 46-88 quarter credits required for the MPAC degree, 9 quarter credits can be satisfied by 6 semester credits chosen from a list of specified JD degree courses. Students must, however, complete all of the required courses for each degree.

Crossover Courses for Joint Degree Program

The following courses can be used to satisfy elective credits toward the juris doctor and graduate business degrees. Not all courses are offered each quarter, semester, or year, and some courses may require particular sequencing or have prerequisites. In addition to the courses listed below, students may, upon approval, receive crossover credit for other appropriate courses that may be offered from time to time. Crossover credit will not be granted for courses that are substantially similar to courses already taken in the other school.

Degree Offered

Leadership Executive Master of Business Administration (L-EMBA)

The 20-month, graduate program provides seasoned professionals an opportunity to earn a masters degree emphasizing executive formation for business leadership and impact. The first two quarters focus on executive leadership, enabling deep learning about complexities of leadership and requiring each student to reflect on his or her place at work, at home and in the larger society. This is followed by three quarters emphasizing advanced business education-principles, tools and practices. The final quarter challenges participants to explore and elevate their positions of social responsibility and impact in both their professional and personal lives.

- Each student will complete an Executive Leadership Project. This project initiates a significant endeavor in the workplace for which a student has primary business responsibility.
- Students will engage in a social justice service project and course work in strategic positioning, business analysis and integration.
- The program helps participants comprehend and plan for ongoing globalization and ensures future successes by building on qualitative and quantitative business skills.

This program operates on a concentrated schedule in which classes are offered typically every 3 to 4 weeks, for 3 full, consecutive days (e.g., Thursday through Saturday). The program is taught in a lock-step cohort fashion with all students progressing through the program at the same time and rate. This model helps students to build stronger relationships and networks across the class.

The L-EMBA provides a balanced emphasis on leadership formation and the core knowledge/skills which are required for business management including:

- Strategic Skill

They also examine their values and behavior in relation to work and personal life.

EXLR 511 Leading Organizations..... 3

Building on earlier modules, this section of the program applies leadership models to issues facing contemporary organizations. Leadership is analyzed in the context of corporate social responsibility, leading change, strategy, innovation, and globalization, and extends to issues facing organizations represented in the program. Participants also interview local leaders and CEO's, hear guest executive speakers, and contribute to active discussions of cases and articles.

EXLR 512 Ethical Leadership ..... 3

Executive Leadership MBA Courses

- EMBA 505 Strategic Analysis of Domestic and International Economic Environments ..... 2
 EMBA's will use macroeconomic concepts to understand the environment within which they are making strategic decisions. An understanding of macroeconomic concepts, such as the short run and long run impacts of government policies on national output, inflation, exchange rates, interest rates and unemployment will improve strategic decisions such as when to launch new products, which geographic markets (countries) to enter or leave first where in the world are prospects for economic growth the best, and when to take defensive positions in anticipation of recessions or inflation.
- EMBA 506 Microeconomic concepts: Strategic Decision-making Tools and Frameworks..... 2
 L-EMBA's will use microeconomic principles for making strategic decisions, including deciding when demand or cost conditions support entering (or exiting) a market segment, deciding on pricing strategy, evaluating risks and deciding how to react to changes in competitive conditions when buying as well as selling. The principles will prepare students to understand the forces influencing financial markets, consumer behavior, incentives in compensation structures, and how constraints and tradeoffs affect efficiency in operations and in choices of production methods.
- EMBA 507 Global Financial Management Part I ..... 2

EMBA 515 Global Financial Management Part II ..... 2

Present a comprehensive treatment of financial theory that provides a foundation for making value-enhancing strategic decisions. Topics include value-based management (valuation, performance-based compensation, capital structure, M&A and divestiture), financial risk management (i.e., commodity price, equity, interest rate, and currency risk management), financing and investment alternatives (long-term and short-term; domestic and international), and treasury management.

EMBA 513 Law and Corporate Social Responsibility ..... 2

Examines domestic and international issues in law, focusing on the relationship between the social impetus for laws, the laws themselves, and the outcomes laws are intended to promote. Understanding the social impetus for laws and their intended outcomes creates unique opportunities for corporate social responsibility and leadership. Topics include but are not limited to, employment law, intellectual property, contractual relationships, and regulatory law.

Firm strategy is based on the principle of satisfying consumer wants and needs better than competitors. Required tools include an understanding of buyer behavior, methods for conducting consumer research, understanding of the roles of environmental factors, and general strategic planning principles. Knowledge of the estimated wants and needs of customers, actions of competitors, and the resources and objectives of the firm are combined to identify the best strategic position. The task of marketing management is to maintain competitive advantage by putting the positioning plan into effect.

EMBA 519 Global Strategy Formation ..... 3

Focusing on the long-term vision of the firm in relation to capabilities, competition, technology, and market forces, and this course presents the tools by which an organization determines its strategic direction. EMBA 532 Accounting for Strategic Decision Making Part I ..... 2

Introduces principles and concepts of management accounting for strategic decision making. Focuses on the use of managerial accounting information and its impact on business efficiency and effectiveness. Topics include management control, business unit evaluation and strategic cost management.

EMBA 533 Accounting for Strategic Decision Making Part II ..... 2

Provides a grasp of financial reports at the conceptual (as opposed to procedural) level. It seeks to instill the ability to ask effective questions about a company's performance and financial condition and to understand the forthcoming answers. This is achieved by developing the following skills: understanding the message contained in financial reports; computing profitability and risk measures; determining whether financial reports can be trusted; building pro-forma statements; and assessing fair value.

EMBA 560 Information Systems: The Role of Executives ..... 2

Discusses how information and communications technology enables new ways of doing business and changes organizational structures in a global business environment. Topics include alignment of information systems (IS) with business strategies, measuring the value of investment in IS, IS-enabled virtual organizations, global e-commerce (B2C and B2B), outsourcing, and security.

- EMBA 561 Strategy Implementation: Putting It All Together ..... 6
 Effective strategy implementation requires an integrated consideration of finance, marketing, operations, R&D, human resources, and quality control activities, within the context of the general industry environment. This course integrates prior learning by focusing on business unit performance in a dynamic context. Additional topics may include managing global alliances and outsourcing engagements, project management, and the management of change from a leadership perspective.
- EMBA 566 Quantitative Analysis for Business Leaders..... 2
 Providing an overview of statistical techniques, Quantitative Analysis demonstrates methods by which managers can make decisions throughout the organization. Specifically, this course provides an overview of descriptive statistics, common probability distributions, sampling distributions, hypothesis testing, simple linear regression, multiple regressions, and forecasting with an emphasis on their interpretive application.

- EMBA 585 Integrating Leadership and Business Practices ..... 4
 Weaving theories and best practices learned from course work with personal experiences, participants generate and conduct an executive-leadership project, under the direction of the faculty. Projects may relate to significant endeavors at work for which students have primary business responsibility, or pertain to the intersection of business and social justice. Important requirements are that the participant be responsible for generating vision, aligning others, and guiding people through change to achieve the outcomes desired.
- EMBA 588 The Art of Influence and Negotiation..... 2
 Addresses the influence skills necessary for advanced leadership. It will provide an overview of persuasion, collaborative influence, negotiation, and public relations.
- EMBA 589 Planning for Significant Legacy..... 3
 Integrates the conceptual and personal development of leadership (Quarters 1 and 2) with the business knowledge and skills learned in the program (Quarters 3-5). Reflecting on what they have learned, participants engage in structured, topical reflection that guides development of plans for the greatest leadership legacy they can leave over the next 5-10 years. Topics may include: leadership and the new commons; exemplars of significant legacy; truth, reconciliation, and reconstitution; leadership as artistry; and the development of wisdom.
- EMBA 596 Independent Study ..... 1 to 4
 Allows flexibility to adapt the curriculum for special and unforeseen needs. Examples may include: an optional global study tour, bringing prior ELP alums who return for the EMBA degree to the current credit hour standard (20 hours vs. 17), and/or potentially exempting a student from a course if she/he has advanced training in that area (e.g., a CPA might merit exemption from the Accounting course at the determination of that area's professor).

Seattle University School of Law, the Pacific Northwest's largest and most diverse law school, is dedicating to the twin goals of academic excellence and education for justice. The school enrolls more than 1,000 students representing more than 250 undergraduate schools and drawn from the top third of the national law school applicant pool. The only Washington law school with a thriving evening program geared to meet the needs of working professionals, the school offers more than 100 courses during the fall, spring and summer terms and allows students to focus in one of 14 areas of interest, ranging from business law and estate planning to intellectual property and criminal practice. The School of Law also offers four joint degrees with the Albers School of Business and Economics and two joint degrees with the College of Arts and Sciences.

An especially distinctive feature of our law program is its flexible schedule. Entering students may begin legal studies in the summer or in the fall, take classes in the day or evening, and complete their first year in 9, 12, or 15 months, as described below:

Full-time Summer Entry

All entering students may choose to "start early" by completing a single class in the summer, thereby reducing their fall course loads. Three options are available: two meet in the late afternoon and the other in the evening, Monday through Thursday. Summer term is six weeks.

Full-time Fall Entry

Students who begin studies in the fall take 16 credits in the fall term and 14 credits in the spring term to complete their first-year legal studies over the traditional nine-month period. Classes convene between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Part-time Summer Entry

This program of evening-only classes is designed for students with employment or personal obligations during the day. Law school commences in the summer with a single course, and the course load over the fall and spring terms is four classes each term for a total of 21 credits. The final first-year course is completed the second summer. Classes convene after 6 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

Admission Requirements

In determining those applicants who will be admitted to the School of Law, the Admissions Committee considers three primary factors:

- Performance on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT);
- Undergraduate academic record; and
- Personal accomplishments.

At least two evaluators review each application. In all cases, qualitative factors weigh heavily in the admission decision. These might include exceptional professional achievements, outstanding community service, or evidence of particular talents or backgrounds that will contribute especially and significantly to the law school community.

Seattle University embraces a wholly nondiscriminatory admission policy and philosophy. We welcome applications from all persons without regard to age, gender, race, religion, national origin, marital status, sexual or political orientation or disability.

Candidates for admission must have earned a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university prior to enrollment. In addition, applicants must have received a competitive score on the LSAT, and have registered with the Law School Data Assembly Service. Applicants should submit required application materials at the earliest possible date after they are available, and complete their applicant file no later than April 1 of the year they wish to attend.

Seattle University law students enjoy a premier learning environment. Sullivan Hall, home of the School of Law, is a five-floor, handsomely appointed structure that features a lengthy list of amenities that, taken together, represent a prototype for law schools of the future: wireless technology; street-front law clinic; state-of-the-art classrooms and study areas; a modern and impressive law library; a cutting-edge courtroom complex; and spacious student lounges and activity centers.

These professionals will contribute positively to the values, principles and practices of their communities, workplaces and professional associations.

These five principles, integral to the Mission Statement, guide decision-making:

1. The College of Education strives to be a scholarly learning community of students, staff and faculty characterized by collegiality and collaboration.
2. The College of Education strives to lead by collaboratively serving others from a grounding in the ethics and values of the Jesuit tradition.

3. The College of Education strives to provide a curriculum relevant to the needs of its profession and the greater society and supported by the best practice and research.
4. The College of Education strives to welcome and represent the diversity of our society through its teaching, programs, students, and personnel.
5. The College of Education strives to produce graduates who are compassionate and effective professionals in their respective areas of preparation.

Admission Requirements

Master's degree programs each have a specified grade point average (GPA) and other admission requirements found in their program descriptions that follow this section.

College of Education General Requirements:

- Four-year equivalent Bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution and initial certification (where applicable). Applicants from bachelor's degree programs with neither letter nor numerical grading must submit GRE or Miller Analogies Test (MAT) scores as determined by their program.
- Completion of the College of Education Self-Assessment Form
- If English is not applicant's native language, official English proficiency scores meeting the university's entrance requirements must be submitted. See policy #2008-01 in Admissions Policies for details.

General Format of Degree Studies

Following are typical programs for each major field (except master in teaching). While details vary from program to program, all education graduate degree programs contain the following components:

- Admission as degree applicant (see general admission requirements)
- Students accepted on probation must remove all conditions of probation before completing more than 15 credits of degree work at Seattle University.
- Initial course work: 15 credits of course work to include EDUC 500 Introduction to Educational Research, plus the designated first course in the major field and other courses designated at admission or by the program advisor.
- Candidacy: Entrance into candidacy status provides students and program faculty with an audit of student progress. Candidacy does not ensure successful program completion. Admission to degree candidate status is based on the following criteria:
  - 3.00 (B) grade point average (GPA) in the first 15 credits; (20 credits for counseling and school psychology majors)
  - Recommendation of major program advisor
  - Submission of a planned program of studies approved by advisor
  - Counseling majors only: successful completion of EDUC 500, Introduction to Educational Research; COUN 510, Fundamental Counseling Skills; and COUN 511, Counseling Theories.

- School psychology majors only: successful completion of EDUC 500, Introduction to Educational Research; and COUN 510; Fundamental Counseling Skills.
- Educational leadership: successful completion of EDLR 621, 622, and 623; approval of a program of studies; and formal acceptance of a dissertation proposal.
- Advanced course work:
  - Completion of major field course work. The amount varies from program to program and student to student.
  - Completion of core and approved electives. The amount varies by degree, from program to program, and student to student.
  - In the programs requiring a practicum or internship, there are two evaluation points beyond initial admission—at candidacy and just prior to the practicum or internship—to further determine the candidate's capabilities to function effectively in the practicum or internship role.
- Comprehensive examination:
  - Satisfactorily complete a written comprehensive examination covering the major area of study. The student may seek an examination appointment as soon as all major area course work is completed. The examination is offered at least three times each year.

Grade Point Average

A 3.00 (B) GPA must be maintained during graduate study. In addition, individual programs may have minimum grade requirements for specific courses. Please check individual program student handbooks for details.

Time Limit

All degree work must be completed within six years. This limit includes transfer credit.

Residency

Students are encouraged to spend at least one quarter in full-time study, preferably the first summer quarter (except counseling). Eight hours or more per quarter constitutes full-time graduate study.

Certification Program Records and Information Release Form

All applicants to College of Education programs preparing for Washington state certification in the P-12 schools (program administrator, principal, school counselor, school psychologist, superintendent, teacher) are required to sign a Records and Information Release form. This release form allows Seattle University to share records and information with the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI) for the purpose of OSPI's investigation of a candidate's character and fitness for the role for which the candidate is preparing. Applicants are required to sign this release form prior to enrolling and attending their first class in their certification program.

Degree Work and Certification Combined

By careful planning some students may combine degree work with a program leading to teacher endorsement, initial principal or program administrator's certificate, counselor or school psychologist's certificate.

Enrollment Limits for Employed Students

Anyone holding full-time employment is ordinarily limited to six hours per quarter. (This may be exceeded when added courses are an integrated part of the working day, e.g., internship, and certain independent studies and graduate projects.)

Non-matriculation Limits

Non-matriculated students must check with program coordinator or division chair for available courses and credit limits.

Commencement Participation Requirements

Graduate students who have six or fewer credits of degree requirements remaining to be satisfied and who meet the grade point standards for their degree programs are eligible to participate in commencement. All students enrolled in the master in teaching program scheduled to complete degree requirements in the summer quarter are eligible to participate in commencement the preceding spring.

Doctoral (EDLR) candidates must have completed the doctoral project/dissertation, have secured the signatures of their committee and the chair and have turned the project/dissertation in to the program director by April 10th of the year in which they wish to participate in the commencement ceremony. Doctoral students who participate in the commencement ceremony will not have their degree posted to the transcript in June unless the dissertation is signed off by the EDLR program director and the dissertation and all other grades (including removal of all I and N grades) are received by the Office of the Registrar on the date final grades for the spring term are due as published in the University Academic Calendar.

Degrees Offered

Master of Arts in Education (MAEd)

Master of Education (MEd)

Certificate Offered

Post-Master's Certificate in Community College Teaching

Overview

The master's degree in adult education is intended for those planning to instruct adults or manage programs designed for adult learners in post-secondary institutions or public and private organizations. Students select their area of specialization, which can include adult development or basic education, teaching English as a second language, or human resources development (training). Many students create a course of study that includes two of the specializations to more broadly prepare for job opportunities. Up to nine elective credits and the internship may be used to emphasize a particular content area.

The specializations include:

- Adult development or adult basic education prepares individuals to work in community colleges or social service agencies helping adults improve basic skills in reading, writing, and math.
- Human resources development is designed for those who wish to administer or instruct in employer-sponsored training programs.
- English as a second language prepares individuals to work with adult learners who wish to improve their ability to speak English.

Admission Requirements for Adult Education

Applicants are considered for enrollment every quarter. Admission is selective, and candidates are evaluated on their individual merits rather than on a comparative basis. Requirements include:

- Application for Graduate Admission, with non-refundable $55 application fee. (Application fee waived for SU alumni.)
- Four-year equivalent bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university
- Minimum GPA of 3.00 calculated from transcripts of all post-secondary educational institutions attended in the last 90 quarter/60 semester credits of the bachelor's degree, including transfer credit earned during this time, and any post-baccalaureate course work. Applicants with less than a 3.00 GPA may apply but are required to submit by the application deadline official GRE or MAT scores

- Two recommendations from recent supervisors using College of Education forms
- Résumé indicating a minimum of one year's work experience
- College of Education Self-Assessment form

Degree Requirements for Adult Education

Master of Arts in Education/School Counseling

This program prepares counselors for Educational Staff Associate (ESA) certification in K-12 settings, public and private. Whenever possible, internships are done at schools that students choose, usually at schools where they teach, enabling them to continue working while completing the internship. Teacher certification is favored by many school districts for employment as a school counselor, though not required by most. Teacher certification requires at least one additional year of full-time study, including student teaching.

Certification

Persons serving as education staff associates in public schools shall hold certificates authorized by the Professional Educator Standards Board (PESB) for service in these roles as required by statute or rules of the PESB. The university recommends a student who has successfully completed an approved program to the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction which issues the School Counselor Educational Staff Associate (ESA) Certification. This certification program is included in the master's degree in school counseling described below.

Post-Master's Certificate Program in School Counseling/ Post-Master's ESA Certification in School Counseling

This program is designed for individuals who already have a graduate degree in counseling or a related field, and wish to obtain the courses necessary to be recommended by the Department of Counseling and School Psychology for Washington State ESA certification as a school counselor.

Individual Programs of Study

Individual programs of study are designed by the student and an advisor and must include: 1) a minimum of 15 credits; 2) all courses necessary for ESA certification that the student has not previously completed or documentation of life experience; and 3) an internship. COUN 551, Counseling Lab, is required as part of the 15 credit minimum. This course can be waived: the applicant must submit, for faculty review, an audio or video tape (30 minutes minimum) of a counseling session. Individual programs of study are completed on an advising form and signed by the student and the advisor.

Pre-application Advising

Applicants may request an advising session prior to applying to determine what courses are necessary for ESA certification. Applicants may reserve, on a probationary basis, a place in an internship course at the time of the pre-application advising. After formal admission takes place, the internship reservation is guaranteed. Only formally admitted students may take an internship. Applicants must meet the criteria and follow the procedure for admission to the counseling programs.

Current Students

Students who have received candidacy in a non-school-counseling program in the Department of Counseling and School Psychology and who want certification in school counseling must submit a letter of intent to their advisor. Applicants will be notified of their admissions status by the program.

Seattle University Certificate

Students may also apply for a certificate issued by the registrar at Seattle University indicating the completion of the student's individualized course of study.

Admission Requirements

In addition to the admission requirements outlined for the master of arts in education (MAEd) with a specified counseling specialization, the individual must hold a graduate degree (MA, MAEd, MS, MSW, MEd, EdS, EdD and/or PhD) from a regionally accredited university.

School Psychology and School Counseling Dual Certification and Two Degrees

Students may pursue two degrees and/or dual certification in both school counseling and school psychology. Students must meet all the requirements of both programs. To meet the school counseling degree and certification requirements, school psychology students must complete 18 additional credits in school counseling (COUN 512, Lifespan Career Development; and three quarters of Counseling Internship and Graduate Project). To meet the school psychology degree and certification requirements, school counseling students must complete an additional 48 credits of course work in the school psychology program, including a full time, year-long internship which may be taken concurrently with the school counseling internship. Total credit hours for both degrees and dual certification: 117. Students with dual degree/dual certification status will have an advisor in each respective program. This dual degree option applies to school counseling only. Students will be awarded both degrees at the same time. Students may not walk at graduation until all requirements for both degrees are completed (see "Graduation with Deficiencies," Graduate Bulletin, for exceptions).

The application options are:

1. Initial Seattle University application: Individuals intending to pursue the dual degree/certification option may apply for both programs when they initially apply to Seattle University. If done at this point, applicants must complete the admissions packets and meet admission requirements for both programs. Applicants will be notified of their admission status separately by the Office of Admissions. This option assures the maximum scheduling flexibility.

2. Students seeking certification in only one program must apply as a regular student in that program prior to candidacy (completion of 20 credits). Applicants will be notified of their admission status separately by the Office of Admissions.
  3. At the completion of 20 credits, students are reviewed for candidacy in their respective programs. Students in either program may apply for admission to the other program at this time by 1) completing the Declaration of a Second Degree form, and 2) returning this form to the program coordinator of the new program during the first week of the quarter following the completion of 20 credits. Forms are available in the program office or from advisors. Students will be notified of their admission status by the Office of the Registrar. This change will be effective the quarter following the application.
  4. After Candidacy: Students may apply to the other program after receiving candidacy in one program by submitting a letter of intent to their advisor in lieu of the Declaration of Second Degree form. Applicants will be notified of their admissions status by the respective program.

Curriculum and Instruction

Program and Department Chair: TBD

Degrees Offered

Master of Education (MEd) with specialization in:

- General Curriculum and Instruction
- Individually Designed Program

Post-Master's Certificates Offered

- Department Head/Team Leader
- Staff Development

Overview

The curriculum and instruction program centers on education in its most basic form: facilitating the exchange of knowledge between learner and teacher. In today's information society, as specific content knowledge becomes rapidly outdated, knowing how to learn becomes increasingly significant. This program is designed to develop educators who can articulate clearly a philosophy of education, and who have solid understanding of the learner and the educational needs of diverse populations.

Curriculum and instruction core classes and electives provide a background of academic methodological and clinical knowledge. Faculty members emphasize individual attention in teaching and advising.

One of the significant advantages of this program is the degree of flexibility available to students. Students may work with faculty to develop individualized programs of study, tailor-made for specific professional goals.

Program Design

The program is designed primarily for part-time students who plan to take one or two courses per quarter. Full-time residency is not required; however, students typically live within commuting distance of campus.

During the summer quarter, students often are able to take additional courses. For part-time students, the time to program completion will vary greatly.

For a full-time student, the program typically requires a minimum of two years for completion. Students may begin the program during any quarter, but because all classes are not offered every quarter, students who desire full-time status should plan to begin fall quarter. Classes are offered late afternoons and evenings during the school year, and also during daytime hours in the summer session. Most classes meet weekly in blocks of two hours and 40 minutes.

Who Should Participate?

This degree program is designed for individuals involved in all aspects of curriculum and instruction concerned with the pre-kindergarten through 12th grade schools and students. The program provides a solid background in educational theory and the foundations of teaching and curriculum development, as well as the opportunity to work in depth in specific areas of curriculum and instruction.

Students who want to earn a Washington state teaching certificate as a part of their master's degree should apply to the Master in Teaching (MIT) program.

While most students in the program are professional educators, the degree also is appropriate for individuals employed in nonschool settings who are interested in educational settings and issues, especially in the business and nonprofit sectors.

Admission Requirements

- Application for Graduate Admission with non-refundable $55 application fee. (Application fee waived for SU alumni.)
- Four-year equivalent bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university.
- Minimum GPA of 3.00 calculated from transcripts of all post-secondary educational institutions attended in the last 90 quarter/60 semester credits of the bachelor's degree, including transfer credit earned during this time, and any post-baccalaureate course work. Applicants with less than a 3.00 GPA may apply but are required to submit official scores from the GRE or the MAT by the application deadline.
- Résumé reflecting relevant work experience, usually at least one year beyond the bachelor's degree.
- Two recommendations from supervisors, professors, or professionals knowledgeable about the applicant's competencies using College of Education Recommendation forms.
- College of Education Self-Evaluation form.

Master of Education/ General Curriculum and Instruction

The generalist option allows students, in consultation with their advisors, to design a degree program tailored to their own professional development. Students may, with the approval of an advisor, combine a variety of courses from other graduate programs and academic areas to meet their specific professional needs.

Students will be assessed for admission to candidacy in the program upon successful completion of 15 credits, which must include EDUC 500 and CUIN 510.

Post-Master's Certificates

The post-master's certificate programs in curriculum and instruction are designed for individuals who already have graduate degrees in education and wish to continue graduate study in specific specialty areas. The curriculum consists of a selection of graduate courses in education and curriculum and instruction plus prerequisites; and culminates with comprehensive examinations in the certificate area. Educational leadership students may complete their degree while at the same time continuing full-time employment.

Individual programs of study can include earning a Washington state P-12 superintendent, principal, or program administrator certificate.

The cohort program begins once each year in July.

The program is designed for completion within three years by those continuing to work full-time in leadership positions. Doctoral students who do not complete all program requirements in three years (by the spring of the third year) must register for and pay a continuation fee beginning with the fall following the conclusion of the spring of the third year and continuing during all subsequent quarters (fall, winter, spring and summer) until and including the quarter when the student completes all program requirements. As long as students are active in the program, enrollment every quarter is required. Formal leaves may be granted for cause. Credit applied to the degree may not be more than six years old when the educational leadership program is completed.

Transfer Credit

Up to 15 credits of post-master's graduate study may be transferred, if the credits meet Seattle University criteria: taken at a regionally accredited institution; completed with a minimum grade of 3.00 on a 4.00 American grading scale; taken for graduate credit; and course completion date is within six years of the date all doctoral degree work is concluded. Post-master's graduate credit taken at Seattle University prior to acceptance into the program is also eligible for consideration within the 15 credits allowed to transfer.

For graduates of Seattle University who have completed the EdS degree in school psychology and are admitted into the EDLR program, up to 29 credits of the EdS degree may be used to fulfill elective and or cognate courses toward the 90 credit minimum requirement of the EDLR program.

All of the College of Education SPSY graduates who are accepted into the EDLR program will be expected to complete:

- all of the educational leadership (EDLR) core courses
- the dissertation and dissemination requirements, and
- the following professional education courses which were not included in the SPSY EdS degree requirements: finance, human resources, and curriculum.

If any of the three professional education courses is waived, students must substitute the equivalent number of credits by taking other graduate-level courses at Seattle University. Unless otherwise approved by the dean, three will be the maximum number of school psychology students who could be admitted to the program in any one year.

Credit at Seattle University

At least three-fourths of the applicable credits taken at Seattle University must be 500 level or higher. In any case, no more than 15 credits at Seattle University below the 500 level may be applied, and then only with specific advanced, written approval. (Inclusion in an approved graduate program of studies will satisfy written approval.)

Formal Degree Candidacy

A student is eligible for candidacy when EDLR 621, 622 and 623 have been completed, a program of studies has been approved, and a dissertation proposal has been formally accepted.

Comprehensive Examination

Certification

Students who complete superintendent, program administrator and principal programs may earn a Washington state P-12 administration certificate as part of their doctoral program. Further details on requirements for integrating studies toward any of these certificates into a doctoral program are available from the program office at (206) 296-6170.

School Psychology

Program Director: Kay Beisse, PhD
Department Chair: Hutch Haney, MS

Degree Offered

Educational Specialist (EdS)

Certificate Offered

Post-Master's Certificate in School Psychology

Overview

This Washington state approved program prepares students for educational staff associate (ESA) certification as a school psychologist in K-12 settings. Students who complete the NASP-approved Educational Specialist (EdS) degree program are automatically eligible for the National Certificate in School Psychology (NCSP) upon satisfactory completion of the NCSP exam. Dual degrees and dual certification in both counseling and school psychology are also a possibility.

The curriculum of the program is based on a best practices orientation as defined by the National Association of School Psychologists, the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), and Washington state standards for accreditation.

The school psychologist is charged with making ethical and moral decisions in his or her professional practice. The basis for leadership in this decision making is a clear dedication to child advocacy, the ability to take responsibility for the consequences of one's actions, and the moral courage to make decisions that will lead to appropriate interventions for an individual child.

The faculty of the school psychology program is committed to education that is participatory. The relationship of faculty and students is both professional and personal.

Certification

Persons serving as Educational Staff Associates in public schools shall hold certificates authorized by the Professional Educator Standards Board (PESB) for service in the respective roles as required by statute or rules of the PESB. The university recommends a student who has successfully completed an approved program to the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction which issues the appropriate certificate.

Admission Requirements

In addition, applicants must demonstrate potential for leadership and effective interpersonal relationships. The following documents are required for consideration:

- Application for Graduate Admission with non-refundable $55 application fee. (Application fee waived for SU alumni.) Applications for upcoming quarters are reviewed twice a year and decisions are made on a space available basis. Students entering with master's degrees other than in special education, counseling or school psychology must expect to take additional course work to meet the degree requirements outlined under post-baccalaureate EdS/school psychology.

All students must complete a supervised internship in a school setting, either on a full-time, 1200-hour basis for three successive quarters, or on a half-time 600-hour basis per year for two years.

A written comprehensive examination is required of all degree students as well as all students recommended for state education staff associate (ESA) certification in school psychology.

Doctoral Study for EdS Graduates

For graduates of Seattle University who have completed the EdS degree in school psychology and are admitted into the EDLR program, up to 29 credits of the EdS degree may be used to fulfill elective and/or cognate courses toward the 90 credit minimum requirement of the EDLR program. See the Educational Leadership section of this Graduate Bulletin for details.

School Psychology and School Counseling Dual Certification and Two Degrees

Students may pursue two degrees and dual certification in both school counseling and school psychology. Students must meet all the requirements of both programs. To meet the school counseling degree and certification requirements, school psychology students must complete 25 additional credits in School Counseling (COUN 509, Comprehensive School Counseling; COUN 512, Lifespan Career Development; COUN 518, Field-based Group Counseling; COUN 554 School Counseling Practicum and three quarters of counseling Internship). To meet the school psychology degree and certification requirements, school counseling students must complete an additional 45 credits of course work in the school psychology program, including a full time, year-long internship which may be taken concurrently with the school counseling internship. For post-baccalaureate students, total credit hours for both degrees and dual certification: 117. For post-master's students, the total credit hours for both degrees and dual certification are determined on an individual basis dependent on previous graduate course work. This dual degree option applies to school counseling only. Students will be awarded both degrees at the same time. Students may not walk at graduation until all requirements for both degrees are completed (see "Graduation with Deficiencies", Graduate Bulletin, for exceptions).

The application options are:

- Initial Seattle University Application: Individuals intending to pursue the dual degree/certification option may apply for both programs when they initially apply to Seattle University. If done at this point, applicants must complete the admissions packets and meet admission requirements for both programs. Applicants will be notified of their admission status separately by the Office of Admissions. This option assures the maximum scheduling flexibility.
- Students seeking certification only in either program must apply as a regular student in that program prior to candidacy (completion of 20 credits). Applicants will be notified of their admission status separately by the Office of Admissions.
- At the completion of 20 credits: Students are reviewed for candidacy in their respective programs. Students in either program may apply for admission to the other program at this time by completing the Declaration of a Second Degree form and returning this form to the program coordinator of the new program during the first week of the quarter following the completion of 20 credits. Forms are available online. Students will be notified of their admission status by the Office of Admissions. Admission status will be effective the quarter following the application.
- Students seeking certification only in either program at the end of 20 credits must submit a letter of intent to their advisor in lieu of the Declaration of Second Degree form. Applicants will be notified of their admissions status by the respective program.
- After Candidacy: Students may apply to either program by following the same procedure as applying at the completion of 20 credits (see above).

Post-Master's Certificate School Psychology

Individual programs of study are designed by the student and an advisor and must include: 1) a minimum of 15 credits; 2) all courses necessary for ESA certification that the student has not previously completed; and 3) an internship. Students seeking certification must meet admission requirements outlined for the EdS degree in school psychology.

Seattle University Certificate

Students may also apply for a certificate issued by the registrar at Seattle University indicating the completion of the student's individualized course of study. ### Degrees Offered

Master of Education (MEd)

Educational Specialist (EdS)

Endorsement-Only Graduate Program Offered

Special Education

Washington State Endorsements Offered

Special Education

Overview

The special education program prepares special education teachers to provide special education services to a linguistically and culturally diverse population of children and adolescents (K to 12th grade) with disabilities. The emphasis of the program is on those students with learning and behavioral disorders (learning disabilities, developmental and cognitive disabilities, emotional and behavioral disabilities). Students complete a series of courses designed to give a solid background in special education law, procedures, and methods; types of childhood exceptionalities; behavioral intervention and consultation; multicultural and multilingual issues; child/adolescent development; research methods; and educational philosophy. The course work is designed to give students a strong foundation in literacy development, effective reading instruction, positive behavior support and transition services.

Program Design

The program is designed for full-time students as well as working professionals who take one or two courses a quarter during the academic year and one or two courses during the summer. Students take a planned program of course work in special education, culminating in a practicum in the field working with K-12 students with special needs. In consultation with the program director, students can develop a flexible course of study to meet their individual program goals. Students who wish to earn the master's degree in special education enroll in the MEd in Special Education program. Students with a master's degree enroll in the EdS in Special Education program. Students with a teaching certificate and who want only the special education endorsement enroll in the endorsement-only special education graduate program.

Students are admitted each quarter. Courses during the academic year meet in the late afternoon and evening hours; some summer courses meet during the day. Full time students can complete the MEd or EdS program in five quarters (two summers and full-time enrollment during one school year). Part-time students can complete the program in 9 to 12 quarters. The timeline for completion of the endorsement-only program is dependent upon prior course work.

Special Education Endorsement

Students who wish to earn the Washington state endorsement in special education must already hold a Washington state teaching certificate. Applicants must complete a total of 24 credits of course work at Seattle University. Specific courses include SPED 540, SPED 541, SPED 542, SPED 543, SPED 545, SPED 547, SPED 549, and SPSY 554. These courses may be completed through the MEd, EdS, or endorsement-only programs in special education.

In order to obtain the special education endorsement, students must pass the WEST-E test in special education. Students within the MEd and EdS programs may obtain their special education endorsement prior to the completion of their respective programs.

Requirements in each course specified above have been linked with competencies required by Washington State. Under limited circumstances, specific courses may be waived depending upon prior background and experience. In order to waive specific courses, applicants must document that requirements in each course were met. This documentation at a minimum must include official transcripts, course syllabi, and any other documentation regarding previous background or experience.

Students with extensive prior course work in special education and who would like to know how many credits they are lacking towards a special education endorsement, may have their transcripts reviewed by the special education program director for a nominal fee. This may be done prior to or after admission to the endorsement only program. To have transcripts reviewed, students should contact the Records and Certification Office at (206) 296-5774. Students without extensive prior course work in special education do not need to fulfill this requirement. Once students are admitted into the program, a plan of study will be set with the student's advisor in order to complete the required course work for the special education endorsement.

Endorsement-Only Special Education Graduate Program

The endorsement-only program in special education is designed for certified teachers who wish to earn the special education endorsement but who do not desire an additional degree. Students must complete at least 15 credits of course work at Seattle University in order to complete the total 24 credits of required special education course work. The required course work is dependent upon previous course work and experience. Specific course work required will be determined by the student's advisor.

Teacher Certification

Students completing the master in teaching program may apply up to 6 credits toward the special education endorsement-only post-master's graduate program or EdS by completing the following courses:

Required Courses:

- 3 credits of TEED 521 or TEED 522 satisfy SPED 540
- MIT elective in Special Education (3 credits) can meet a special education course requirement.

Master in Teaching (MIT) with Special Education Endorsement

The MIT with special education endorsement is for those who are not currently certified teachers, but who are interested in pursuing special education as a career. Students may complete both a residency teaching certificate and the endorsement in special education through six quarters of study of which four quarters are full time. For further information, students should review the MIT with special education endorsement brochure or visit the MIT website at seattleu.edu/coe/mit. This option is only available to MIT students who enter in a spring cohort; students who enter in a fall MIT cohort are not eligible for the MIT with special education program.

For complete program requirements, see the MIT with special education endorsement information in the Teacher Education section of this Graduate Bulletin.

Degree Offered

Master in Teaching (MIT)

Overview

"A Teacher Affects Eternity." —Henry Adams

The Master in Teaching Program at Seattle University is a full-time, cohort-based degree program in teacher education that offers both a master's degree in teaching and a Residency Teaching Certificate in four academic quarters. Those who want to be part of the learning and growth of young people, demonstrate strong academic knowledge and skills, and are committed to social justice are encouraged to apply. Because MIT graduates are recognized as outstanding educational leaders, they are in high demand throughout the region. In 2006, MIT ranked #1 in teacher placement in Washington State.

Master in Teaching (MIT)

The MIT graduate program at Seattle University provides prospective teachers with an intensive, full-time program that builds on their in-depth undergraduate preparation in an academic major with advanced study in professional education at the graduate level. The program balances classroom experience and coursework; students spend 50% of the program in the classroom, beginning in the second week of their first quarter. They learn as part of a cohort, or learning community, mutually challenged and supported by their peers and an award-winning faculty. Successful applicants demonstrate leadership potential, a strong self-concept, and excellent interpersonal skills.

Master of Education in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (MED)

Certificates Offered

Post-Master's Certificate—Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages

Post-Baccalaureate Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages

Post-Baccalaureate Advanced Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages

Overview

The master's degree program in teaching English to speakers of other languages (TESOL) prepares professional educators for the role of teacher or teacher administrator, primarily in adult programs, in either the United States or in other countries. In the United States, teaching opportunities exist within colleges, universities, community colleges, language institutes, and community organizations. In other countries, teachers may work with either young adults or adult learners in a variety of educational, business and community organizations.

K-12 teachers with a valid Washington state teaching certificate wishing to gain an added endorsement in teaching English as a second language (ESL) are encouraged to work through the School of Teaching English as a Second Language (S-TESL) which is a partner with the College of Education in preparing ESL teachers of K-12 students as well as adults. The S-TESL website is schooloftesl.com.

The post-master's certificate in teaching English to speakers of other languages is designed to allow individuals who hold a master's degree to develop special skills in teaching English. The certificate is not required in Washington community colleges. The courses and required supervised teaching experience provide an overview of teaching methods specific to the field of teaching English to the speakers of other languages; second language acquisition and linguistic theories.

Since being bilingual or multilingual may help improve the effectiveness of an ESL instructor, it is highly recommended that students whose first language is English should be proficient in another language.

Seattle University and the School of Teaching English as a Second Language have a cooperative agreement that gives students many choices in electives. Students in all TESOL programs take 1 to 4 courses off campus at the School of Teaching English as a Second Language.

Admission Requirements

Admission is selective, and program enrollment is limited. Candidates are evaluated on their individual merits rather than on a comparative basis. Requirements include:

- Application for Graduate Admission with non-refundable $55 application fee. (Application fee waived for Seattle University alumni.)
- Official transcripts reflecting four-year equivalent bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university.
- Minimum GPA of 3.00 calculated from transcripts of all post-secondary educational institutions attended in the last 90 quarter/60 semester credits of the bachelor's degree, including transfer credit earned during this time, and any post-baccalaureate course work. Applicants with less than a 3.00 GPA may apply but are required to submit official GRE or MAT scores by the application deadline. Scores must be from tests taken within the last five years to be considered official.
- TOEFL score of 580 (92 internet-based or 237 computer-based score) or higher for any applicant for whom English is not the native language. Equivalent MELAB and IELTS scores also accepted to determine English proficiency. See policy #2008-01 in Admission Policies for details. Seattle University College of Nursing was granted full accreditation by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education in 2002. The Advanced Practice Nursing Immersion Program is fully accredited.

Objectives

Today's complex health care environment requires that nurses have advanced practice nursing knowledge and skills. Graduate study offers the opportunity to deepen knowledge of clinical phenomena, develop new perspectives on old dilemmas, and acquire new roles within the health care system. Nurses prepared at the graduate level obtain the skills needed for greater career flexibility. After completing the graduate program of study, advanced practice nurses will be able to:

- Synthesize knowledge from nursing and related disciplines for advanced nursing practice
- Utilize problem solving strategies to provide care and to enable groups of clients to manage and cope with alterations in health and to attain higher levels of wellness
- Embody values essential to advanced nursing practice
- Evaluate one's beliefs, values and ways of knowing to foster personal growth and professional practice
- Analyze health care systems and policies that influence health care for vulnerable populations
- Practice advanced nursing roles in collaboration with clients, health professionals, and community organizations to ensure quality care
- Advance the health of vulnerable populations through scholarship, leadership, and delivery of quality nursing care

Master of Science in Nursing

The traditional master of science in nursing degree (MSN) provides experienced professional nurses with the additional education needed to function in a rapidly changing health care environment that demands new and innovative approaches to nursing and health care delivery. Graduates are prepared for positions as leaders in community organizations and institutions, or as primary care nurse practitioners. The advanced practice nursing (APN) immersion is an accelerated path to the MSN for non-nurses holding undergraduate degrees in other fields. The APN Immersion prepares graduates to be primary care nurse practitioners, or for leadership in health care organizations and communities.

The MSN program at Seattle University is grounded in the Jesuit ideals of teaching, service, education for values, and growth of persons. Graduate faculty members are doctorally prepared and clinically experienced nurses who are also expert teachers. The curriculum focus on care of vulnerable clients actualizes the Jesuit commitment to social justice. Values-based education emphasizes the ethical, moral, and spiritual dimensions of nursing care. Attention to individual student strengths and needs produces graduates who are knowledgeable, skilled, and confident in their ability to effect change.

The MSN program offers two tracks. The Leadership in Community Nursing (LCN) track prepares nurses in health promotion and prevention strategies for communities or populations. Two specialties are available. The program development specialty prepares graduates to collaborate with communities and organizations to design and implement health programs for vulnerable populations. The spirituality and health specialty is offered in collaboration with the School of Theology and Ministry and prepares graduates to meet the spiritual health needs of individuals, families, and communities. Clinical experiences in both tracks are arranged to focus on populations of special interest to students.

The Primary Care Nurse Practitioner track (PCNP) offers specialties in family, gerontological, or psychiatric mental health with an addictions focus. Graduates are eligible for national certification exams in the area of specialization: Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP), Gerontological Nurse Practitioner, or adult or family Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner (PSYCHMHNP). Psychiatric nurse practitioner graduates are also eligible for advanced practice certification in addictions. All of the primary care nurse practitioner specialties require more than 500 hours of supervised clinical practice for program completion.

Full-time two-year and post-master's certificate options are available for traditional registered nurse students in the MSN program.

The APN immersion is designed for non-nurses holding undergraduate degrees in other fields. Students first complete a four-quarter pre-licensure curriculum that confers eligibility to sit for the registered nurse licensure examination (NCLEX-RN). Upon achievement of RN licensure, students continue into specialty courses. Graduates are awarded the MSN. Students completing the PCNP track are eligible to sit for certification examinations in their chosen specialty area (see above). It is a full-time, year-round program of study. Students in the family, gerontological, program development, and spirituality and health specialties complete the program in two full calendar years, plus one additional quarter. Students in the psychiatric mental health specialty complete the program in 2 full calendar years of full-time study plus 3 additional quarters of study.

The application deadline for the APN Immersion is December 1 for entry the following June. The application deadline for the traditional MSN (RN applicants) is April 1 for entry in the fall.

Degree Offered

Master of Software Engineering (MSE)

Master of Software Engineering

The MSE program at Seattle University is designed for working professionals. Our classes are typically offered in the evenings. The program builds on the computing experience of its students by providing course work in a variety of software engineering and computer science topics, with an emphasis on teamwork and a disciplined approach to software development. We offer a balanced curriculum of technical and managerial courses, with a choice of elective streams to address areas of personal interest. The principles and techniques learned throughout the course work are integrated into a year-long software project as the capstone experience.

Seattle University has long been a leader in software engineering education. It established its pioneering MSE program in 1979, and awarded the world's first MSE degree in 1982.

Our graduate faculty has extensive industrial experience as well as strong academic credentials. Our curriculum has been shaped by close contacts with local industry, ensuring that courses are relevant to the workplace and that projects are tailored to the professional needs of our students.

Unique Collaboration

The School of Theology and Ministry is housed in prestigious Seattle University, a premier Jesuit private university in the Northwest. The School offers people the opportunity to study for a variety of ministerial roles. This unique School houses two institutes: the Institute for Catholic Theological Studies (ICTS, a collaborative venture with the Archdiocese of Seattle and other sponsoring Catholic organizations) and the Institute for Ecumenical Theological Studies (IETS, a joint venture with numerous Seattle-area denominations.) The student body of STM is made up primarily of adult learners who are seeking to develop spiritually, to know and appreciate their tradition, and to become skilled ministers. Each of the Institutes provides students with the services and support they need to engage in disciplined, developmental, and holistic education and formation. The School of Theology and Ministry is fully accredited through the Association of Theological Schools.

Institute for Catholic Theological Studies

In service to both the Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle and Seattle University, the Institute for Catholic Theological Studies (ICTS) prepares Catholic lay ministers for leadership positions. ICTS students and graduates serve as pastoral associates in parishes for faith formation, sacramental preparation, Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults; ministers to the sick and elderly; liturgical leaders; leaders of faith communities with no resident ordained pastor; chaplains to hospices, hospitals, and prisons; directors of food banks, shelters for the homeless and for battered women; and retreat and spiritual directors.

Institute for Ecumenical Theological Studies

Serving the university and a number of denominations and religious agencies in the Northwest, the Institute for Ecumenical Theological Studies (IETS) prepares students for lay and ordained ministry in their specific tradition. The associate dean for ecumenical relations works closely with lay and ordained representatives of each denomination and agency who form the IETS Advisory Board. Students and graduates pastor churches, direct Christian education programs, manage shelters and housing for the homeless, provide spiritual direction and retreats, and serve as chaplains in various ministries.

Admission Requirements

Applicants are considered for either summer or fall quarter entry. Admission is selective, and candidates are evaluated on their individual merits, rather than on a comparative basis. Application deadlines are as follows:

Transfer Credit

Students may petition to transfer graduate credits earned from another regionally accredited institution or a program accredited by the Association of Theological Schools (ATS) into the School of Theology and Ministry (STM).

Graduate course credits earned with a letter grade of B or above in academic work comparable to core course requirements at the STM may be transferred upon evaluation and approval of the associate dean for academic programs, the dean and the registrar. Courses that do not meet core requirement standards may be accepted as electives. All requirements, including transfer courses, must be completed within six years after course work is begun.

Up to 10 credits may be transferred toward the master of arts in pastoral studies (MAPS) degree, up to 24 for advanced standing in the master of arts in transforming spirituality (MATS) degree, and up to 57 credits may be transferred toward the master of divinity (MDiv) degree. All non-credit formation requirements and related formation courses must normally be taken at Seattle University for work toward any degree.

Students who have completed the MAPS degree from Seattle University may petition the STM admissions committee to accept the earned degree in total or in part toward the MATS or MDiv degrees.

Time Limit

All work toward a degree from the School of Theology and Ministry must be completed within six years. This limit includes transfer credit.

Flexible Scheduling

Summer: The summer schedule offers one-week, two-week, and weekend intensives. Courses meet on campus daily and are scheduled all day long and/or mornings, afternoons, and evenings. Students who wish to live on campus during summer sessions must apply for housing via online registration through Conference and Event Services: <http://www.seattleu.edu/ces/>.

Weekday: Courses are offered on campus in weekly three hour sessions during fall, winter and spring quarters. Most courses are scheduled during mornings and afternoons with at least one course a quarter scheduled in the evening.

Weekends: At least two courses per quarter are scheduled in the weekend program. Each course consists of a total of two weekends per quarter. Students can access only one course per quarter in this format.

Combinations of these scheduling options determine the rate of completion of the degrees. Internships, practica, spiritual direction, retreats, and independent studies allow commuting students to complete some of their educational experiences in their own geographic areas.

Degree Components

Each degree is rooted in the conviction that ministers and educators serve more effectively when they combine personal and professional growth with a Gospel vision of service to the community. Each degree integrates three major components:

- Academic foundation in scripture and theology
- Development of pastoral skills
- Personal and pastoral spiritual formation

Formation Components

Students are expected to participate in spiritual formation, which includes building community with their peers. Students are assigned according to degree program or evening/weekend status to one of four reflection groups which celebrate prayer, enter a commitment of faith sharing, and develop ways of caring for student needs. Orientation, days or evenings of reflection, spiritual direction, leadership experiences, and requirements for liturgy and hospitality help students practice ministerial competencies with each other while contributing to the deepening of adult learning communities. Upon admission, students are advised to join the reflection group appropriate to their course of study.

Pastoral Studies

Degree Offered

Master of Arts in Pastoral Studies (MAPS)

Master of Arts in Pastoral Studies (MAPS)

This degree encourages students to discover their gifts and develop them for service. Students engage in a process of deepening self-knowledge, exploring the Christian tradition, and considering their potential to minister to the world. An integration of theology, scripture, pastoral skills, and personal formation encourages optimum growth for ministers. The degree prepares lay people to engage in theological reflection and to articulate a faith that does justice in the church, in life circumstances, and in the marketplace.

Master of Arts in Transforming Spirituality (MATS)

Studies in Spirituality Specialization

Spiritual Direction Specialization

Master of Arts in Transforming Spirituality (MATS)

This degree educates and forms men and women in the area of spirituality. The degree balances a rootedness in the Christian tradition with an openness to the wisdom of the world's spiritual beliefs and practices and to the spiritual hunger of those who may not identify with any religious tradition. It seeks to explore both the mystical and prophetic dimensions of spirituality. The degree is holistic and interdisciplinary in method, ecumenical and multicultural in scope, and recognizes the interfaith context of contemporary spirituality. It seeks to address the human and spiritual questions that arise within our 21st century pluralistic society; pays special attention to the distinctive sensibilities that inform spirituality in the Pacific Northwest (a hunger for the Sacred, an appreciation for creation, openness to informal ways of belonging to spiritual communities, and a pioneering spirit, which seeks a more just and peaceful world), while at the same time taking seriously communal and ecclesial realities that question and challenge the cultural value of individualism. The MATS degree emphasizes:

- Experiential dimensions of prayer
- Dynamics of personal and communal transformation.
- Faith that works for justice
- Ecological awareness and responsibility
- Interplay of the arts, creativity and spirituality
- Engagement with contemporary culture
- Leadership skills for effective work and ministry

The MATS degree offers two specializations, studies in spirituality and spiritual direction.

Pastoral Counseling

Degree Offered

Master of Arts in Pastoral Counseling (MAPC)

Master of Arts in Pastoral Counseling (MAPC)

This degree prepares students for work as pastoral counselors in multiple settings (agency, clinic, parish, or private practice) by providing solid theological, psychological, and clinical training. Pastoral counseling represents a holistic psychotherapeutic approach to human healing that integrates theological/spiritual and psychological/behavioral insights and principles. A diverse group of clients seeks pastoral counseling, with needs that range from chaotic or trying personal issues to clinically defined mental illness (marital or occupational difficulties, financial distress, drug and alcohol abuse, depression, and other situations requiring everything from help with basic coping skills to hospitalization for treatment of severe trauma). Reflecting the university's mission of a faith that does justice, the program calls upon students to work in a diverse multicultural context and with under-served and vulnerable populations, including persons with chronic mental illness.

The curriculum for the degree assists students in fulfilling the academic course work required for Washington State mental health licensure and/or certification by the American Association of Pastoral Counselors.

The pastoral counseling degree integrates the School of Theology and Ministry's commitment to academic excellence, spiritual formation, and ministerial skill with clinical, psychotherapeutic practice.

Master of Divinity

Degree Offered

Master of Divinity (MDiv)

Degree/Certificate Offered

Master of Divinity/Post-Master's Certificate (MDiv/PMC)

Certificate in Spirituality

Certificate in Spiritual Direction

Master of Divinity

The master of divinity (MDiv) is the classic ministerial degree, preparing people to assume leadership positions in the church. It develops the pastoral minister's capacity to interpret scripture, foster theological reflection, and draw upon the theological heritage of the religious community with pastoral sensitivity.

Catholics with a master of divinity degree often assume leadership positions in parishes, dioceses, hospitals or social service agencies.

Protestants on an ordination track work closely with their churches regarding ordination requirements. Appropriate adaptations of the MDiv program have been developed for the following denominations: Episcopal, Unitarian Universalist Association, United Church of Christ, United Methodist, Presbyterian (USA), Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, American Baptist, Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), and Church of the Brethren.

Degree Requirements – Master of Divinity

Students pursuing ordination will direct electives toward completion of specified denominational requirements.

It teaches administrators to adopt behaviors of listening, collaborating, conflict resolution, speaking, organizing, and inviting others (particularly staff and volunteers) into decision-making processes. The certificate addresses practical issues of finance, building oversight, personnel law and justice, and concepts of building a budget that reflect the theology and mission of the congregation. The curriculum is composed of courses which enhance leadership competencies, ministerial skills, theological reflection, and spiritual growth. Twenty-two class days are scheduled over nine months. All classes are fully accredited and culminate in a Certificate in Pastoral Leadership.

STML 509      Envisioning Leadership..... 2

This course provides a forum in which to explore the changing context for pastoral leaders and the implications for the practice of the art of leadership, within and beyond one's organizational role. It addresses issues of "vocation" and "vision" in the face of unprecedented conditions and examines the formation of leadership in relationship to the growing complexity, diversity, and moral ambiguity in our cultural life. Among the issues explored are: the dynamics of formal and informal authority, the nature of "adaptive leadership," and distinguishing self from role.

STML 510      Effective Teams in Ministry..... 1

In an outdoor experiential laboratory, participants face personal and team challenges during a two and half day off-site retreat. Both the individual and group capacity for learning are developed along with a critical examination of the role and effective use of teams. Participants engage in self-assessment, learn a variety of team-building skills, explore the formation of trust in the face of complexity, and enhance their listening, feedback, and reflection skills.

STML 511      Healthy Systems In Ministry..... 3

This course for clergy and Pastoral leaders offers an introduction to Family Systems Theory. It also seeks to show how systems concepts apply to the organizational life of the church and its ministry. Furthermore, it provides an opportunity for practical "hands on" use of the theory and is a time for reflection on the implications of systems concepts for pastoral leadership, personal faith, and theological understanding. Through this course pastoral leaders will learn how family systems concepts can inform preaching, teaching, caring and administration functions in the church. Learning will occur through reading, lecture, discussion, and the sharing of family of origin and case study presentations.

About the Center

The work of the Center for Service and Community Engagement revolves around fulfilling the mission of Seattle University: empowering leaders for a just and humane world. With the belief that successful leaders are those who serve others, the Center supports students engaged in service and justice activities.

Created through a presidential initiative in 2004, the Center for Service and Community Engagement is a dynamic outgrowth of Seattle University's Jesuit tradition and mission. The Center has two main goals: (1) to foster positive action and improvement within the campus and the wider community and (2) to develop reflective, creative, compassionate and just students. The Center works collaboratively with campus and community partners to implement programs in the following areas:

- Academic Service-Learning
- Community Partnerships
- Campus Collaboration
- Student Leadership

Service-Learning Courses

Academic service-learning is the connection of concepts in the classroom to service experiences in the community. Service-learning encourages you to begin or to continue service, in preparation for a lifetime of civic engagement and leadership. In addition, service-learning is an important learning tool. Through service, you have the opportunity to apply the concepts, theories and other material that you cover in class. The community becomes a text for the class, and is as critical to "read" as other textbooks.

Seattle University offers three types of service-learning courses:

- Placement-based
- Project-based

Refer to the website for more details.

Culture and Language Bridge Program

Eli Hinkel, PhD, Director

Objectives

The Culture and Language Bridge program prepares non-native speakers of English for a productive academic career at Seattle University. The primary goal of the program is to provide admitted Seattle University students with a background in American academic culture and language skills essential for success in their studies. The courses offered in the program are highly advanced, with a specific focus on university-level reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills. The program is offered during the fall, winter, and spring quarters. Courses are not offered in the summer.

Description of Courses

During their first quarter at Seattle University, students at the beginning of their academic careers are usually expected to take courses in English Syntax for Writing (CLBR 086), Academic Reading and Writing (CLBR 087), Classroom Communication (CLBR 088), and one additional class based on the recommendation of their advisor. In their second quarter, first-year students are usually required to take Basic Writing (ENGL 101) and two additional courses.

Students who transfer to Seattle University during their subsequent years of study, as well as graduate students, are expected to take courses that advance their strategic vocabulary, grammar, and reading (CLBR 080), reading and writing (CLBR 090), and academic speaking skills (CLBR 091) essential for success in their disciplines. Transfer and graduate students with TOEFL scores ranging from 190/520/68 to 210/547/77 (inclusive) are required to take the Academic Vocabulary and Grammar course (CLBR 080) before they can enroll in Advanced Academic Writing (CLBR 090). The course work for transfer and graduate students concentrates on American academic culture and specific preparation for requirements at Seattle University. Undergraduate business majors and graduate students enrolled in the Albers School of Business attend a supplemental course in conjunction with a five-credit-hour class, Management 280. These students are required to take Advanced Academic Discourse (CLBR 091) during their first quarter at Seattle University and have the option of taking Advanced Academic Writing (CLBR 090) in the same or the subsequent quarter.

The Program Schedule

The program is offered during the fall, winter, and spring quarters. Courses are not offered in the summer.

Admission Requirements (Policy 76-10)

All non-native speakers of English whose TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) score (or a MELAB/IELTS equivalent) is between 227/567/87 and 233/577/91 (inclusive) are required to take the Placement Essay Test upon their arrival at Seattle University. Students are supported by the Culture and Language Bridge Program when their writing skills as demonstrated on the Placement Essay Test, combined with their English proficiency scores at admission, indicate that their academic success at Seattle University requires it.

Placement Essay Test

The purpose of the Placement Essay Test is to allow students an opportunity to demonstrate the quality of their writing. Placement Essay Tests are evaluated by the university faculty and the staff of the Culture and Language Bridge Program based on such considerations as language fluency, rhetorical development, logical organization, and sentence structure.

Students whose writing skills require additional improvement need to take courses in the Culture and Language Bridge Program. If students' writing in English appears to be in need of substantial work, they may be required to enroll in Academic Reading and Writing (CLBR 087) and the CLB section of Basic Writing (English 101). Moderate writing skills, as determined by the essay evaluators, require students to take the Basic Writing course (English 101 CLB section). On the other hand, students whose writing abilities are deemed sufficient for success in their academic studies do not need to enroll in the program.

Students whose TOEFL scores are 237/580/92 or above are not expected to take the Placement Essay Test or enroll in the Culture and Language Bridge Program. However, they have the option of taking classes in the program if they choose to.

Program Requirements

In the Culture and Language Bridge Program, students' work is evaluated with the goal of preparing non-native speakers for success in their studies at Seattle University. In keeping with this objective, the grading of the CLB section of English 101 follows the university grading system. All other courses required in the CLB program are graded on a pass/fail basis, although a letter grade will appear on the student's permanent record. A grade of C or above is considered to be passing. Grades below C are considered to be failing and demand a repetition of the course. Successful completion of English 101 allows undergraduate students to earn five elective credits toward their graduation. All other required CLB courses, however, are not applicable toward graduation requirements.

Objectives

The Seattle University Education Abroad Office seeks to facilitate intellectual and intercultural experiences that contribute to students' lives of leadership and service in the Jesuit tradition.

While participation in any particular study abroad program is neither a requirement nor an entitlement of a Seattle University degree, several choices of major or scholarship programs require some kind of international experience.

For a list of eligible programs and current policy governing study abroad participation during any quarter at Seattle University, please consult with the Education Abroad Office or website: www.seattleu.edu/studyabroad. Applicants to SU sponsored, SU approved and non-SU study abroad programs must seek university approval and file required paperwork with the Education Abroad Office. Eligibility generally includes good academic standing, a clear conduct record and permission of the major advisor. Several programs have additional eligibility requirements. The university will not approve participation in study abroad in countries for which the United States Department of State has issued a Travel Warning.

Several graduate programs offer faculty directed programs each summer. Please consult with the Education Abroad website for more information: www.seattleu.edu/studyabroad.
