Practice Starts For Drama Club Fall Production

By HELEN HOOLAHAN

December 13 may sound rather far away, but plans are already underway for the Drama Guild's first production of the year. Mrs. Emmett Egan, known to SU students for her direction of last year's presentations, announces that this initial play will be the well-known comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace." It will run December 13, 14 and 15 at the Woman's Century Theatre, located at Harvard and Roy Street.

The cast of fourteen includes:

Abby Brewster.....Sue Simpson
Rev. Dr. Harper.....Jim Harrison
Teddy Brewster.....Loren Christenson
Officer Brophy.....Layton Uncapher
Officer Klein.....Mike McCarthy
Martha Brewster.....Sally Frannette
Elaine Harper.....Julie Balfé
Mortimer Brewster.....Steve Allen
Mr. Gibbs.....Dick Flaherty
Jonathan Brewster.....Rod Pearle
Dr. Einstein.....Art LaFleur
Officer O'Hara.....Jack Sullivan
Lieutenant Rooney.....Phil Shannon
Mr. Witherspoon.....Joe Reed

The play itself is a farce which involves two "old-maid" aunts who run a boarding house, and their "idiot" brother. Their fancy, it seems, is to poison their roomers with "just a shot" of their potent elderberry wine. Without giving the plot away, it should be said that an amazing conflict which arises in the play keeps the audience guessing until the surprise climax.

Ron Cass, production manager, is assisted by Lighting Director Bob Larson and Stage Manager John Condon. Also helping him are Marcia Dodson, make-up, and Pat Ivers, costumes.

nish music for dancing from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30 p.m. Programs may be obtained at the information booth in the LA Building. Admission will be $2.50 per couple.

An annual event, the first girl-ask-boy affair is the project of Silver Scroll pledges. Co-chairmen are Phyllis Carver and Jolene LaCamera; publicity chairmen are Mary Moe and Lois Voelker; program chairmen are Jean Sorger and Sharon Swift. The seventh pledge is Marilyn Steckler, who has charge of the bulletin boards

Although the dance features the theme of Al Capp's comic strip, "Little Abner," it does not follow the mode of dress. This is semi-formal, with girls wearing cocktail dresses and the boys in suits. Corsets are not required. New pledges will be presented at intermission.

Engineers Tell Club Purpose; Future Agenda

John G. Ward, Engineering Club president, announces that the next meeting of the club will be held next Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m. Location of the meeting in either the Student Lounge or in Buhr Hall will be announced on posters throughout the school.

Program for the night includes a talk on Electrical Engineering and also selection of committees for the annual Engineer-sponsored "Cement Mixer."

All engineer majors are automatically members of the club and are expected to attend.

Meetings are held once a month with movies or speakers and a question period on the agenda. It has been pointed out by Bob Killian, vice president, that one of the club's main functions is to help underclassmen select the engineering branch in which they will specialize.

As a further incentive for attendance, all engineering professors under mutual agreement with the club will assign no homework on nights of meetings.

Other officers of the club are: Duane Greer, treasurer; Lloyd Wolfe, secretary; and Louie Baumeister, sergeant-at-arms.

Campus Clears Assigned Goal By 1 Per Cent

With a final push, Seattle University topped its goal in the United Good Neighbors drive with donations totaling $1,721.99. At the wind-up luncheon, only two other units reported reaching their goals.

Professor Charles LaCugna, chairman of the SU drive, stated, "Seattle University is conscious of the role that charity plays in society. Consequently, we are more than happy to express in concrete terms the dictum of Christ: 'A cup of cold water given in my name will not go without reward.'"

The grand total was amassed through:

ASSU contribution	$472.00
Frosh Mixer	270.00
Class Collections	302.18
Wishing Well	6.70
Faculty and Offices	671.11

Totem Club and Spurs donations, added in the above figures, totaled $25.00 and $11.00 respectively.

Since the initial goal was $1,714.00, the final percentage reached 101%.

ASSU President Darrell Brittain expressed, "The fine display of school and civic spirit in topping our goal is a credit to those who organized the drive and to those who contributed so generously."

Sociology Text By A. Yourglich Released Soon

By AUDREY BAILEY

Two years ago Miss Anita Yourglich, assistant professor of the Sociology Department, started compiling data for a textbook to be used by sociology students. Today this book is being released in Washington, D.C.

Miss Yourglich's "Dynamics of Social Interaction" covers approximately 200 pages of an orientation for beginners to the general field of sociology. Her basic purpose for writing such a text is to present to the student the connection between personality, society, and culture. With this new release, the young professor has aimed at giving the students an advantage through a text understandable to their intellect.

Today's release, however, is not the extent of Miss Yourglich's research in the sociological field. The "American Catholic Sociological Review" has recently published a study she compiled on the "Inconsistency of Career-Goals" that was conducted in a group of nursing students. Waiting publication in the "Journal of Educational Research" is an article written by her on the comparison of student's and teacher's concepts of the "Ideal Student and Ideal Teacher."

At present Miss Yourglich is compiling a textbook of educational sociology. She has completed the first draft of this project, and expects to finish it in one year.

Homecoming Activities Chairmen Announced

By VERLAINE THON

Plans for Seattle University's 1955 Homecoming celebration are now under way. This year commemorates the 50th anniversary of Homecoming festivities.

Charged with the job of selecting committees and coordinating the affair are Co-chairmen Mary Gay McKae and Don Navoni. Chosen by ASSU president and a faculty advisory board, they were approved by the Assembly Board.

Various Homecoming committees, their duties and chairmen are listed below: Business Manager Jack Sullivan handles all business and financial duties. Game Chairmen Eddie Hyde and Ron Cass will introduce the court at the Homecoming Game. Publicity-on-Campus chairmen Jim Sabol and Sue Milnor have charge of all campus posters and signs. Their job is to encourage student participation in Homecoming functions.

Publicity - Off - Campus will be managed by John Duyungan and Mike Weber. Open House heads Bernie Schmidt, Sy Simon and Pat Kelly are taking care of Open House displays, signs and stunts. Court chairman Margie Baker has charge of details concerning the royal court. Virginia Schuck and Paul Rierson are chairmen of Elections Committee which handles the election of the queen and princesses.

Decorations Chairmen Dick Clayberg and Ann O'Donnell take care of carrying out the Homecoming theme in Ball decorations. Programs and invitations will be handled by Maureen McCormick and Shirley Shivers.

Committee heads held their first meeting Tuesday, Nov. 2. Topics discussed included class election of candidates for the Homecoming Court. "Everyone is urged to attend their next class meeting," stated Mary Gay, "since Homecoming nominations will be held at that time."

Annual highlights of the celebration are: January 26, student body meeting and introduction of Royal Court, and club open house; January 27, Annual Coronation Ball; January 28, Homecoming Game, Chieftains vs. Loyola of Los Angeles - President's Holiday; January 29, Alumni Ball.

Committee members will be selected from the activity questionnaire filled out by students at registration. "All interested should see the heads of the respective committees," urged Don Navoni, "and with the cooperation of all, we promise that this Golden Anniversary Homecoming will outlive all past and future celebrations."

Boys' Town Choir Performance Scheduled November 10 at Civic

By MARY HARRIS

Nationally famed Boys' Town Choir of Father Flanagan's Boys' Town will present a concert at the Civic Auditorium November 10. Seattle University Spurs will usher at the event at the request of the sponsoring Assembly Club.

A varied program will be offered in the Wednesday night performance. Sixteenth Century music of Palestrina will be sung by the 55 youngsters comprising the choir group. Also scheduled are folk melodies of other lands. Songs of Richard Strauss, George Gershwin, and Jerome Kern will add a modern touch.

The choir has toured the United States from New York to California at various times throughout the past eight years. Although the group has done such extensive traveling, this will be their premiere performance in the Pacific Northwest.

The Boys' Town Choir is presented by the Assembly Club. This organization is a men's service group interested in finding foster homes for the needy Catholic children of the area.

The Very Rev. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., president of Seattle University, has mentioned that the school will sponsor a television appearance of the Nebraska Choir group if such an arrangement can be made. A special women's committee for the concert is being organized by Miss Alberta Beeson, a member of the faculty.

For the convenience of the students, tickets may be obtained at Seattle University. They may also be purchased at Sherman Clay.

General admission will be $1.00, with reserved seats at $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50.

Since the day following Nov. 10 is Armistice Day, a holiday, the Assembly Club feels many students who might otherwise be unable to attend on a week night will be interested in the event.

SU Directory To Leave Press November Ninth

Looking for a phone number, address or name? Look no further than Who's Who. The IK-sponsored publication goes on sale next Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Who's Who contains a complete listing of students at Seattle University. The campus directory is compiled and published by Intercollegiate Knights. Bob Denini and Tom Mahoney, co-chairmen for Who's Who, announced several new additions to this year's book. First is a listing of the Religious faculty. Secondly, there is a "personal directory" on the front page to furnish space for special phone numbers.

Cover design was drawn by Joan Baily, freshman art scholarship winner. This maroon and white cover is printed in "reverse cut." According to Bob Denini, "This gives a different and interesting type of print."

Who's Who sells for thirty-five cents. It may be bought from IKs beginning Tuesday.

M. STECKLER

We of the SPECTATOR would like to express our sincere condolences to Father Lemieux on the death of his mother last Sunday, Oct. 31. We are all aware of the part a mother plays in the formation of her son's character. History is full of examples where a mother's love and guidance helped her son to greater heights. We also know the sorrow in the death of a mother. Masses for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Lemieux will be celebrated at 7, 7:30 and 8 a.m. Friday in the campus chapel. All students are urged to attend and to offer their prayers and good works for this intention.

Isn't it amazing? Here we are half-finished with fall quarter, 1954. It takes nothing more than a glance through the Chieftain to tell that we are in mid-quarters. Here and there are tiny knots of individuals with worried looks on their otherwise congenial faces. Sleepy eyes, foggy voices and feverish cramming all seem part of exam time at any school. In fact, during mid-quarter time (no, that's not a new dance) more resolutions are made than at the coming of the New Year. Everyone promises himself to study harder, play less and turn over a shiny new leaf. Then what happens? Well, maybe you're an exception, but we generally forget all our good intentions the minute exams are over. We keep forgetting that the only way to make good grades is to keep chipping away at the ol' rock. Term papers usually take quite awhile—spread that "while" across a few weeks and it will hardly be felt. Besides, when we skip classes and conveniently forget our assignments, it's money out of our pockets. A 15-hour course at $85 a quarter costs us about 63¢ per class. The money is well-invested, but how many of us are throwing away the profits?

Where would we be without books? Some might laughingly think of quite a few places, but then, we do have books. There are some who do not. The need for educational books in the Philippine Islands is great. To help allay it, the Consulate here in Seattle is asking for any hard-bound books of an educational nature. This includes both school books from kindergarten to university level and also educational novels. In order to provide SU students an opportunity to help out, A Phi O, campus service organization, is sponsoring a book drive here on campus. Boxes will be placed in the Chieftain cafeteria and at the Information Booth each school morning until November 12, 1954. Those who cannot bring the books to school may contact Bob Ellis. We all must certainly have a few books lying around and collecting dust. These may be the spark that is needed to help spread knowledge of our faith and of our nation. If we're not using them, why not let someone else? Why be stingy?

President's Corner

During the year a president is often sent to conventions where delegates resolve this or resolve that to no avail. Generally, presidents feel that they are wasting money by attending such conventions.

I just returned from a convention of college unions which succeeded in abolishing the passing of resolution upon resolution. Let it be stated that much more was gained by doing this than if they had done otherwise. It was because of this that the region's 11th convention was unique.

It is my opinion that the delegates attending this meeting represented the "tops" in college students. In my estimation they are the most unselfish and the friendliest people that I have had the pleasure of dealing with. Beneficial suggestions were as graciously accepted as they were proffered.

Today with so many people unsuccessfully trying to meet on a common ground, it was enlightening to see over 100 students assembled at this convention. Numerous races, creeds and religions joined forces, forgetting existing barriers. This convention proved that it is still possible for people to meet for the common good.

I am left with but two regrets. The first was that it was impossible for every student at Seattle University to be present at Whitman College—to partake in the discussions, to meet the interesting people there and to realize how fortunate we are at Seattle University. The second regret lies in the fact that I am not a Junior so that I might be able to pass on the ideas that I have gained from this convention.

It gives me pleasure to be able to write this article telling you, the students, my impression of this experience. Also may be added the fact that the student of SU were well spoken of and for many reasons. The primary one being the faculty-student relationship, which is of the highest calibre. Secondly, the student body structure is one of the most efficient and successful of any college.

Sincerely,

DARRELL BRITAIN, ASSU President.

NOTES off the cuff JIM PLASTINO

Last Friday we witnessed one of the spiciest events ever to occur on this campus. We are referring to the red-hot political fight between United States Senator Henry Jackson and State Attorney General Don Eastvold.

Eastvold, a Republican, and Jackson, a Democrat, were hurling claims and objections at each other almost from the outset of the speeches. A hectic final rebuttal period saw both men red-faced from the fury of the heated arguments.

Over 150 spectators crowded into the SU lounge for the affair. Few of them had expected to see the three-ring circus that Eastvold and Jackson staged. Both men were quite serious about the whole thing, but most of the audience was quite amused by the battle.

Both Senator Jackson and Attorney General Eastvold are to be congratulated on their fine showing under the pressure of opposition. With men like these in office, the state of Washington need never fear for want of adequate leadership.

We ran into Mu Sigma's publicity director, Jean Sorger, the other day and got to talking about the forthcoming Variety Show. Jean informs us that the show has been named "Kaleidoscope."

Now we think that this is a pretty big name for the show, and we also think that a lot of people don't know what it means. So we asked for some kind of definition.

Well, according to Jean, "Kaleidoscope" is to be exactly what the name implies—ever changing, but always entertaining. To clarify things a bit, a kaleidoscope is one of those telescopes that changes patterns when you turn it around in your hands.

So now you can see the reason for the name of this year's variety show.

Attention:

To the chairmen of all student events and the presidents of all student organizations:

Your attention is desired concerning the requirement that a Publicity Request must first be submitted before any student event may be publicized. Please make note of the following points:

1. The regulation has been posted on the ASSU bulletin board.
2. The blank forms are now in the ASSU office.
3. The form is self-explanatory.
4. There is a basket in the ASSU office for submitting the request.
5. The approved request may be picked up at the switchboard in the student mail 25 hours after it has been submitted.

Your cooperation in this matter will be deeply appreciated.

ASSU Publicity Director
 JIM GRIFFITH,

Contents of this column do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the editors. Letters must be signed but names will be withheld upon request.

Incidentally, the show is set for December 3 and 4, and enthusiasm among the cast is running at an all-time high. This corner will be eagerly awaiting the performance of Francis Aranyi's student orchestra. If, at the Variety Show, they live up to their advance notices, it shouldn't be too long before SU can stage a full-fledged opera.

All of us like to talk about our rights and privileges as students of a university. More than this, we take a certain amount of pride in being able to criticize our student leaders, on occasion.

This is all fine and well. But when students fail in their obligation to vote, they forfeit their privileges of complaint and criticism.

Last week there was a run-off election for the Junior Class presidency. According to official figures, 36 Juniors voted. Now isn't that an impressive figure!

Perhaps the other ninety per cent are just not concerned with student activities at Seattle University.

There have been persistent rumors lately which say, in effect, that mixers are on the way out at SU.

We do not want to take sides on the issue nor can we vouch for the validity of these rumors. But nevertheless, we feel that there is some substance to this talk.

For one thing, attendance is starting to drop at the mixers. Secondly, there has been a noticeable absence of enthusiasm concerning them.

Perhaps it would be well to substitute a few date dances in place of the many mixers we have at SU each year. It's a thought, anyway.

Speaking of mixers, A Phi O will sponsor "Music by Request" next Wednesday night. This is a rather unusual dance inasmuch as the only music played will be that requested by those attending.

This would be an excellent opportunity to put the mixers back on their feet. It's up to you.

—"Thirty"—

Assembly Bd. To Discuss:

• MARY MOE

All students are cordially invited to the second meeting of the Assembly Board scheduled for this coming Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Purpose of this article is to familiarize the students with the major issues on hand. This will enable those interested to attend the meetings and present any pertinent information they may have.

One of the main points on the agenda is the drinking situation at school dances. Due to the conduct at the Frosh-Soph Dance it was decided that an immediate remedy was imperative. In their last meeting, the board passed a motion providing that every club on campus having a dance, require the presence of three lay faculty members and at least one Jesuit faculty member. During the next session, members of the faculty will attend this meeting in order to bring about a solution to this problem.

Carried over from last meeting, the question concerning the transfer of class elections to spring quarter will also be discussed. It was stated that if these elections be held at the same time as ASSU elections, a greater interest will be shown in them.

Another issue that was brought up was the appointing of the Homecoming co-chairmen, also in the spring. The advantages of such a plan will be to alleviate the problem of trying to locate a suitable ballroom for the dance. Also mentioned was the fact that this will give the two chairmen four additional months in which they may plan other events.

The point on club charters never being given out last year was also introduced in the Assembly Board's first session. Due to lack of sufficient time the issue was tabled. Further discussion on it will take place Tuesday.

Is That So!

At Sunday school a little girl was asked the question: "Who made you?"

"Well," she replied, after much thought, "God started me off, but I grew the rest of the way myself."

The Man in the Dog House

• JIM SABOL

It was reportedly remarked by that great ancient Greek philosopher and scholar, Harry Stottle, that the best formula for a good speech (or column) is to get a good beginning, a good ending, then put them as close together as possible. Which is darn good advice so we have no intention of heeding it here.

Back in the days when this column was not FOOBAR (fouled up beyond all repair), we used to try to report on stuff and things around school instead of running off on all sorts of thoroughly unrelated and irrelevant subject matter that nobody cares about, like that first paragraph for instance. And so it is that with a fanfare of squirted banana juice (I never do know when to stop on that word!) and pomegranate seeds spit on a tin roof, we—say, do you know that pomegranate seeds dyed blue make excellent seeds for seedless blue pomegranates? (We have to get that in here at least once a year.) Where was I? Oh yes, since my grades are also FOOBAR (incidentally, even though this column is noted for its complete and utter lack of respect for laws against plagiarism—stolen from only the best sources, though—our conscience tells us that we must admit FOOBAR was copyrighted by Al Cummings), we have decided in all fearlessness to malign this week the heretofore unsullied names of teachers. We never mean to malign, but it always happens that way. Somebody would think this stuff has double meanings.

Anyway, Father O'Callahan is first on my list: Father divides people into two categories—the "counters" and the "thinkers." The counters are those who snow you under with fact after impressive fact. They can reel off vast amounts of statistical data; can regale you with figures for everything from ice cubes in Iceland to the latest stock market quotations—but with hardly an original thought or idea of their own. The thinkers, on the other hand, are concerned with not cold facts, but with the whys, the hows, and wherefores of things—in short, the philosophers. Are YOU a counter or a thinker? As for this department—well, 1760, 1761, 1762 . . .

The next words of wisdom are Miss Beeson's, who says that people are fine as far as they go but, like doughnuts—no matter how perfect, they still have one little inherent flaw: the hole in the doughnut and original sin in man.

Last, Father McGoldrick's beaming "Good morning, fair ladies, brave men, and those asleep under the benches!" reminds me (for no good reason) of the communist underground agent who always began his meetings thus: "Fellow comrades and undercover agents of the F.B.I. . . !"

Go ahead, misconstrue something, I dare you.

Civic Opera Association Plans English FAUST Performance

By GERRIE KUMHERA

Faust, one of the better-known and more popular operas, will be performed for Seattle audiences this Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 5 and 6, under the auspices of the Seattle Civic Opera Association. This presentation of Gounod's ever-popular tale of man versus the devil will undoubtedly offer a combination of splendid acting and exquisite music.

Dr. Stanley Chapple, director of University of Washington Music School, will conduct the performances in English with a cast of talented local singers. Richard McComb (tenor) will take the role of Faust, a weary and disappointed old man, who signs a contract with the devil in return for the pleasures of youth and love. In spite of his ability to become young again, Faust is doomed to the tragic ending of a soul belonging to the devil.

Mephistopheles, the devil, will be sung by August Werner. Other important characters are Joy Rankin as Marguerite, the beautiful girl, who with Faust, supplies the romantic interest; Tani Bjornson as Valentine, the heroine's brother; Dorothy Cole as Martha, Marguerite's companion; Carol Wolf as Siebel, and William Goleeke as Wagner.

"Once There Lived a King in Thule," "Jewel," and the lover's duet, "Forever Thine," are among the favorite songs contained in the tragic opera.

Performance of Faust will be presented both nights at the Palomar Theatre, with all seats reserved and tickets at $1.50, $2.50, and $3.00. Curtain time is 8:15.

Hiyu Hikers Slate Tramp This Sunday

Lake Melawka in Alpine Valley will be the destination for next Sunday's Hiyu Coolee hike. For a distance of 2½ miles and a climb of 2,000 feet, hikers will have a time to remember for a long while.

Vans will leave at 9 a.m. from the north end of the LA Building and return around 7 p.m. There is a $1.00 fee to cover the cost of transportation, and hikers are advised to bring a trail lunch, heavy shoes, boots or rubbers in expectation of foul weather. According to one hiker, "The countryside is very beautiful at this time of the year and would be of special interest to camera fans."

Those interested may sign the paper on the first floor bulletin board in the LA Building. This is only to estimate transportation needed.

Melvyn Douglas Plays Star Role In New Comedy

By MARY MOE

According to a recent release from the Metropolitan Theatre, Melvyn Douglas is now playing in one of the most lovable roles of his remarkable career. "Time Out for Ginger," rollicking new comedy by Ronald Alexander, begins its seven day engagement Monday, Nov. 8. Special matinee performances have been scheduled for Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday.

One of Hollywood's most sought-after leading men, Mr. Douglas has often played the role of a much-pursued and also pursuing male. Among such fair damsels who did the pursuing may be counted Joan Crawford, Ann Southern, Norma Shearer, and Greta Garbo.

Now in "Time Out for Ginger" he copes with a new sort of problem. Undeniably, his leading ladies presented problems, but they were just child's play compared to the hilariously funny situation in which the females in this new play involve him. In his comedy, Mr. Douglas is the father of three adolescent and rather precocious young ladies who want, not only to lead their own lives, but to lead fathers, too.

Presented by Shepard Traube, "Time Out for Ginger" is but one of the many productions of this young director. He may be remembered for his superlative handling of such plays as "Angel Street," "The Patriots" and "Winter Soldiers." Mr. Traube was also influential in bringing such actresses as Rosalind Russell and Joan Bennett back to the theatre. He may also be credited with being the only director in the American theatre to have been voted in the "Variety" poll as the best director for two consecutive seasons.

The supporting cast includes: Edith Atwater, Laura Pierpont, Philip Loeb and many others. The whimsical Nancy Malone portrays the role of the irresistible Ginger, one of the funniest roles of the past decade.

Two Oklahoma Stars Boost Papoose Hopes

By HUGH FERGUSON

The hopes of Seattle University's Freshman basketball team took a definite jump when the enrollment of two Oklahoma All-Staters was announced. They are Truman Williams from Booker T. Washington High School and Ray Worley from St. Monica's High School, both located at Tulsa.

Hailed as Oklahoma's leading high school athletes of the year, their past records speak of the great potential bound to burst forth in the coming casaba season.

Truman, a very quiet methodical ball player, is the answer to a coach's dream of a smooth unperturbable player who is capable of complete mastery of any situation. He shoots well with either hand, plays the boards like a Sanford brother, and handles the ball like another Andy Johnson, the former Portland U great. Truman, who carries 180 pounds on his six-foot, three-inch frame, has all the physical capabilities to be a real asset to the team.

A four-sport man in high school, Williams wasn't satisfied with being All-State in just basketball, so he made the All-State football squad too. Besides these two sports he played baseball and broad-jumped on the track team.

"Big Tru," who averaged 26 points a game last year, plans to major in PE with the idea of coaching some day.

Ray Worley, the other half of this talented duo, is another four-

Highlights of the last week's game between Loyola and the Rinky Dinks: Loyola cut first blood by scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter. The Rinky Dinks moved into the scoring column on Pat Brady's beautiful 65-yard dash for the Rinky Dink's first td. Don Cain flipped Dave Bone another pass in the end zone tying the score at 12 to 12. Making both try-for-points, the Rinky Dinks pulled ahead 14-12.

Then, late in the fourth quarter, preceded by a sustained drive, Loyola put over the winning touchdown and the game ended with the score 18-14 in favor of Loyola.

Bill's Boys opened their schedule when they submerged the Ground Hogs 41 to 7.

Last Thursday saw the Egyptians top the Green Rocks 27 to 13. To set up the first score of the ball game, big Gary Schaab flipped a 40-yard pass to Jim Owens. A five-yard bullet pass brought six points for the Egyptians. Green Rocks scored next, tying the score 6-6. Schaab scored on a center smash and converted to make it 13-6. The Green Rocks scored again a few plays later to tie it up. Davis tallied for the Egyptians with a 40-yard pass and Schaab scored again, ending the game with the Egyptians on the long end of a 27-to-13 score.

Lucky Strikes Lead Bowlers

By FRANK PIRO

The Seattle University bowling teams opened season play last week with Paul Kay's Lucky Strikes jumping to the front of the pack with an enviable mark of eight victories and no defeats. Closely following the front runners were the Alley Cats, who registered six-and-a-half wins against one-and-a-half setbacks.

On the individual scene, it was Marilyn Gropper again pacing the ladies, and George Crispin taking the lead in the male division. Miss Gropper holds an individual game average of 134 for the season, with Marilyn Gedda holding down second spot with a score of 130. Other leaders in the women's division are Pat Francine with 128, and Mary Lane with 126.

Miss Francine, a newcomer to SU bowling, surprised everyone last week with her individual high of 173. Crispin's individual average of 169 is tops for the men this season, with Leo Fergel, Roy Forud, and Paul Kay following with average scores of 168, 166, and 153, respectively.

Brightman Opens Drills; Optimistic Over Season

By AL KREBS

While most of Seattle was looking over the early election returns last Tuesday, Al Brightman was looking over his early prospects for the 1954-1955 Chieftain basketball squad.

Nine lettermen, four men from last year's frosh, and two new men comprise the fifteen players who turned out for this season's initial practice.

Most of the first day's activities were confined to short drills in fundamentals. Brightman claims that the squad as a whole is in good physical condition and will be ready for their first inter-squad game sometime next week.

Among the lettermen who spearhead the squad this year are Cal Bauer, Stan Glowaski, Tommy Cox, John Kelly, Larry Sanford, Bob Malone, Bob Godes, Al Giles and Jack Hoskins.

Up from last year's Papoose team, is 6-ft. 6-in. Dick Stricklin, who smashed several of Johnny O'Brien's freshman records, Bill Bigley, Gary Miller and Bob Martin.

Along with these is Jerry Vaughan and Ken Fuhrer, Vaughan being a letterman on the 1951-1952 Chieftain team who is returning after serving two years in the Army. Fuhrer is the highly touted transfer prospect from Olympic College, who figures to greatly bolster this year's squad.

Brightman seemed highly pleased with this season's prospects and figures that after a full month of workouts the teams should be in top condition for their season opener against Western Washington on December 4 in Bellingham.

Analyzing the squad, the 31-year-old mentor commented "that among the players showing the most improvement over last year are Stan Glowaski, Larry Sanford, and Bob Godes."

He also added, "This boy Vaughan has vastly improved over what he was when he left here, and after he once gets into condition should help us out a lot."

Like most coaches before the season's start, Seattle U's coach was reluctant to go out on a limb in predicting the outcome of the season but did concede that this team could compile a record comparable to that of last year's Chieftain squad.

IN THE BASKET—In case you missed the final figures on last year's campaign, here they are. While rolling up 26 wins against two losses, the Chiefs scored 2,276 points against their opponents' 1,843. This averages out to 81.29 points per game for the local five against 65.48 for the opposition. . . A real bargain in season tickets for this season can be had at the Seattle U gym office, Central Ticket Office, and Sherman Clay. . . Two season tickets for just $25.00 or one for the price of $15.00. . . Last year's season ticket holders are reminded that they can purchase their same seats they held last year by ordering their tickets now at any of the above-named agencies. . . Noticeably missing from this year's squad is Emmett Casey, who quit school to enter the Jesuit Novitiate in Sheridan, Ore.
