Student Senate to Vote on $65,965 Budget

A $65,965 student activities budget was approved this week by Fr. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., president of S.U., according to Tom Mulledy, ASSU treasurer. This budget will go to the student senate for final approval Sunday at 7 p.m. in the conference room. The senate may approve or disapprove.

The total amount is a ten per cent increase over last year's $60,000 budget. The increase is due to the increase in the number of fee paying students.

EACH OF THE 14 major organizations listed below submits an itemized request for the amount of money needed for the year. The financial board reviews the request and submits the total to Fr. President for approval.

The members of the financial board are Mulledy, Dave Irwin, ASSU president, Dennis Williams, Jerry Flynn, Ginger Ruby, Fr. Robert J. Rebhahn, S.J., dean of students, Fr. Edmund McNulty, S.J., business manager, and Thomas Cossette, comptroller.

MULLEDY TOLD The Spectator that he plans to tighten up the finances so as to decrease the $580.71 ASSU debt. This debt has been carried over for years.

The breakdown of this year's budget as compared to last year's follows:

ORGANIZATION	'60-'61	'61-'62	Intramurals	450	450
Aegis	$10,100	$10,850	M.U.N.	200	300
ASSU	2,600	3,600	Opera Guild	2,000	2,000
A.W.S.	225	350	Physical Ed.	35,000	37,500
Chaplain	75	75	ROTC Drill Team	450	495
Culture committee	950	1,045	Sodality	450	550
Gavel Club	1,000	1,100	Spectator	5,500	6,050
Homecoming	1,000	1,600	TOTAL	$60,000	$65,965

Frosh Officers' Filing to Open; Candidates' Meeting Scheduled

Freshmen interested in running for a class office should file for that position from noon to 1 p.m., Wednesday through Friday, in the ASSU office, according to Wally Toner, election board co-ordinator.

Positions to be filled include five senate seats and three class offices. The main requirement for eligibility is a high school g.p.a. of 2.0.

ANOTHER requisite stated in the election by-laws is, "Candidates for freshman class office shall have completed not more than thirty hours at the time of filing." This applies only to freshmen who began their course of study during the summer.

A candidates' meeting has been scheduled Oct. 20. The time and place of this meeting will be announced in The Spectator Wednesday. Toner will explain the rules governing election procedures and campaigning at the meeting.

IF THE NUMBER of candidates filing for offices is in excess of ten for senator and two for each class officer, a primary election will take place Oct. 27 and the general election Nov. 3. If a primary is not necessary, the general election will be Oct. 27.

Voters must present their student body cards before casting ballots. Voting places will be the foyer of the L.A. Bldg. and the Chieftain cafeteria.

Crane Speeds Up Men's Dorm

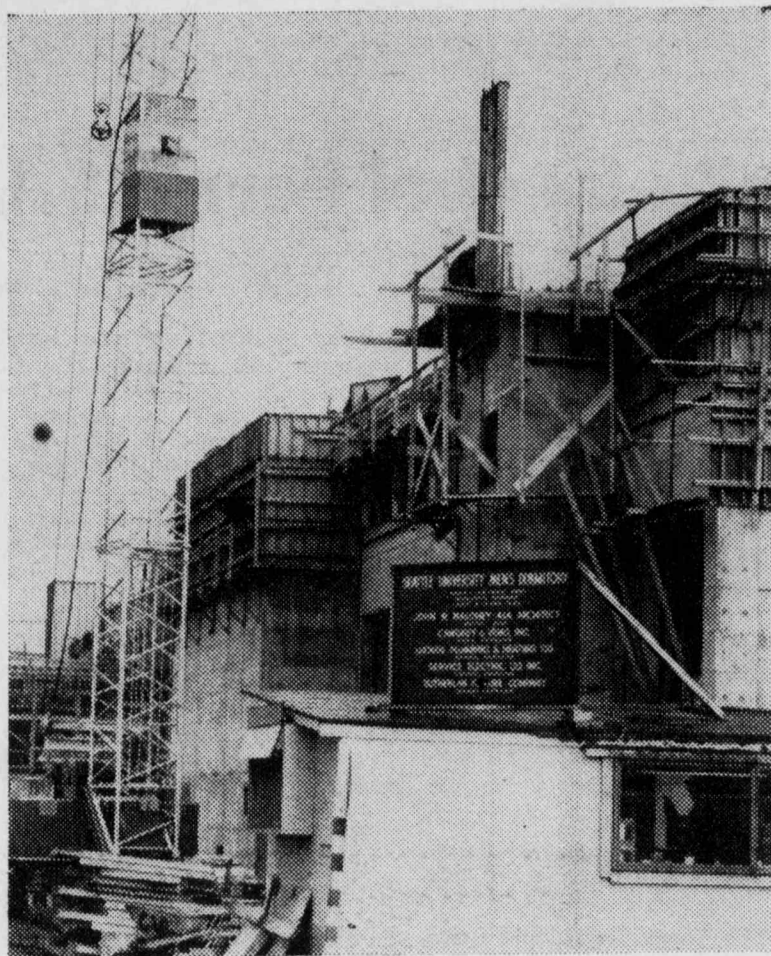

Construction of the new seven-story men's dormitory, scheduled for occupancy fall quarter of next year, is proceeding as planned, speeded up by the use of a huge crane which towers over the working area.

The machine consists of a 98-foot tower mounted on a movable base and topped by a 77-foot boom. The crane is able to transport material to or from virtually any place on the job site.

THE ENTIRE device is mounted on eight wheels and rolls back and forth along 39 feet of railroad-type tracks. Its great reach enables workers to move anything from a keg of nails to a section of pre-fabricated cement forms to any point on the structure.

"The saving in time and manpower, therefore money, is considerable," said Bud Cottingham, civil engineer on the project, and a '53 graduate of S.U.'s School of Engineering.

AT PRESENT the workers are putting up the wall and slab forms for the third floor. They have poured the basement, first and second floors. The plumbing facilities are being installed as well as the huge boilers necessary to heat the building.

GOING UP: The new seven-story men's dormitory is moving toward the skies with the help of a 98 foot crane which moves construction material to any place on the construction site.

Century 21 Report:

Space Needle Reaches 458 Feet

PIE IN THE SKY: The century 21 space needle will provide revolving restaurant facilities 500 feet in the air. The space needle towers over the 18,000 seat coliseum on the left.

Construction on the Century 21 Space Needle has been speeded up to a ten-hour workday. It is expected that this will make up for time lost due to recurring high winds and showers.

The Needle has reached a height of 485 feet. Before more steel can be added several days' welding must be done. A restaurant is planned for the 500-foot level. At completion the needle will be 600 feet high.

As construction continues, plans to make the Century 21 buildings a part of Seattle's Civic Center are being made. The Space Needle will be a permanent tourist attraction.

Plans for retention of the monorail by the city are being considered.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES for S.U. students will include, ticket takers, guides, maintenance and other positions not yet organized by the personnel department. Interviews for jobs will be scheduled after the first of the year at the personnel office at 158 Thomas St.

The jobs will extend from April 21 to Oct. 21. There will be heavier employment opportunities from June to September.

Aegis Class Portraits Set for Oct. 30-Nov. 10

Class portraits for the 1962 Aegis will be taken from Oct. 30-Nov. 10, Kathy Kleffner, yearbook editor announced today.

Kennell-Ellis Studios will take portraits for this year's book and Forde Photographers will take action and candid shots.

The studio photographer will set up in the third-floor lounge at the south end of the L.A. Bldg. from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily during the shooting period. All classes, faculty, Alpha Sigma Nu, Silver Scroll, Spurs, A Phi O and I.K. pictures will be taken in this period.

FOR THE FIRST time, seniors will receive four proofs taken in cap and gown, and two taken in regular dress. All other classes and groups will receive four poses.

Kathy has also announced that this year's basic sitting fee has been reduced 25 cents to $1.50. This price includes the poses noted above and a finished print for the yearbook. There will be no charge to the faculty.

PICTURES TO BE used in the 1962 yearbook will include head and shoulders, the yearbook editor said. Caps and gowns will be provided for the seniors. Other men students should wear suits with white shirts and a tie. Women students are asked to wear medium-colored sweaters. Members of the honoraries will be contacted about the dress for their club pages.

Because of the late starting date of this year's shooting, all pictures must be taken within the scheduled period, Kathy said.

PICTURE PROOFS must be returned to the studio representative who will be on campus during the scheduled dates. They should not be sent to the yearbook office. Students who wish to purchase pictures may do so from the representative.

Editorial:

Ideas A Poppin'

It's not spring time but our campus is sprouting... not with foliage but with ideas... fresh new ideas.

The Junior Prom looks as though it won't be the stereotype shindig with music and the Olympic Ballroom, not if the juniors are able to do anything about it.

THE JUNIOR class is dropping the Junior Prom and initiating the Spring Formal. The class committee is checking into the possibility of renting a ballroom on the French luxury liner, Liberte.

THE CULTURAL committee is active once again. It is putting in time to give the students some big name entertainment.

With Ogden Nash scheduled for February and Fr. Neil G. McCluskey, S.J., to speak on Monday, the students have an opportunity to broaden their interest waves.

THE HOMECOMING committee is rapidly transforming ideas into reality. Cal Tjader's appearance, under the sponsorship of the committee, seems a healthy indication of a big Homecoming week.

ONE THING that could cut the flowering plans is student apathy. All the plans and ideas would go for naught if the students don't support these activities.

Our campus is waking after a long slumber. We now have original ideas and the responsible leadership to carry out these ideas. Although most of the ideas are in the planning stage and even if they never do flower, it's encouraging to see new ideas on campus.

Apathy of Students Restricts Senate

By JUDY KING

The partial ineffectiveness of the student senate can be blamed on the misunderstanding of the students regarding the powers and purposes of the senate, said Mike Fisher, chairman of the student senate.

"WE BOIL DOWN to a small U.S. government inasmuch as we represent the student body, as individuals and as minority groups," said Fisher. "The student body elects its senators to represent its views. Everything we endorse is supposed to be with the approval of the student body. It is as much the students' duty to let us know what they want as it is our duty to represent them. If they want concrete legislation, they should let us know."

A booklet, containing the constitution of the ASSU, the past voting record of the senators, the names of the senators listed by seniority and past legislation divided into enactments and resolutions, will help to insure better communication between the senators and their constituents.

THE BOOKLET WAS put out this summer by the legislative records committee and is a clear-cut explanation of senate proceedings. Fisher attributed most of the credit for the work to Senator Robert L. Burnham, who holds the second rank of seniority. The booklet was put out for the convenience of the senators and is available to any student for reference material.

Under article No. 3, sections 1-3, covering the constitution, the purpose and powers of the senate are officially spelled out.

SECTION ONE... All powers of enactment shall be vested in the student senate.

SECTION TWO... The student senate shall be composed of five representatives from each of the classes.

SECTION THREE... The student senate shall have: 1. the power to pass enactments on all matters pertinent to the associated students; 2. the power to over-ride a presidential veto by a two-thirds majority vote of the senators present and voting...; 3. the power to approve all presidential appointments; 4. the power to approve the budget for ASSU funds...; 5. the power to set qualifications for candidates for any elective or appointive office of the associated students; 6. the power to charter all student groups and associations.

History of Crest Dramatic:

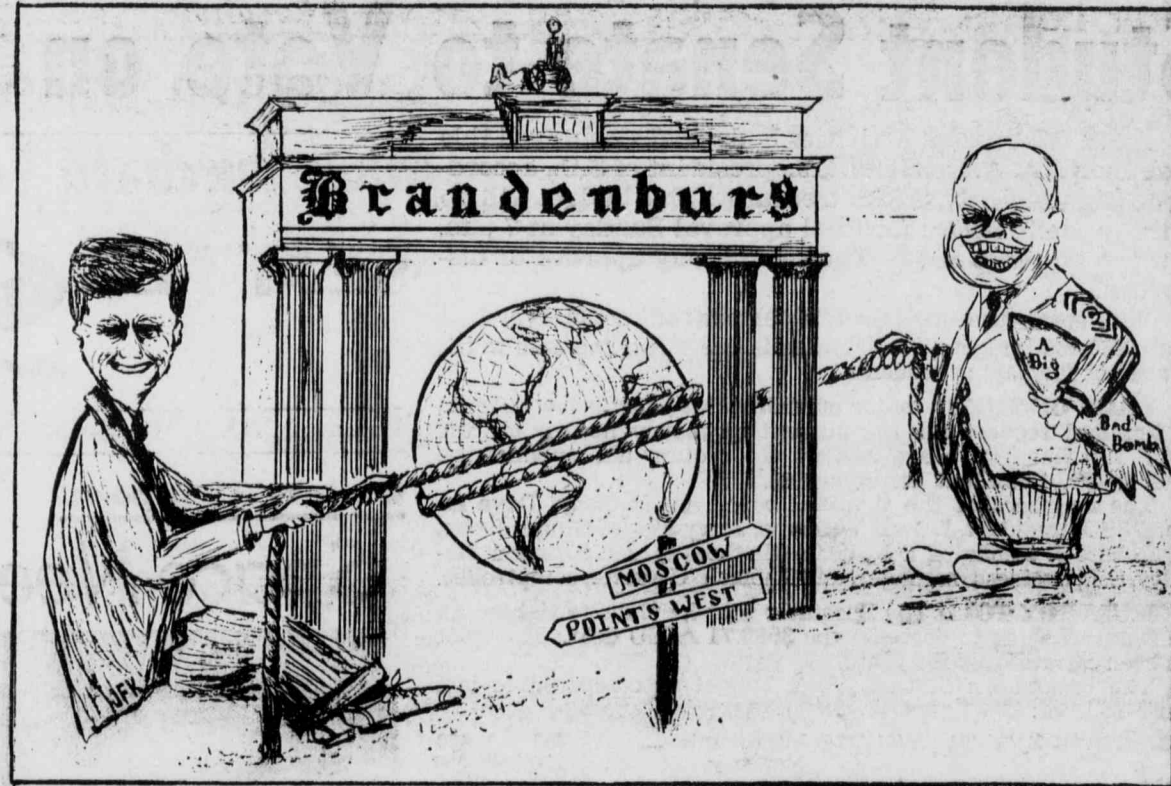

Loyola Family Symbol Forms S. U. Crest

By PEGGY CONWAY

The S.U. crest, which is emblazoned on everything from sweat shirts to ash trays, has a history which reads like the tale of King Arthur.

The upper half, dating back to the tenth century, portrays the arms of the St. Ignatius Loyola's family adapted for the Jesuit emblem in 1865.

Nikita Stages Blast for Friends; Morning After Reports Under Paar

By BARBARA MAY

Among the crises candidates: Korea, Palestine, Viet Nam, Suez, Algiers, Cuba, Laos and the Congo, Berlin has been chosen the all-time great semantic playground for the United Nations Olympics. In the most recent games, Nikita walked off with the gold medal for his yo-yo trick (using his extra-terrible bomb as the yo-yo). The moral of his story is, turn the screws and let Mao in.

MR. TITO, RECOGNIZED past master in the art of playing ten ends to the middle, invited a few friends over for a white-flag party, the result being a cordial lil' note of timely advice sent to J.F.K. and Mr. Khrushchev, "Say, fellaz, maybe you could sort of talk this thing over or something. And, oh... if you have a minute... send money."

Recently, as the red winds blew in from Havana, a palm-beachcomber was noted to remark, "I'll take the blame for the Berlin stalemate, for unilateral chaos, for Cuban actors, World War II, Custer's last stand, etc. ... if the rest of you guys'll just shuddup." (Slightly paraphrased.)

WHEN A GAME of Chinese checkers with militia was proposed, a fellow named Chuck (from just west of the border) said he absolutely refuses to play. Seems he's preoccupied with entertaining some old friends.

Says Ike, an adviser around the original Potsdam days, "Sure seemed like a good idea at the time."

COMMIE CHIEF Walter Ulbricht, "chairman of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the People's Republic of East Germany," or Puppets, Inc., is plugging up all the holes in his barbed curtain, using old pillows, shoes, hammers, sickles. Wally confided recently to TASS, Soviet "news" agency, that his refugee citizen-loss was at a record low. Seems he's a little worried about his title.

Rumor has it that an old Party buddy, Niko Budganin, who once hummed to the strains of Uncle Karl's melodic Manifesto, now sings a new tune, "Dig That Crazy Salt."

Jack Paar (presumably operating under the Marshall Plan) set up shop at 77 Kurfurstendamm Stripsch in partnership with a refugee who had had the foresight, before he left E.B., to bring over a load of Soviet mementos in his Volkspoleziwagon (ownership slightly questionable). Their flourishing souvenir shop now stands in front of the Gate selling barbed wire, bricks, cement, red flags, old tapes of Ed Sullivan shows, etc.

SIPPING CIDER through a cigar, sitting under the Gate one evening, Jack noticed a flying object coming westward over the Wall. This prompted the title of his next book, "It's a Bird, It's a Plane, ... No, It's a Refugee."

With the imminent obliteration of good ol' Terra, the I.K.'s (ever servants of the people) are selling real estate on Venus (incl. a one-way ticket via bald eagle). The scenery is great, if you don't mind a little heat—an invigorating 600°. With Sea & Ski (of course), that's: 5 minutes to a light tan; 15 minutes to a deep, glorious, golden tan; 60 minutes, serve with applesauce, salad, iced tea, aspirin.

custom, the family was known by both its paternal and maternal names, Onez y Loyola. The arms of Loyola are on the left of the seal, those of Onez on the right, which is the side of precedence.

The Loyola seal depicts two grey wolves with a kettle suspended between them. The Spanish word for wolf is "lobo," the word for and, "y," and the word for pot, "olla" ... thus the name Loyola.

THIS SYMBOL portrays the generosity of the Loyola family, for they fed the local royal troops so liberally that wolves could find a meal in the pot after the soldiers had finished.

The house of Onez is represented by seven red bars on a field of gold. This was a great honor, for it was granted to the house of Onez to wear on its shields as a mark of the courage of the seven heroes in the family who distinguished themselves in the battle of Boetibar in 1321, where 800 Spaniards defeated 70,000 French, Navarrese, and Gascons.

REV. NEIL P. MEANY designed the present crest. The upper half remains the same, but the lower half consists of three symbols designating the name and purpose of S.U.

The crescent is symbolical of the Immaculate Conception of Mary, under whose patronage the University was placed at its founding. The tepee represents Seattle, the Indian chief in whose honor the city of Seattle is named, and, therefore, also the University.

THE PURPOSE of S.U. ... "to foster the full growth of Christian virtue and learning in the young men and women under its direction and influence..." is illustrated by the tree, because it represents both Christ Himself, who is the full flowering of the tree which sprang from the root of Jesse (Isaiah 11:1), and Christian virtue, which was formed by the "crux inter omnes arbor una nobilis."

The evergreen tree was chosen because it is characteristic of the Pacific Northwest, especially the state of Washington. The crest of the shield is dominated by the I.H.S. (first three Greek letters of the word, Jesus) of the Society of Jesus and the eagle of the U.S., clutching the bars and stripes of the 13 colonies.

Another Letter Writer Scolds Spec

Dear Editor:

It appears that the overzealous attempts of the editorial staff of The Spectator to create animosity between the students and the student government of S.U. have not been abated.

In the last three issues of The Spectator there have been attempts to downgrade the efforts of the frosh orientation committee, the student senate and the ASSU officers. With a slight stroke of your pen you have attempted to wipe out all the good work which our student government does for us.

IT MUST BE obvious to you that the student body is not backing you up. How many letters have you received supporting your positions?

The student government of S.U. is not a Tammany Hall branch, nor by any means are you succeeding at being a junior Westbrook Pegler.

JUST REMEMBER . . . "If you ain't got nothin' good to say, don't say nothin' at all." (Taken from campaign speeches of Thomas McCann).

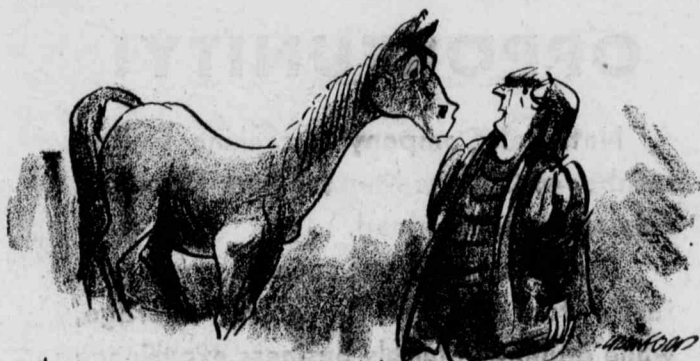

Sincerely,
Robert Moskal

SAIL ON, SAIL ON!

I suppose October 12 is just another day to you. You get up in the ordinary way and do all the ordinary things you ordinarily do. You have your breakfast, you walk your ocelot, you go to classes, you write home for money, you burn the dean in effigy, you watch Howdy-Doody, and you go to bed. And you give one little thought to the fact that October 12 is Columbus Day? No, you do not.

Nobody thinks about Columbus these days. Let us, therefore, pause for a moment and retell his ever-glorious, endlessly stirring saga.

Christopher Columbus was born in Genoa on August 25, 1451. His father, Ralph T. Columbus, was in the three-minute auto wash game. His mother, Eleanor (Swiftly) Columbus, was a sprinter. Christopher was an only child, except for his four brothers and eight sisters. With his father busy all day at the auto wash and his mother constantly away at track meets, young Columbus was left pretty much to his own devices. However, the lad did not sulk or brood. He was an avid reader and spent all his waking hours immersed in a book. Unfortunately, there was only one book in Genoa at the time—Care of the Horse by Aristotle—and after several years of reading Care of the Horse, Columbus grew restless. So when rumor reached him that there was another book in Barcelona, off he ran as fast as his fat little legs would carry him.

The rumor, alas, proved false. The only book in Barcelona was Cuidar un Caballo by Aristotle, which proved to be nothing more than a Spanish translation of Care of the Horse.

Bitterly disappointed, Columbus began to dream of going to India where, according to legend, there were thousands of books. But the only way to go to India was on horseback, and after so many years of reading Care of the Horse, Columbus never wanted to clap eyes on a horse again. Then a new thought struck him: perhaps it was possible to get to India by sea!

Fired with his revolutionary new idea, Columbus raced to the court of Ferdinand and Isabella on his little fat legs (Columbus, though six feet tall, was plagued with little fat legs all his life) and pleaded his case with such fervor that the rulers were persuaded.

On October 12, 1492, Columbus set foot on the New World. The following year he returned to Spain with a cargo of wonders never before seen in Europe—spices and metals and plants and flowers—and most wondrous of all—tobacco! Oh, what a sensation tobacco caused in Europe! The filter had long since been invented (by Aristotle, curiously enough) but nobody knew what to do with it. Now Columbus, the Great Discoverer, made still another great discovery: he took a filter, put tobacco in front of it, and invented the world's first filter cigarette!

Through the centuries filters have been steadily improved and so has tobacco, until today we have achieved the ultimate in the filter cigarette—Marlboro, of course! Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! Great tobacco, great filter, great smoke! And so, good friends, when next you enjoy a fine Marlboro Cigarette, give a thought to the plucky Genoese, Christopher Columbus, whose vision and perseverance made the whole lovely thing possible.

© 1961 Max Shulman

And thank Columbus too for the king-size Philip Morris Commander. If unfiltered cigarettes are your choice, you'll find Commander the choice of the unfiltered. Welcome aboard.

The single-game high was turned in by Ray Sandegren, 232. Mark Hanses took high series with a 566.

In the ladies' department, Mimi Burchard again dominated with a 458 series.
