Candidates Have Their Say

Presidential Candidate Connolly:

Art Week Proposed

Having served a term in the student senate, as publicity co-chairman of frosh orientation, as a seminar leader, as tri-chairman of club open house, as vice-president of Alpha Kappa Psi, as a member of the frosh basketball team, as a member of advanced ROTC and deputy general chairman of the 1963 military ball, as a member of the financial board, as the co-chairman of this year's Homecoming dance, and having served on the library building committee, I feel that I have a very thorough and diverse knowledge and experience to serve as the 1963-64 student body president.

INSTEAD OF reorganizing our senate, I plan on reorganizing and utilizing the public relations commission. Four senators, one from each class, will choose 10 members of his class to be appointed by the president and approved by the senate. This commission's job will entail: bi-monthly meetings at which time the members will be informed of pending legislation, then act as liaison by discussing these matters with their fellow students. This will encourage and further promote a better knowledge of student government. Also, your senators will better represent you and your opinions in the

I plan to establish a Fine Arts Week to promote more interest in cultural events. Students will attend "Little Theatre" plays, musicals, variety entertainment and interesting lectures. I will enlarge our senior leadership program. The Saturday night discussions will take on new importance with a date change.

ONE NEW phase of frosh orientation will be to have several departmental panel discussions for new freshmen.

I plan to exercise tighter control over the activity calendar. Ultimately, the caliber of events will be revised to college level and encourage more Saturday night activities.

hope that you will keep experience, leadership and a realistic platform in mind when voting,

PAT CONNOLLY

DENNIS LAPORTE

Presidential Candidate LaPorte:

Seminars Suggested

By DENNIS LAPORTE

In reply to the questions in last week's Spectator, these are my views:

DO I FAVOR reorganizing the student senate? Definitely not! The bill to accomplish this failed last year in the senate itself and if we did reorganize the senate, I feel that it would grant the upper-classmen too much of an advantage. Academically I propose to organize discussion groups and small non-compulsory seminars and exchanges for our students to enable them to express their views across a discussion table with students of other campuses in the

In regards to the reading-seminar proposal for frosh orientation, I am for it; but I would like to go one step further by setting up a system of "junior" advisers, who will work with the faculty advisers helping the entering freshmen. These junior advisers will consist of upperclassmen who will help freshmen who plan to major in the same subject—such help will consist of explaining the values of their particular major, pointing out the courses that they as students had to take, etc., thus offering aid that in many instances the faculty advisers often lack the time to give.

SOCIALLY LAM for increasing the number of fireside socials.

SOCIALLY, I AM for increasing the number of fireside socials, luaus, Mardi-Gras-type dances—anything to avoid the same old mixer rut. If we had more split-level mixers and dances with a greater variety of music, then, I think that many more of our students would enjoy them. The Council of Seattle Colleges is an exceptionally fine idea, in my estimation. The CSC, I believe, can do more for S.U. than most of our students realize. By coordinating our efforts with the U.W. and SPC through the CSC, we can gain innumerable opportunities along every field, whether it be social, academic or otherwise, simply because in the CSC we will be drawing from the combined resources of three universities instead of simply one.

These are my views on these particular issues and if you agree with them, then I would sincerely appreciate your vote.

Codling Coordination:

Joint Meetings

By JOHN CODLING

The second vice president's office sets the cultural and social policy of this University. This office should not be known for "poor mixers," but rather for the coordination of the spiritual, cultural and social activities of campus life.

THEREFORE, IN MY FIRST week as second vice president, I will publicize and hold a joint meeting of all interested student representatives from the dorms, club officers and organizations to establish future effective activities board policy.

The activities calendar will be drawn up twice quarter to insure that it is flexible and up to

I ALSO PROPOSE to publish the calendar for student approval.

This university is judged by our activities. By giving effective leadership to the clubs, dorms and organizations through the second vice president and activity board, S.U. will truly be "a growing force in an expanding age." If these plans are to succeed I need your yets

Mahoney on Activities Board:

Promote Ideas

By DAN MAHONEY
In this article I would like to discuss the activities board, which is under the second vice president.

I feel that the activities board has seen a tremendous improvement this year in its manner of allotting activity dates and I would like to continue using the present system. The main weakness, however, in the board seems to come from the fact that there are no established means of suggesting and encouraging ideas for social of suggesting and encouraging ideas for social and cultural events.

WITH THIS IN MIND I propose to establish an activities council, a five-man group headed by the second vice president, whose sole purpose would be to amalgamate the best ideas of the students concerning activity changes and present these ideas to the activities board. The council would also propose a complete quarterly schedule to the board using the new ideas just mentioned, however, the final decision would still rest with the members of the activities board. This proposed council should alleviate the problem of money-making activities which do not lem of money-making activities which do not correspond to the nature of the sponsoring club.

First Vice President:

Fattorini for Judicial Expansion

By JOHN FATTORINI

Last year, the problem of senate re-organization was thoroughly discussed in the ASSU elections. Soon after the elections, the senate passed a reorganization bill. This bill has proven to be adequate to the needs of the ASSU. Therefore, I believe the question of son. Therefore, I believe, the question of senate reorganization to be a dead issue.

At the present time, I am a senator representing the junior class. I am chairman of the senate's political union committee. Previous to my appointment, I attended many meetings of the senate and was vocal on issues of vital importance to the ASSU. I feel that with this contact which I have had with the ASSU, I have the experience to fulfill the duties of the office of the first vice president.

THE JUDICIAL BOARD reigns as the supreme legal body within the ASSU structure. Basically, I believe, that the judicial board does not need reorganization. I am in favor, though, of the appointment of an attorney general and the position's institution in the judicial system of the ASSU. The attorney general would act as a legal consultant to the ASSU, represent the ASSU before the judicial board and assist the first vice president in the enforcing of ASSU laws and the prosecuting of offenders of said laws before the judicial board. I also believe that the ASSU should explore the possibility of setting up a stu-dent control board. This board would handle infractions occurring at ASSUsponsored activities.

First Vice President:

Purpur Favors Attorney General

By HARRY PURPUR
As candidate for first vice president, there are three points I would like to

1. Since the University's purpose is primarily academic, the senate should represent those academic interests which transcend credit-hour classifications. I would advocate the addition of five senators to represent each of the academic schools, to be elected by the students of the respective schools.

2. ALTHOUGH I have not had the opportunity of senate membership, I do not believe such membership should be a requisite for this position. If a student has a solid understanding of parliamentary and senate procedure, he should not be disqualified from the office of first vice president. More important than physical presence in the senate is the desire to be of service to the University. This desire, together with past experience as presiding officer of the Catholic Inter-High School Council, the CYO Central Deanery and high school student body president, I believe qualifies me to run for first vice president run for first vice president.

3. At present the ASSU has no official prosecutor to present its arguments to the judicial board. Surely, sound govern-mental principles demand that the judicial power not prosecute. It also should not be the duty of present officers to prosecute. This power must be vested in an attorney general removed from any obligation other than that of prosecuting offenses against the ASSU.

Twenty Questions

In order that students may familiarize themselves with ASSU and AWS candidates' platforms, last Friday's Spectator invited the candidates to respond to the following questions. The replies of those candidates who answered are included in today's issue.

Candidates for ASSU President:

What do you propose to do about pressing for reorganization of the senate in terms of interest groups and schools instead of classes? What specific contributions are you prepared to make to the progress of student participation in academic programs? What do you plan to do about the academic side of frosh orientation? Do you favor the reading-seminar proposal for frosh orientation? What will you do to unify the student body which is becoming so rapidly dispersed? What is your idea of mature "college" social events? What is your experience with these problems? What about the Council of Seattle Colleges?

SSU first vice president: What do you propose to do about senate reorganization? Can you offer any concrete suggestions or reasons? What experience have you had with the senate? What are your plans for judicial reform? Will you work toward the institution of an ASSU attorney

ASSU second vice president:

What specific plans do you have for the advancement of social and cultural activities at S.U.? What is your attitude toward mixers? Are you satisfied with the present organization of the activities board? Why or why not? How do you plan to solve the problem of money-making activities which do not correspond to the solves of the spensoring club? the nature of the sponsoring club? ASSU treasurer:

How do you propose to enforce the budget and club finance reforms that have been instituted this year? How do you plan to prepare for increased ASSU expenses?

Bob Dunn:

Publicity Innovations

By BOB DUNN

Because I am one who, elected, will instigate publicity reforms directly affecting you as members of the ASSU, I propose the following for your consideration.

I would strive for better halftime entertainment at basketball games in order to increase the interest of all spectators, students, alumni, faculty and friends alike.

RESTRICT THE honor of varsity songleading to upperclass girls by holding the tryouts during spring quarter. I would have only the frosh tryouts during fall quarter.

Arrange for the printing of activity cards each quarter listing all activity dates of the quarter.

ARRANGE FOR the strategic location of glass-encased bulletin boards about campus, listing current activities and meetings of the various organizations on campus.

Establish a publicity commit-tee functioning as in intermedi-ary between the ASSU and the students. The students would at all times be aware of occurences in their student govern-

Treasurer Candidates Speak:

Budget Reform Main Issu

I propose to enforce this year's budget reform, the contingency fund, by making the required deposit into it from the total student activities budget and by seeking investment of the fund through the University Treasurer's office. The contingency fund and its investment should cope with any large ASSU expense in the future.

I PROPOSE TO ENFORCE this year's club finance reform, debt control, by keeping an upto-date, accurate running balance of each club's finances. I would have more direct communication between the ASSU treasurer and the various club treasurers. If elected, I would (1) hold a meeting at the beginning of the year for all club and class treasurers to explain the ASSU financial policy and methods, and (2) present a series of talks on the basic elements of bookkeeping.

I would call upon my experience as business manager for frosh orientation and as a member of the appropriations committee of the senate to guide me in assisting the club treasurers concerning the club's budget for the year or any activity which the club sponsors.

I WOULD ASK for an increase in funds for the cultural committee and a separate account, similar to Homecoming, for frosh orientation.

By PAUL BASTASCH

I am a junior from Portland, majoring in commerce and finance. During my sophomore year, I served on the student senate where I gained a general knowledge of the working of student government at S.U.

I PROPOSE TO set up a budget at the beginning of the year which will allot funds in a manner most fair to all organizations. For those clubs which have difficulty in keeping out of the red, I will confer with their presidents and seek to work out a method of gaining better support for the programs they sponsor.

One method of preparing for the increased expenses that will meet the ASSU as the student body expands is to start an investment program with the money now in the contingency fund.

Joann Cereghino Plans for AWS

By JOANN CEREGHINO

During the past three years, AWS has become an active and unified force on the S.U. campus. Now it is time for AWS to expand—academically, culturally and socially. I feel this could be accomplished by the follow-

Establishment of a lecture luncheon series to present prominent speakers to extend their views on subjects essential to a well-educated woman.

Establishment of a scholar-ship fund for an outstanding working woman student.

Mary Jo Shepherd:

AWS to Expand Areas

By MARY JO SHEPHERD

As a candidate for president of AWS, I feel my experience as both a dorm and a town girl enables me to be truly an officer of all the women. Serving as AWS vice president this year has given me additional executive experience as well as a thorough knowledge of our activities and our organization's most pressing needs.

I FEEL there are three major areas in our program which need immediate attention. (1) The big-little sister program should be made a year-long activity correlated with the quarterly fashion board shows. (2) With the emphasis on personal contact, a foreign women students' committee should be established to bring these women into our activities. (3) A special arts committee should be established to engage prominent speakers on topics of interest to a well-educated woman, e.g., flower arranging and interior decorating.

Consider what I have done and what I would like to do tomorrow when you vote!

AWS Secretary:

Better Communications Promised

By JUDY NOTSKE

If desire can work wonders, then my desire to serve you, the Associated Women Students of S.U., could make next year a wondrously productive year for AWS. A sophomore psychology major, I am a member of Town Girls and Spurs. In administrative positions, I have served as co-chairman of AWS Christmas decorations on campus during my freshman year, and this year as co-chairman of the frosh orientation mixer. I also attended the fall leadership conference.

DURING THE past year and a half I have worked for the Allstate Insurance Company and have gained valuable experience as to the duties and actions of a secretary. As secretary and assistant to other officers, I would like to see better communications between the coordinating cabinet and womens' organizations by mimeographing the minutes and distributing them among the club represent-or worthlessness is forthcoming in the student body elections. WE BELIEVE that the idea of student government is sound, that it has great potential for improving the students and the University, and that it is advancing markedly. This year has seen noticeable improveprovements in three facets of student activity:

1) In intellectual life, with the Saturday-night Discussions, speakers on campus like Vance ackard and Maria Von Trapp, high-level entertainment like the Cleveland Players, improvement of The Spectator and creation of The Journeyman supplement, and with promotion of intellectual emphasis for Frosh Orientation.

2) In social life, by bringing a big name band to Homecoming, on-campus semiformal dances,

All these innovations deserve the enduring support of the student body, and must be maintained and improved upon by the ASSU officers. The continued program of student gov-ernment toward making S.U. a quality institution in student activities as well as in academics urgently demands concerted effort on the part of all concerned.

THE RESPONSIBILITY of keeping the ASSU from stagnating must, in the coming year, rest primarily upon the ASSU president. Most of the improvements made in the last year in the ASSU will depend for its continuation upon the ability and enthusiasm of the president

Reliable Records Pledged

By ANNE GILSDORF

The ASSU is your business; you are the employers, and I am applying for the job of ASSU secretary, which, by the way, also involves being a receptionist, office assistant, file clerk and errand girl.

IF YOU decide to hire me, these are some of the things I would like to do: keep reliable, accurate and easily useable minutes and records for all offices, for the senate, committees and subcommittees, for the boards-activities, movie, mixer, judicial and financial.

I will assist and cooperate ______ fully with the executive secretary in her work; keep the office well-supplied with such necessary items as paper, pencils, mimeo supplies, adding machine tapes, etc.; keep a reference list of businesses for these items, for repairs and services; keep a file of you who sign up to work on ASSU activities and actually give you the opportunity to work, not just sign up and be forgotten; strive at all times to keep the office efficient, tidy and, above all, as the place where your business is being carried on, a place to which you, the individual, will be made welcome and wanted.

However, the second half found Eddie Miles showing his All - American caliber. Hitting from outside and driving well, the high-scoring senior paced the rally that tied the game 69-69 with 4:30 remaining.
