Gonzaga Jesuit To Talk in Pigott

FR. DANIEL LYONS, S.J.

Fr. Daniel Lyons, S.J., who recently returned from a month in Viet Nam, will speak on the problems of that country at noon today in Pigott Auditorium.

Fr. Lyons is director of forensics and professor of social economics at Gonzaga University. He also writes a column entitled "Right or Wrong" for Our Sunday Visitor, a weekly Catholic newspaper.

AS A STUDENT of Asian affairs, Fr. Lyons has traveled widely in Asia, visiting Viet Nam three times. His most recent visit was at the invitation of the U.S. State Department. He is now making a tour of the Northwest explaining his views on the crisis in that country.

A graduate of Seattle Prep, Fr. Lyons was ordained in Dublin, Ireland. He earned an advanced degree in speech and English at Fordham University in New York City, then taught at S.U. for two years.

AFTER SERVING a year as dean of men at Gonzaga, he also served as a teacher and chaplain on the University of Seven Seas.

Fr. Lyons' talk is being sponsored by the S.U. Discussion Club, with the approval of the Political Union.

Committee of 10 Created To Map Future for S.U.

By MIKE PARKS

An ad hoc committee of 10 persons—including two students—was named Monday to formulate a 10-year plan for the future of S.U.

The committee was announced by the Very Rev. John Fitterer, S.J., S.U. president, after his meeting with the four vice presidents of the University.

Donol Hedlund, an S.U. graduate and now director of planning for S.U., will coordinate the committee's work and report to the president.

STUDENT MEMBERS of the committee will be Tom Bangasser and Carol Moergeli, ASSU and AWS presidents.

Fr. Joseph Perri, S.J., newly appointed vice president of University relations, will be chairman.

Other members will be the other three vice presidents, Fr. Frank Costello, S.J. (academic), Fr. Edmund McNulty, S.J. (financial), and Fr. Robert Rehahn, S.J. (student affairs).

REPRESENTING the lay and Jesuit faculty on the committee will be Dr. Herbert Reas, director of graduate studies for the School of Education, and Fr. Louis Gaffney, S.J., associate professor of psychology.

William Jenkins and Frost Snyder will represent the board of regents on the committee. Jenkins is chairman of the board of Seattle First-National Bank and a member of the regents' financial committee. Snyder, the president of Vancouver Plywood Co., is vice chairman of the board of regents.

The formation of the committee was announced Sept. 10 at the informal opening of Campion Tower by Fr. Fitterer.

IN HIS SPEECH at the opening, Fr. Fitterer briefly described the work of the planning committee: "This committee will gather the data, make the projections and delineate the alternatives on which to base informed planning decisions."

The committee will probably meet once a month until the end of the year, Hedlund said in an interview Monday. He said he hopes they will have formulated a plan by the end of the academic year.

HEDLUND SAID his job as coordinator of the committee will be that of "listening post." He said those who have ideas they think should be included in the University's long range plans should arrange to see him.

The 10-year plan will be presented on its completion to Fr. Fitterer, who, in consultation with the regents, the advisory council and the trustees, will make the final decision.

Ten S.U. seniors have been awarded ASSU Merit Scholarships for their outstanding academic work, loyalty and contributions to the University.

Six will receive $250 as stipulated in the ASSU Merit Scholar bill. A sum of $1,500 was set aside in the ASSU budget which was approved spring quarter.

THOSE WHO will receive financial aid are Maureen Gruber, Steve Lundquist, Brian McMahon, Margaret Passanisi, Kathy Robel and Marcia Waldron.

Those honored who will not receive money are Mike Parks, Jim Boitano, Janet Baker and Mary Beth Kuder. The selections are made each spring quarter by a board of three graduating students. Members of this year's board were James Picton, Bernadette Carr and Sam Sperry.

Parks is a journalism major and is presently editor of The Spectator after serving as news editor and managing editor. He has also served as a justice on the judicial board since his sophomore year.

BOITANO IS president of Alpha Sigma Nu, Jesuit men's honorary. He is a political science major and served as president of the Young Democrats last year. Boitano also has been active in the I.K.'s for three years.

Janet, a psychology major, was a Spur and then was junior Spur adviser last year. She is presently vice president of Silver Scroll and a member of Gamma Pi Epsilon, Jesuit women's honorary.

Mary Beth is president of Silver Scroll and is a member of Gamma Pi Epsilon. She is an American history major.

MAUREEN IS a member of the S.U. honors program and is majoring in English. She has been active in the formation of the CAP.

Lundquist was president of the I.K.'s last year. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Nu. His major is electrical engineering. McMahon, a pre-med major, served on the senate for three years. He has also been active in many student activities including special events chairman for the 1964 Homecoming.

MARGARET IS also a member of Silver Scroll. She is a psychology major and was co-chairman for Homecoming last year.

Kathy, an English major, was co-chairman of the students' core curriculum committee and is presently editor of Fragments, campus literary magazine. She was assistant feature editor last year for The Spectator.

Marcia is a political science major. She served as business manager of The Spectator for two years. She is secretary for the Political Union and will direct the Northwest Catholic High School Press Workshop this year.

Campion Residents Seek Better Campus Cuisine

Have you been complaining about campus food? Rejoice. Your complaints have been heard and apparently something is going to be done about them.

A committee headed by Buz Furseth, president of Campion Tower, met recently and composed a letter to Fr. Edmund B. McNulty, S.J., vice president of finance.

THE COMMITTEE included three Campion priest-moderators and four Campion residents.

Their letter said, in part: "We pride ourselves in the quality education that we provide our students. We pride ourselves in the quality of our buildings and the striking beauty of our campus grounds. We literally knock ourselves out trying to give the best possible. But this incessant striving is in vain if our table in the residence halls is not up to par. We nullify our best efforts with a cold egg. Our best envoys and salesmen are the students themselves—the happy students.

THE COMMENTS circulating in the dining room and elevators and the jestful jibes are irritatingly true. It is evident the natives are restless.

"The quality is not up to par. I fully realize that Mr. (Otto) Dekkinger (director of campus food services) is trying to do the impossible—to cut corners and come out square all the way around. To please both the student and the treasurer, one has to be a skillful tightrope walker."

The letter went on to enumerate several requests. Among them: Hot hotcakes served with warm or hot syrup; good meat at least three times a week at breakfast; an above-average breakfast on Sunday; the dropping of pre-wrapped sandwiches at lunch and lower prices on sandwiches, and a wider choice of desserts at dinner.

The letter was signed by a University official.

Health Center In New Location

The Student Health Center has moved to Bellarmine Hall.

The offices consist of a suite of rooms on the dorm's main floor with a six-bed infirmary, doctor's and nurses's offices, an examining room and reception room.

The infirmary will be used for students who are too ill for dorm living. Students in need of hospitalization will be sent to Providence Hospital.

The Health Center staff is composed of Dr. Gerhard Carroll, M.D., and Miss Philomena Bisciglia, R.N.

Services are free to all S.U. students and religious faculty except lab work. X-rays and hospital care.

Office hours are 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. weekdays. The doctor will be on call weekends.

CPA Gives Spectator Top Rating

The Spectator has been named "publication of distinction" for the second consecutive year by the Catholic Press Association of Marquette University.

Christel Brellochs was Spectator editor last year. She was graduated in June and is now studying at the Sorbonne in Paris. Fr. Francis Greene, S.J., adviser to the paper last year, is now doing advanced study at New York University.

The Spectator also won the award in 1950, 1960 and 1964.

The association rates Catholic school publications on diffusion of Catholic thought and promotion of Catholic activity, enterprise and service to the school and community, editorial content, physical appearance, uniformity and consistency in style, accuracy and effectiveness of pictures and art work.

The paper scored 930 out of a possible 1,000 points in the most recent judging.

Crosswalk Asked For James Street

The University has petitioned the city for a crosswalk on James between Broadway and Twelfth for the convenience of Campion residents and visitors.

Several students were cited by Seattle patrolmen yesterday for jay-walking on James.

Mrs. Virginia Cullerton, who is assistant for University parking, requested Thursday that Bellarmine pedestrians, for safety reasons, not use the bookstore parking lot.

Book Problem

A letter to the editor elsewhere on this page describes the plight of a student who got to the bookstore too late. The writer says that he and other students were penalized by a blunder in the ordering of textbooks for fall quarter.
A quick check of the bookstore shelves showed that books in many areas were indeed sold out.

THE STUDENT has a valid and legitimate complaint. In order to clarify the situation, we asked Mrs. Genevieve Weston, director of the bookstore, for an explanation.

She explained that the quantity of books ordered is based on estimates by the various department heads.
She also said that the difficult task of trying to second-guess what students will do on registration day, though aided somewhat by the pre-registration process, was compounded this quarter by the changes in the core curriculum. Many students, she said, changed plans made last spring and decided to begin some of the core sequences this fall.

THE BOOKSTORE has placed rush orders for the books which are needed and they will be air-shipped to S.U. at no increase in cost to the students.
We hope that, once the change from old to new is completed, more careful planning on the part of those who provide the estimates for book orders will solve the problem.

From Inside Out

U.N. Achieves Victory

By GARY BUCKLEY

To those who had feared (or possibly hoped) that the U.N. was losing all possibility of bringing some semblance of order to our chaotic world, the Pakistani-Indian cease fire came as a welcome surprise.
Not since the Cuban missile crisis has the world seemed so close to a nuclear confrontation between the major powers.

IF THE situation had been less serious, it might have provided sufficient material for a comic opera. Here were two nations, who for years had preached brotherhood and non-involvement to the world, stabbing the economic life out of each other in a war that neither could afford.

And here were the U.S. and Mikoyan, Russia's "nyet" man, finally in agreement on something in the Security Council, but stymied by the threats of Communist China, the renegade state that has been refused admittance to the U.N.

Granted that the moral pressure of the U.N. was not the only incentive to the warring nations to cease fighting, the fact remains that the major world powers (excluding Communist China) were able to reach a degree of consensus in a heretofore uncompromising body.

SOME OBSERVERS are predicting that this may pave the way towards U.N. action on the Viet Nam situation, but it does not seem likely. Soviet Russia will continue to cooperate with the West only so long as her interests are at stake.

Currently her interest is in stabilizing a rather touchy situation that may have provided a military opportunity to the Chinese. Unless it develops that the Chinese stand to gain tremendously from the Vietnamese war (which presently does not look probable), Russia can be expected to sit tight.

Student Points Out 'Bookstore Blunder'

To the editor:

As is true with most large institutions of learning, S.U. has certain outstanding strengths and weaknesses. I have chosen to dwell on what appears to be an inexcusable blunder.

The purpose of attending a university is, as generally acknowledged, to acquire an education; yet it is obvious that no small number of freshmen have been denied access to books essential in this process because of inefficiency at our bookstore. Classes have begun, assignments tendered and some students are to be behind through no fault of their own.

Alternately, it might be suggested that local bookstores such as Archway have some of the books in question. However, this is not the case and according to a clerk at Archway, one of the history books in question is currently out of print.

If the provision of education is the ultimate purpose of the University, measures should be taken to assure the students that similar blunders will not occur in the future.

Frosh Quiz Frosh on Orientation

Editor's note: In an attempt to get candid comments on Frosh Orientation, freshman reporters Joe Hart, Bonnie Koenigs, Judy Fery and Tim Gillespie interviewed their fellow classmates—and sometimes just listened. The following are statements by the freshmen interviewed:

"If the insecure few who find it necessary to boost their egos by passing out ridiculous subpoenas must persist, who am I to criticize. If nothing else, they have succeeded in binding the frosh together against a common enemy — immature little games initiated by even more childish sophomores. Actually, about 95 per cent of the upperclassmen were really decent."
—Jim Rundle.

"The Spurs made it easier for out-of-towners to get acquainted with other students. Special activities have made a lot of new friendships possible. But I think girls should be able to stay out later during orientation."
—Claudia Dissel.

"Orientation should last longer. A lot of guys from out of town want to catch the hot spots of the city before school starts and skip the social events of Frosh Orientation. I think getting signatures is a waste of time because you don't really get to meet the welcoming members—they just sign your paper and walk away."

—Bob Thomas.

"I thought orientation was great. We got to meet a lot of the students from out of state. Everybody is very friendly, but I don't like the beanies. They mess up your hair and after two days you get sick and tired of them. Also, the signatures are really unimportant. Their purpose is to get you to know the student officers but they really don't. Some people even have a stamp so they don't have to go to any trouble at all."
—Maureen Welch.

"Orientation would be much better if we weren't treated like children with the threat of subpoenas, but the beanies and name tags helped a lot in meeting other freshmen. I wish we could have met a few upperclassmen. The socials weren't very good."

—Vickie Lourie.

"The orientation program was effective. The way in which it was planned and enforced could use a little constructive criticism. Still, introductions were made and freshmen could easily identify one another. A lot of guys didn't like the program, but I think it was very helpful and necessary."
—Jim McDermott.

Remarks caught in passing: "EIGHT BUCKS! They've got to be kidding."

"I'm tired; I'm hungry, and the coffee is terrible."

"Someone asked me what floor I was on and I looked at my watch."

"I can't wait until we can be normal people again."

"Good luck!" (ad nauseam)

"I hope my discussion leader hasn't read the book, either."

• The Chief's Corner
• Players' Opinion

By TERRY ZAREMBA

"We ought to make it to the NCAA regionals if everyone comes through for us." This optimistic appraisal of S.U.'s basketball proficiency was made by Malkin Strong, starting center for the Chieftains last year.

HIGH ON the list of Malkin's "everyone" is Jim LaCour, one of the three blue-chip sophomores who will sport a Chieftain uniform this year. LaCour was the leading scorer (23.0 points per game) and one of the top rebounders for the Papooses last season.

LaCour is the owner of a highly accurate soft touch jump shot, which he will use as a forward rather than in his familiar center position. A mobile 6-foot-6, 195-pounder, LaCour should make the transition from center to forward easily. He is a smooth-working, steady type of player who rarely has a bad game.

After practicing his shooting all summer, he is more concerned about defense and rebounding than his ability to score. LaCour, who is from Los Angeles, also believes the Chiefs will make it to the regionals this year.

JUNIOR Elzie Johnson should also be a key performer for the Chiefs. Last year he showed his value as a substitute. Though he didn't start a game, he often entered a contest when the Chiefs were looking sluggish. When he left they were revived.

"Z," a forward, considers rebounding and defense his strong points. He is strictly a jump shooter. Last year he threw 129 field goal attempts and had 53 fall for a .411 percentage. He hopes to increase both the total points and the percentage this season.

THE CHIEFS will again this year be "Strong" at center—Malkin Strong, that is. Strong, also a junior from Los Angeles, at 6-foot-7 and 215 pounds does justice to his name. He was S.U.'s leading rebounder last year as he beat out Tom Workman by three—212 to 209 in 26 games.

His field goal accuracy was second only to Workman's as he canned an even half of his 222 attempts from the field. For the season he averaged 11.1 points a game, making him the third best Chief in that department.

Strong is not primarily a jump shooter. "Any way I can get the ball up to the basket, I'll use," he said. His defense was excellent last year and Strong should have a great season again this year.

NCAA here we come!

SPORTS AT A GLANCE: During the summer the S.U. golfers placed eleventh in the nation at the NCAA golf championships. Leroy Niznik was sixteenth among 206 golfers. . . . Rick Matthews was accidentally left off the list of returning seniors to the Chieftain basketball team in Friday's article. . . . Application blanks for the men's fall intramural program are available in P 561. . . . The pressure was too great on S.U. golfer Orrin Vincent last weekend. He failed to make the cutoff point after his disastrous round last Thursday. The experience of playing with the pros in the Seattle Open should have been good experience for Vincent.

6-Foot-3 Average:

New Papooses Use Rarified Air

S.U.'s freshman basketball team will be floating in the skies. Height will accentuate this season's Papoose team.

The new recruits range in height from 6-foot-1 to 6-foot-7. The '65-'66 squad will average a little over 6-foot-3.

The tallest freshman recruit is Charles Bragg, who hails from Baldwin Park, Calif. Bragg scrapes the skyline at 6-foot-7. Mike Urbon, another California boy, runs in second place at 6-foot-6.

THREE OTHER Californians are over 6-foot-3. They are Jeff Sims, Redondo Beach, 6-foot-5; Len Plater, San Gabriel, 6-foot-4, and Gary Foster, Sacramento, 6-foot-3.

The sixth and last of the Californians is 6-foot-1 Mike O'Brien.

From the East, coaches Lionel Purcell and Jim Hefner recruited 6-foot-4 Andy Bruks of Perth Amboy, N.J. He is from the hometown of Chieftain Jack Kreiger.

THE SOUTH is represented by Pat Smithey, 6-foot-3, from Houston, Tex. Jerry Collins is the Midwest's contribution to the Papooses. He is 6-foot-1 and from Mitchell, S.D.

This year there are only three recruits from the Seattle area. Jerry Workman is a 6-foot-1 guard from Blanchet High School. He is the younger brother of the Chiefs' Tom Workman.

The other two played their basketball at Seattle Prep. They are 6-foot-2 Mike Tronquet and 6-foot-4 Pat Burns.

Crew Racing to Come To Campus Athletics

A few S.U. students, prompted by the popularity of crew racing in the Pacific Northwest, are forming a rowing club on the S.U. campus.

Rowing is new to the S.U. sports scene. The club is being formed for two purposes—to develop teams to compete with the many rowing clubs in the area and to field a team for competition in the Olympic trials in the summer of 1967.

THE CLUB will be open to all S.U. males. Freshmen will be especially welcome because of the long-range Olympic goal. The qualifications for crew center around strength and stamina. Height and experience in other sports are assets but not necessary for participation.

Workouts will be scheduled for 6:30 a.m. at Green Lake. Transportation will be arranged for those needing it.

SIGN-UP sheets will be posted in the L.A. Building, third floor Pigott and Room 617 in Campion. Sign-up will be open until Friday.

Anyone wanting more information can contact Joe Howard after 6:30 p.m. at Campion 617.

Coeds Plan Fall Sports

Volleyball and field hockey will be featured sports in the fall sports program for S.U. coeds.

Intramural volleyball is planned from 7-10 Mondays in the S.U. gym.

A FIELD HOCKEY club will be formed for play on Thursday afternoons at Broadway playfield. The hockey club was started last year.

In addition to these two activities an extramural volleyball program is planned. It will meet from 7-9 p.m. on Thursdays in the gym.

MISS CATHERINE Green, women's intramural athletic director, said, "We will attempt to begin the program next week." Teams should be entered by Monday. The program is open to dorm students and townies.

Two popular sports offered last year in the fall will not be started until winter quarter this year. They are the lady-be-fit hour and the badminton tourney.

Men's Sports

Deadline for entries in the men's fall intramural program is Oct. 1. All the fall sports will begin league play in the second week in October.

Cadet Ranks Depleted By Voluntary Program

The introduction of voluntary ROTC at S.U. reduced the cadet ranks to nearly half.

Total enrollment in the program dropped from 606 cadets at the close of spring quarter last year to only 333 cadets. A total of 766 cadets entered fall quarter last year.

A BREAKDOWN by classes shows the largest drop was among freshmen and sophomores. The frosh ranks slipped from 412 in the fall of '64 to 129 recruits this year. Only 112 sophomores enrolled this year as compared with 242 last year. Two hundred and eleven sophomores remained at the end of spring quarter last year.

Only 46 juniors signed a contract this year while 74 entered last year. There are 46 seniors this year, an increase of eight over last year's enrollment.

THE CHANGE in the number of cadets has also necessitated a change in the drill structure. The number of drills has been reduced and a special drill has been established for juniors. The juniors will learn how to instruct and command troops. They will join regular drill again next quarter.

Nine seniors will hold top positions in the brigade this quarter. Serving as company commanders will be Richard Carvill, John Deines, Daniel Dempsey, Chuck Riggs, Donald Sovie and Richard Toledo.

Roger Smith will be commander of the Chieftain guard, the S.U. drill team. Eugene Smith will direct the special junior drill. Andy McClure has been named the public information director for the brigade.

Aegis Alters Theme Plans

The 1966 Aegis, S.U. yearbook, will present a different theme than was originally planned, editor Elliott Chamizo has announced. Innovations at S.U. this year will be stressed.

LAST SPRING it was announced the theme of the Aegis would be "Diamond Jubilee," to commemorate S.U.'s 75th year. Since then, Chamizo said, plans have been changed for the yearbook to concentrate on the individual student.

The yearbook will not deal with S.U.'s diamond jubilee because this is the University's 75th physical year rather than academic year, Chamizo said.

THE AEGIS will notify campus club presidents concerning ASSU president Tom Bangasser will select the new senators.

THERE ARE also five vacant positions on the judicial board, three sophomore posts and two senior positions. A test for all students interested in applying will be given from 1-3 p.m. Friday in the ASSU office.

The test will be on the ASSU constitution and the new judiciary act. Copies of the two documents can be picked up in the ASSU office this afternoon.

THE SOPHOMORE appointments will be for a three year term; the senior appointment for one year. The new senior justices will fill the vacant spot left by Roger Hennagin when he resigned this spring to run for class office. A spot will also be left vacant when one of the senior justices is elevated to the position of chief justice.

Money for Books

Payments to students who sold books through the A Phi O booksale will be made: 8-9 a.m. and 1:10-3 p.m. today; 8-9 a.m. and 2-3 p.m. Thursday; and 8-9 a.m. and 1:10-3 p.m. Friday, Monday and Tuesday in the Xavier basement.
