Review Honors S. U. Cadets

By EMMETT LANE

S.U. ROTC cadets will complete their training with the annual review at Ft. Lawton at 1:30 p.m. today.

The review will be highlighted by the presentation of awards to those cadets who have shown excellence in different phases of military and academic life.

CADET COL. Dennis Westover will receive the Seattle University Sabre Award, which is given annually to the Brigade Commander. He is also senior winner of the superior cadet ribbon. Other recipients of this award are Dick Baker, junior; Bill Kay, sophomore, and Gary Buckley, freshman.

The Inspirational awards, given to cadets in each class who demonstrate military bearing and general proficiency, will go to Daniel Salceda, senior; Gary Stolliday, junior; Charles Riggs, sophomore, and Steven Mezich, freshman.

The Scabbard and Blade medals for excellence in military science will be presented to William Rowe, senior; Tony Vivolo, junior; Robert Wheeldon, sophomore, and Noel Gilbrough, freshman.

MEDALS for academic excellence in all courses, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune, will be given to Fred Bruener, senior; Dennis Vercillo, junior; Fred Burich, junior, second-year award, and Gary Buckley, freshman.

Distinguished Drill Team Member awards will be presented to Roman Millett, drill team commander, and to freshman cadet, Paul Neeson. Senior cadet, John Brockliss, and junior cadet, Terry French, will receive the Knights of Columbus award for showing the most improvement in leadership and performance.

Four awards are given to top members of the rifle team: The Superior Marksman award and three Distinguished Rifleman awards. Recipients in order of finish are Mike Leibold, James Fraser, Andre Perron and Dennis Jacobsen.

TWO MEMBERS of the Chieftain Rifles will be honored. They are Ray Heltsley, outstanding member, and Bill Kay, inspirational award.

Other cadets who will receive awards, and their award, include: Fred Bruener, Reserve Officers' Association Scholarship; Pat Connolly, Graduating Senior Scabbard and Blade Award; Lawrence Daly, Society of American Military Engineers

Medal; Robert Kelly, Infantry Award; Pat Connolly, Artillery Award; Robert Baker, Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association Award; David McDermott, American Ordnance Association Gold Scholarship Key, and Roger Dunn, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States Medal.

ALSO RECEIVING awards are: Ken Crowder for the outstanding junior who is in the upper 10 per cent of his class; Lawrence Daly, the Association of the United States Army Chieftain Award, and Tony Vivolo, the Boeing Award for outstanding junior displaying leadership and academic excellence.

Three to Choose Merit Scholars

Carol Ann Conroy, Wally Toner and Tim Sullivan have been appointed to the committee which will select 10 ASSU Merit Scholars by the end of the quarter.

The appointments were announced by Mick McHugh, ASSU president, yesterday.

THE THREE will confer with Fr. Robert Rebhahn, S.J., dean of students, to select those who will be honored. The Merit Scholars will be chosen from the list of applicants for University academic scholarships; however, any student who has a 3.00 g.p.a. or better is eligible to apply.

Those who did not apply for an academic scholarship and who wish to be considered for the ASSU scholarships should report to the ASSU office before Wednesday. Office hours are 1-3 p.m.

Ten Bills Face Senators; Bring Yourself a Lunch

By JUDY RAUNIG

The senate is likely to have another long session Sunday. They have 10 bills to consider under old business.

Three bills submitted by Sen. Brian Gain are on the agenda. One calls for the student body officers to be sworn into office and assume their duties and responsibilities by the fourth regularly scheduled senate meeting of spring quarter.

ANOTHER calls for the student senators to be sworn into office and assume their duties and responsibilities at the first regularly scheduled senate meeting following their election.

A K Psi Gives Prof. Award

RON PETERSON

Alpha Kappa Psi, S.U.'s business fraternity, will honor Ron Peterson of the Commerce and Finance faculty with a professor exemplar award at its demit ceremony May 30 at the Washington Athletic Club.

THIS IS THE FIRST year the award will be given. It will be awarded annually to a faculty member who, in the opinion of the selection committee, is a living example of the ideals of the University and uses his talents to motivate students to academic achievement.

The graduating seniors in Alpha Kappa Psi will renew their pledges and be accepted into the fraternity's alumni association during the evening. A reception is scheduled from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Dinner and dancing will follow.

JOE MILLER, who was Man of the Year at S.U. last year, and Sal Trippy will be given bronze keys for distinguished service to the fraternity.

Tolo King to Reign For 'Leap Year '64'

By MARY KAY HICKEY

The royalty for the last dance of the school year will not merit the usual adjectives of "lovely and charming." They're all male.

In keeping with the "Leap Year" theme of Tolo Week, May 26-29, the men's organizations on campus have nominated candidates for Tolo King. He will be chosen by the vote of the girls on Tolo Day, May 28, and will reign over the annual Cotton Tolo, "The Last Straw," on May 29.

THE DANCE will be at the Norselander from 9 p.m. to midnight. Burke Garrett and his orchestra will provide music.

The king will be awarded a dinner for two at the Norselander. Club nominees are: Steve Lundquist, I.K.'s; John Baisch, Scabbard and Blade; Andy McClure, A Phi O; Bill Kay, Chieftain Rifles; Ron Hill, Alpha Sigma Nu; Mick Schreck, Alpha Kappa Psi.

Bellarmino candidates are:

ALL CONTENDERS will be introduced at the mixer "Catch Him If You Can" between 7:30-10:30 p.m. on May 26 in the gym, where tennis shoes must be worn. The Stags will play for the dance. Admission will be 64 cents.

Bids for the Cotton Tolo will go on sale today to seniors from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. in the Chieftain. They will be offered to the juniors on Monday, sophomores on Tuesday, and freshman on Wednesday. Any remaining bids will be open to anyone on Thursday. The "turnabout" will cost the girls $2.85.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH: Sophomore Frank Knight bends to take a drink from a campus sprinkler recently. The nozzle was taken out so that the sprinkler could be cleaned of debris, and water gushed up like a fountain.

Play Musical Run Tonight

Entertainment on campus this week includes a play and a musical.

"Blithe Spirit" will begin its three-day run tonight at 8:30 p.m. in Teatro Inigo. Admission for students is 75 cents and $1.25 for the public. Reservations can be made by calling LA 5-7064. Performances are also scheduled Saturday and Sunday nights.

"Naughty Marietta" will continue its run tonight at 8 p.m. in Pigott Aud. Admission for students is $1 and $1.75 for the public. The final performance will be tomorrow night.

Needy Scholars Scorned

To the Editor:

The annual selection of scholarship recipients has prompted me to comment on the University's policy concerning financial aid to its students. As usual there were a few scattered cheers of delight and many disappointed groans when the announcement of awards was made. The thing that bothers me was that many of our top scholars were among those who were eliciting disappointed groans.

After one, or two, or three years of intensive study, excellent grades, and true academic achievement they were offered one-third, one-half, or less tuition scholarships. And they were asked to kick back to the University by working on registration, as if they really hadn't earned their remittance at all.

ALL THIS, of course, happens in the same University where more "needy" students, although many of them may be less qualified, are given much more generous grants and whose athletes are paid as if somebody has just discovered King Solomon's Mines.

A scholarship should be a competitive item. It is something to be earned by excellence of the highest type. But under the present system, with its all-important emphasis on "need," some incentive is taken away from the really excellent student who knows he will never be honored with a full tuition scholarship because he is not as "needy," monetarywise, as some less qualified students.

I WOULD like to see the scholarship program at this University revised to include these three points:

- 1) A lessening of the funds available for athletic and service scholarships and a transfer of these funds to the committee on academic grants.
- 2) A shift in emphasis on the awarding of scholarships from "need" to "achievement." Need should be a definite factor in the awards, but right now it carries far too much importance.
- 3) The establishment of a set number of full tuition scholarships, say 20, to be awarded solely on the basis of academic excellence.

Daniel J. Costello, Jr.

Editor's Note: It is our understanding that the scholarships are awarded with primary concern to an applicant's academic achievement. The general culture test is of secondary importance. After recipients have been chosen, their need is considered in determining the amount of their award.

Civil Rights:

ACLU Defends Liberties

By KAETHE ELLIS

The newly formulated S.U. Civil Rights Committee presented the first in its series of speakers at 9 a.m., Thursday in Pigott Aud.

Ray Brown, a 1958 S.U. graduate and a member of the Executive Board of the Washington Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, spoke on "The Liberal on Catholic Campuses."

Introducing the speaker, Gary Baldwin, head of the new committee, stated, "We are here to promote active, stimulating, open and creative discussion" concerning civil rights. These rights, he stated, have "broad implications." They are "not only minority or Negro rights," as many people think.

THE ACLU, explained Brown, is open to anyone whose beliefs are not qualified by totalitarian doctrines such as fascism or communism. The only organization committed entirely to "espousing the concept of civil rights," the ACLU "transcends" such actions as demonstrations, picket lines and boycotts. Rather, he continued, the group is concerned with the constitutional basis of these activities and the extent to which they may go before transgressing the rights of others.

Historically an immigrant group, Catholics formerly tended to be concerned only with those rights to which they had recourse should their liberties be infringed upon. Today, stated Brown, the situation has changed. Most Catholics now realize that civil liberties are a "larger concept which pertains to many facets of the individual's life."

THE CATHOLIC of today is affected in many areas by problems of basic rights. Among these are the recent decision by the Supreme Court against prayers in public schools, aid to parochial schools and the words "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance. Many of these problems, noted Brown, are "innocuous, but it is necessary to consider them."

Strong religious beliefs are necessary, he stated. But the government and society must be considered. "Can we force our religious beliefs on the rest of a secular society?" he asked. "This is the basic problem which affects Catholics."

"I realize," Brown stated, "that upholding the freedom of a minority in a particular case necessarily affects the freedom of the majority." However, he continued, this protects the principle involved—and to the ACLU this is all-important, for "we are willing to protect minority rights."

AN EXAMPLE of this is the "young atheist child" who believes in his conscience that there is no God. "This child," Brown stated, "is essentially hurt by the words 'under God' in the Pledge of Allegiance."

Of course, noted Brown, the ACLU has a "very diversified membership; there is never 100 per cent agreement on a question in civil liberties." But, he concluded, "we are willing to discuss and evaluate the question and determine what is right—even if this means going out of our way to be unpopular."

To the Editor:

It was indeed a pleasure to discover that S.U. was sponsoring a Communist speaker of some note — that is, it was a pleasure until I realized that the Russian Counselor for Political Affairs had already come, spoken and departed.

There must have been some publicity in order to draw the quoted 500 students and faculty, among them at least one Spec representative, but unless my copy of last Friday's Spectator is missing a page or two and the classrooms in L.A., Pigott and Bannan which I frequent were by some strange coincidence overlooked when the notices were posted, or unless Mr. Kolosovsky decided to speak on campus on the spur of the moment, it appears that the speech was not publicized on a University level.

PROBINGS

Variety Not Hodgepodge

PAUL HILL

I would like to make a few comments about The Spectator's editorial broadside last Friday, at the second vice president's office. First, The Spectator has rendered a wholly new interpretation of the second vice president's function by implying that the special events series is a money-making scheme. The second vice president's office is certainly a promotional agency, but it is designed to promote cultural awareness on campus, not to make money.

THE SPECIAL EVENTS series is supposed to contribute to the students' education — hence it must try to form and develop the students' tastes by presenting new and less familiar types of events, instead of catering to already established tastes by presenting old and familiar attractions.

Secondly, The Spectator advocates smart business practices for the ASSU on one hand, and suggests ridiculous ones on the other. The practice of making up losses by booking big-name entertainment is a smart one for big-city promotion agencies and big universities in small towns, but it would be suicide for S.U. If we were to book, say, the New Christy Minstrels, like Oregon State did, we would have to rent the Opera House and charge downtown prices in order to make any money.

Seattle, unlike Corvallis, has professional agencies that are constantly bringing big-name people into town. Thus it seems to make a lot more sense for the ASSU to sponsor things that the students can't get downtown, and to do so at low prices.

THUS, THE SPECTATOR calls the recent assortment of drama, music, lectures, movies and discussion, "a hodgepodge of entertainment from the fringes of show business." Of course, what The Spectator calls an assortment of events is its own business. (If one likes an assortment, it is a variety; if one dislikes it, it is a hodgepodge.)

Apparently, The Spectator has disliked the recent series of cultural events, and it — and everybody else — is entitled to its judgment. But our cultural activities are going to improve when more funds and more creative thought are given to them — not when we start to compete with professional releasing agencies by presenting expensive and risky big-name entertainment.

Chieftains Split With Huskies

The S.U. Chieftains split a doubleheader with the U. W. Huskies yesterday at White Center. S.U. lost the first game 6-3 but came back in the second contest to a 16-2 rout of the Huskies.

The Chieftains will meet U.W. in a single game today at Graves Field at 2 p.m. Mike Acres will probably be called upon to face Lonie Sherick. Acres has a 4-1 pitching record.

THE S.U.-U.W. series stands at two games for the Huskies to one game for the Chieftains. S.U. lost a 4-0 contest earlier in the season to U.W. The Chiefs have a 21-12 record.

U.W. scored the first run of the game in the first inning. The Chieftains failed to tally until the fifth frame. Mick McDonald led off with a single and advanced to second on a wild pitch.

Steve Mezich grounded out, moving McDonald to third. Steve Hunter hit a single scoring McDonald. Later in the inning, George Vanni scored when he was forced home after the Chiefs loaded the bases.

THE HUSKIES came back in the sixth frame to score another run. In the seventh inning they broke loose for four tallies. S.U. could manage only one more run on a single by DeMond.

The highlight of the second game in which S.U. scored 16 runs, was the home run in the sixth inning by the winning pitcher, Steve Foerstch. The Chiefs scored three other runs in the sixth.

U.W. tallied the first run of the contest in the first inning but this time the Chiefs came back with four of their own in the bottom of the inning.

S.U. WAS unstoppable as they scored two runs in the second, one in the third, two in the fourth and three in the fifth inning.

The Chieftains end their season with a contest against Seattle Pacific at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Broadway Playfield.

Netters to Play Falcons, Huskies

The S.U. tennis squad will play the SPC Falcons at SPC at 1:30 p.m. today. S.U. will meet the U.W. tennis team for the first time at 3 p.m. Monday at the U.W. tennis courts.

Although the S.U. tennis squad has a 13-1 record, it is considered to be the underdog in the match. U.W. has a 5-0 record in dual meet competition, beating the likes of Oregon and Oregon State easily. S.U. defeated Oregon twice but split with Oregon State.

Steve Hopps and Eric Hodder-son, S.U.'s undefeated pair, both expressed the feeling that they "have an outside chance of remaining unbeaten."

S.U. Golf Season Ended

The S.U. varsity golfers ended their season with a 13-4 record.

Monday afternoon they showed the freshman golfers the varsity was still tops by beating them 23½-3½.

Although the varsity record was not as good as expected, they "had a good season," according to golf coach Tom Page.

TOM STOREY was the number one man on the golf team with a 73.6 stroke average. John Shanley was the number two man with a 75.83 average.

Jon Akin, Doug Clark, Le Roy Niznik, Ron McDougall, Jim Murphy, Pat Lewis and Frank

Edel were the other team members who contributed to the squad's 76.64 stroke average.

THE S.U. freshman ended their season with a 5-1 record. Coach Page said he was "pleased" with the freshman team. They look like a good crop of golfers who will be helpful next year.

Dave Gibson was the top golfer with a 74.17 average. Orrin Vincent, John Van Doren, Dennis Coscina, Chuck Uhlman, Mike Friel, Steve Kunz and Terry Thomas were the other freshman duffers who will be trying for a spot on next year's varsity.

BOWLING RESULTS

Yesterday's bowling results: Holy Rollers, 3-S.M.'s 1; Giants, 3 - Pineapple Royals, 1; Gutter Dusters, 4-Splits, 0. Also, the Yanks forfeited to the Caps.

Mack Tsutsumi rolled the men's high game with a 213 and Bob Lord had the high series with a 574.

Allison Reed knocked down 173 pins for the women's high game and 486 for the high series.

Deacons Dip Tartars

In yesterday's intramural baseball games the Deacons outscored the Tartars 14-10. Charlie Gilligan was the winning pitcher.

The intramural playoffs are scheduled for next Tuesday and Thursday and the championship game is set for Friday.

The Menehunes won over the Shankers by a forfeit in last week's intramural action. Doug Parker pitched the Babe and Buzz to an 18-1 victory over the Fanatics, while Brent Vaughters hurled the Bad News to a 6-5 victory over Baseball Addicts.

The College Club stopped the Giants 6-1 and the B Team beat the Sultanos 4-1.

Also the Tartars defeated the Tappa Kegs 6-3. The Deacons downed Roy's Boys 8-3.

Tomorrow's schedule: 8:30 a.m. B Team vs. Fanatics; 9:45 a.m. Babe and Buzz vs. College Club; 12:15 p.m.; Baseball Addicts vs. Sultanos, 1:30 p.m. Giants vs. Shankers.

S.U. Amigos Anonymous will work in Mexico from June 15-Aug. 31.

Sodality to Have Consecration Day

This Sunday is designated as Consecration Sunday for the S. U. Sodality.

New members will be consecrated and old members will renew their act of consecration at 10:30 a.m. in the Bellarmine chapel.

Preceding the consecration, all members will attend the 8 a.m. Mass at St. James Cathedral and then have breakfast in the Bellarmine cafeteria. Any member of the leadership program, consecrated or not, may attend. There will be a $1 entrance fee for new Sodalists.

An all-day picnic at Deception Pass will follow the consecration. A fee of $1 will be charged to cover the cost of transportation and food. Old clothes should be brought by Townies and can be left in a dorm during Mass and breakfast.

A bus will leave from Bellarmine for the picnic at 11:30 a.m., and return about 8 or 9 p.m.

S.U. Senior 'Man of the Year' For Army Reserve in State

Stephen Neupert, a senior general commerce major, has been chosen the Army Reserve Man of the Year in Washington State.

Hall Appointed To New Position

Fr. Edmund McNulty, S.J., vice president in charge of finance, has announced the appointment of John Hall as plant manager and purchasing agent for the university.

The position is a new one at S.U. and is directly affiliated with Fr. McNulty's office.

Concerning his position, Hall said, "Being a new thing and being here only two and a half weeks, my position is rather undefined as yet." Hall said the precise areas of his job will be worked out this summer.

Hall was formerly employed in the executive dept. of the City of Seattle (Mayor's office). He graduated in geography in 1954 from the U.W. He has a teenage son and daughter.

IN RECOGNITION of his selection he was presented a 10th Army Corps certificate of achievement by Maj. Gen. W. C. Garrison, corps commander, at Ft. Lawton last Friday. He was an honored guest recently at the traditional Armed Forces Day luncheon of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Neupert is the noncommissioned officer in charge of the 16th quartermaster detachment, laundry, Ft. Lawton.

Nominees Added

Four names were not included in the list of Loyalty Cup nominees in last Friday's Spectator. They are Mary Joan McGrath, Mary McWhorter, Margaret Souza and Timothy Sullivan.

The faculty members have been sent the list and are voting for their choices of one male and one female graduating senior.
