Martin Announces New Parking Rules

A further alleviation of the parking problem was announced today by Bob Martin, ASSU president. Following a request to the Department of Engineering of the City of Seattle, the below changes are now in effect in the vicinity of Seattle University:

1. Replace one-hour limit on the west side of 12th Ave. between E. Columbia St. and E. Spring St.
2. Adjusted meters to operate at one nickel for one hour of parking or four nickels for four hours of parking at the following locations: South side of Madison St.—Boylston to Broadway; north side of Marion St.—Boylston to Broadway; both sides of Boylston Ave.—Madison Ave. to Broadway.

Meters on the south side of Marion St. between Boylston Ave. and Broadway will operate from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Meters changed to 4-hour operation at other locations will operate from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. This change in meter operation and in time limit of parking is experimental in nature and may be extended or eliminated as studies of the operation indicate.

Pedestrian crosswalks have also been painted.

sized. If we succeed in filling the stadium to capacity, the rally will be the most impressive manifestation of faith and devotion on the part of our Catholic people ever to occur in the entire Northwest. It will be a public display of the generous affection of our people for our Blessed Lady as well as an outstanding indication of the unity and solidarity of the Church here. Every Catholic worthy of the name has a date with the Blessed Mother of God on Sunday, Oct. 28, at 3 p.m. at the University of Washington Stadium, RAIN OR SHINE."

The highlight of the rally at the UW Stadium will be the formation of a "living rosary" by young men and women from the city's Catholic high schools, symbolizing the beads of the rosary. Although officially under the auspices of the Catholic Church, the rally is open to all, irrespective of creed.

Seattle University's ROTC cadets and Spurs will be taking an official part in a processional consisting of various Catholic organizations into the stadium at the start of the rally.

Rev. Patrick Peyton, C.S.C., orig-

During intermission, the pledge class of A Phi O will hold a drawing. According to Chairman Sam Brown, "a 'biffy' bear and three hound dogs" will be awarded to the lucky ticket holders. The proceeds will finance the club's float in the pep rally parade at the start of the basketball season.

Co-chairmen of "Karbon Kopy" are Anne Gribbon and Jerry O'Connell. Handling publicity are Pat Lough and Ray Bergmann. Judy Bollinger and Joan Petri are

15-Piece Band on Campus Thursday

Programs are now on sale in the Chieftain at the price of $2.50 per couple.

inator of the well-known phrase, "The Family That Prays Together — Stays Together," is bringing his Family Prayer Crusade to Seattle on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28, beginning at 3 p.m. in the University of Washington football stadium.

This program is under the auspices of the Most Rev. Thomas A. Connolly, Archbishop of Seattle, who has expressly extended an invitation to all SU students, lay and religious faculty, to attend this momentous rally.

The organizational work for the Crusade in Seattle's Archdiocese began on September 30 with the goal to obtain a pledge from every Catholic in the Archdiocese to recite the rosary daily to "obtain peace for the nations of the world and the love and protection of God and Mary."

Archbishop Connolly in stressing the importance of this rally had this to say, "Considering the number of Catholics in the Seattle area and the size of the University Stadium, this Rosary Crusade Rally presents a genuine test and challenge to us, the importance of which can scarcely be over-empha-

Spiritual Retreat Scheduled For Students Oct. 29, 30, 31

The annual retreat for Seattle University students will be held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 29, 30 and 31.

This retreat, which is required of all Seattle University students, consists of three conferences each day, starting at 9 a.m. and continuing until 12 noon.

'See Europe' Invites SU Tour Leaders

Plans are currently under way for a summer tour of Europe especially for SU students and others of university age. Under consideration are two possible tours. One, headed by Father Francis Logan, S.J., for men, which would cover major European countries with special emphasis on points of interest to Catholics and specifically to Jesuit historical sites.

The other, a mixed tour of men and women, is being promoted by Bob Harmon, Evening Division director, for the summer of 1957 or 1958.

Any student interested in either of these tours is asked to contact either Mr. Harmon or Fr. Logan as soon as possible.

Fr. Logan will be in the Chieftain Lounge on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25 and 26, to interview and discuss the proposed tour with interested men students. An article written by Fr. Logan appears on Page 6 of the Spectator further explaining the European trip.

As in past years, it will be divided into three parts, Catholic men students, Catholic women students, and all non-Catholic students, with each division having a separate meeting place.

The Catholic men's retreat will be split into two groups this year: Freshman and Sophomore men attending Immaculate Conception Church, Junior and Senior men going to St. Joseph's Church as in previous years.

Rev. Joseph Grady, S.J., director of the retreat house at Mt. St. Michael and also director of the Apostleship of Prayer, will conduct the retreat at Immaculate Conception.

The retreat at St. Joseph's will be preached by Rev. John Dalgity, S.J., a well-known retreat master in the Northwest. St. Joseph's Church is located at 18th Ave. No. and E. Aloha St.; Immaculate Conception is at 820 - 18th Avenue.

St. James Cathedral, at Ninth and Marion, will host the women's retreat, with Rev. Richard Bradley, S.J., as retreat master. Father Bradley is assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Parish and superior of Marquette High School in Yakima, Wash.

Non-Catholics Retreat

The retreat for non-Catholics will be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 722 E. Union. Rev. Thomas Sexton, S.J., of Loyola Retreat House, will conduct this section.

Rev. Louis Sauvain, S.J., student chaplain, emphasized: "Students are reminded that this is not a three-day holiday, but a time for prayer and self-analysis for all those who have not yet had an opportunity to make a retreat this year. The obligation to attend the conferences holds the same as the obligation to attend regular classes, with severe penalties applying to those who evade their responsibilities."

AEGIS

Junior, Sophomore and Freshman pictures will be taken for the AEGIS on November 5, 6 and 8 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the third floor lounge of the LA building. Men are requested to wear suits.

Judicial Board Positions Open

Chief Justice Warren Barnebey has announced the need of four more members for the Judicial Board. The call is for three sophomores and one junior who would be willing to serve as a member of this service board.

The purpose of the Judicial Board is to settle differences concerning the school constitution and amend it if necessary. Those seeking membership on the board may turn in their applications to the ASSU office any time before Monday, Oct. 29.

UGN Drive Raises 145%; Faculty Wins the Trophy

All the record books were being re-written today after the announcement by the United Good Neighbors Committee that Seattle U has ended its drive with 145% of the original goal.

The quota set at the beginning of the campaign was $2,088. The report submitted at the student body meeting this morning revealed that the school has raised a whopping $3,018.18.

This year's drive broke every existing UGN record on campus.

The big prize — the UGN Trophy — was awarded to the faculty, who climbed to 148% of their goal. The students had 141%.

"The faculty greatly surpassed all expectations," smiled Mr. Robert Larson, Faculty Chairman. "Certainly no one was more surprised than I at the final outcome."

A total of $1,241.26 was turned in by the faculty against their goal of $835.20.

The students' goal of $1,252.80 was bettered by more than $500.00, with the final total of $1,776.92 collected.

Student Chairman Jim Plastino echoed the sentiments of the UGN staff when he commented, "I don't think anyone should feel badly about losing with the figure of 141%. We did our best, and I think the record shows it."

Chairman Plastino cited several students and organizations that were exceptionally outstanding in their efforts to make the campaign a success. Pat Dennehy, Ron Cass, Joan Bailey, Mary Ann Onorato and Cal Crow were the student leaders. Although there were many contributions from campus organizations, foremost among the drive's backers were the Art Club, Spurs, Alpha Phi Omega and Marycrest.

Defending Champion Xavier Hall has lost the coveted UGN Inter-

Hall Cup to Marycrest.

According to Mary Ann Onorato, chairman for Marycrest, the Hall surpassed its goal of $240 and raised $380.80 or 158% of its goal. The interfloor competition was won by Sarazin Hall, the second floor.

Chairman of Xavier Hall, Cal Crow accepted defeat with the final figure of $148.72, which is 114% of Xavier's goal of $130.00.

Student Chairman Jim Plastino summed up the efforts of all who participated in the UGN drive with this statement: "I know that everyone concerned was very proud of the records set by both faculty and students this year. It was, without doubt, one of SU's finest achievements."

Student chairman Jim Plastino and faculty chairman Bob Larson point to the thermometer recording the UGN drive's progress.

EDITORIAL:

A letter of thanks

Victory, wherever it is found, creates a very powerful and unique feeling. A battle won brings with it an air of happiness and a sense of satisfaction that is almost unparalleled in the realm of human emotions.

We of the United Good Neighbors Committee cannot help having a bit of that feeling today. For the second straight year our goal was surpassed and all previous records were shattered. This indeed was for us a very full and warming experience.

But, even in the midst of our highest enthusiasm over this success, we realize that the handshake of congratulations is not meant for us. It is for you, the student body. Each of you made this campaign a success; each of you have a share in this triumph.

Our UGN Committee did not contribute the $3,018 that was raised this year. You, combined with the faculty, reached down in your pockets and dug hard — harder than ever before. It was this which broke the thermometer at the top.

For this generosity, and for all of the personal effort rendered by many of the campus clubs and organizations, we thank you very much.

What is more, however, we know that your magnificent display of Christian Charity will be acknowledged in far greater degree than we are able to do here.

We are supremely confident that He Who gave us the inspiration, confidence and courage to direct this undertaking will give you the personal rewards of a great victory.

You won it for Him.

GOP REPLIES:

Letters to editor

October 22, 1956

Dear Editor:

You're looking for a Republican's response? Well here it is, maybe not in the form you anticipated.

For three weeks, I've watched with special interest the featuring and placement of the political clubs' news. I've seen the Democratic rally played up and the Republican rally barely mentioned. The YD's have managed front page space and features in the editorial section; the YR's seem to be fortunate that your staff finds a few inches on the last page for them. (In spite of bitter opposition, the Ike rally netted more than twice the audience present at the Democratic rally—no thanks to the Spec.)

For a university paper, the Spectator seems to be unreasonably one-sided. In my brief encounter with journalism, I picked up the idea that a reporter's job was to seek copy material. But to my knowledge, not a member of this paper's staff has ever sought YR news.

This reply comes late because we had hoped that by ignoring these Democratic tactics, they would cease. But we're sick of watching people being stepped on. When members of an independent (?) organization are reluctant to voice their political views because they value their position too much, isn't something drastically wrong? Perhaps I have no place in politics—or perhaps I'm tired of arguments for argument's sake, for I see no reason why a school paper should be instrumental in causing bitter opposition between students.

But if our solidly Democratic paper must continue featuring YD news on the front page, and if the Republicans must be content with page six, and if we must completely write our YR articles for you, would you at least extend us the courtesy of seeing that they are printed correctly?

Sincerely,
MAUREEN CAIN.

REVIEW:

Tonight on Channel 4

• "OAKIE" OAKSMITH

Channel - hopping during the commercial of a later-than-late show a few months back led to my introduction to a new and quite refreshing late evening viewing treat.

"Tonight," starring Steve Allen, although it is only a little over a year old to Northwest viewers, is already rated as the number one late show by the "Radio & TV Mirror" poll in this area.

In its makeup it resembles Arthur Godfrey's daytime program, owing to the fact that it comes in 15-minute portions under six different sponsors. In its context it could be said to resemble "Omni-bus," the "Ed Sullivan Show," "Person to Person" and a variety of others.

The program was introduced to the West Coast a few summers ago when Allen was in Hollywood for the filming of "The Benny Goodman Story." He had been doing the show locally in New York for NBC and in order to continue the show during the summer and also to present to the Eastern viewers some of the many entertaining innovations available in the film capital, the program then originated in the NBC studios in Hollywood.

During his stay in California, Steve had as his guests many of the stars with whom he worked in the "Benny Goodman Story," such as Buddy Rich, Teddy Wilson, Gene Krupa, Kid Orie, Donna Reed, Lionel Hampton and many others.

Informal visits with the stars have become an earmark of "Tonight." Allen, having always been a non-conformist, found an untapped source of opportunities to present the unusual that summer.

To mention but a few of his stunts, he did his opening show from Stan's Drive-In, a well-known beanery situated across the street from the NBC studios in Hollywood, staged a roller derby in the NBC parking lot, presented an entire show from the swimming pool of the Ambassador Hotel, and did another entire show on the "Trust the people. Trust their good sense, their decency, their fortitude, their faith. Trust them with the facts, trust them with the great decisions. And fix as our guiding star the passion to create a society where people can fulfill their own best selves—where no American is held down by race or color, by worldly condition or social status, from gaining what his character earns him as an American citizen, as a human being and as a child of God."

—ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
Harrisburg, Pa.,
Sept. 14, 1956.

To this philosophy I heartily subscribe and urge you to follow.

Not too long ago a record was making the rounds, entitled "You've Gotta Have Heart," and has since remained popular with many people throughout the country.

To one individual though on the Seattle U campus, the song is almost a byword, as anyone who knows Fr. Robert Rebhahn, S.J., will testify.

Being a man of many talents, Fr. Rebhahn not only serves the university as Dean of Students, Faculty Athletic Moderator, head of Xavier Hall, but also as advisor, consultant, confessor and friend to many a bedraggled student.

All the personable priest asks in return for his help and guidance, which is usually accompanied by the Rebhahn ready smile, is that a student follow his theme song and the important message contained within its lines.

"My philosophy is not to take yourself seriously but take life seriously," observed the former Seattle Prep graduate. It is noted that his spirit enabled him to star in both basketball and baseball while playing with the Panthers.

Small in stature yet determined to play with the professionals off the back tees, Fr. Rebhahn shoots in the mid and low 80's. As any intramural bowling enthusiast will testify, he is also persistent power on the alleys.

premiere of the "McConnell Story."

From its inception, "Tonight" has always featured top entertainment. All of the country's leading jazz groups, singers, dancers and comedians have appeared at one time or another on the show. It is Allen's philosophy that regardless of the type of entertainment, if the public wants it, he will feature it.

Whenever the program appears to be losing viewer interest, Allen introduces another of his now-famous television firsts. Owing to the nocturnal air of the show the guests are often much less inhibited during their chats with Allen. It was on this program that Jack Benny publicly revealed his correct age of 63 years.

Some of Allen's favorite pastimes are setting a camera outside the back door of the studio and making remarks about the pedestrians while Skitch Henderson and his orchestra play appropriate music in the background, chiding the Radio City ushers, interviewing members of the audience, and guessing the identity of baby pictures of famous celebrities.

About the only way to fully appreciate a program as fine as this is to view it first-hand and in the Northwest this can be done any evening, Monday through Friday, at 11:30 p.m. on KOMO-TV, Channel 4. See "Tonight" tomorrow!

POLITICS:

Think for yourself

• DON D. WRIGHT

One dozen days from today, the nation will elect men to the highest offices in our government, both federal and state.

Today's column therefore deals with one facet of the complex subject: Why do people vote as they do? Our specific topic is a criticism of the political philosophy, "I vote for the man."

Our guest critic today is Paul Coughlin, Seattle attorney. Mr. Coughlin received his Bachelor of Laws degree at Harvard University. He is a former state representative, former chief criminal deputy prosecutor for King County and served as attorney for the United States Department of Justice.

The following are excerpts from a talk by Mr. Coughlin on his pet peeve, "I vote for the man."

"So often of late I have heard social acquaintances say, 'I'm not a Democrat or a Republican. I vote for THE MAN, not the party.'

"Sometimes this remark is made with a slight tone of superiority. There seems to be an implication that non-partisanship is a preferable state. Occasionally the remark is made in a context suggesting that to be politically disinterested is to be somewhat higher in the social scale.

"Non-partisanship has its place. Principally, that place is in our judicial system. Excepting the courts and perhaps a few minor administrative offices, non-partisanship has no place in our American political system.

SODALITY:

• TONY AHN

From the first existence of mankind, freedom has always been interent and inalienable in the essence of human nature. Without freedom man would stagnate into a true facsimile of the brute animal. To stay free, man has fought, suffered and died. All human emotions culminate in one cry, "Give me liberty or death!"

Today, "freedom" means the right to do what we feel like doing. This is a world in which everyone is his own king. Each king will insist, "Please don't tell me what to do, it is my life and not yours."

The grandeur of this delusion shatters into an ugly reality when mankind is pitted against insurmountable obstacles or needs. "Oh God, help me!" A man's mighty ego finally caught-on to its real size. Many of us, then, don't need this kind of reminder to bring us to reality. In the realm of our experiences, we have seen the galaxies of stars, the earth, the sun, and hundreds of heavenly bodies revolving in majestic splendor. And the physical laws operating smoothly with uncanny precision. The beauty, the wonder, and the order that is present in the least works of nature point to one Creator, one God, and one Ruler, a true King.

Our King, Jesus Christ, then, is no ordinary king; His royalty is by right of nature, whereby in His divine nature as God and by virtue of the hypostatic union, He is the sovereign Lord and Master. But, above all, He is our King by right of conquest. In the agonies of human strifes, this God-man came down to earth to rescue fallen men from the slavery of Satan. For us He went through the labors and sufferings of His life, and passion, and death, to vanquish sin and hell.

This King, Martyr and Saviour, we are asked to love, adore and serve with our whole heart. Then we can again turn our minds to our own kingship. But one can never quite forget the words of God: "When the Son of Man shall come in His majesty, and all the angels with Him, then He will gather all the nations and He will separate them one from another. . . . Then the King will say to those on His right hand, 'Come, blessed of my Father, take possession of the kingdom. . . . Then He will say to those on His left hand, 'Depart from me, accursed ones, into the everlasting fire.'"

This year on October 28, the Christian world celebrates the Feast of Christ the King. How wonderful it would be if all created men would adore this King on His feast, for He is the rightful ruler of mankind.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER:

It's really too bad

MIKE GALVIN

It's really too bad that a few individuals on campus do not know how to handle themselves in the proper manner.

Last Saturday night marked another chapter in this sad story. The Vets' Dance was very well-organized and as usual, everyone had a very fine time.

The only trouble was that a few obnoxious loudmouths had to spoil the entertainment. These are the same individuals who have absolutely no business being in college if they are going to act like social morons.

As I said before, the Vets' Club was definitely not at fault. The dance was enjoyable, the orchestra was good, but pests scattered throughout the audience felt that it was their duty to make lots of noise. So much noise, in fact, that at times it was impossible to hear the excellent entertainment. I hope that the people responsible read this and take heed. We can excuse everything except poor taste and lack of courtesy; if the shoe fits, wear it.

It has been brought to my attention that it is customary at Marycrest to review the evening's dance, party and, most of all, date. This takes place in the late evening hours when the coeds have nothing better to do than talk, talk, talk!

The problem arises when their dates are completely picked to little pieces in this frivolous talkathon.

At the end of this affair not a man at SU has a secret to his name. This problem was brought to me by a man who seemed to know a lot about Marycrest. I know little about this personally, but I'm not very worried because I'm sort of a notorious character, anyhow. I'm sure that anything girls say about me hasn't been said by experts.

Before I sign off into oblivion, here's one more thing that gripes me. Why don't people mix at the mixers? There are some real dolls around this school, but you cannot blame them for not going to the mixers because when they have gone to dances in the past, more people were standing on the sidelines than were dancing. This is a sad story well told.

GALVIN ON POLITICS

It has been said that the Republican party is the party of the past. I believe this to be true because last week we received from the Republican National Headquarters a letter addressed to Seattle College. I have always been under the impression that SU is a university.

John Castellani's Chieftain crew is well into the second week of practice with everything progressing in fine fashion. . . . Baylor is dropping the ball through the hoop with phenomenal consistency. . . . Gold Cup has been awarded to Miss Thriftway and the 1957 race will again be run on beautiful Lake Washington next summer. . . . And there are only five weeks until the Chiefs hit the road for Pocatello, Idaho. . . . And I have another column to write.

CASABA SPORT?

There is a question that has been bothering me for a long time, in fact the question has bothered me quite a bit since I picked up a dictionary about two weeks ago and turned to Webster's definition of the word "casaba."

I don't mean to say that I have spent many sleepless nights trying to figure out this question, but I have spent many hours in deep thought, trying to find what connection there is between "casaba" and "basketball."

If you are about to say, "Pardon my ignorance, please, but what is the meaning of casaba?" save your breath because I was just getting around to that definition.

"Casaba . . . a kind of winter muskmelon having a yellow rind and sweet, juicy flesh." This definition is through the courtesy of the American College Dictionary.

There is the definition of "casaba." Can you see any connection between a muskmelon and the game of basketball? If you have any ideas concerning this subject, how about sending me a letter and explaining the connection between the two.

Can't you see the headlines after a Chieftain game, "Baylor Scores 32 in MUSKMELOON thriller!" if they were to use the correct meaning of the word!

Roy Mathieson Tallies Two TDs; Amebos Win 18-0

By DON LAQUET

Seattle University's gridiron gladiators participated in five exciting contests during the past week; all of the action being confined to a cold, muddy, rain-soaked field that added little to the comfort of the combatants.

Wednesday's fracas saw the "Dirty Shirts" emerging on the long end of a 25-0 score over the Engineers. A potent passing attack paid big dividends for the "Shirts," aerials by Ed Kelly figuring in every touchdown.

Kelly passed to Don Larkin for 25 yards to set up the first score, an eight-yard scamper around left end by Bob Martin on the following play. Kelly passed again to Larkin for the conversion. Again it was Kelly, passing this time to Mike Duimm in the end zone, good for 16 yards and another TD.

Probably the most exciting battle of the week took place Thursday afternoon, as the Amoebas won over the Highballs, 6-0, in the closing seconds of the game. The lone touchdown resulted from a ten-yard pass from Charles Brown to Roy Mathieson, who was waiting for it in the end zone.

The Dirty Shirts amassed another victory Friday afternoon, this time at the expense of the Palominos, who went down to a 19-7 defeat.

A good sound football game that saw neither side score until the dying moments of the first half, the Shirts drawing first blood on a Mike Duimm to John Vlakovich pass. Ed Kelly was again in the scoring picture, connecting with Bob Martin, who rambled for 20 yards and pay dirt. Martin passed to Vlakovich for the final six-pointer, the Palominos' only score being a ten-yard heave from Andy Columbro to Mike Lyons. Each team received four first downs.

Monday afternoon saw the Amoebas swamp the Musketeers, 18-0. The Musketeers managed to engineer several sustained drives, but just didn't have enough steam to convert them into touchdowns. Bob Brown passed to Pete Madison in the end zone for the first touchdown, the play being good for 25 yards. Roy Mathieson provided the thrills on the other pair of touchdowns on a 20-yard skirt of the right end, and a superb broken-field run that accounted for 40 yards.

Varsity Runs Thru Long Sessions; Paps Work Hard

By MARION MADISON

John Castellani started the second week of drills for his team with one of the longest practice sessions seen on the Seattle campus in many years. The squad worked from 1:30 p.m. until 4:45 p.m. Needless to say the boys were rather tired but apparently very happy as the beginnings of the Castellani system started to take effect.

After the usual preliminary drills which start the daily routine, the coach let his squad work full court to see how the offense was shaping up. One change from former Chieftain aggregations was the absence of the run-run basketball in the race-horse style, first made famous by the ex-All-American Johnny O'Brien.

Speaking of Johnny, he was a visitor to the gym last week and Coach Castellani and he had a long chat.

Three young men seen on the gym floor are potential Chieftains for the 1957-58 season. They are John Stepan, Jude Petrie and Charlie Brown, who are transfer students and now waiting out their year of ineligibility. They will be playing in the Northwest AAU League for Westside Ford.

SHAVINGS FROM THE FLOOR

Stan Glowaski, '55 grad, is now stationed at Fort Lewis and hopes to be playing for the National AAU champion Buchan Bakers again this season. Stan was one of the mainstays last year.

Bill Fenton, former athlete, rector and frosh coach, will again head Federal Old Line in the Northwest League. Between his team and Westside Ford most of the ex-Chieftains will be seen around the Seattle area.

PAPS WORKING HARD

Fundamentals, offensive patterns and a switching man-to-man defense have dominated Papoose practice sessions, as they begin to round into shape for the tough schedule which they will play in the coming season.

"Every man on the team," commented Coach Vince Cazzetta, "has shown a good attitude and desire; there has been hustle and hard work from the whole squad."

Northwest League games will be the feature of the Frosh schedule with University of Washington Husky Frosh, Seattle Pacific Jayvees, Grays Harbor J.C., Olympic J.C., Skagit Valley J.C., Everett J.C. and Sand Point Naval Air Station rounding out the schedule.

J. Paul Sheedy* Wasn't Very Sharp Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

"WHY do the girls act so stuck up?" moaned Sheedy. "It's quilling me the way they give me the brush-off." "It's your hair, J. Paul," said one of the lads. "It sticks out all over. Confidentially, it stings. You need Wildroot Cream-Oil." So Sheedy picked up a bottle. Now he has all kinds of confidence, because his hair looks healthy and handsome, the way Nature intended. Neat but not greasy. Try Wildroot Cream-Oil in bottles or handy tubes. It contains Lanolin, Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. Soon all the dates you needle be yours for the asking.

• FRED YOUMANS

• BOB MILLER

Another bright spot in the basketball outlook at SU this coming season is the addition of Bob Miller, transfer from Olympic Junior College. Bob is ready and willing to add his skill to the Chieftains when they take the court against Denver in the opener at Pocatello, Idaho, five weeks from now.

Bob is originally from Mitchell, S. D., where he made his appearance 21 years ago. He lived in the small town of White Lake, S. D., until his family moved to their present home in Bremerton when Bob was an eighth grader. He attended Bremerton High for four years and participated in basketball.

The 190-pound, 6-ft., 4-in. junior likes to dance and play ping pong in his leisure time. Bob is a Commerce and Finance major and wants to "get a job in an office and, maybe, coach basketball on a part-time basis" after graduation.

At Olympic JC Bob was All-Conference as a sophomore and was the second leading scorer on the team there. He averaged 25.1 points per game.

Unlike the other hoopsters interviewed, Bob says his favorite sport is basketball. Now here is someone who is different.

• FRANCIS SAUNDERS

From Washington to Washington is but one of the achievements in Francis Saunders' life. In this case, it was Washington, D.C., to Seattle, Washington, and all SU fans are glad it happened, when they remember that Francis led the Papooses in scoring last year. Now, the tall soph moves up to the varsity.

Francis was born in Washington, D.C., our national capital, and still calls it home. He attended Spingarn High School in the city where a cousin by the name of Elgin Baylor also went. Francis was a three-sport star in basketball, baseball and football.

The 19-year-old, 6 ft., 2½-in., 175-pounder wants to be an architect when he finishes the needed schooling. Since he is a pre-major at SU, he plans to attend a school in the East after leaving here to attain the full credits needed toward graduation.

When not playing basketball and studying, Francis likes to read "mostly history and literature; some poetry" and listen to records. And his favorite sport is football.

Francis added, "Ever since I participated in basketball, the team I was on won the championship except last year's Papooses. I hope my good luck will stand up and affect the Chieftains."

• JIM HARNEY

Another South Dakotan who wound up on the SU campus is Jim Harney. Jim was born in Yankton, S. D., and came to this city in 1941. He went to grade school here and then attended Seattle Prep, where he was a standout in both basketball and baseball.

Jim, who is a senior majoring in Education, has always been connected with his two favorite sports. "Basketball is my favorite sport in winter; baseball in the summer."

He played on the Papooses his first year and then broke his ankle between seasons. So he sacrificed playing in his sophomore year and, when the ankle came around, played with the Buchan Bakers in the local AAU league to keep in shape. Jim still has a year of eligibility left after the present campaign.

He has played baseball ever since entering SU and the past year played on the Stanley Shoemen of Tacoma team which went on to win the national amateur baseball title at Val Kirk, Mich. The year before Jim played with the Canadian national amateur champs.

The versatile Mr. Harney was All-City in baseball and All-Cross State League in both sports while in high school. The old Cross-State League, now disbanded, was thought by many the toughest in the state, so it was quite an honor to be selected as all-league, and Jim won the honor in TWO sports!

The 21-year-old, 5-ft., 10-in., 170 pounder wants to coach baseball and basketball after graduation from SU. Asked about his best basketball game, he thought awhile and then stated, "I hope my best game is yet to come this year."

Another engineering first—the Boeing jet transport-tanker

The KC-135, shown on the production lines of Boeing's Transport Division, is America's first jet transport-tanker. It gives the Air Force a refueling craft that matches the performance of today's jet-age fighters and bombers. In its transport role, the KC-135 becomes our defense forces' first personnel and critical-cargo carrier geared to the speed and altitude demands of jet-age operations.

Boeing production engineers—who helped turn out 888 piston-driven tankers in this same Transport Division plant—are now working full time on jet-powered aircraft. Boeing's big and growing backlog of orders for both commercial and military aircraft creates constantly expanding opportunities for production engineers of all types—civil, mechanical, electrical, aeronautical, industrial.

At Boeing, production engineers find the kind of challenge that helps them grow in professional stature. They enjoy the satisfaction of working on such nationally important projects as the B-52 eight-jet intercontinental bomber, the 707, America's first jet airliner. Guided missiles, supersonic and nuclear-powered aircraft are other Boeing projects with a long-range, exciting future.

Here's some measure of your advancement potential at Boeing: during the last 10 years, the number of Boeing engineers has increased 400%. With that kind of growth, there are always opportunities for advancement. They could be your opportunities, for Boeing promotes from within. Every six months a merit review gives you an occasion for recognition, advancement, increased income.

At Boeing, you live in progressive, young-spirited communities, with good housing and recreational activities. You work with men outstanding in the world of engineering, on projects of tremendous importance to your country. You look forward to one of the most liberal retirement plans in the industry. There's job stability, and a limitless future; at Boeing—in production, and in design and research as well.

4 Roses Plus 1 Retain Lead

Four Rose Plus 1 still continues to lead the SU Bowling League with their relentless pursuers, the triumvirate (Alley Gators, Alley Kats and Holy Rollers) still hot on their tails (or stems).

Anne Rae Richard continues to top the women kegglers with a 145 average and last week's high game and high series. Anne rolled a game of 166 in her 463 series last Wednesday.

The men kegglers are having a dog fight in their race for top honors. Dick O'Brien's 171 average edges out Al Berg's 170, while Don Daugherty boosted his average by rolling a 244 game last Wednesday. But the big news was the 603 series rolled by John Broell, which moved him up to fourth spot in the men's averages.

Past European Tour Told; 1957 Plans Now Made

By REV. FRANCIS LOGAN, S.J.

This is a different kind of a student trip to the Old World. It was born of a week's travel with 15 young men from our Jesuit college in Halifax.

By chartered bus we traveled from Lisbon to Fatima, thence to Salamanca, Avila, Madrid and to Loyola, the famous Jesuit novitiate in northern Spain. On our other stops we had lodged at residences for students. Only at Loyola did we receive a warm welcome. Our tour of next summer has its origin at Loyola.

The Spanish Jesuits were very pleasant. They seemed genuinely pleased to entertain their guests from the New World. My plan for next summer is to visit Jesuit colleges in other parts of Europe.

This time my companions will not be Canadians but Seattle U students. Equipped with sleeping bags, we will ask for but a spot to spread them. Weather permitting, we will make use of the camping sites seen everywhere in Europe. As Loyola gave me the inspiration for this pilgrimage, we will see many places closely associated with Ignatius.

Near Barcelona we will visit Montserrat and Manresa; in the Basque country, Pamplona and Loyola; in Rome, the altar where his body rests and the room where he lived; in Paris, at the foot of Montmartre, the chapel of the First Vows of Ignatius and his companions.

Name places? How about Paris, the Rhine trip, the Black Forest, Lucerne, Venice, Florence, Siena, Rome, Genoa, Nice, Monaco, Avignon, Nimes, Carcassonne, Barcelona, Toulouse.

We will travel by chartered bus, will have an elastic schedule in the sense that we will not have any reservations to claim. Besides the name places above we will have the opportunity to glimpse scenes which most tourists skip. This includes a leisurely drive through the beautiful provinces of Normandy and Brittany; a day in the Duchy of Luxembourg, and subsequently a visit to the famous old Roman City of Treves.

Even such a brief visit to the Old World is of incalculable value to a student. It is an experience he will treasure all his life. Visits to the shrines of Lourdes and to Lisieux, shrine of the Little Flower, will give vigor to one's spiritual life.

And then, there are the cathedrals of France—Chartres, Rheims, Notre Dame. We shall frequently picnic along the road, pause for a dip in the Mediterranean (it's the best!) during our bus trip of approximately 35 days. Like the pilgrim of old on his way to his favorite sanctuary, we shall have to rough it from time to time and only those so minded are advised to seek more information. Due to this phase of the trip, it is necessary to exclude women students from this tour.

Plans are yet in the formative stages. Subject to change or variation are the following items:

Departure from New York—July 20.

Departure from France—Sept. 8.

The idea of the trip is to bring Europe within the reach of students of moderate means. I have not yet the figures for the ship or chartered bus but the price FROM NEW YORK will be in the vicinity of $700.

Seattle University's Mechanical Engineer's Club will meet on Thursday, Oct. 25, at 12 noon in Room 8 E.
