self, and suggestions for its betterment were points considered at the meet, which emphasized comprehensive student body representation in the Conference.

Student body officials from Northwest colleges exchanged ideas concerning student council problems within the member schools. It was suggested that each student council examine its activities to see if they are in accordance with their purpose: to help the student mature in his spiritual, intellectual, physical and social life. The assembly also adopted a resolution to include a representative from a campus religious organization in student councils, thus correlate and unite the religious interests of the school with its other activities.

Noel Brown lauded Mount Angel for the organization and friendliness with which it carried out last week's convention. As president, his particular duty will be to call conventions twice a year and to prepare suitable topics to be considered by the Conference. Other S.U. representatives at the convention were: Bob Martin, Helen Hoolahan, Pat Gailbraith, Patti Paige, Betty Petri, Jerry Ley, Pat Dennehy and Mary Lou Schreck.

'Band of Renown' Here May 10 for Big Dance

By JIM PLASTINO

The dance band of the decade, Les Brown and his "Band of Renown," is coming to Seattle University.

Brown will play for the annual Junior Prom on Friday, May 10, at Parker's Ballroom.

Announcement that the contracts had been signed and delivered was made by Prom Chairman Ray Weber Wednesday.

Socially, it was the most significant announcement in the history of the university.

In giving the exclusive release to the Spectator, Weber commented, "When we received the signed contracts we realized that this was perhaps the biggest event ever to be presented to the student body. The entire committee is very happy."

The band will arrive in Seattle Thursday morning, May 9, according to word received from booking agents in Los Angeles. They will travel here from successive engagements at the University of Oregon and Oregon State College. They will have one other engagement in Seattle before the SU date.

Brown assumed the position of number one band in the nation a few years after the death of the great Glen Miller, and has held the top spot almost every year since.

He has been unanimously selected as the best band in America for the past four consecutive years. "Downbeat," "Billboard," and "Metronome" magazines headed the list which ranked him first. The National Ballroom Operators of America also hailed him as the best band of 1956.

Brown will bring with him the full band of nineteen pieces. Included in the troupe will be the famous vocalist, Jo Ann Greer, who has been with the group for the past four years.

Also featured will be comedy vocalist Butch Stone and trombonist Stumpy Brown.

"The Band of Renown" makes its home in Los Angeles for nine months of the year, where it is featured weekly on the Bob Hope television show. Brown has been with Hope for the last eight years.

The other three months are spent on tours and in recording sessions.

For Seattle U, this will be the fourth big name in music to appear here in the past three years. Dave Brubeck and Earl Bostic visited in 1955, and Buddy Morrow came in 1956.

Les Brown

Santos Contreras, president of the Junior Class, which is sponsoring the dance, voiced the hope that the student body would give full cooperation and backing to the event. "It's a big venture," he offered, "a once-in-a-lifetime affair for most of the students."

Because of the huge expense involved in bringing the band to Seattle, the programs will be priced at $5 a couple. Graduating seniors will be admitted for $2.50. It will be a non-corsage dance.

In order to get the reduced prices, the graduating seniors must bring their invitations to the Junior Class booth in the Chieftain between May 2 and May 7, and must indicate that they are going to attend the dance.

There will be only 200 programs available to the seniors and 400 to the rest of the student body. Accommodation will be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

All programs will go on sale May 2 at the Chieftain.

On April 18 the pledgemasters, Bob Grinstead and Dave Lynn, have planned the first pledge meeting in the Chieftain lounge at 8 p.m. All persons interested in joining the fraternity must appear on the above evening.

On last Tuesday, April 2, Wigwam Chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights held its annual elections. The new officers are Honorable Duke Andy Berg; Worthy Scribe, Dave Lynn; Chancellor of the Exchequer, Jim Limage; Expansion Officer, John Blankenship; Worthy Records, Don Miller and Worthy Historian, Bill Scalzo.

Vargo.

Silver Scroll Pledges

Applications will be accepted from junior women students with a g.p.a. of at least 2.7 and a specific number of activity points as determined by Silver Scroll.

Closing date for applications is Wednesday, April 17. Officers of the women's honorary are: President Ann O'Donnell, Vice-President Mary Harris, Secretary Marilyn Ward and Treasurer Shirley Shivers. Dr. Helen Werby is moderator.

Reflections:

Pilgrim in Washington

• DON D. WRIGHT

The citizen who visits the nation's capitol for the first time comes away with the burning conviction that every resident of the United States should some day make the pilgrimage to Washington, D. C.

For the student of government, the Federal City is the shrine of American liberty. Its monuments and archives give vivid testimony of our rich heritage of constitutional democracy.

From the faded parchment of the Declaration of Independence to the crowded corridors of the United States Senate, the City of Washington reflects history's most successful experiment in human freedom.

Within the space of a few hours, the pilgrim in Washington may run the gamut of America's history. In the Archives Building are preserved the original copies of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Bill of Rights, the Articles of Association, the Articles of Confederation, the Treaty of Paris and Washington's Inaugural Address.

From the top of the Washington Monument the visitor looks out upon the most famous structures in the United States: north to the White House, east to the Capitol, south to the Jefferson Memorial and west to the Lincoln Memorial—the latter America's most revered patriotic shrine.

IN THIS TEMPLE AS IN THE HEARTS OF THE PEOPLE FOR WHOM HE SAVED THE UNION THE MEMORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN IS ENSHRINED FOREVER.

This masterpiece of prose is a fitting inscription for the moving and inspiring sculpture of the Great Emancipator by Daniel Chester French.

In downtown Washington, in Tenth Street between E and F Streets, stand the Lincoln Museum (Ford's Theater) and the house where Lincoln died. It is here that

ON MUSIC—The Obernkirchen Children's Choir is due to appear in Seattle, April 12. This group of youthful voices made its first television appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show.

This choir is being sponsored by the Ladies Musical Club. The performance will begin at 8:00 p.m. Friday evening at the Palomar Theater.

ON ART—"33 Americans" is the display being featured by the Frye Art Museum this spring season.

Among the display will be the "Girl by the Tree," by Theodore Robinson, "Back of Coney Island," by John Henry Twachtma, and the paintings by Eustace P. Ziegler, Willard Parker and Percival Rosseau.

The first showing of these paintings will end April 14 but is scheduled for showing again April 21 through 29.

The local theaters have scheduled the showings of the Academy Award nominees for 1956. "Giant," a film of modern Texas, is now playing at the Crest and Egyptian Theaters.

George Steven, director, received the Academy Award for the Best Director. The film co-stars Rock Hudson and the late James Dean.

"Written On the Wind," was also on the list of nominees. The movie, which stars Rock Hudson and co-stars Dorothy Malone, is now showing at the Sunset Drive-In Theater.

Anthony Quinn received the award for the Best Supporting Actor for his role in Lust for Life.

the assassination of Abraham Lincoln becomes more than a cold paragraph in a textbook.

The single-shot Derringer pistol, the tell-tale hole bored in a wooden door, the colors of the U. S. Treasury Guard which draped the President's box at Ford's Theater, the diary of John Wilkes Booth and the room in which the Saviour of the Union died—all serve to make the tragedy of 1865 a thing of reality.

Perhaps the most inspiring of the many shrines and historic sites in Washington is the Jefferson Memorial. Surrounding the statue of the author of the Declaration of Independence and the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom, first Secretary of State and third President of the United States, are four panels bearing selections from the writings of Jefferson on Independence, Religious Freedom, Public Education and the Abolition of Slavery.

The most eloquent of these reads:

GOD WHO GAVE US LIFE GAVE US LIBERTY. CAN THE LIBERTIES OF A NATION BE SECURE WHEN WE HAVE REMOVED A CONVICTION THAT THESE LIBERTIES ARE A GIFT OF GOD? INDEED I TREMBLE FOR MY COUNTRY WHEN I REFLECT THAT GOD IS JUST, THAT HIS JUSTICE CANNOT SLEEP FOREVER. COMMERCE BETWEEN MASTER AND SLAVE IS DEPOTISM. NOTHING IS MORE CERTAINLY WRITTEN IN THE BOOK OF FATE THAN THAT THESE PEOPLE ARE TO BE FREE. ESTABLISH THE LAW FOR EDUCATING THE COMMON PEOPLE. THAT IS THE BUSINESS OF THE STATE TO EFFECT AND ON A GENERAL PLAN.

Thousands go to Washington to speak, to write and to do. But millions more go there to listen, to read and to stand in silence and watch.

The motion is now playing at the Venetian Theater.

"Around the World in 80 Days," not only received the academy award for the Best Picture of the Year, but also over fifteen other awards from leading publications and organizations. A few of these include the Good Housekeeping and Time Magazines. The Seattle Premiere is for April 17 at the Blue Mouse Theater. All seats are reserved.

The "Silent World," the Academy Award winner for the "Best Documentary Picture of 1956," is also a winner of many international awards. This film gives its audience the terrifying experiences of skin-divers, frogmen and the deep-sea explorers.

"Mr. Magoo's Puddle Jumper" was the Academy Award winner for the "Best Cartoon of the Year." This and the "Wonders of New Orleans" will be showing at the Music Box Theater. These motion pictures will be both entertaining and enjoyable.

Mr. Allison learns that he is stranded on a Pacific island behind the enemy lines with only a nun. Sister Angela learns of the excitement and duties of marine life. In return she reveals the responsibilities of a nun.

"Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison" co-stars Deborah Kerr and Robert Mitchell. In the film Robert Mitchell becomes a new singing discovery.

"Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison" is now playing at the Coliseum Theater.

Complaints

Monopoly woes

The topic for today's discussion is the privately owned, efficiently operated monopoly which is situated in leased quarters adjacent to the oldest classroom building on our campus. This emporium traffics in such necessary items as sweat-shirts, beer mugs, key chains, greeting cards and . . . uh . . . oh yes . . . books!

It has been described to me by one of its proprietors as a normal small business, operating at an average mark-up, with the student's interests in mind at all times. Here the question arises: is this venture being conducted with the student's interests in mind???

Are the hours conducive to student patronage?? As a matter of fact, are the hours as they stand being observed as strictly as they might be? The members of the "Eight-fifteen Club," who have stood outside the door at that hour of the morning and glared at the sign stating that the doors open at eight, think not. One evening last week a group was observed huddled outside the establishment. They were there due to the sign that stated that for the convenience of the students they would be open that evening from—to . . . They never opened that evening. . . .

On the subject of used books. Does one quarter's storage in a locker constitute a depreciation of 65% on a book?? Wouldn't a traveling textbook dealer, such as are appearing with increasing regularity on many other campuses

Doctrine

• SYDNEE VOLTIN

To most of us here at Seattle University, the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine (CCD) is a well known phrase. But many do not really fully understand what the CCD does, what it is, what it represents.

By vocation, ordination and assignment of his bishop, the priest has the care of souls. The Confraternity brings the faithful together to work for and with him: to aid him in already existing work, but never to give him a new job.

The Confraternity is not something apart from the priest and completely in the hands of the laity. The priest is essential and irreplaceable in and for the Confraternity. The laity prepare and organize to help him. If they do not aid him, he will still have the work to do and will be unable to do all of it alone.

Many indulgences may be gained by a member of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine when all the usual conditions are fulfilled. A plenary indulgence may be gained on the day of admission to the Confraternity, or at the hour of death; a partial indulgence may be gained by teaching, visiting the sick and infirm, attending certain public services, etc.

The Seattle University CCD is presently engaged in works of Christian charity among the blind here in Seattle. The members visit the blind, reading their mail to them, taking them to Mass on Sundays, instructing them on points of their faith about which they may be confused, forming discussion groups, or giving instructions to potential converts.

Some day, we hope to be able to extend our works to those suffering from deafness, cerebral palsy, or similar afflictions.

This work is extremely vital, necessary, and interesting; it is a good way to show Christian charity to your fellow man. If you are interested or if you know of anyone who is interested in helping in this work, please contact either Father Lindekugel at the Sodality Office or Jackie Paolucci.

each quarter, have a ball at Broadway & Madison???

Let's review the case history of one poor lad who trudged wearily up the wooden stairs to purchase books two weeks ago. His heart was heavy and his pockets were light, having just completed the arduous task of registration. With his last six skins he purchased a text book, and then retired to the Chieftain. (Here to seek out a friend who could spare a dime for a cup of coffee.)

While there he glanced once more at his schedule and gasped! His class was XX 101 and he had taken his book from the shelf marked XX 202! Returning to the shop he informed a clerk that he had purchased the wrong book and inquired whether he might obtain a refund. "This is a used book because your name appears on the first page," he was informed. The lad left three dollars richer and one book poorer, thinking that if another book cost the same price he only had half-fare.

The following day he discovered that he had the right book in the first place since XX 102 is a continuation of XX 101, using the second half of the same text. Back at the hardware shop he was informed that his book had been sold, but that there were plenty of books left on the shelves. . . . What else could he do??

This tale would not have been quite so ironical had not our hero, having arrived in class the following day complete with new book, observed the inside page of his neighbor's book. Curiosity got the best of him and so he asked the owner what he had paid for it. . . .

"Oh it had somebody's name in it so I got a really good deal," he replied, "Five dollars and fifty cents!" . . . PORTZEBIE!!!!

Campus Politics

Pure speculation

• AL KREBS

If you don't have a calendar handy you need only look as far as the Chieftain to see that student body elections are only weeks away. Private conferences, firm handclaps and big smiles are in abundance at that point often referred to by many "as the hub of student body activity at Seattle University."

After last year's torrid race between Bob Martin and Jim Plastino for the ASSU presidency this year's race may seem somewhat "anti-climactic" but this year, unlike the last, the race is between several qualified candidates.

A look at the signature-filled petitions in the ASSU office on the April 23 deadline will probably see the names of Maurice Oaksmith, Pat Galbraith, Bob Bruck and Mike Williams. At this early date though this is all pure speculation as only two candidates, Oaksmith and Galbraith, have definitely declared themselves.

Of course with the attention focused on the ASSU president's race, the other offices are somewhat shoved into the background but they also should prove interesting. The vice president's struggle is shaping up to be a battle between Santos Contreras, Bill Wall, Ben Simon and Paul Doyle. Although no women with the exception of Patti Page have declared themselves for the secretary's job several prominent campus leaders are considering the challenge.

The rest of the offices, with the exception of student body publicity director, are still wide open for candidates. Prominently mentioned for the publicity job is Paul Turner.

In the weeks to come "Campus Politics" will attempt to cover the political news on campus in an effort for the students to not only be well informed on their own candidate but be aware of the entire election picture.

Little art gallery

Situated within a few inches of the mall entrance of the Liberal Arts Building is the Little Art Gallery for the works of the art students of SU.

Displayed in the case is a variety of oil paintings, water color paintings, charcoal drawings and pastel drawings.

The subject matter varies from portraits, landscapes, still life and mosaics. The theme is generally religious.

Featured in the display case at the present time are an oil portrait by Joan Hatchell, still life painting by Loretta Bosanka, a pen and ink sketching by Janice Bakun, a pastel painting by Sr. Vincent, and oil paintings by Gerald Erickson.

The exhibit is changed every month. Any of the art works displayed are for sale. The funds collected from the sales will go toward the Art Building Fund.

Other works for sale are exhibited in the art room. Mrs. Sabotta, the art director in charge of the display, said that there are also works of children from her Saturday art class. Mr. Damascus is the other director in charge of the display.

Bill Sears Named Athletic Pub. Dir.

The appointment of Bill Sears as Athletic Publicity Director was announced, recently by John Castellani, Athletic Director. The appointment is effective June 1.

Sears, publicity director for the Seattle Rainiers baseball team, is replacing Jack Gordon who served in this position for eight years. Gordon resigned prior to the N.I.T. and Sears accompanied the squad East.

Tennis Team Opens Season Friday, Against CPS Squad

With a three-match winning streak carrying last season's tennis records up to a solid par, Seattle U tennis stars anxiously await their forthcoming season which opens with C.P.S. tomorrow at Woodland Park. The present seven from which a five-man single squad will be picked are Don Kovacevich, Jack Eng, Jeff Comyn, Rich Green, Sid Mon Wai, Sam Brown, and Judy Wilmarth.

Final cut of the squad will take place after the first match against C.P.S. Friday. At present Don Kovacevich has a slight edge over Jack Eng for the number one spot, after an 8-6, 5-7, 6-2 tangle last week over Jack.

Judy Wilmarth and Clair Connelly, Californians, will definitely press the returning tennis lettermen for a starting five berth. Prep's Sam Brown is also expected to be an asset to the squad.

This is the best turnout in the history of the tennis team. The turnout list numbered 13. In past years six was considered a good number for the tryouts. The players are also of a higher caliber and it is expected that this will foster keen competition among the ladder challengers.

The tennis squad consists of Jack Eng (Capt.) and senior from Seattle; Don Kovacevich, two-year letterman and junior from Enumclaw; three sophomore one-year lettermen: Rich Green from Spokane, Jeff Comyn from Seattle, and Sid Mon Wai, Yakima.

Freshmen trying for their tennis letters are: Sam Brown from Seattle Prep; Barbara Kievat, a Seat-

Student Exemption Explained by Gov.

The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 contains specific provisions relating to claiming a student as a dependent. These new provisions did not change the filing requirement of the student himself. The old rule is unchanged, that is, if a student, or anyone else, has over $600.00 of taxable income during the year he must file an income tax return.

The only income tax benefit that may be derived from being a full-time student is that the parents of a student may be able to claim him as a dependent on their return. This is explained in more detail below.

The first thing to determine is whether or not you are a "full time student." To qualify as a full time student you must, during each of five calendar months of the year (not necessarily consecutive) be:

A full-time student at an educational institution which maintains a regular faculty and curriculum and has a body of students in attendance.

Now, if you were a full time student for at least five months during 1956 and your parents contributed over one-half of your support they can claim you as a dependent regardless of the fact that you had over $600.00 taxable income. If you are married, you should not file a joint return with your husband or wife or your parents would lose the exemption.

The important item to determine is whether your parents provided over one-half of your support. The term "support" means the total amount spent to support the dependent. It is immaterial where the money comes from. It may be current income, savings, life insurance proceeds, Armed Forces family allotments, or Social Security payments. If the money is used to support the dependent it is counted in the applying test.

Generally speaking support includes amounts expended for board, lodging, clothing, cost of education, medical and dental care, cost of entertainment, and cost of travel and transportation. It does not include the cost of purchasing capital items such as a car, furniture, etc.

Amounts received as scholarships for study in an educational institution are not taken into account in determining support but amounts received under the G.I. Bill of Rights are included.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Students should check the tentative honor roll list which is posted on the bulletin board outside the Registrar's Office. Any questions should be brought to the attention of the Office.
