Silver Scroll, upperclass women's honorary, has accepted eight junior pledges, President Ginger Ruby, announced to The Spectator today.

The pledges from Seattle are: Jeanne Hawksford, psychology; Sheila Donohoe, language arts education; Margaret Raney, biology education; and Ann MacQuarrie, English education.

THREE OTHER girls selected are psychology majors. They are: Sharon Missiaen, Bellingham; Jan Greenfield, Albany, Ore., and Kathy Kelly, Santa Ana, Calif.

The eighth girl is Kay Neff, an English pre-law major from Missoula, Mont.

The girls were selected on their qualities of scholarship, service and leadership. They have all maintained better than a 3.0 g.p.a. and have completed 98 quarter hours.

CO-CHAIRMEN for pledge projects, scholarship tea, Nov. 12, and Sadie Hawkins Tolo, Dec. 7, will be chosen at tonight's meeting.

Dave Irwin Vetoes Senate Budget Bill

Dave Irwin, ASSU president, Monday vetoed the student senate's bill "That the proposed budget be returned to the financial board."

Irwin's action came after the Senate voted Sunday against approving the $65,965 student activities budget and proposing that it be sent back to the financial board with certain recommendations for changes.

THE SPECIFIC recommendations were: "That the proposed A.W.S. allotment be reviewed, paying more attention to their actual need for funds; and that the possibility of increased allotments to the Model United Nations and the Gavel Club be considered; and that a more detailed budget for physical education and intramurals be obtained."

Irwin's veto means that the senators will have to override the veto by a 2/3 majority of the senators present and voting at the next regularly scheduled senate meeting. If the senate overrides the veto, the budget will go back to the financial board. If not, the budget will automatically be approved.

IRWIN TOLD The Spectator that he vetoed the bill because he felt that the financial board was "more capable of making a decision than the senate." The financial board allotted the money as fairly as possible and their decision should be upheld, Irwin said.

"This was the best prepared budget we have ever had," he said, "and I will stand behind it."

In rebuttal of the senate's recommendations, Irwin said that he feels that the Associated Women Students deserve the $350 allotment. The women make up a large part of the student body and are entitled to the money.

AS FOR MODEL United Nations and the Gavel Club, Irwin said, the two clubs do not represent enough students to warrant more than the $300 and $1,100 allotments. The financial board allotted the money so as to benefit the greatest amount of students.

Regarding the physical education allotment, Irwin said, the students are committed to support athletics. The students voted for athletics in the past, he said, and it's not the senate's place to question this commitment, as this would take a vote of the entire student body.

Fr. McCluskey Says:

Islam More Appealing To African Culture

Fr. Neil McCluskey, S.J., sponsored by the ASSU Cultural Committee, spoke Monday night in Pigott Auditorium on "The Race for Africa."

Fr. McCluskey is in Seattle before departing next week for Northern Rhodesia. He will report on conditions there as a part of the aid being given by the Oregon Jesuits to the Polish priests in Rhodesia.

FATHER WAS a member of the S.U. faculty in 1955. He served as assistant editor and education editor for "America," national Jesuit magazine. Before his new assignment, Father was the dean of the School of Education at Gonzaga University.

In his talk, Father spoke of two aspects of the race for Africa, the religious race and the political-economic race.

In summing up the difficulties in Christianizing Africa, he stated, "Christ is tarred with the imperialist brush." He explained that the Africans tend to regard Christianity as an European import, foreign to their native culture.

He offered several reasons

why Islam is especially appealing to the Africans. Islam makes small demands on the will and intellect, it is peculiarly African in origin and culture, and there is a strong Islamic trade monopoly in Africa, he said.

"BALLOT BOXES and a parchment constitution don't, in themselves, result in a full-grown democracy," Father said, in pointing out the problems facing the African leaders.

Father stated that the Africans have no concept of the dignity of the individual and orderly political controversy characteristic of Western democracy. He added that they are not committed to the West and are influenced by Chinese Communist propaganda advocating "collectivism" as a panacea for disease, lethargy, malnutrition and lack of capital.

THE FACTORS influencing the Africans toward the Western system, according to Fr. McCluskey, are their family love, their nationalistic spirit, and their love of the liturgy.

Key In, Zahren Out

The Interhall Council wished "Keys of the Kingdom" had been the movie they showed Sunday night. Dean Zahren opened the door to the projection booth, left keys inside, put foot in door as he lifted material into booth, slipped, fell, heard door lock. After fruitless efforts to find a keeper of the key, Zahren took the hinges off the door and got the show under way at last. Name of the movie: "The Enemy Below."

All freshmen who wish to run for office may file in the ASSU office from noon to 1 p.m. today through Friday. Anyone having a 2.0 grade point average or better and who has not completed more than 30 credit hours is eligible, according to Wally Toner, election board coordinator.

There will be a candidates meeting at 2 p.m., Friday, in the Chieftain conference room. The purpose of the meeting is to explain the campaign rules to the candidates. Toner pointed out that there will be no active campaigning before Monday.

Activities Board To Meet Monday

The Activities Board will meet at 7:30 p.m., Monday, in LA 219, according to Paul Maffeo, ASSU 2nd vice president.

THE PURPOSE of the meeting will be to arrange the activities calendar for winter quarter and to answer questions concerning club open house. General policies of the Activities Board will also be outlined.

All organizations wishing a date on the winter calendar should have a representative at the meeting. Those interested in placing items on the agenda should see Maffeo before 1 p.m., Friday.

Editorial:

Representation?

Does the student senate know the meaning of representation? The petty politicians struck a decisive blow against the representative form of student government last Sunday.

A motion was proposed by Senator Robert Corlett to reconsider the vote on the appropriations committee. This was the $3,600 budget approved by the senate two weeks ago in "secret" session.

CORLETT explained that he was introducing the motion because some of his classmates questioned the need for the newly-authorized scholarships for the treasurer and publicity director.

This motion was merely to reconsider and explain the senate's position on the budget. Approval of the motion would not have changed the budget directly, but might have cleared up questions in the students' minds.

THE SENATE was quick to squelch Corlett's motion, saying the point had been discussed thoroughly already.

In other words, the senate said they wouldn't consider the opinions of their fellow students. Here was an instance of students voicing their opinions through their senators. The senate chose not to respect the students, but to represent their personal ideas.

THE CHAIRMAN pointed out to the senators at the first meeting of the year that they were representatives of their classmates and that they should attempt to represent directly their constituents.

Is the senate representing the views of the students, or has it become an exclusive body of political dictators?

If the senate does not listen to the voice of the students, they will do an injustice to the student body. They will defeat the purpose of student government.

Letters to the Editor:

AWS President Speaks; Student Resents Filibustering

Dear Editor:

On Oct. 10, the ASSU financial board held its last meeting to determine the student activities allotments for the 1961-62 year. Basing their decisions on interests of the majority of the students, the members gave allocations accordingly.

At this time, $350 was fully approved for the A.W.S. It was felt that since the group benefits approximately 1500 women students, and since it presents activities which are of no expense to the woman student, it more than deserves the $350, which constitutes less than one per cent of the total student body fees paid by women students alone.

LAST SUNDAY NIGHT, the student senate held its meeting and considered the proposed budget. The senators did not feel that the A.W.S. needed its increased allotment because it had a balance left from the previous administration.

Speaking on behalf of the women students, I feel that the organization should receive a substantial allotment each year, regardless of its balance from previous years, in order to accomplish its aims in providing activities and services for the increasing number of women students.

APPARENTLY, from the decision of the senators, we are being penalized for our financial capabilities rather than judged fairly on our services to a major part of the student body. I cannot help but wonder if the senators are acting with the interests of the students in mind when they deny such a nominal sum to such a large organization.

Mary Lee Walsh
A.W.S. President

Dear Editor:

As a "guest" at the student senate meeting Sunday evening, I was impressed by some senators' lack of information on issues which were to be covered at the session.

MY EXAMPLE is their discussion of the allotted budget for the coming year. This allotment was printed in The Spectator on Friday—three days before the senate meeting. If these senators were fully interested in performing their tasks efficiently, they could have and should have made a point of getting some of their

Dali Jewels:

S.U.'s Contribution to World's Fair

By SUE HACKETT

The exhibition of Salvador Dali's "Art in Jewels" will be one of S.U.'s contributions to the Seattle World's Fair. Dali's collection of 30 pieces are considered the best jewel designs of an artist since the Victorian era.

S.U. is sponsoring the exhibit of the Owen Cheatham Foundation collection next summer. The pieces will be exhibited in Frederick and Nelson's 8th floor exhibition hall June 27-July 27. The exhibition will cost S.U. students only 50 cents.

THIS IS the first showing the collection has had in Seattle. S.U. negotiated with Mrs. Owen Cheatham, trustee of the Foundation, through the efforts of Fr. Charles A. Wollesen, S.J., and Mr. Harry Kane, S.U. grad. Mr. Kane is treasurer of the Georgia-Pacific Corporation of which Mr. Cheatham is chairman of the board.

Fr. Wollesen will be in charge of the exhibit. Members of the board of regents and the S.U. Guild will participate in the program.

THE SPANISH-born Dali is perhaps the best-known artist of our time. He is universally acknowledged as a superb draftsman and daring experimentalist. His surrealism, united with the eccentricities of showmanship, make him a controversial figure, but his paintings command as much as $100,000 each and hang in the world's leading galleries.

The jewels, like everything connected with the famous Spanish surrealist, are unique and intensely imaginative.

The jewels are executed by Carlos Alemany of New York. He will accompany the collection to Seattle, as will Mrs. Cheatham, who personally supervises the setting up of each exhibit of the collection.

THE SPACE ELEPHANT, (shown above), Dali's latest work, is engraved in 18-carat gold and bejeweled with emeralds, diamonds, and rubies. An aquamarine obelisk atop the elephant weighs 4,460 carats. The crystal of a melted watch encased in the obelisk is topaz. The jewel stands on a base of rough emerald stone.

Dali describes the work in this way: "Ascending through space toward the heavens, his legs stretched and made thin by the weightlessness of the atmosphere, the Space Elephant carries an obelisk symbolizing the progress of technology in the area of the celestial blue firmament. The figure in the obelisk is the 'prophet of interplanetary space'; the 'melted watch' symbolizes the fluidity of time."

Board Interviews Scheduled Friday

Interviews for student appointments to the ASSU Judicial Board are scheduled for 1 p.m., Friday. Board membership will be completed by the addition of two senior and three sophomore members.

Chief Justice Larry Hebner said that appointments will be made as the result of the interview and a test on the ASSU constitution. Appointments are subject to the approval of the student senate.

ACCORDING to Dave Irwin, ASSU president, the board met only twice last year, but this year ASSU officers will consult with the Judicial Board on matters of legislation before putting them on the student senate agenda.

Present members of the Judicial Board, in addition to Hebner, are Nick Berlin, Joe McKinnon and Randy Lumpkin.

Kiwis, Sneakers Register Wins

By BOB JORDAN

Tom Hill's ROTC squad was dumped 28-0 by the Kiwis yesterday, the second day of intramural football action. In the second game, the Sneakers sneaked by the Deadbeats, 2-0. Both games were at the Broadway Playfield.

Dick Sharp starred for the Kiwis in their triumph. He hit Dan Leahy and Frank Gartland on two scoring pitches in the first half, scooted for two 25-yard gains and picked off an enemy aerial. In the second half, Sharp tossed two more TD passes, both to Gartland.

The ROTC under Tom Hill managed only one sustained drive—and that in the second half. Hill tossed to Dick Severson for 30 yards, but the Army men died within the 10-yard stripe.

IN THE SECOND game, the Sneakers and Deadbeats concentrated on running during the first quarter. In the second quarter, Jim Sullivan blocked a Deadbeat punt on the two, and the only score of the game was in the books.

On Monday, the East opened the season. The first game matched the OMOc's against the Monarchs. The Monarchs were dethroned and the OMOc's ruled the gridiron as they amassed 32 points to the Monarchs' 6.

On the first play of the game, Frank Michaels, an OMOc, flipped a pass to John Wagget, a Monarch, and Wagget sprinted for a touchdown. Undismayed, the OMOc's continued to concentrate on a passing attack and Michaels passed to Mick Collins for one T.D. and Jim Merrell passed to John Miller for the other to end the first half's scoring.

THE SECOND half mirrored the first. Michaels intensified his air attack and zeroed in on Miller for OMOc's third touchdown.

However, the aim of Dan Salceda, Monarch quarterback, became more diffused. He passed to Don Conner who ran 80 yards for a touchdown — the OMOc's fourth.

The West followed the East on the flooded gridiron with Bill Gallagher's Bellarmine Butchers opposing Mike Fury's Bar Flies.

Eddie Miles Heads Chieftain Veterans

By GENE ESQUIVEL

Monday was playday at the S.U. Chieftain gym for 20 basketball aspirants who were the object of the cameramen's shutters and flash bulbs.

It was picture-taking day for head coach Vince Cazzetta's varsity crew which began to practice in earnest Tuesday for the season opener against West Texas State, Dec. 1, at the Civic Ice Arena.

THE MAIN attraction at the picture session was 6-4 Eddie Miles, the Arkansas Traveler, who rates as a strong all-American candidate this year. Miles is one of 10 returning lettermen to bolster Cazzetta's 1961-62 squad.

Regulars returning are 6-9 Ritchie Brenn, 6-11 Elbert Burton, 6-5 Ray Butler, 6-7 Ernie Dunston, 6-3 Jim Preston, 6-4 Dan Stautz, 5-10 Tom Shaules, 6-4 Leon Gecker and 5-11 Jack Fitterer.

JOHN JACOBSEN, 6-2, Bob Gillum, 5-11, and Bob Smither, 6-5, are the junior college transfers.

Players who "red-shirted" last year are: 6-10 Don Amundson, 6-5 Jim Dynes, 6-3 Jack Kavanagh and 6-7 John Tresvant.

Up from the freshman squad are 6-5 Greg Vermillion, 6-6 George Griffin and 5-10 Jerry Tardie.

Cheerleading Tryouts Scheduled for Oct. 26

Tryouts for cheerleaders and songleaders will be at 1 p.m., Oct. 26, in Pigott Auditorium.

STUDENTS MAY compete singly or in groups, and they will be free to choose their own routines. Presentation will be confined to a five-minute period.

After preliminary judging the remaining fifteen applicants will be divided into groups of five with fifteen minutes to develop a new routine for final competition. Final selections will be based on ability, appearance, enthusiasm, and charm.

ALL INTERESTED persons must submit applications in the ASSU office by 3 p.m., Monday. Times of individual performances will be posted in the glass case in the Chieftain foyer.

RESTRICTED mostly to defensive play, the activity of the game was slightly dampened as were the field and the spectators. The Bellarmine Butchers marked the only score of the game in the second half. They centered their attack on specialization of separate offensive and defensive platoons. In contrast, the Bar Flies' attack was solely a six-man effort.

According to Dave Nichols, the outstanding players were Sid Clark, of the Bar Flies, for his fine running and timely interception, and Chuck Bahoskey of the Butchers, for his kicking. In the last five minutes of the game, Sid Clark intercepted a Bar Flies' pass which started a Butcher march. However, time ran out and the score stood, Bellarmine Butchers 6, Bar Flies 0.

Variety Show Try-outs Tonight in Buhr Hall

Variety Show try-outs will be at 7:30 tonight in the Little Theatre in Buhr Hall, according to Dean Zahren, president of Mu Sigma.

Those who have made appointments will be able to try out at this time.

Senate Dumps Budget; Freshman Vote OK'd

By CHUCK VERHAREN

The student senate began a grueling, fascinating session at 7 p.m., Sunday. Born with a rumble of malcontent, it died after a flurry of legislation three short hours later.

Twenty-five spectators (guests in political parlance) crowded the conference room in the Chieftain. They went away tired, amused, enlightened, and satisfied that the Senate is doing something.

THE SCHOOL song committee reports through Sen. M. J. Shepherd (soph., Seattle) that the new school song is not ready to be sung. But it will gladden student ears definitely by winter quarter. Meanwhile, hum.

Sen. R. Corlett (sr., Napa) moved that: "The senate reconsider the vote on the appropriations committee budget." Corlett wished to reopen discussion on the budget, since some members of the senior class had opposed the ASSU treasurer and publicity director scholarships contained in the budget. The motion for reconsideration failed.

Sen. R. L. Penne (jr., Seattle) moved to approve the 1961-62 student activities budget. Lengthy discussion on each (except Aegis' and Spectator's) budget followed. Thomas Mulledy, ASSU treasurer and financial board chairman, answered budget questions skillfully and carefully. However, he lacked specific information about the A.W.S.

ACCORDING TO Mulledy, the A.W.S. had a large surplus in their treasury, but were still receiving a $350 allotment. In his words: "The A.W.S. are in great fear of the S.U. treasurer's office. They fear that the treasurer's office will remove their surplus funds from the treasury."

More questions found the issue still hazy, and Gerald Flynn, a financial board member, helped matters not at all when he said that the A.W.S. wanted the $350 in spite of their treasury surplus "on the basis that they were not sure of their figures."

THE SENATE disapproved the 1961-62 budget mainly for lack of information on the A.W.S.

A new motion returned the budget to the financial board with the recommendations that the A.W.S. allotment be reviewed, increased allotments to the M.U.N. and Gavel Club be considered, and a more detailed budget for P.E. and intramurals be obtained.

Then the Senate rammed seven motions through in quick succession. Sen. R. Burnham introduced a motion which might well be entitled "The Emancipation Proclamation of the Frosh." It states: "Be it enacted by the student senate of S.U.: that all members of the student senate shall be entitled to equal speaking and voting privileges in the senate."

INTERPRETED, this motion ends all discrimination against freshman senators. They can now vote immediately after their election instead of waiting two months to have "acquired wisdom."

Sen. R. Corlett moved that the chairman of the senate write a letter to Mr. Thomas Bannan (for whom the new science building is named) "to express the senate's sincere gratitude for his tremendous efforts." Mr. Bannan has generously devoted both time and financial assistance to the development and advancement of S.U.

AFTER FR. R. Rebhahn, S.J., closed the 70th session with a prayer, an ex-president of the senior class, wearing a "warmed-over sweatshirt," and The Spectator photographer, clad in sneakers, hurriedly disappeared.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The amazing air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please, in complete control. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

And Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper. Another extra-cost option well worth considering is the heavy-duty front and rear suspension; it turns a Corvair into a real tiger.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?
