U.G.N. Mixer Tonight Kicks Off Student Drive

By MIKE GALVIN, News Editor

UGN BUSINESS MANAGER Pat Galbraith and Chairman "Oakie" Oaksmith check progress thermometers in readiness for the Student Benefit Drive.

Seattle University's annual "charity ball" or to be more exact, the UGN Mixer, set for Friday night, Oct. 4, from 9 to 12:30 a.m., will begin our 1957 United Good Neighbors drive.

UGN chairman "Oakie" Oaksmith and business manager Pat Galbraith have laid plans to make this year's drive our most successful. The entire Student Union Building will be converted into a hub of music and dancing Friday night, with two bands for dances in both the cafeteria and student lounge.

Gene Aitken and his orchestra will provide the music in the student lounge, and popular Miles Vaughan, his orchestra and vocalist Carol Ross will be playing in the cafeteria.

Also on this year's ambitious program will be student and student-faculty fund-raising competition, with prizes going to the winners. There will also be classroom collections.

The overall UGN Campaign goal this year has been set at $4,255,342. Seattle University's quota, $1,404, is but a small portion of this but must be reached to realize the overall success of the drive.

Commenting on it, Oaksmith said: "The goal set this year amounts to nearly a dollar per student. Of course, we have

Spiers Announces Fall Telecourses

Seattle University is offering two televised courses this fall, it was announced by TV program director Edward H. Spiers.

The first one, "The Development of Economic Thought," which began Sept. 30, is being televised on Seattle's education channel, KCTS, Channel 9, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Telecast time is 8 to 8:30 p.m.

W. J. Ramey, assistant professor of marketing, and Charles Divoky, assistant professor of economics, are presenting the series. The course offers three credits or may be audited without credit. It deals with the historical development of theories in major areas of economics.

A text for the economics series is available for $1.50. The music course text is $1.00. Requests for texts and information about courses should be addressed to: Television, Seattle University, Seattle 22, Washington.

Seattle University's second televised course for the fall term will be "Beginning Harmony," an introductory series in music. Edward K. Ottum, instructor in music, will teach the course. It is non-credit and will be seen on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Oct. 1 to Dec. 19, from 8 to 8:30 p.m.

planned fund-raising activities to alleviate a portion of this, but for this reason we urge you to support the UGN activities and at the same time, when the plate is passed, give generously."

Many have already given as members of the community, but still we must meet our obligations as members of an institution in the community. This is the one drive whose proceeds benefit us most directly."

Classroom collections have been scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 10, at 9 a.m. and Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 9 and 10, for the evening classes.

Chairmen for the dormitories are: Joan Petri, Marycrest; Mike Desmond, Xavier.

Club Open House Set Wed., Oct. 8

Over fifty student groups are planning to be on hand to welcome the freshmen and upperclassmen to the annual Club Open House. It is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building.

The primary purpose of the program is to acquaint the students with the various clubs and activities on campus.

Representatives of the organizations will be present to explain functions and purposes of their groups, and to answer any questions from prospective members.

Co-chairmen for the event are Fran Abrams and Don Ibsen. Urging particularly the freshmen to attend, Don had this to say: "This year's Freshman Class is going to have great opportunities in campus activities. Joining clubs now would benefit both individuals and the class as a whole."

Club presidents who wish their organizations to be represented should contact either Santos Contreras or Don Ibsen in the ASSU office as soon as possible.

Displays are planned for both the cafeteria and the Chieftain lounge. There is no admission charge, and coffee and cake are to be served in the cafeteria.

SENIOR PICTURES

Senior Class pictures will be taken Monday, Oct. 7; Wednesday, Oct. 9; and Thursday, Oct. 10.

Jon Arnt, photographer, will be located in the third floor lounge of the Liberal Arts Building from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. each of these days.

Needed for this year's Aegis, senior men and women photographs will be taken in academic cap and gown.

Fathers Gurr and Evoy Are Announced Vice-Presidents

The Rev. John E. Gurr, S.J., has been named academic vice president at Seattle University succeeding the Rev. James T. McGuigan, S.J., it was announced by the Very Rev. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., University president.

Father Gurr has been assistant professor of philosophy and director of the pre-major program at the University since 1955. He was born in Yakima and lived in Alaska and later Portland. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1937 and was ordained June 19, 1948, in Weston, Mass.

Named development vice president is the Rev. Gerard Evoy, S.J. Gene A. Ford, former director of development at Loras (Iowa) College, has been named to a similar post here.

Father Evoy attended Seattle Preparatory School before entering the Society of Jesus in 1926. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Gonzaga University. He was ordained at Santa Clara, Calif., in 1939.

Father Evoy and Ford will expand the University's Development Office and will spend several months planning a new program here, Father Lemieux said.

Also named to head the ROTC program is Lt. Col. Michael J. Dolan, replacing Col. Stephen J. Millet.

Colonel Dolan recently completed a three-year assignment as chief of the enlisted section at Army headquarters, Heidelberg, Germany.

Named as assistant professors of military science were Maj. Norman S. Horner and Capt. Raymond J. M. Larsen.

Additional Seattle University faculty appointments for the 1957-58 year are: College of Arts and Sciences — the Rev. Ernest Bertin, S.J., Ph.D., head of the chemistry department; Thomas E. Downey, Ph.D., assistant professor of history; James H. McKay, Ph.D., assistant professor of mathematics; Helen F. Shimota, Ph.D., assistant professor of psychology and clinical psychologist.

School of Commerce and Finance — Joseph Patelli, C.P.A., Ph.D., assistant professor of accounting; Col. Garnett Wilson, M.B.A., lecturer in management.

School of Engineering — Francis E. Keller, M.A., instructor in chemical engineering; Attilio Gioralo, E.M.E., instructor in electrical engineering; James R. Snook, M.A., lecturer in geology; Robert P. St. Germain, M.A., lecturer in civil engineering.

School of Nursing — Sister Mary Philias, F.C.S.P., clinical instructor in nursing.

The Rev. William J. Gill, S.J., has been appointed resident prefect for Xavier Hall, men's residence. He formerly served as minister at the University and during the past year served as chaplain at Sacred Heart Hospital, Havre, Montana.

Returning to the staff of the College of Arts and Sciences after leaves of absence are the Rev. Paul F. Luger, S.J., assistant professor of physics; and Miss Anita Yourglick, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology.

First S.U. Leadership Confab Layed Plans for Coming Year

By GAIL DELWORTH, Managing Editor

Representatives of almost every student group on SU's campus met together last week end at the first annual Seattle University Leadership Conference. The forty-five student leaders conferred at Camp Paul Sevenich, a 400-acre campsite near Everett.

The Very Rev. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., president of the University, formally opened the conference at the Friday evening banquet. He urged the students to "lead by example." He reminded the students that their first interests at Seattle U should be academic.

Both at the conference itself and at a recent faculty meeting, Father Lemieux expressed this opinion about the conference: "The student leadership conference was the most significant example of student responsibility in the last ten years at Seattle University."

After the banquet, faculty members Mr. James Reilly and Mr. Robert Larson headed a group discussion of student-faculty relations.

The group separated into small discussion units on Saturday morning. The hour-long seminars were led by the student judged most familiar with the subject outlined. Each seminar was conducted several times with a different group attending each time.

Topics open for debate were the following: Integration of the religious with the academic and social, led by Sodality Prefect Noel Brown; Student Courts, past chief justice of the Judicial Board Warren Barnebey; Organization of Student Government, ASSU President Brian Cullerton.

Sophomore President Sam Brown headed a seminar on Frosh Orientation. Others were: Qualities of Leadership, past Judicial and Assembly Boards member Jim Murphy; Elections, past election coordinator Ben Simon; Activities Programming, ASSU Vice President Santos Contreras; Student Government and the Student Press, Spectator Editor Sonja Vukov.

Orientation Activities Fill Frosh Schedule

By FRAN FARRELL

The United Good Neighbors Drive takes the spotlight tonight as the annual UGN Mixer marks the conclusion to Freshman Orientation Week.

Regular Frosh Class business will begin next week at the first class meeting, scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 1 p.m. The tentative place for the meeting is the gym, but specific notices will be posted Tuesday. Sophomore officers headed by Sam Brown, president, will be in charge. It is most important that as many frosh as possible attend because plans for the coming quarter will be discussed, with special emphasis on the Soph-Frosh Dance to be held October 25.

Frosh Initiation begins Monday, the 7th, and will run until Friday, the 11th. Kangaroo Court will be held each day from 12 to 12:30 p.m. in the Conference Room to pass sentence on freshmen who are beanie-less or have disobeyed seniors on Senior-Frosh Day.

REQUIESCAT IN PACE

The students and faculty of Seattle University wish to offer their heartfelt sympathy to Margery Barr and her family on the death of her father this summer.

Oct. 4, Proclaimed Senior-Frosh Day

Some hard work, a lot of fun and the opportunity to meet new friends — that's what all freshmen are being offered today, Senior-Freshman Day.

This day is an original idea being inaugurated this year to give seniors and freshmen the opportunity to meet and get acquainted.

Not designed to be an initiation, freshmen will nonetheless be required to be "slaves" to any demanding senior and fulfill any and all wishes of their "masters."

Seniors are easily recognized by the card they wear. It is the same identification card that the freshmen are wearing with the lettering done in blue instead of maroon. Freshmen are identified by their green beanies.

All arrangements for today have been handled by Bob Bruck, Senior Class president, and his fellow officers.

EDITORIAL:

A responsibility . . .

With a fresh year ahead of us, the editorial staff of the Spectator wishes to welcome first the incoming freshmen to our waiting and expectant campus. Our congratulations are also extended to the returning sophomores and upperclassmen. We hope that the academic quarters ahead will be fruitful and successful ones for all.

With this in mind, we are asking your support and co-operation which are your responsibility in order for us to fulfill the purpose of our newspaper. To inform, to serve and to educate the student body and faculty are the goals for which we strive. We attempt to do this by means of academic, spiritual and social activities in which you are interested.

This organ represents the students; consequently it is our responsibility to lend our facilities and services to the student body. We will try to bring to you timely news, pertinent features and cultural and academic guides by which all segments of our university will be influenced.

Once again, you are reminded that we reflect the spirit of the student body and this spirit should be, first and foremost, a Catholic one. We must always keep before us the ideal of the wholly educated man.

You the student body are asked in return to read the newspaper and thus be informed of those events in which your particular interests can be furthered. You are also reminded that our feature page, especially, is an area open to you. You can voice your opinions through the "Letters to the Editor" section. We also have ready space here for those students who have worthwhile papers to submit for possible publication or who have creative ideas or criticism for future improvement.

FROSH BONANZA

For weeks I have been planning to open this column with a short, concise, brief and unbiased opinion of the green-beaned herd which graces the halls of Adelphia this season. I must confess that I could not be nearly as brief or concise, however, as our friend, Leo Roppo, in the appraisal of the situation.

"WOW!" he remarked, "I mean . . . like . . . CRAZY!"

The liberal interpretation of this observation is that . . . well, man, the administration has gone 'way out in the acquisition of real george talent. These cats have got spirit and enthusiasm. They've tramped off on a real fine start, and if they just don't drag-up before the year ends they may be the best yet.

LAURELS FOR LEADERSHIP

One of the finest and most fruitful conferences that I have ever had the good fortune of attending took place under the auspices of the ASSU last week end. The first annual Seattle University Leadership Conference was the fruition of many, many hours of hard and thankless work on the part of Leo Shahan, the conference chairman; Brian Cullerton, our ASSU president; and all the other student body officers.

I could write anecdotes on the conference for hours but, for now, just sincere congratulations to those who made it possible will suffice. . . .

ON UGN

Being very conscious of the value of a dollar, this is just too good an opportunity to overlook, advertising rates in this rag being what they are. . . . I want to take this opportunity to promise each and every student attending the UGN Mixer that they will be attending the first mixer of a new era at SU. This is one of the problems which have confronted the ASSU and were discussed at the Leadership Conference. We think that we have the solution. We can assure you that everyone will "Mix at the UGN Mixer." Come and see for yourself.

BEWARE

This next little item is printed as a public service to all incoming freshmen. For the first few weeks of the fall quarter you will be approached by many of the upperclassmen who would willfully and knowingly take advantage of an inquiring mind. In other words, "cats," don't be "conned."

DO NOT: (1) Buy any tickets to the swimming pool located high atop the Pigott Building; (2) give anyone a dollar for a ticket to the Dave Brubeck concert in the gym (about ten frosh did last year), as it was held in 1955; (3) come to school with a bowling ball, hoping to use the alleys in the basement of the Chieftain (there are none); (4) purchase textbooks from upperclassmen without checking to see whether that book is still in use or not (I am suffering from remorse of conscience, having sold a few myself last year).

BOOK REVIEW:

Rally round the flag, boys!

• MIKE GALVIN

Love, suburban living, civic clubs, patriotic civilians, not-so-patriotic soldiers and Elvis Presley, James Dean, worshipping teenagers (pardon me), go together to make Max Shulman's latest novel very funny.

In between writing cigarette ads, making fun of American campus life (Barefoot Boy with Cheek), Mr. Shulman has come out with another book which deals with the aforementioned subjects, sprinkled with the zany, sometimes unbelievable wit of the author.

Two central figures dominate the plot. Harry Bannerman, a very pathetic, tried and true, middle class, misunderstood husband, spends most of his time commuting back and forth between New York (work) and Putnam's Landing (home).

On the commuter train, with martini well in tow, Harry cusses the day he ever married and allowed himself to be thrown into the lion's den of work, civic duties, PTA groups, uninteresting friends, and pushy wife. Harry finally solves his problems with the help of a strong-willed wife and a few more martinis.

The second character's name is Guido di Maggio. This may not seem important until you realize that it's also the name of Joe, the baseball player type. When his friends want to play baseball, Guido is always the first they call on because, with a name like that

All he wants to do is marry his girl-friend, settle down and forget

ART

Some of the homesick Californians and envious Seattleites might find the early prints and drawings of the "green and golden" state of interest. They are being shown in exhibit at the Charles and Emma Frye Museum, at 704 Terry Ave.—only three blocks from Marycrest.

The works of two artists from the Northwest are being shown at the Seligman Gallery until October 5. The Second Annual Open Drawing Exhibit is at the Woessner Gallery, at 4001 Beach Drive.

THEATERS

The U of W's Penthouse Theater starts the season with a Broadway comedy, titled "The Loud Red Patrick," by John Voruss. Curtain time is at 8:30 p.m., any night from Wednesday to Saturday.

"The Reclining Figure," starring Jane Darwell, is being presented by the Cirque Playhouse. The play runs for two more weeks and begins at the traditional 8:30 p.m.

SPORTS

Athletic-type people can work off some energy ice-skating at the Civic Ice Arena from 3 to 5 p.m. on Monday to Friday, excluding Thursday.

For the information of new SU students who are also bowling enthusiasts, a short trot down Broadway will bring you to 219 Broadway. It's marked "Broadway Bowl."

FILMS

You can read the Seattle dailies for a theater list of Hollywood films. But if you're a dreamer whose pulse is faster at the thought of exploits in the uncivilized parts of the world, there's something for you at the Palomar Theater. Clifford Kamen is bringing his "South from Zanzibar" adventure story to theater-goers this week. It's Monday through Saturday nights, and a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Saturday for those who don't venture forth after sunset.

NIGHT LIFE

Crawford's Coral Room has Ray Leedy, an ingenious musician who is trying to impersonate a trio. From all reports, the audience leaves convinced and contented.

The Red Carpet, on Fifth, currently has the Elmer Gill Trio displaying its talents.

TELEVISION

The sit-at-homes can take in the World Series as the Milwaukee Braves battle it out with the New York Yankees. The pennant struggle, via TV, starts on Saturday at 10:45 a.m., channels 2 and 4.

A movie depicting the life of the Bronte sisters stars Ida Lupino and Olivia de Havilland. It's on Channel 11 at 10:45 p.m.

NBC is debuting "Court of Last Resort" at 8 p.m. tonight. It's a dramatization of an unofficial body of legal experts who investigate cases to free innocent men who have been convicted and imprisoned. They're the ones who were splashed in the papers recently when Earle Stanley Gardner, a Court member, started working on the case of Dr. Samuel Sheppard.

President's Message

On behalf of the University administration and faculty, it is my pleasure to welcome the members of the Class of 1961 to the campus. We hope that your years here will be happy ones and that you will take full advantage of the opportunities which will be yours.

These four years are not merely a prelude to your future — they are an important part of your life. For your future will largely be determined by what you accomplish here.

We are also pleased to welcome back the upperclassmen. We know that you will be pleased with the many signs of progress which have taken place while you were gone.

The William Pigott Building is virtually completed and will be in use during the fall quarter. It is a splendid addition to our facilities. Extensive renovation and repair of other buildings was carried on during the summer. The student parking lot is now ready for use.

These material improvements are but a tangible reflection of the academic growth and spiritual progress taking place at Seattle University. The coming school year should be a most fruitful one. With your co-operation it can be.

Again, we invoke God's blessing on all of you — new students and old. May we end this message with the hope that you accomplish your objective at Seattle University — attainment of the proper intellectual, moral and spiritual principles necessary for the education of the whole man.

ASSU PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE:

A new year

A new year begins and with it a host of new resolutions and promises of better things to come.

A new class of Freshmen arrives and the enthusiasm and spirit that they exude spreads over the entire student body.

A new slate of ASSU officers begin work in earnest and extend to the entire student body their personal welcome and wish for an excellent year.

As president of your student body, let me greet all Seattle University students, both frosh and oldtimers, with words of hope and caution. Our student leaders, an eager, intelligent group of men and women, met prior to the start of school and have helped to plan an active and interesting year.

Plans include a variety of new activities that should appeal to all students. Dances, socials, lecture tours and talent performances are all in the process of development.

The goal that is common to all of us — our complete education — should certainly be furthered, not hindered, by the proposed activities calendar.

For the new students, both frosh and transfers, high hopes are entertained. It has been many years since such a co-operative and interested group of men and women have become a part of our student body. If the spirit and support which has been shown to date is any indication of what is to come we can rest assured that 1957-58 will mark a new high in student activity and progress.

However, don't be misled into the belief that our only concern is for your social life. We, as well as the University administration, are eager first for your academic advancement, later to be supplemented by social activity. Toward that end our year's work is devoted. Your advice and assistance is necessary for its successful attainment.

The ASSU office door is always open and our ears always receptive to your suggestions and problems. Feel free to drop in any time that you are passing by. If you do, the year's success is assured.

May God's blessings be abundantly bestowed upon you.

—BRIAN CULLERTON.

Maxine Reynolds Named New AWS Vice-President

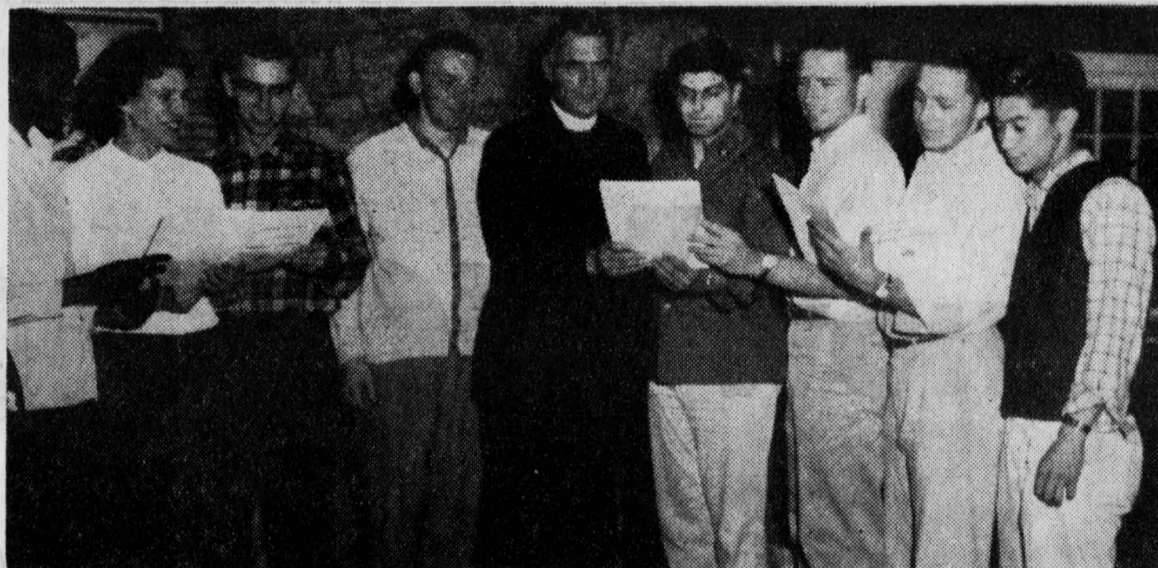

Plans are now underway for fall quarter activities sponsored by the Associated Women Students of Seattle U. First on the agenda was the Fashion Show held at Marycrest last Wednesday night, Oct. 2.

A notice of prime importance issued from the AWSSU office is the appointment of Maxine Reynolds as AWSSU vice-president. Maxine replaces Carolyn Eckstrom who was unable to return to SU this year.

Among the duties of vice-president are the following:

1. Replace the president in any absence.
2. Act as advisor to the AWS Fund Raising Committees and Chairmen.
3. Act as advisor to the Permanent Council committees and Chairmen.

Maxine, who is a junior, comes from Bellingham, Wash., and is an education major.

CLOTHES MAKE THE BMOC

Last week we passed along some fashion hints for coeds. Today we will do the same for college men.

The most important thing to remember, gentlemen, is to dress with verve, with dash, with inventiveness. Don't be imprisoned by the traditional conservatism of men's clothing. Brighten up your appearance with a single earring, or a cavalry saber, or a gold derby.

Guard Against Gaudiness

However, guard against gaudiness. If, for instance, you are wearing a gold derby, do not also wear a cavalry saber. This is too much. Wear a dagger instead, or, for formal occasions, a bowie knife.

Let us turn now to a persistent rumor that a garment called the "suit" is on the verge of making a comeback. Some of you older students may remember this "suit." It was an ensemble consisting of a jacket and trousers, both of which—this'll kill you—both of which were made out of the same material!

The last "suit" ever seen on an American campus was in 1941—and I ought to know because I was wearing it. I was an undergraduate then, and in love—hopelessly in love with a beauteous statistics major named Harry Sigafos. (She is one of the two girls I have ever known named Harry. The other one is her sister.)

I loved Harry madly, though her expensive tastes were the ruin of me. Bit by bit I sold off my belongings to pursue this costly courtship—first my books, then my clothes, until finally I was left with nothing to wear but a "suit." One night I came calling for her in this garment and she, of course, slashed me across the face with a riding crop and sent me from her door.

I slunk home and lit a Marlboro and sat down to think. I always light a Marlboro when I sit down to think, for their good mild flavor is a great aid to cerebration. I always light a Marlboro when I don't sit down to think, too, because Marlboro is my favorite cigarette, and I know it will be yours, too, once you make the acquaintance of that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box. As the man says, you get a lot to like with a Marlboro.

Well, sirs, smoking and thinking thus, my eye happened to fall on an ad in a campus newspaper which said: "WIN A COMPLETE WARDROBE! Touhy's Toggery, the campus's leading men's store, announces a contest to pick the best-dressed man on campus. The winner will receive absolutely free a complete new wardrobe!"

Struck by a sudden inspiration, I took pen in hand and wrote a letter to Mr. Touhy of Touhy's Toggery: "Sir—I see by the paper that you are giving a complete new wardrobe to the best-dressed man on campus. What a ridiculous idea!

"Obviously, to be the best-dressed man on campus, you must first have a lot of clothes, and if you have a lot of clothes, what do you need with another wardrobe?"

"Touhy's Toggery should give a new wardrobe to the worst-dressed man on campus. Me, for instance. I am an eyesore. There isn't a crow in town that will come near me. Three times this month the Salvation Army salvage truck has picked me up. Esquire has canceled my subscription.

"I submit that a vote for me is a vote for reason, a vote for equity, a vote for the American way!"

With a flourish I signed the letter and sent it off, somehow feeling certain that very soon I would be wearing a complete new wardrobe.

And I was right—because two weeks later I was drafted.

nance) is moderated by Mr. J. V. Metcalf. The Philosophy Club's moderator is Rev. Joseph G. Bussy, S.J. Phi Tau Alpha (education) is moderated by Drs. Ralph K. O'Brien and Winfield Fountain.

The Psychology Club's moderator is Rev. James E. Royce, S.J. Dr. Helen Werby moderates Silver Scroll. Mr. Steve Robel moderates the Ski Club. The Sociology Club is moderated by Rev. James Goodwin, S.J.

The Sodality has as moderator Rev. Francis J. Lindekugel, S.J. Rev. John Harrington, S.J., moderates the Totem Club (out-of-town students).

The Young Democrats have Rev. Michael Toulouse, S.J., as their moderator, while the Young Republicans' moderator is Mr. James H. Bell.

Prefect Noel Brown Uses New Sodality Registration

Sodality Prefect Noel Brown has announced a new program to register those people interested in the Sodality.

Registration will take place in the Sodality office (second floor, Student Union Building) from October 3 to October 11, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The Sodality hopes to sign up as many people as possible who, even if they lack time, are interested in the Sodality.

Also, freshman orientation will take place Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, 7:30 p.m., in the Student Union lounge.

All freshmen are invited to meet the Sodality officers and the chairmen of the various activities. Remarking on this, Noel Brown said:

"Here they will learn about our work with the blind and handicapped in the city, and our work in the various apostolates."

A social hour will follow. The club also plans special devotion to the Rosary during the month of October.

Parking Lot Available Now

The new administration of student governors has announced to the student body that the inadequate car parking situation will be successfully alleviated this year.

The Associated Students of Seattle University have acquired a 100-car parking lot on 11th and Cherry Streets for the sole use of students. By paying a quarterly charge of $2.50, students will be assured day parking facilities in a particular spot. The lot is located only two blocks from the campus.

Students are reminded that the faculty parking facilities are for cars of faculty members only. "If a person is not authorized to park in a particular place, his car will be impounded by the City Police Department," stated Jim Higgins.

Reclaiming a car that has been towed away involves a charge of $8. Persons parking on city streets around the campus are liable to those conditions specified by parking signs.

Ibsen; Kai Crew Member Admits To Divided Interests

WES KESLING, DON IBSEN, DRIVER JACK REGAS.

By AL KREBS

Last week end while student body president Brian Culbertson was addressing the closing session of Seattle U's Leadership Conference at Camp Sevenich one person, sitting in the rear of the audience, appeared at first to be a disinterested listener.

His ear was glued to a small portable radio, listening to "his boat," Hawaii Kai III, cinch the national unlimited hydroplane championship in the Governor's Cup at Madison, Ind.

Don G. Ibsen, a junior commerce and finance major in industrial relations, could have been accused of being a rather poor listener but actually it was a case of divided interests. Don, a regular crew member of the "Kai" organization, has always had an interest in water sports, having been, as Don puts it, "practically born in a boat."

His father, Don S. Ibsen, holds the unique distinction of being the man responsible for the very popular national sport of water skiing. Through his father's interest in water sports Don became interested in the hydroplanes at the age of 15.

"One day I took a walk with my father down the lake to a neighbor's, about a mile away, to see his new hydroplane, 'Slo-Mo-Shun IV'. The neighbor, of course, was the late Stanley S. Sayres and thus from that day on I was around the boat every afternoon, wiping off the deck, polishing up the windshield, etc."

"Mr. Sayres gave me a ride in the boat one day and after we had returned, having gone over 158 m.p.h., I knew that I wanted to be around the hydros as long as they would let me. Fortunately Mr. Sayres realized this and made me an official member of the crew."

Since that time, of course, the Slo-Mo met its fatal accident on the Detroit River just before a 1956 Gold Cup time trial and with the passing of the "Old Lady" her crew undertook the same job for Edgar Kaiser's "Hawaii Kai." Toward the end of the 1956 campaign Kaiser turned the boat over to the crew.

During this time, of course, Don followed right along with the ten other crew members in the maintenance of the coral-and-pink hydroplane. In the meantime, though, Don had entered Seattle U and also got interested in many school activities.

Besides serving as vice president in charge of Alpha Phi Omega activities, the 21-year-old junior is chairman this year of the Club Open House.

This year, of course, has been a banner year for Ibsen and his fellow crewmates headed by Mike Welch, for not only has the Kai won the national championship, the Silver Cup, the President's Cup, the Rogers Memorial and the Governor's Cup, but is also favored to successfully defend the Sahara Cup on Nevada's Lake Mead next week end.

Opening Basketball Dates Announced

Intramural Dates

Seattle University's opening intramural event, football, begins its ten-week season Friday with a meeting of potential team representatives in the gym.

Intramural Director Tom Page announced that all those interested in forming six-man teams are requested to have a representative at a meeting at 12:15 p.m. on October 4.

Some clubs have already been tentatively formed, led by last year's defending champions, the Syndicate. Other squads expected to enter the fall season's play are the Engineers, ROTC and Xavier Hall.

Deadline for the team entries has been set at 2 p.m. on October 10 in the Memorial Gym.

New rules and regulations have been drawn up and they will be reviewed and discussed at the October 5 general meeting.

Serving along with Mr. Page, of the Physical Education Department, this year in SU's intramural program will be Pat Galbraith, who will act as student director of the program.

Sports in the yearly school program include football, bowling and basketball.

Cazetta Awaits Oct. 15 Turnouts

One of the better freshman teams since 1954 checked into school Wednesday. The squad has height and potential scoring ability, and reserve strength.

Since the time Dick Stricklin and Company led the Papooses to fantastic scores some four years ago (1953-54), the freshman squads have been on the mediocre side.

The varsity strength has come mainly from transfers such as Elgin Baylor, Stan Glowaski and "Sweet Charlie" Brown.

This year's team can start a forward wall averaging 6-5, with guards of 6-3 and 6-0. The 6-3 guard is Johnny O'Brien, an All-Metropolitan (New York, New Jersey, etc.) star from New Jersey. O'Brien hit the hoop for 27 points a game.

Johnny's no relation to SU's former All-America great. Named with O'Brien at guard could be his high school scoring accomplice, Charlie Karach, a six-footer who dumped in 17 points per contest.

Vieing for the center spot will be Jimmy Coleman, Jake Stepan and Joe Sedor. Coleman comes from Washington, D.C.'s, Spingarn High, the same school that produced Baylor, Francis Saunders and Lloyd Murphy. The 6-5 Coleman averaged 22 points, and led his team to second place in the city.

Stepan follows his brother, John (now a varsity player), from Minnesota. Jake led his team to the state tourney. His point average was 22, his height 6-4½.

Sedor comes from New York and also averaged double-figures. Joe is 6-4.

Varsity Ball

Varsity Coach John Castellani has announced that the following players will probably turn out on October 15 for this year's varsity team: Charlie Brown, Lloyd Murphy, Elgin Baylor, Don Piasecki, John Kootnekoff, Francis Saunders, Thornton Humphries, Don Ogorek, Jude Petrie, John Stepan, Jim Harney, Clair Markey, Bill Wall, Bob Siewarga and Jerry Frizzell.

Coach Castellani also stated that competition will be exceptionally keen this year and all positions are wide-open. The first turnout on October 15 is being anxiously awaited by all prospective varsity players.

The basketball schedule for the 1957-1958 season is as follows:

New Courses Set By Evening School

Charles R. Harmon, director of Seattle University's evening division, has announced the addition of two new courses for the fall term program.

The courses are "Personality Adjustment and Mental Health," to be taught by the Rev. James E. Royce, S.J., head of the Psychology Department; and a new course in nuclear engineering. Instructor for the course will be Dr. Castle O. Reiser, head of the Chemical Engineering Department.

A discussion of the relationship between modern scientific psychology and religion will be a feature of the special psychology course.

The psychology course is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Oct. 3 to Dec. 18, from 6 to 8 p.m. It may be taken for five credits or audited without credit.

Stressing the normal personality rather than the mental disorder, the series will present basic ideas of personality and adjustment, the meaning of normalcy and the development of a wholesome personality. Emotion, intelligence, character and physiology will be considered in the light of man's total nature.

Recent developments in treatment, psychoanalysis and new drugs will be discussed. Lectures will be supplemented by motion pictures and discussions.

"Nuclear engineering offers challenging opportunities," Dr. Reiser said. "Successful applications of nuclear power still require major developments in materials, heat transfer, shielding and control."

The engineering course will be presented on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 7:30 p.m. It offers three credits.

Magnuson Grants Scholarship Funds

Senator Warren G. Magnuson has allocated Seattle University $1,000 per year for the next four years for scholarships for students in the State of Washington.

Announcement of the grant was made during the summer by Father Lemieux, S.J. Two-hundred-fifty-dollar scholarships have been awarded to four students this fall quarter. They are James Patrick Grady from Seattle; Donald Louis Schwarz from Centralia; Margaret St. Martin from Tacoma, and Donna Lee Taylor from Wapato, Wash. They will be known as the Warren G. Magnuson scholarships.

Funds for the program were made available to Senator Magnuson by the Clients Foundation, of New York. Candidates for the scholarships are chosen by the University's Scholarship Committee, with the final selection of recipients by the Senator.

1957 Aegis Honored

All - Catholic designation was awarded to the 1957 edition of Seattle University's yearbook, the Aegis, by the Catholic School Press Association.

This award was given in recognition of excellent over-all workmanship in national competition. The typography, art, portrait and aptness and originality of theme were particularly singled out as being the outstanding features of the publication.

Ray Whiteside, '57 graduate, was the editor of the winning annual, while Mr. John Talevich is the adviser.

The staff responsible for putting together the award-winning edition includes Copy Editor Shirley Ebner, a junior from Mt. Angel, Ore., who is also this year's "Aegis" editor.

Sharing the staff responsibilities were Associate Editor Donna Dom-bek, Artist Janet French, Sports Editor Al Krebs and Picture Editors Sue Redmond and Mary Ann Short.

MOST POPULAR GAME that ever went to college—that's Sticklers! Just write a simple riddle and a two-word rhyming answer. For example: What's a big cat shot full of holes? (Answer: peppered leopard.) Both words must have the same number of syllables—bleak freak, fluent truant, vinery finery. Send Sticklers, with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Don't do drawings! We'll pay $25 for every Stickler we use in our ads—and for hundreds that never see print. While you're Stickling, light up a light smoke—light up a Lucky.
