Press Workshop Opens Here Today

The third and fourth floors of the Pigott Bldg. will be transformed into the city room of a daily newspaper today. Delegates to the first Northwest Catholic High School Press Workshop will publish a four-page newspaper "from scratch" in less than 24 hours starting shortly after 1 p.m.

THE WORKSHOP will open with a general session in Pigott Auditorium, after which most of the delegates will be directed to their assignments on the paper. Others will attend special meetings devoted to tours and discussions regarding yearbook work.

The name of the paper is Student Prints, suggested by St. Mary's Academy, Winlock. It will be edited by Terry Dodd, O'Dea High School, who will work with college adviser Walli Zimmerman.

A complete staff roster has been set up by Walli, Lori Mills, executive director of the workshop, and Fr. Francis J. Greene, S.J., head of the sponsoring journalism department.

NEWS, FEATURE and sports reporters, photographers and wire editors will work under the supervision of high school editors. The high schoolers in turn will work with college advisory editors from The Spectator staff and the journalism department.

The yearbook delegates will meet with Kathy Kleffner, Aegis editor, and Mr. John Talevich, yearbook adviser. Special tours of Metropolitan Press and Forde Photographers have been arranged as well as informal meetings with professionals in the fields of engraving, art, photography and printing.

THE REPORTERS will range over the campus and the city for their stories, visiting such places as the Boeing Company and Century 21 headquarters.

Experienced reporters from The Seattle Post-Intelligencer and The Seattle Times will also assist the reporters and answer questions about assignments.

Arrangements have been made with the Associated Press and United Press International bureaus in Seattle for the wire editors to tour their facilities today. Saturday morning the wire editors will return to the bureaus, select a story from each service, edit it, write a headline and rush it to the Grange Co-op Printing Assn. for inclusion in the newspaper.

THE PRESSES WILL roll at 11 a.m. Saturday. The paper will be distributed to the delegates. Enough papers will be published so that each student at the 21 high schools represented will receive a copy when their delegates return home.

The conference will end with a luncheon Saturday afternoon. The Very Rev. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., president of S.U., will present individual awards for best news and feature stories, best photography and other categories.

THE SPECTATOR Shield will be awarded the school with the most winning delegates. The O'Connell Award, to the school with the highest percentage of winning delegates, will be given in honor of the late Edward P. O'Connell, who was editor of The Catholic Northwest Progress until his death in 1959.

Registered delegates total 118 with 12 advisers.

Science Stressed In Summer of '62

In connection with Century 21, S. U. will sponsor an expanded summer program from June through August, 1962.

THE THEME "SCIENCE Education" is to center around the new Science Building. There will be increased emphasis in all fields, particularly in education, according to Fr. John Fitterer, S.J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

It is hoped that the program will be especially attractive to out-of-town students, who can visit Seattle during the exposition and attend S. U. at the same time, Fr. Fitterer said.

Candidates Slow in Filing; Deadline at 1 p.m. Today

Filings for nominations in the primary student body election has been light, according to information released by Jim Van Sickle, election board co-ordinator, yesterday.

SEVEN STUDENTS filed for the ASSU positions Monday, one on Tuesday and none Wednesday, Van Sickle said. Only one girl had filed for an AWS offices as of Wednesday. Four more filed Thursday afternoon.

Filing closes at 1 p.m. today. All nominees or their campaign managers must attend a candidates' meeting today at 1:15 p.m. in the Chieftain lounge. Van Sickle will explain regulations regarding the primary election and campaign.

The unofficial list of nominees through Thursday afternoon is as follows:

ASSU OFFICES: President: Dave Irwin; first vice president: Mike Flynn, Mike Fischer; second vice president: Jerry Flynn, Paul Maffeo; treasurer: Tom Mulledy; publicity director: C. J. Michaelson, Burke McCormack.

AWS OFFICES: President: Mary Lee Walsh; vice president: Lorene de Jesus, Shelly Fountain; secretary: Mary Alice Gilmour; treasurer: Kathy Kelly.

Miller of Harvard To Lead Institute

Professor Perry Miller of Harvard will conduct a two-week Institute on the American Image this summer, Fr. John A. Fitterer, S.J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, announced this week.

The institute will be July 17 through 28, from 8 to 10 p.m.

PROFESSOR MILLER is one of the world's leading authorities on the cultural roots of the United States. He has been selected by the Carnegie Foundation to collect and organize dates pertinent to American cultural roots.

He has been a member of the Institute for Advanced Study, a visiting professor at Tokyo University and guest lecturer at several European universities.

AMONG HIS written works is "Jonathan Edwards." Edwards was an 18th century Calvinist theologian whose major work "The Freedom of the Will" set forth metaphysical and ethical arguments for determinism.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF of the Press Workshop newspaper, Terry Dodd of O'Dea High School, talks over publication details with Fr. Francis J. Greene, S.J., journalism department head, and Lori Mills, workshop executive director.

Dr. Adler to Talk To Students, Staff

Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, director of the Institute for Philosophical Research, will speak to three audiences Friday and Saturday, April 21 and 22 here. The topic of discussion will be "The Value of a College Education—the Marriage of Science and Liberal Arts."

Dr. Adler's first talk will be given to the student body, 1 p.m., April 21. It will be followed by a meeting with the faculty at 5 p.m. The third discussion will include invited high school juniors, seniors and their parents, 2 p.m., April 22.

Its purpose is not recruitment but to enhance the academic image of the University among people of Seattle and to contribute to a better understanding and appreciation of higher education, according to advance publicity.

OTHER ACTIVITIES will be a reception and a dinner, 6 p.m. Friday, and a tea sponsored by the S.U. Guild at 3:30 p.m. in the Chieftain lounge.

A controversial philosopher, author and educator, Dr. Adler, 58, received his Ph.D. at Columbia University, after having been instructor of experimental psychology there since 1923. He became assistant director at the People's Institute in 1928, associate professor of philosophy of law, 1930, at University of Chicago and professor in 1942. He resigned in 1952 to become director of the Institute for Philosophical Research.

As associate editor, Adler published the 54-volume set "Great Books of the Western World," and the accompanying "Syntopicon," an analysis of basic concepts in Western thinking. He is also author of "How to Read a Book," "Art and Prudence," and "How to Think About War and Peace."

ADLER HAS SPOKEN out against such persons as Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and Bertrand Russell. He has spoken ill of children and dogs. He has condemned the ideas of Dewey and Darwin. Revolting against the pragmatists, Adler asserts that ideals like freedom and democracy are not mere regional preferences, but demonstrable goods; and that man has will and reason with which to distinguish between good and evil.

Leadership Meeting Cancelled by Conflicts

The fourth annual High School Leadership Conference has been cancelled this year, Tom Kearns, ASSU president, announced this week. Kearns cited date conflicts and lack of housing space as reasons for the cancellation.

The conference was scheduled for the weekend of March 22, during the break between winter and spring quarters. Co-chairmen of the ASSU-sponsored event are Kathy Hogan and Leo Penne.

The campus visitors during the past three conferences have been furnished housing at Marycrest and Xavier Halls. However, a College of Sister Formation conference scheduled for the same March weekend has precluded the use of Marycrest Hall for the coed visitors. The visiting nuns will be using part of the women's dorm.

SOME OF THE Marycrest residents will move to Marian Hall for the weekend.

An alternate weekend in April was considered, Kearns said, but a lack of campus housing space and possible date conflicts with some of the visiting high schools' activities forced complete cancellation. A campus appearance by Dr. Mortimer Adler and visits from specially invited high school students and their parents was also scheduled for that weekend.

"We felt that unless we could have a first-class conference with full participation of the Northwest's Catholic high schools, we shouldn't have one," Kearns told The Spectator.

Attendance at the conferences averaged 150 students from 30 high school in Washington, Oregon and Southern British Columbia.

"We sincerely regret having to cancel this year's conference," Kearns said. "Organization of the meeting was almost completed, but we fully intend to continue next year."

Lenten Regulations Summarized

Lent began Wednesday. The Church imposes laws of fast and abstinence on the faithful to promote the penitential spirit. These regulations may be summarized:

ABSTINENCE: Everyone over 7 years of age must observe the laws of abstinence. Complete abstinence is to be observed on all Fridays and Ash Wednesday of Lent. On these days, meat and soup or gravy made from meat may not be taken.

Partial abstinence is to be observed in Lent on Ember Wednesday and Saturday and Holy Saturday. On days of partial abstinence meat and soup or gravy made from meat may be taken only once at the principal meal.

FAST: Everyone who has reached his 21st birthday must observe the law of fast until he reaches his 59th birthday. When health or ability to work would be seriously affected, the law does not oblige.

Lenten fast days this year are every day from Feb. 15 to April 1, inclusive, except Sundays. On fast days, one full meal and two other meatless meals may be taken. However, the last two together should not equal a full meal.

Meat may be taken at the principal meal on fast days except on Fridays and Ash Wednesday.

Eating between meals is not permitted, but beverages are allowed.

EASTER DUTY: The time for fulfilling the Easter duty extends from the first Sunday of Lent, Feb. 19, to Trinity Sunday, May 28. All the faithful who have attained the use of reason are bound to receive Holy Communion once during this period.

"I'VE GOT NEWS FOR YOU"

I know all of you have important things to do in the morning—like getting down to breakfast before your roommate eats all the marmalade—so you really cannot be blamed for not keeping up with all the news in the morning papers. In today's column, therefore, I have prepared a run-up of news highlights from campuses the country over.

SOUTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Willard Hale Sigafos, head of the department of anthropology at Southern Reserve University, and internationally known as an authority on primitive peoples, returned yesterday from a four-year scientific expedition to the headwaters of the Amazon River. Among the many interesting mementos of his journey is his own head, shrunk to the size of a kumquat. He refused to reveal how his head shrinking was accomplished. "That's for me to know and you to find out," he said with a tiny, but saucy grin.

NORTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Mandrill Gibbon, head of the department of zoology at Northern Reserve University, and known to young and old for his work on primates, announced yesterday that he had received a grant of $80,000,000 for a twelve-year study to determine precisely how much fun there is in a barrel of monkeys.

Whatever the results of Dr. Gibbon's researches, this much is already known: What's more fun than a barrel of monkeys is a pack of Marlboro. There is zest and cheer in every puff, delight in every draw, content and well-being in every fleecy, flavorful cloudlet. And what's more, this merriest of cigarettes comes to you both in soft pack and flip-top box wherever cigarettes are sold at prices that do no violence to the slimmest of purses. So why don't you settle back soon and enjoy Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste.

EASTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

The annual meeting of the American Philological Institute, held last week at Eastern Reserve University, was enlivened by the reading of two divergent monographs concerning the origins of early Gothic "runes," as letters of primitive alphabets are called.

Dr. Tristram Lathrop Spleen, famed far and wide as the discoverer of the High German Consonant Shift, read a paper in which he traced the origins of the Old Wendish rune "pt" (pronounced "krahtz") to the middle Lettish rune "gr" (pronounced "albert"). On the other hand, Dr. Richard Cumberbund Twonkey, who, as the whole world knows, translated "The Pajama Game" into Middle High Bactrian, contended in his paper that the Old Wendish rune "pt" derives from the Low Erse rune "mf" (pronounced "gr").

Well, sir the discussion grew so heated that Dr. Twonkey finally asked Dr. Spleen if he would like to step into the gymnasium and put on the gloves. Dr. Spleen accepted the challenge promptly, but the contest was never held because there were no gloves in the gymnasium that would fit Dr. Twonkey.

(The reader is doubtless finding this hard to believe as Eastern Reserve University is celebrated the length and breadth of the land for the size of its glove collection. However, the reader is asked to remember that Dr. Twonkey has extraordinarily small hands and arms. In fact, he spent the last war working in a small-arms plant, where he received two Navy "E" Awards and was widely hailed as a "manly little chap.")

Student Senate:Prom Allotment Recommended;
Youth Peace Corp Endorsed

The Student Senate passed a motion Sunday, recommending that the Financial Board allot $750 of the annual ASSU budget to the junior class for sponsorship of the Prom. The ruling will not affect this year's Prom.

THE PURPOSE OF the proposed allotment is to give clubs and organizations on campus more opportunity to vie for dates on the activities calendar. In past years, classes have been granted dates for social events chiefly to raise money for the Junior Prom.

This year's Prom will not incur a debt to the ASSU, according to Jerry Flynn, class president and co-chairman of the event.

"WE HAVE STUDIED all of the expenditures for our Junior Prom," Flynn said. "We hope that this year's class will be the first to sponsor the event without running into the red."

The revised bill presented Sunday had the new provisions to admit seniors free to the function, to limit attendance to juniors and seniors and their dates, and to eliminate engaging big name bands for the event.

The second provision was scratched after discussion brought out that about 60 per cent of students that attend the dance are sophomores and freshmen.

THE JUNIOR PROM will remain a traditional event at S.U., but big name bands may be on the way out. Flynn stated that when the Prom sponsors a nationally known band, additional cost is $600 or $700. Extra funds from ticket sales is only about $100, he added.

The senators did not legislate on dance bands, but many expressed the opinion that the pleasure of having a big name band does not equal the added expense.

A BILL "TO ENDORSE, support, and promote the adoption of a Youth Peace Corps" was passed. The bill provides that the Senate chairman appoint a committee of three to encourage action on the Peace Corps.

Senator Leo Penne moved "that the post-holes on campus be filled or that posts be placed in them at all times." Penne pointed out that a number of people have sustained injury to body and property through unexpected falls. The Senate passed this motion unanimously.

GINGER RUBY, chairman of the school song and alma mater committee, reported that songs written by S.U. students have been given to Joe Gallucci. Gallucci, a graduate of '57, has agreed to write music for the new fight song and alma mater. He will submit the music by the start of spring quarter.

The Senate approved the resignation of Tom Mulledy from the Judicial Board.

Marketing Club

The Marketing Club will meet at 7:45 p.m., Thursday in Room 153 of the Pigott Bldg., according to Dale Repp, president.

Mr. Taylor Finlay, market research director for Pacific Telephone-Northwest, will speak on "The Public Opinion of Pacific Telephone."

April 1 Deadline:Scholarship Applications Now Available

Each year, S.U. awards approximately 100 scholarships to students attending the University and to high school seniors. These scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement and financial need.

To be considered for a scholarship, a student must have attained a g.p.a. of 3.0. Most scholarships are given on a yearly basis, either full or partial tuition. A few four-year scholarships are available to high school seniors.

STUDENTS AWARDED scholarships for scholastic achievement are required to maintain a cumulative g.p.a. of 3.0, attaining a grade of B in every course.

Present students of S.U. wishing to apply for an academic scholarship, new or renewed, must complete the prescribed application form and take a general culture test at 1 p.m., Friday, April 7.

Application forms are now available in the admissions office and must be completed and returned to that office by April 1. Part one of the form is a personal questionnaire to be filled out by the student. Part two is a confidential financial statement to be filled out by parents or guardians. If the applicant is married, the applicant and/or spouse, if employed, are to fill out part two.

THE SUBMITTED FORM is to be accompanied by a personal letter stating the reasons for application, a letter of recommendation from an instructor and a copy of the applicant's transcript.

Information and test results will be reviewed by the scholarship committee during the last two weeks of April and the students who have been granted scholarships will be informed of the awards by mid-May.

IN ADDITION TO the miscellaneous scholarships provided by generous contributors, S.U. this year may award six named scholarships to present students.

The Crown-Zellerbach Foundation offers an annual $600 scholarship to a junior or senior majoring in physical or social sciences. Farmers New World Life Insurance Co. grants scholarship funds in proportion to the number of S.U. graduates employed by the company.

Olympic National Life Insurance Co. awards $500 to a junior or senior insurance major. Northwestern Life Insurance Co. offers scholarships to upperclass insurance students.

THE KING COUNTY OPTOMETRIC Society will award a scholarship to a student taking preparatory courses in optometry. The distribution amounts of the new Richard Williamson Jones scholarship have not been determined by the committee.

Requirements for high school seniors applying for scholarships are similar. Specific information may be obtained at the admissions office.

Amounts of scholarships offered to the high school students range from full tuition, renewable for four years, to partial quarter tuition.

ROTC Drillers Perform In Half-Time Activities

S.U.'s precision R.O.T.C. Drill Team, the Chieftain Guard, will begin its eleventh season Tuesday in an exhibition performance at half-time of the Prep-O'Dea game in the S.U. gym.

The team next appears Feb. 28 at the Blanchet-Prep game. On March 2, the student body will be able to see the "Guard" at half-time of the S.U.-Idaho State game.

AFTER SIX MONTHS of intensive early morning drill and uncounted hours of extra preparation the team will enter a series of spring parades and competitions.

Cadet 1st. Lt. William C. Cady is this year's drill team commander with Cadet 2nd. Lt. Carl R. Propp as executive officer. The advisers from the regular army staff are Capt. Francis K. Price and MSgt. Roger J. White.

CADY REPORTS THAT following the final cut the entirely soph-frosh team will contain 29 members: 10 sophomores and 19 freshmen.

The sophomores are: Cady, Propp and Cadets Robert F. Brennan, John M. Brown, John H. Lenihan, Michael F. Lightfoot, Philip D. Long, Charles J. Michaelson, Gene H. Rafanelli, and John E. Sullivan.

Student Taxicab Driver Likes His Work— But Oh-h, Those Little Old Ladies

By JUDY KING

"One thing about driving a cab . . . you learn this city upside down and backwards," said Tom Hamilton, an S.U. senior in psychology who drives for the Yellow Cab Co.

Tom said that the requirements for a cab driver "aren't too involved." The first stipulation is that the driver be 21 and that he pass a written test on the laws governing "for hire" vehicles. The potential driver must have a thorough knowledge of the city and sign a statement saying that he will not sell liquor.

"I LIKE THIS JOB because I can set my own hours. I start work any time from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and work until I want to quit. My pay is 50 per cent of my gross."

When asked if he knew why the Seattle streets were so mixed up, Tom said, "Well, it seems that Mr. Yesler and Mr. Denny disagreed on how the city should be laid out. One felt that the street patterns should follow the natural contour of the shoreline and the other felt that Seattle should be a planned city with rectangular streets. They couldn't agree, so they split up and each did it his own way. Consequently, the downtown streets are really fouled up."

TOM SAID THAT "little old ladies" are the ones who always cause the most work. "They weigh all of 90 pounds, but they buy enough groceries to stock an army. They take a cab from the grocery store to their homes—which are three blocks away at the top of a very steep hill. There are always six flights of stairs leading to their front door. After three trips with the groceries, they pay the tab and say sweetly, "Thank you, young man."

"On this job," Tom said, "you surely meet a lot of interesting people!"

Knitting Fad Invades S.U. Campus in Winter

In winter quarter, during any lull in the conversation, there is always the click, click of knitting needles. An agonized groan doesn't mean someone has stepped on a girl's foot any more. It means she's dropped a stitch.

SKI SWEATERS, "just" sweaters, and gifts for friends are the main products of co-eds' knitting needles. Many of the girls have never done any knitting before, but during this time of year, everyone gets into the act.

PATTY THRESHER from Portland, Linda Burkhardt from Sacramento and Julie Holm from Enumclaw, all look slightly envious as they work to finish their sweaters.

The girls say the most important thing to remember about knitting is not to pick too hard a pattern and don't be afraid to ask questions . . . only not during study hours!

Editorial:

Just Say 'Hello'

Whenever a group of high school students visits the S. U. campus it becomes incumbent upon every student here to put his "best face forward." This afternoon 118 students with a tough weekend ahead will cover the campus looking for news for a 4-page newspaper they will publish.

UNLIKE MOST college meetings there will be little or no time for relaxation for these kids. They will be under the gun to put the paper together in less than 24 hours. They will be distracted, dismayed, possibly disgusted, and, at times, a little snowed by the whole thing.

The reporters will talk to students and faculty here, the mayor, Boeing officials and the leaders of Century 21. They will follow a rough rule of "write the story first and think about it later." There will be little time for back-slapping and encouragement from their collegiate advisers until the workshop is over.

IF YOU MEET one of these visitors on the Mall, stop him, talk to him briefly, welcome him to the campus. Your friendly attitude could make up the visitor's mind to attend S.U.

But keep your visit to less than a minute . . . the reporter has a job to do.

Preliminaries Scheduled Sunday For Glamour's Best Dressed Girl

THREE OF THE COEDS competing in Glamour's Best Dressed Girl contest watch co-chairman Gerri Derrig, Seattle sophomore, illustrate correct posture with the help of a book.

The girls are preparing for the preliminary contest on Sunday to choose the best dressed S.U. girl.

THE FINAL judging will be 2 p.m. Tuesday in Pigott and will be open to the public. At the final judging of each girl will model a campus outfit, an afternoon dress and an evening dress.

kane, and Jeanette Fedora, senior from Longview.

The girl chosen at the final judging will be nominated by S.U. for one of Glamour's Ten Best Dressed college girls. She will be competing with girls from all over the U.S. Glamour will choose the ten girls on the basis of photographs sent in from each college.

S.U. Jesuit Is Handball Champion

By GRETCHEN FREDERICK

"I am well acquainted with this corner," said Fr. Francis J. Logan, S.J., speaking of Broadway and Madison and the S.U. campus. "I ought to be, I've been here off and on since 1938."

FATHER ATTENDED high school in the old science building on the Seattle College campus. "There were about 25 or 30 students in the college," he said, "and the same faculty taught both the high school and the college."

In the summer of 1919, when the high school was moved to what is now Seattle Prep, Fr. Logan assisted in moving the library. "I particularly remember the occasion," he laughed, "because Fr. Francis Burke, S.J., prefect of discipline, gave four of us a dollar and told us to get some ice cream. I entered the novitiate that same summer, spurred on by dreams of Jesuit riches."

AT S.U., FATHER, who is now assistant professor of modern languages, has taught French, Spanish, religion, and "even Comp. I in an emergency."

A handball enthusiast, Father won the Northwest Doubles championship for 1953. He played regularly on the handball court at Seattle College (present site of the L.A. Bldg.) and says he has played "ever since there was a wall and a ball . . . and sometimes a broken window."

FATHER FOUNDED the Hiyu Coulee hiking club 10 years ago this month and has "walked over a lot of this country." He is also captain of the Jesuits' bowling team, the Holy Rollers, a "proud team."

He has made two European tours, one in 1957 with 18 men students and the second in 1959 with a mixed group of 34 students. In both tours, the group visited England, Spain, Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland, Belgium and France.

"You can learn a lot of things traveling," Father said. "I hope to do more of it."

Seattle to Play Host

Afro-Asian Youth Conference Scheduled for 1962

By JUDY KING

The emphasis is on youth again in the proposed Afro-Asian conference to be in Seattle during the Century 21 Exposition in 1962.

Details of the conference were provided by Dave Irwin, ASSU first vice president, who was elected to the newly-created post of co-ordinator of the Afro-Asian conference representing the Young Democrats in the state of Washington. Irwin was appointed to the post at last weekend's state Y.D. convention.

THE FIRST PURPOSE of the conference would be an interchange among young political leaders of the views and issues confronting countries in the Pacific Rim, Asia and Africa, especially the non-committed areas.

The secondary purpose is to combat misunderstanding and acquaint each other with political processes, problems and aspirations of these member nations.

These goals would fall under three categories: (1) to develop understanding between future leaders in countries whose governments are as yet undetermined, colonial, or newly formed and the young leaders from democratic or parliamentary governments; (2) to encourage political maturity and wise self-determination in the face of the rising tide of Soviet and Communist influences; (3) to re-affirm and re-establish a position of good faith and intention for the U.S. that has dimmed with many years of war, impasse, and stalemate.

DELEGATIONS FROM THE Young Republicans and Young Democrats from this country would act as hosts to delegates from all organized political parties in the Afro-Asian-American countries.

The proposed theme would be "the responsibility of our generation for the creation of the world we want."

AN IMPORTANT FEATURE of this conference would be the inclusion of delegates from non-committed, non-white, and perhaps, communist countries.

A similar conference, held in July, 1958, in Paris was the first Atlantic conference of youth leaders and organizations to "promote mutual understanding, friendship and co-operation among those who aspire to play an active part in forming and carrying out their countries' foreign policies in the future." This conference, although it proved successful, did not include any of these divisions.

IT IS HOPED THAT the conference will be financed principally by funds made available through the Dept. of State and foundations such as Ford, Rockefeller, Carnegie, etc., and local contributions.

A tentative program has already been set up. Its most important feature will be to ask each delegation to prepare a statement, not to exceed 6,000 words. The statement will be submitted at the opening of the conference. The statement will outline the position of the delegation's parties and groups represented in response to a number of basic questions (preferably about ten) which will be the important issues discussed at the conference.

THE GENERAL ATMOSPHERE will be as informal as possible, in keeping with the aim of the conference, to create a situation where free exchange of ideas between the young political leaders could result.

There is already a meeting in Washington, D. C. scheduled for the middle of March with members of the State Dept. and possible delegates from the Latin American and Asian desk.

Problem-Proof?

I'm just a poor mathematician
Don't ask me to prove what I state;
I write this upon that condition
Since I am confused as of late.

'Tis true geometrically speaking
And surely I need not explain
Each function and fact that I'm seeking
Is quite analytically plane.

Now "A implies B" has been given,
Hypothetical functions galore;
We're told "merely find the solution;"
A rather ridiculous chore!

You take the square root of your product;
Then multiply it by the same;
Synonymously try replacement;
And now you must give it a name.

Now rational numbers perplex me
And absolute values do too!
That negative numbers all vex me
Is fact that I'm finding too true.

Now mathematicians work backwards;
(A fact that the world ought to know)
Besides that, they argue in circles;
No wonder this process is slow!
Though I'm a poor mathematician,
Yet mathematicians must learn;
And this statement bears repetition
To all who this title would earn.

Fr. Sauvain Requests Lenten Seminar Topics

A question box has been set up in the student chaplain's office, Fr. Louis A. Sauvain, S.J., said this week. Students are asked to submit topic suggestions and questions to be considered at Lenten discussions.

A series of seminars is usually scheduled during Lent, Father said, and suggestions from the students are needed if the series is to continue this year.

Chieftains to Face Two Crucial Foes

By GENE ESQUIVEL

The Chieftains face a basketball foe at home tonight—for a change—after a hectic road trip. S.U. will entertain Washington State's Cougars tonight and Oregon's Ducks, Saturday.

Game time is 8 o'clock for both nights at the Civic Ice Arena.

S.U. now is tied for first place among Northwest Independents with Oregon State College. Each has a 13-7 record on the season. While Washington State is virtually out of the running for an NCAA at-large berth, Oregon is close behind in the standings with a 12-7 mark.

OREGON STATE still has a home-and-home series with Oregon and must face Southern California, the nation's eighth-ranked team. Oregon has games at Washington State, and wins in the Palouse country come few and far between.

However, S.U.'s remaining schedule is no "bed of roses." The Chiefs tangle with Idaho State Wednesday at Pocatello, then trek to Bozeman to meet Montana State Friday. S.U. previously has beaten the Bobcats, 80-70.

S. U. WILL BE out to avenge an 88-76 loss at the hands of WSU at the Cougars' "home" gym. Big guns for the Cougars are Dwight Damon, Terry Ball and Charlie Sells. Another probable starter is little Nick August. Ball and Sells, former Ballard and Roosevelt High stars, are the top rebounding threats.

Oregon's attack will be led by Glenn Moore and Charlie Warren. Both are consistent scorers and rebounders. The last time the Chiefs met Oregon, they came out on the short end of a 75-64 decision.

IDAHO STATE SCORED its eighth Rocky Mountain Conference championship in a row last season, but trouble with league officials probably will put the damper on another title. The Bengals now have six league wins and no defeats. Idaho State has centered its attacks around talented Homer Watkins. (Fans, be nice to him when we meet them at home).

Other standouts for the Bengals are Larry Knackstedt, Frank Swopes and Felton Kennedy.

THE TRIPLE 23 POINT threat that was too much for Gonzaga last weekend will lead the Chieftains against W.S.U. tonight and the University of Oregon tomorrow night. They are Dave Mills (44), Tom Shaules (23), and Eddie Miles (54).

Hangers Give Apology

Dear Sir:

On the morning of Feb. 7, Coach Vince Cazzetta of the S.U. Chieftains was hanged in effigy. Our purpose is to stress the fact that this was not a maliciously intended action. It was an act committed by a group of individuals who did not anticipate the seriousness of the matter. May we stress the fact that it was an instantaneous action with no forethought involved. We realize that we cannot undo the damage that has been caused, but we hope that this letter serves to alert your readers to the fact that this was not an expression of the sentiments of the student body, but only a prank that got out of hand. In closing, we wish to extend our sincere apologies to Coach Cazzetta and his many loyal friends.

Sincerely yours,
Those Involved

P. S. Contrary to what has previously been reported, we are not writing this under any threat of being exposed.

Chieftains Squeeze by Zags; Shaules, Mills, Miles Net 23

By R. LEO PENNE

Tommy Shaules, in his finest hour as a Chieftain, dumped in the first and final points in a thrilling 79-77 victory over the Gonzaga Bulldogs last Sunday afternoon.

Shaules, who tallied a total of 23 for the game, chalked up the opening four counters and then topped S.U.'s second half comeback with a successful driving basket with only four seconds showing on the clock.

EQUALING SHAULES with 23-point outputs were Eddie Miles and Dave Mills. Mills, who was a terror off the boards, fouled out with three minutes to play. Each player had a 15-point total at half time.

In the first ten minutes of the game, the Chiefs kept just one step out in front of Burgess and the boys. At one time in the first half the Zags were out in front by five points.

The half ended with the Chieftains out in front by one, 41-40.

FOLLOWING THE INTERMISSION, the Bulldogs came back strong, scoring two quick baskets and holding the lead until the Chiefs went ahead 74-73 on Dave Mills' tip-in with less than three minutes remaining in the game.

Frank Burgess, high-point man with 30, scored his final two points to tie the game at 77-77 with 22 seconds to go.

From there, all the Chieftains needed was a timeout, a 16-second stall, and a set play for Shaules' shot for the winning basket.

The win gives the Chiefs a 13-7 record and refutes some local opinion that the Chiefs were entirely out of the running for an N.C. C.A. bid.

High School Tennis Coaches To Attend Clinic on Campus

The high school tennis coaches clinic will be Feb. 25, on the S.U. campus, according to Mr. Everett Woodward, S.U. tennis coach.

There were more than 60 coaches and teachers at the first clinic last year.

A panel discussion is planned for 10 a.m. in Pigott 561. The discussion will center on (1) organizing a tennis team (2) factors for high school players (3) psychology of coaching.

AFTER LUNCH in the Chieftain there will be a demonstration in the gym on review of strokes, diagnosis and correction of strokes, footwork, movement, balance, and court coverage.

Taking part in the demonstrations and discussions are: Bill Quillian, No. 1 PNW men's division, 1958 member of U. S. Davis Cup squad; Haller Peterson, PNW representative to the USLTA; Ken Burroughs, Seattle Tennis Club team captain; Glen Lindin, U. W. tennis coach; Doyle Perkins, high-ranking Northwest League player and coach; and members of the S. U. tennis team.

The clinic is sanctioned by the Washington Interscholastic Activities Association and Pacific Northwest Association of USLTA.

MR. WOODWARD said that the clinic lectures and demonstrations are geared for coaches. High school players are asked not to attend.

Fryers Beat Frosh Squad

The S.U. Papooses were downed by Pederson's Fryers Monday in a Northwest league basketball game, 101-88.

The win gave the Fryers an 8-2 record and entitled them to share the league's lead with Kirk's Pharmacy.

The Papooses and Fryers were tied with nine minutes to play in the first half, 30-all. The Fryers then got hot, and by the end of the half led 51-38.

THE PAPOOSES CAME back in the second half to cut the Fryers lead to 9 points with four minutes remaining. Ron Crowe, Pederson forward, scored on 3 quick lay-ups to discourage the Little Chiefs' last hope.

GREG VERMILLION, S. U. forward, was high point man for the frosh with 25. Later it was discovered that Greg had played the game with a collapsed lung.

The Fryers' Roger Iverson was top scorer with 30 points.

Speculating

with gene-esquivel

It's common knowledge that two heads are better than one. And I suppose that the same would apply to lungs — at least freshman basketball star, Greg Vermilion, thinks that way.

Tuesday afternoon at 5:30, Greg entered Providence Hospital with a collapsed lung, after playing the second half of a basketball game.

GREG TURNED in a 25-point performance Monday night as the Papooses dropped a 101-88 decision to Pederson's in a Northwest League game at Tacoma.

The collapsed lung is no laughing matter for Greg, though. He presently is the leading frosh basketball scorer and ranks second in the Northwest League with a 19.5 point-per-game average.

DR. HUBER GRIMM, the team's physician, said that Greg definitely will be sidelined for the remainder of the Paps' five games.

"It doesn't hurt now that I'm in bed," said Greg from his hospital bed. "A lot of people live on one lung, but for an athlete it's a different story," he explained.

"AFTER MONDAY'S GAME, I didn't feel too well, but figured I'd be all right after a night's rest," Greg continued. Then after a full-day's classes, I felt dogged, and saw the doctor." Later that day, x-rays were taken and Greg entered Providence.

Dr. Grimm has instructed Greg to stay in bed for an additional 10 days.

THE HOSPITAL STINT is not a new role for Greg. Twice before he has seen action in the hospital for knee and hernia operations. Greg stated that he never has had any lung trouble before but admitted that it might have come up before without his knowing about it.

But Greg isn't worried. For he confided that "it (the lung) probably will come up in a couple of days."

GREG CAME TO S.U. via Shelton High where he was the league's leading scorer and was named to the non-tourney all-state team. In his junior year in high school he played for Fort Benton, Montana.

First Tournament Games Won by A.R.C.'s, ROTC

The intramural double-elimination basketball tournament opened play on Tuesday with Htuos Edis, ROTC, Bordeaux, and the Royal Mounts drawing the favored positions. There are 31 games scheduled from Feb. 14 to March 10 to decide the intramural championship.

Tuesday, Htuos Edis drew a bye in the first game. In the second game the ARC's rolled over the Warriors 35-27. Ed Brillault led a determined second-half surge which pushed the ARC's ahead in the final minutes of the contest. He scored 13 to pace the victors.

In the first game last Friday, the ROTC cadets clobbered the Hustlers 59-42. Frank Keenan paced the Cadet's attack with 25. The Warriors forfeited the second game to the Golfers, and the Mafia drew a bye.

THE ROUND-ROBIN ended last Friday with Htuos Edis copping the American crown, and the ROTC winning the National League championship.

The basketball tournament schedule is posted in the Chieftain display case for those interested in attending the games.

TODAY the Golfers will play the Untouchables in the first game and the D.B.'s will play the Hustlers. ROTC drew a bye.

Ski Competition:

S. U. to Enter Winter Carnival

The S.U. Ski Club will send 140 delegates to the NCAA ski competition at Timberline Lodge, at Mt. Hood, Ore., next week, said Bob Kaczor, president.

The event, commonly known as the "Winter Carnival," is the West Coast version of the Dartmouth Carnival in the East, Kaczor said. It is sponsored by Portland State.

There will be ski competition in the "downhill," "slalom," and the "giant slalom," along with snow sculpturing, ice skating, and non-classified ski events.

S.U. PLACED EIGHTH out of eighteen entries last year. This year, Kaczor said the skiers have it planned so they will get the most points possible from the number of entries.

Each school enters a maximum of six skiers in each of the three events. There are 20 schools and therefore a total of 120 skiers, in each event. A first place win gives the school 120 points; second place, 119; third, 118; and so on through 120 places.

S.U. STRATEGY will be to send Kaczor, Ned Flohr and Phil Perry into the first three places in the downhill and have the other entries merely finish the race to gain points. Last year, Kaczor said, there were only two S.U. skiers that finished in all of the races.

The downhill race is a straight-away run of three miles. Skiers reach speeds of 50 mph, Kaczor said.

Toni Skrbek will carry the DON VOLTA VAULTS over a knoll practicing for the NCAA ski competition at Timberline Lodge, Mt. Hood, next weekend. The S.U. Ski Club will send 140 students, which will be the largest delegation from the 20 schools. entered.

main burden in the slalom and giant slalom. The giant slalom is a half-mile race, said Kaczor.

John Miller, Don Volta, Fritz Hoffman and Denny Meehan will back up Skrbek in the slalom.

ERIC SAILER, brother of the world champion skier, Tony Sailer, will set the course for the slalom, said Kaczor.

There will be points given for the non-ski events, which will be added in to determine the overall winner of the carnival. There will be points given for snow sculpturing (snow man making—101), for non-classified skiers, both men and women and for ice skating.

THE COMPETITORS will find the time to relax and swim in the outdoor heated pool, dance or do some plain old lodge skiing.

IGP's Remain Tops in National; Sandy Sturrock Blasts 611 Series

The IGP's bottled the Bootleggers, 3-1, yesterday in National bowling league action, to remain in first place. Sandy Sturrock not only led the winners but the rest of the league with a 611 series. His games were 221, 182 and 208.

THE AMERICAN league standings were not computed because the White Owls, last week's league leader, did not play their match with Pete's Pubs. The match will be played sometime next week. The Owls are representing S.U. at the NCAA bowling championships at Eugene, Ore.

Bowling for S.U. in the tournament are Ray Sandegren, Mark Hanses, Dino Favro, Jim Bergner and Jim Brule.

RESULTS in the American league yesterday saw the Holy Rollers romp (or crawl) over the Pedikegs, 4-0. Fr. Francis J. Logan, S.J., topped the Rollers with a 191 game and 528 series.

The Enfacs beat the Nasty Old Men, 3-1, with Kent Sakamoto rolling a 190 game and 534 series.

THE TWILIGHTERS outrolled the Troglodytes, 3-1. The Pin Leavers combined to beat the Padres, 3-1, despite Fr. William Weller's 190 game and 528 series.

In the National league, the Trees beat the Untouchables 4-0, with Grace Orchard leading the way with a 180 game and 445 series.

The Three G's allowed the Cockroaches only a half-point while grabbing three and a half for themselves.

ROTC blanked the Pinafores, 4-0. Toulouse's Terrors knocked out the Esotarians, 3-1.

S.U. to Host Annual Science Fair

By CAROL CONROY

The works of many young scientists will be displayed, March 17-19, at the sixth annual King County Science Fair here. The fair was initiated in 1956 by Mr. George C. Szego and Dr. David H. Read to honor exceptional science students.

STUDENTS FROM GRADES four through 12 in all King County schools are eligible to enter exhibits in the fair. These exhibits will be classified according to the scholastic level into primary, junior and senior divisions, and also according to the nature of the exhibit in biological or pure or applied science categories. The displays will be judged on the explanation of the exhibitor, originality, apt portrayal of a scientific principle, thoroughness, technique, and clarity.

The King County Science Fair is associated with the National Science Fair. The two top winners in the senior division will represent the local fair on May 10 to 15 at the National Science Fair in Kansas City.

THE NAVY offers a Science Cruiser Program to an outstanding male contestant in the senior division. Other awards will include a 10 volume set of Science Encyclopedias, a library of paper-bound science books, Air Force certificates of achievement and special local awards.

Trophies will be presented to winners in each division and outstanding exhibits will receive certificates of honorable mention.

EXHIBITORS WILL SET up their displays March 17, judging will begin March 18, and the fair will be open to the public March 18 and 19.

The King County Science Fair is financed by the fair's board of directors, under Chairman Frank McLaughlin, and planned by members of the faculty. Edward J. Baldinger, chairman of the operating committee, said that student help would be appreciated in presentation of the fair.

Faculty committee members for the fair are: Chairman, Mr. Edward J. Baldinger; Dr. Walter R. Carmody, Mr. Nikolas J. Damascus, Capt. Leon P. Estrada, Dr. Edward W. Kimbark, Fr. Clair A. Marshall, S.J., Fr. Paul P. Luger, S.J., Dr. David H. Read, Mr. Stephen Robel, Dr. David W. Schroeder, Mr. John R. Talevich, and Mr. Richard T. Schwaegler.
