Elections Tomorrow for Homecoming, Frosh

Homecoming court semi-final elections will be tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the L.A. Bldg. and the Chieftain. Each student will vote for five girls in each class. In case of a tie, the top six will remain candidates for the finals.

Winners in the semi-final elections will be announced in the Friday edition of The Spectator.

THERE ARE 20 senior girls running for Homecoming queen. Vying for the position of princesses in the court are 22 juniors, 20 sophomores and 21 freshmen.

Final voting will be Thursday, Nov. 29. At this time, three seniors will be chosen, one of whom will be selected by the Alumni Association as the Homecoming queen. The other two will be princesses. Two finalists from each of the other classes also will be elected to the court.

A presentation of the court will be made Dec. 6 at the pep rally the evening before the S.U.-Oregon State U. basketball game.

Freshman candidates for executive and senatorial positions will speak for two minutes in a candidates' rally in the Bannan Aud. at 12:20 p.m. today. All freshmen are invited to attend the rally.

POLLS WILL be open for freshman elections tomorrow from 7:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. in the Chieftain and on the first floor of the L.A. Bldg. Student body cards must be presented in order to vote.

Three executive officers and five senators will be elected to represent the freshman class in S.U. student government.

BALLOTS WILL be counted in the Chieftain conference room after the closing of the polls. The results will be posted in the ASSU publicity case in the Chieftain as soon as the results are verified. The counting will be open to as many as space will permit.

According to Mike Reynolds, election board co-ordinator, all candidates elected in the primaries have been approved by the registrar and the election board.

Debaters Win at UPS, Practice at U.W. Next

Three S.U. Gavel Club members took top awards at the University of Puget Sound last Saturday in competition with debaters from 15 other colleges and universities primarily from Washington State.

ANDREA BAHLAY, who took a first place in extemporaneous speaking two weeks ago, again proved her skill by winning two first places and one second place in extemporaneous speaking and a third place in impromptu speaking.

Paul Bangasser took first, second and third place in extemporaneous speaking and first, second and fourth place in impromptu speaking.

JACK KERRY, Gavel Club president, received three first place awards in extemporaneous speaking and first, second and third place in impromptu speaking.

Next Saturday a practice tournament will be held at the U.W. Debating as teams will be Leo Penne and Bernadette Carr, and Jack Kerry and Andrea Bahlay. The topic for the debate is "Resolved: that non-Communist nations of the world should form an economic community." Fifty schools from the Northwest will attend the tournament and participate in extemporaneous and impromptu speaking.

S. U. Voted Membership on Board

S.U. was officially accepted as a member of the College Entrance Examination Board on Oct. 31. The announcement was made at a meeting of the Board in New York. Fr. Frank Costello, S.J., academic vice president, was present at the meeting.

S.U. will now assume all the rights and privileges of a full voting member.

THE COLLEGE BOARD is best known for the tests it conducts on a national basis among secondary school students. However, this is only one of its services. The Board acts as a forum, a vehicle through which ideas can be passed easily among the member universities. It also operates college scholarship and placement services. Finally, the Board effectuates improvements within the universities themselves through a program of research, special projects, and commissions.

FR. COSTELLO said the College Board will help S.U. in the area of judging incoming freshmen. It will provide a single objective standard instead of a melange of standards—both objective and subjective.

Membership on the Board will add to the University's prestige, Father also noted.

Fund Given Senate's Unanimous Approval

The terms regarding the use of the recently established Contingency Fund were finally enacted into law by the ASSU student senate at its meeting last Sunday. The fund, comparable to a savings account, was established by a $2,000 deposit from the student activities budget last month.

ACCORDING to the bill submitted by Sen. Leo Penne, the fund can be drawn upon only "to meet the exigencies of a grave or emergency situation" and only with the approval of "three-fourths of the Financial Board and a majority of the Student Senate." The bill also requires that the fund be increased from year to year by deposits of not less than two nor more than five per cent of the total yearly activities budget.

During the course of discussion, Penne stated that whether or not a situation is serious enough to warrant withdrawal of money from the fund is, as implied in the bill, left to the discretion of the Financial Board and the senate. Discussion was brief and the action passed by unanimous vote.

IN THE ONLY other action facing the senate this week, a motion to establish a committee to study the results of this year's leadership conference was also passed unanimously.

Fr. Frank Costello, S.J., academic vice president of S.U., gave an informal report to the senate on the academic progress of the university and answered questions from the senators.

Christmas Cards Sold Until Dec. 14 by Sodality

The Sodality began its annual Christmas card sale Monday, according to Jerry Miller, Sodality treasurer and chairman of the project. Assorted cards are available from 60 cents to $1.25 per box.

Miller said that most of the cards may be personalized at a cost of $2.75 extra for the first 25 cards and 25 cents more for each additional 25 cards. The project will end on Dec. 14.

CARDS WILL be on sale each weekday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Chieftain. Organized teams, under the direction of Jim Mallonee, also will conduct a door-to-door sale off campus.

The Sodality has set a goal of $1,000 profit from the project, said Miller. The purpose of the sale to propagate the true meaning of Christmas and to finance such Sodality projects as the Academy and Leadership programs.

Bellarmino Chapel Completed

Bellarmino Chapel: "Masculine and simple"

By BOBBIE ZACH
"Masculine" and "simple" are the adjectives used by Fr. William Gill, S.J., to describe his design of the recently opened chapel in Bellarmine Hall.

The lack of windows was overcome by illumination from behind seven walnut panels on either wall arranged so that shafts of light slant towards the altar. This follows the basic plan in which all lines, including the arrangement of the walnut pews, the shape of the room and the altar, converge upon the central point—the tabernacle.

Behind the altar, which is made of antique rouge marble from France, is a backdrop, formed by a white crushed quartz mosaic. The tabernacle, candlesticks, sanctuary lamp, holy water font and crucifix were hand-crafted from bronze by a Parisian artist, Francois Bias. The hand-carved wooden stations of the cross were imported from Italy.

Masses will be celebrated Monday through Friday at 6:15, 6:45 and 7:15 a.m. Confessions will be heard at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday evenings.

Society's Crime

Last week a Belgian court met to consider the case of Mrs. Suzanne Vandeput and her accomplices in the so-called mercy killing of her 8-day-old baby. The child had been born without arms after the mother had made use of the drug thalidomide. They were acquitted.

THE DECISION to feed the child a lethal dose of barbiturates was admitted. Mrs. Vandeput, her husband, her sister, the baby's grandmother and the doctor who provided the poison, unswervingly maintained that they were right in killing the baby.

The courtroom was packed with sympathetic emotion. Women wept and fainted. Onlookers cheered the defendants. Letters poured in to the court and Belgian news media approved the action and supported pleas for acquittal.

The defense applied every trick in the book to circumvent the guilt of the accused. Science and society were blamed, not the culprits in the courtroom. Principles such as "the revolt against the torture of children and man's hatred of misery" were invoked to justify the offenders.

WHAT SORT of commentary is this on modern morality when mothers and doctors kill and are praised by the society? It renders a grim picture of the state of public morality of Belgium, supposedly a Catholic country, when a "crime of society" can relieve responsible agents of morality.

We can hardly help but shudder at the consequences that this fearful precedent may bring. How many mothers and doctors will follow a similar course of action, spurred on and encouraged by the courts and public opinion? Where do they propose to draw the line as to which baby should be killed and which should not?

LAWS ARE MADE to protect the weak, and it is hard to picture anything more helpless than a newly-born child struggling for its very life. May we all pray that no such precedent will be allowed to arise in our courts and that the Belgians will see their way clear to eradicate this blot before it spreads further. Emotion cannot be allowed to destroy law.

Campus Crossroads

By TIM KAUFMAN

The Dakota Student (University of North Dakota)

An exchange between the University of North Dakota and the University of Manitoba law schools occurred recently on the UND campus to promote a widening of the range of knowledge and experience of the law students. The program, the only one of its kind participated in by an American law school, consisted of an international basketball contest, stag smoker, football game between UND and State College of Iowa, and a speaker's luncheon. The Daily Barometer (Oregon State University)

An editorial proposes that all class government should be abolished since the individual classes apparently do little or nothing for the good of the school and student body. In addition, it is pointed out that the main function of the classes seems to be throwing spaghetti feeds, pizza feeds and dances. While the paper admits that social functions are certainly a part of students' education, it also brings out the fact that class government is not usually given a great amount of active support. Villanovan (Villanova University)

The annual Parents' Weekend this year surpassed all others. Beginning with a variety show, activities included a chance for all parents to tour the school with their sons and daughters, an opportunity to meet the deans of the schools, a concert, a football game between Villanova and Xavier University and a closing Mass. The Varsity News (University of Detroit)

U-D has now dropped credit courses via open circuit television. The University still uses TV teaching but now does it all in the classroom by closed circuit. Investigation developed that most people had difficulty in obtaining the closed circuit, even though students were happy with the method. In a poll taken, students indicated that English and math were popular, while theology was one of the most unpopular subjects taught by the "idiot box." It was pointed out by administrators that test results showed that students did just as well in the TV courses as in normal classroom sessions.

The Tulane Hullabaloo (Tulane University)

Fraternities on the Tulane campus have turned the truth upside down and show the resulting distortion to entering freshmen, according to a newspaper editorial which goes on to point out that during the rush period, rushees see only frat men and frat parties. The paper suggests that a solution would be to inaugurate a second semester rush program, even though this would supposedly kill fraternities on the campus once their usefulness was exposed.

Mark Tobey Ever Present

By CHRISTEL BRELLOCHS

The current exhibit (through Nov. 25) of Ward Corley, Kathleen Gemberling and Richard Kirsten at the Seattle Art Museum certainly reflects that, indeed, art has many phases and that if any artist lives in Washington long enough, he will be influenced by Mark Tobey.

ADMIRATION leads to imitation as reflected by Ward Corley's work. His style progresses from early Grandma Moses-in-perspective ("Interior," 1949) to early Mark Tobey ("Bella Coola," 1949) to later Mark Tobey ("Architecture," 1951) to Bonnard's French post-impressionism ("Bouquets," No. 17-45, 1952-61).

Corley's affinity for bouquets is well rewarded, since all 25 are on loan to the museum, each contributing a breath of freshness and delicacy.

WHERE CORLEY's sensitivity expires, Kathleen Gemberling's vitality originates. She is also a student of Mark Tobey and her paintings resemble candid portraits of cosmic dust. Her fascination, natural phenomena, is expressed in speckled and glazed oil effect on large canvasses. "July Night," a representative work, seems to float with its combinations of blues, greens and black. Her unusual style captures the excitement of life in semi-abstract art.

Richard C. Kirsten, the third contemporary artist, seeks to communicate "the rhythms and emanating spirituality of mankind. I would like to reflect, somewhat like a mystical mirror—the religious and philosophical evasive, ethereal 'something' that permeates the soul of man and nature."

KIRSTEN'S DESIRES are expressed mostly in black and white oil and encaustic medium. His works resemble two-dimensional sculpture and his titles poetry—"Song of an insect engulfing the moon." Unfortunately, his efforts at Oriental mysticism, like his paintings of birds, just sit. His technique replaces his ideas; the didactic paintings pattern into grey meringue.

Salceda Spurs Geldings:

Four Grid Teams Score Wins

The Geldings beat the Barflies 30-6 and the Sexless Six forfeited to the Hoosiers in intramural football action yesterday. Friday, the Tartars downed the Colts 32-0 and the Menehunes slipped past the Sexless Six, 8-0.

Dan Salceda led the Gelding team in their win over the Barflies. Salceda threw for one touchdown, ran two over from scrimmage, and returned one punt for scores.

EARLY IN yesterday's game, Salceda let loose with a 50-yard pass play to Jim Sullivan for the day's initial score. Before the half, Salceda scampered 55 yards for the second Gelding T.D.

Jim Dovenberg struck back for the Barflies when he threw a 4-yard touchdown pass to Jon Akin with just 30 seconds to go in the first half. The conversion attempt was no good.

After stopping a second-half drive by the Barflies, Salceda grabbed a Barfly punt and ran for another Gelding score. The score was 24-6.

THE GAME'S LAST score came late in the game when Salceda ran through a maze of Barfly jerseys for 18 yards. The final score was 30-6.

Friday, the Tartars scored two touchdowns in the first half and three more in the second. The Colts failed to draw blood and the Tartars are still unscored upon.

Dick Sharp opened Friday's scoring on a pass to Curt Thomason. Soon afterwards, Sharp again let loose with a throw to Pat Lucci for the Tartars' second score.

SHARP, THOMASON and Bill Russell all threw for scores in the second half. Frank Susak, Lou Noval and Terry Dodd were on the receiving end of the passes for the Tartar team.

In Friday's second game, the Menehunes struck on the first play from scrimmage. Frank LaFazia ran the winning touchdown across. The conversion was good and the Menehunes were leading the Sexless Six 8-0 just a few minutes into the game. The rest of the contest was a stand-off, and the Menehunes walked off the field with the win.

Tomorrow, the Boys will go against the Colts in Western league action, and the Shamrocks will vie with the Wastemakers in the Eastern league.

Broom Ballers Chosen For S.U. Hockey Feat

When the Seattle and Vancouver Canucks cower to the dressing room between the first and second periods of the Totem-Canuck hockey game Saturday night, two aspiring broom ball teams from S.U. will venture onto the ice.

MIKE (THE SPIKE) Reynolds will lead his undefeated, untied, unscored upon and unplayed dorm team, the Cave Dwellers, against an equally untried Urbanite team captained by Leo (red-faced) Penne.

Each squad will consist of six pairs—a male and a female to each pair—with legs tied loosely together. The attire will consist of tennis shoes, jeans, sweat-shirts, shoulder pads, football helmets and assorted paraphernalia.

WEAPONS FOR this grudge match will be push brooms and concealed weapons such as whisk brooms and the like. It has been decided by mutual consent that there will be no use of chains and stilettos on the ice.

TO INSURE complete fairness of play, Honest (Jim) Bradley will referee the tilt.

Sailors Request Housing for Trip

The S.U. Yacht Club is in need of housing for club members during their stay in Vancouver, B.C., next weekend, according to Vince Muscolo, club commodore.

The sailors will participate in a regatta sponsored by U.B.C.

"IF THERE are any S.U. students from Vancouver who are willing to put up some club members Friday and Saturday nights, we will be glad to give them a ride home for the weekend," said Muscolo. "We are going to need only housing and not food," the commodore continued.

Those who can help out should contact Muscolo (EA 4-4767), or Toni Wagner, club secretary (EA 9-0593).

GLOOM AT THE TOP

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married—but can't you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill? I refer, of course, to the Prexy.

(It is interesting to note here that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are called "Trixie." Associate professors are called "Axy-Pixy." Bursars are called "Foxy-Woxy." Students are called "Algae.")

But I digress. We were speaking of the Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealing, endearing, winsome group in the entire college—you, the students.

It is the Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-doo, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and blighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scamper goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir." "For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this package is a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes, and whenever I think of Marlboro, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will say curiously.

"Because Marlboros have taste, and so do you," you will reply.

"Aw, go on," he will say, blushing furiously.

"It's true," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a filter, and so do you."

"In my swimming pool, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a soft pack, and so do you."

"My limp leather brief case, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, the Marlboro box has a flip-top, and so do you."

"But I don't have a flip-top," he will say.

"But you will," you will say. "Just light a Marlboro, and taste that tasty taste, and you will surely flip your top."

Well sir, you will have many a good chuckle about that, you may be sure. Then you will say, "Goodbye, sir, I will return soon again to brighten your lorn and desperate life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."
