Leaders to Resubmit Homecoming Budget

Homecoming coordinators for S.U.'s 75th anniversary year announced they will resubmit their budget, with reductions. The original $3,770 will be reduced to $2,840.

Gomez Browder, financial chairman, said the new budget is the result of a more critical evaluation of costs conducted this summer. The lower figure still includes big-name entertainment and the usual Homecoming activities.

GENERAL chairman of Homecoming is Terry Barber, a senior education major from San Francisco. He was co-chairman of club displays for University Day and worked on the student-to-student committee this summer.

Browder is a junior economics major from Bellevue. He worked on the Frosh Leadership Conference, headed the bids committee for last year's Homecoming and was financial chairman for Frosh Orientation his sophomore year.

Kristi Everett, a junior majoring in office management from Mt. Vernon, is secretary. A Spur her sophomore year,

'Thieves Carnival' Tryouts Begin

Tryouts for S.U.'s fall drama production, "The Thieves' Carnival," will be from 2-5 p.m. today and from 2-4 p.m. tomorrow at Teatro Inigo. Play dates are November 11-12 and 15-19.

Any student interested but unable to come at these times may contact Mr. William Dore, head of the drama department, campus ext. 235.

The play, a comedy by Jean Anouilh, will include parts for eight actors, eight actresses, three female dancers and one male clarinetist. Volunteers are also needed for stage crew, costuming and props. No previous experience is required.

Other attractions at Teatro Inigo this year will include "I Knock at the Door" by Sean O'Casey, in December; "Luther" by John Osborne, in February; "Drums Under the Windows" by Sean O'Casey, in March and April, and "Asmodee" by Francois Mauriac, in May.

Kristi is a former Homecoming financial chairman.

A dance will open Homecoming activities Jan. 20, followed by the Alumni dance Jan. 21. The Homecoming ball will be Jan. 26, big-name entertainment on Jan. 27 and the Homecoming game with Montana State on Jan. 28.

THERE ALSO WILL be a dance after the game at the Seattle Center to close Homecoming week.

Committee chairmen have been chosen but will not be announced until all have been contacted. The theme will be announced next week.

Students interested in working on committees may contact the Homecoming staff.

OFF WE GO! Enjoying a last free day before actively organizing the 75th Diamond Jubilee Homecoming are from left: Gomez Browder, financial chairman; Kristi Everett, secretarial chairman, and Terry Barber, general chairman. Homecoming is Jan. 20-28.

Administration Promotes Three; Corrigan, Royce, O'Brien Named

Three changes in S.U. administrative offices were announced yesterday by Fr. Edmund Morton, S.J., academic vice president.

Dr. Ralph O'Brien was appointed associate dean of the School of Education. Fr. A. Barrett Corrigan, S.J., was named the acting director of the graduate program in education and Fr. James Royce, S.J., was advanced to the position of associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Fr. A. B. CORRIGAN, S.J.

Dr. R. O'BRIEN

DR. O'BRIEN, who came to S.U. in 1953, was made a full professor in 1964. He received his masters degree from Syracuse University and his Ph.D. from the U.W.

He has served as president of the Northwest Institute for Teacher Placement and the Association for Student Teaching.

Fr. Corrigan received his Ph.D. from Fordham University in 1954. He was at S.U. from 1944-1951 and returned in 1965.

He had been the dean of education at Gonzaga University.

FR. ROYCE was named assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences last year.

Fr. Morton said, "The appointment of Dr. O'Brien as associate dean is in recognition of his excellent liaison work between S.U. and primary and secondary schools in the area."

"Fr. Corrigan brings many years of administrative experience to his duties as director of the graduate program in education," he added.

Lectors Needed

Sunday Mass lectors are needed for campus Masses. Any male student interested should contact either Brian Nelson or Tom Hamilton of the Christian Activities Program (CAP) at McHugh Hall, campus ext. 350.

Workshop Candidates Face Interview

Applications are available for students interested in attending the ASSU Workshop, October 28 - 29 at Camp Casey on Whidbey Island. The ASSU Workshop was formerly the Student Leadership Conference.

According to Tom Hamilton and Pat Bradley, co-chairmen of the conference, students will be selected to attend the conference on the basis of application information and from a personal interview.

EACH STUDENT who fills out an application for the workshop will be individually interviewed by a committee comprised of Fr. Leonard Kaufer, S.J., head of the philosophy department, Dan DeLeuw, Ann Curran, Bradley and Hamilton.

Students selected to attend the conference will study techniques of organization, make plans for positive programs and activities for the coming year and evaluate and remedy flaws and problems of past projects.

The workshop is not necessarily a training ground for future leaders, but a meeting ground for those desiring to activate and rejuvenate the present school year.

APPLICATION forms must be returned to the ASSU activities office, first floor Chieftain by Oct. 7. Forms are available in the Chieftain, L.A. Bldg., Pigott and in the dorms.

Workshop applications for students also are on page four of today's Spectator.

Theater Offers Season Tickets

The Seattle Repertory Theater Association is offering specially-priced season tickets to university students. Students will attend one of the last two preview performances of each of the six plays scheduled for the 1966-67 season. The plays will be finished productions.

Students may either purchase a Sunday series ticket with a 2:30 p.m. curtain or a Thursday evening series ticket with an 8 p.m. curtain.

The series tickets are being sold for $9 from 1-3 p.m. at the ticket window on the first floor of the Chieftain. The special rate is available only to students with student body cards. The tickets are neither exchangeable nor returnable.

A Question of Success

After what was generally acknowledged as an unsuccessful Student Leadership Conference last fall, a steering committee was established to study the conference and make suggestions for changes.

The results of its work will be tested at the end of next month. A new leadership workshop, directed by Tom Hamilton and Pat Bradley, will be initiated Oct. 28 and 29.

THE WORKSHOP will offer several new ideas. Among the most important of these will be the method of selection of delegates.

Students wishing to attend will be required to apply and then be interviewed. A small number will be chosen to attend. In this way those students who will contribute the most to the workshop will hopefully be the ones chosen.

The University and student government face many problems. The answers will only be found after much discussion and hard work. The workshop can be a large step along the right path.

BUT THIS workshop, like so many that have failed in the past, depends on the delegates for its success.

It will be the responsibility of the selection committee to weigh carefully the qualifications of each applicant. The primary criterion for selection must be whether the person's presence at the workshop will add to the success of the venture.

ALL STUDENTS who are interested in attending the conference should make their application now. But that's not all. If the workshop is to be a success, each delegate must make preparations for the workshop now, not Oct. 28.

There is too much work to be completed in a single weekend. Preparation before and constructive action after the workshop will make this one a different one—a successful one.

U. S. Negro Is Human Being Meredith Tells Seattle Audience

By JOANNE RAPPE

Four years ago an American citizen enrolled in a public university. The incident, hardly unique, should have gone unnoticed. Instead, it made history, because this American citizen, James Meredith, was a Negro, and the "public" school was the University of Mississippi.

At the invitation of the Washington state chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, Meredith, now a law student at Columbia University, discussed "Racial Peace in America" last Saturday evening in Seattle's Civic Center Arena.

MEREDITH HAS refrained from joining any organized civil rights group. "I have no intention of becoming involved with civil rights. My concern is with the Negro movement," he said. He dates the inception of the Negro movement within the last three years and defines it as the involvement of the mass of American Negroes, as opposed to an elite, in the struggle for recognition and advancement.

Speaking informally to his audience of about 1,000, Meredith stated that America must realize that the Negro is a human being, not an object to be dissected for political purposes.

Meredith reminded his listeners that since 1954 the official position of the central government has been that non-Whites should and can be an integral part of American society. According to Meredith, "We stand today at the crossroads," for the majority of Whites are not ready to accept the non-White on an equal basis, and although human nature rebels at relinquishing a privileged position, "The official policy must be made a reality."

MEREDITH BELIEVES that the acceptance of the federal government's position is necessary not so much for the Negro as it is for the very survival of American culture. If the United States does not equalize rights and privileges, it will weaken internally and be unable to utilize all of its resources in the effort to remain the dominant nation in the world, he said.

American Negroes have allowed the woman to become the head of the family, Meredith charged. He said that seven times as many Negro women as men attend college. "We encourage our girls—we don't the boys," Meredith feels that the burden of the problem rests with the Negro woman who must teach her daughters the importance of education for a man.

Concerning non-violence, Meredith stated, "I have never been able to support the theory of non-violence and cannot do so today."

Meredith advised high school and college students who want to promote better understanding between Negroes and Whites to first acquire a sound understanding of the problem. He expressed hope that one day students will be able to freely choose their friends without any consideration of race.

Iconoclastic Priest Speaks on Civil Rights

FATHER WILLIAM DuBAY

"Real authority originates in the hearts of individuals."

By JUDY FERY

"Civil rights will not be affected without participation of the churches," said Fr. William H. DuBay, suspended Catholic priest from the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, while speaking Sunday at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Fr. DuBay was defrocked after calling for the removal of Cardinal McIntyre, bishop of Los Angeles, because of the Cardinal's policy of remaining silent about the civil rights issue.

UNTIL RECENTLY, DuBay said, it was a common belief that a man's social position should not concern the Church. But now church members are being told by their clergy to be on the side of integration.

Fr. DuBay said he became aware of problems within the Church when he came into conflict with Cardinal McIntyre. According to DuBay, two problems which plague the Church today and which keep it behind modern society are the lack of freedom of the clergy and the lack of proper service to Church members which stems from this lack of freedom.

"FREEDOM OF conscience," Father said, "is a basic Christian doctrine," and it is this doctrine which should permit any priest to let his feelings be known. The first appeal of one's morality," he continued, "is his own conscience. Real authority originates in the hearts of individuals." The priest blamed our "bland type of culture" for encouraging people to keep their opinions about controversial issues to themselves.

"Serious structural reorganization" within the Church is essential, DuBay feels. He described the present structure as monarchical, obsolete and as supporting racism.

"Eleven o'clock Sunday morning is the most segregated hour of the week," said DuBay. He stated that "Religious prejudice is very closely related to social prejudice" and the Church must get involved in curbing it.

Educational programs should be aimed at reducing race prejudice, according to DuBay, who emphasized that "People never seem to be changed by Sunday sermons but are by classroom instruction" and by working in groups with persons of other races on "projects which have nothing to do with race." It is a major task of the Church, he continued, to spur such projects, to support interracial friendships and to make people "more God-like."

FURTHERMORE, the Church must "support the development of strong power groups to find the most effective way of doing things," commented DuBay, who accused the Church of being afraid to use power.

Campus Forum

To the editor:

Finding a place to park a car has always been a problem. However, when one rents an apartment, one should, and ultimately would, expect the management to provide adequate parking.

At S.U. the faithful innkeepers have neglected their duties. They have imposed a $5 parking fee, which isn't completely out of line. But when they open this to all students at a first come, first served basis and then fall short on the number of available spaces, they have failed.

At Campion Tower, many of the residents have been threatened with the loss of their cars by a towing service. Obviously this is a pressing problem and if the University wants to play traffic control they should at least offer equal opportunities to its victims.

Two S. U. Netters Fare Well on Tour

Tom Gorman and Steve Hopps, S.U.'s traveling tennis twosome, went on tour in the eastern and southern U.S. this summer. They left Seattle June 4 for three tournaments in the South and then proceeded to the NCAA tennis championships in Coral Gables, Florida.

AT CORAL Gables Gorman-Hopps picked up four points for S.U. by winning two singles and two doubles matches. Their wins put S.U. in fourteenth place of a 20-team field.

After the NCAA tourney, Hopps returned to Seattle while Gorman began a 14-tournament swing in which he played against some of the top tennis stars in the world.

Among the high-powered players he faced were Cliff Drysdale, South Africa's top player, and Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle, one of the best doubles teams in the world. Gorman managed 17 wins against 12 losses in the competition.

In the first round at Forest Hills, N.Y., Gorman lost to Drysdale 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 before a crowd of 400 people.

IN THREE successive tournaments, Gorman and his doubles partner, Chuck Darley of the University of California, met the top seeds.

At Newport, R.I. they encountered the number one American team of Dennis Ralston and Clark Graebner. In Boston they met Emerson and Stolle.

Fencing Classes Offered Again

Fencing once again will be offered by the intramural department. The club will have its first meeting at 7 p.m. October 7 in the gym.

The program will consist of lessons in learning how to fence. Mr. Barney Koch, intramural director, said that the lessons would cost either $5 a month for four lessons—one per week of 1½ hours each—or $8 for eight lessons a month. The lessons would be at night.

The classes would be taught by Leon Auriol, a professional fencing master. Mr. Auriol has recently been teaching at the Seattle Center, at Lakeside and Bellevue high schools, at the Washington Athletic Club and at the Seattle YMCA.

Coeds Plan Intramurals

Volleyball and badminton are the activities available for S.U. coeds who wish to participate in athletic competition this quarter.

There is a meeting for anyone interested in volleyball in the gym tomorrow at 7 p.m. Rules and schedule of intramural games will be discussed. A general practice will follow the discussion.

Volleyball intramurals begin this Monday and will continue throughout the quarter on scheduled Monday nights from 7-10 p.m.

Coed badminton is offered this quarter on Thursday nights in the gym from 8-10 p.m. The first games are Oct. 6.

In addition to regular volleyball, an extramural team might be formed. Practices for the team would be 7-8 p.m. Thursdays in the gym.

Also being taught this quarter for S.U. coeds are classes in field-hockey and physical conditioning.

Intramural Meeting For Team Managers

Students interested in entering teams for the men's intramural leagues this year must have their list of players in by 3 p.m. tomorrow. The 16-team limit is filling up rapidly and it is first come, first in.

Three teams are already officially entered in the competition.

A managers' meeting of all intramural teams entered will be tomorrow at 3 p.m. in P 305. All managers must attend.

Leagues for football and volleyball will be arranged at the meeting. Volleyball begins next Tuesday and continues through Wednesday. Football starts Oct. 7 and continues the next day.

Freshmen who have not entered and desire to do so should contact Barney Koch in P 561.

Yacht Club Members Meet To Plan Races

BLOW THE MAN DOWN: John Hyde, new Yacht Club adviser, tacks his boat on Lake Washington.

The Yacht Club meets at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Ba 102. Anyone wishing to learn how to handle a jib or set a spar is welcome to attend. Club members will teach even the landlocked student how to sail if he or she joins the club.

This summer the S.U. yacht team traveled to King Point, New York to race in national competition from June 13 to 16. This competition features the 12 best collegiate sailing teams in the U.S. and Canada.

INTENSE COMPETITION and nervous errors hurt the Chieftains, causing them to be disqualified in six of 22 races. S.U. finished tenth in the field.

Terry McCoy and Lloyd Brodniak represented S.U. at the national meet. McCoy will not return this year but Brodniak, club president, will.

The winner of the meet at

New York was the Coast Guard. Navy, Tufts, Ohio State, Tulane, and Stanford were present at the races.

SAILING LESSONS for new club members begin this weekend at Leschi Park on Lake Washington. Actual practice for the members will start in about two weeks.

During the summer the club made an acquisition of two new boats and also picked up an advisor. He is John Hyde, an S.U. alumnus, who now competes in International 14s.

Returning club members include Dennis Williams, Mike Keller, Patty Auld and Bob Perry.

Basketballers Practice in Seclusion

The S.U. varsity and frosh basketball teams will practice behind closed doors for two weeks according to head coach Lionel Purcell. This is hoped to prevent student distractions or player embarrassments at the coach's red face. Last year the practices were barred to spectators for three to four weeks.

Male Singers Needed For '66-'67 Chorus

Positions are still open for students who are interested in participating in the S.U. chorus, a musical group that presents programs for various S.U. formal and social occasions.

Students who are in the chorus are eligible to earn one credit hour per quarter for their work.

The group is under the direction of Mr. Carl Pitzer. The chorus meets Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4-6 p.m. and Wednesday at noon.

Students who are interested in the group should contact Mr. Carl Pitzer, Bu 106, Dr. Joseph Gallucci, Bu 103 or the fine arts department.

Applicants may be eligible for partial music scholarships which are offered by the fine arts department.

Male voices are especially needed in this year's group.

Burgundy Bleus Seek Marchers

Burgundy Bleus, the ROTC-sponsored girls' drill team, is accepting applicants.

Any girl with a minimum 2.0 g.p.a. who has a desire to march is invited to participate in the program. An introductory session will be at 7 a.m. Friday in S.U. 1 in the basement of the Chieftain.

Heading this year's drill team is Lt. Col. Leslie Lucas, a senior office management from Seattle. ROTC cadet adviser to the group is Larry Lorenz and ROTC cadre adviser is M. Sgt. Robert Pugh.

The teams, which consist of 16 girls each, will practice three times a week at the Knights of Columbus Hall or S.U. gym.

The team participates in parades and meets in the Seattle area, Wenatchee and Spokane. Under consideration are drill meets in Reno and at Purdue University.

Burgundy Blues also serves as a sponsor corps for ROTC.

Club Rechartering?

Activities Meeting Scheduled

Rechartering of all campus clubs will be discussed at the activities board meeting at 2 p. m. Friday in the Chieftain lounge. All clubs must send a representative.

Authorized fall activities have been appointed dates on the 1966 activities calendar.

Cadets Receive Gold Fourragere

The Gold Fourragere was awarded this morning to three ROTC cadets who achieved the highest average for their respective classes in military science during the spring quarter.

The braided shoulder loop was presented to senior Joseph Gaffney who was promoted to cadet colonel of the ROTC Brigade. Gaffney is an accounting major from Seattle. Junior recipient was Hugh Bangasser, a history major from Seattle. The sophomore recipient, also from Seattle was Philip Roppo, a civil engineering major.

Promoted to deputy commander was Larry Mc Williams, senior Commerce and Finance major from Spokane.

Pacific School Begins Classes Tomorrow

Pacific School will re-open tomorrow according to Fred Briet, deputy superintendent of Seattle public schools. The school, located at 1114 E. Jefferson across from Campion Tower was closed following a three-alarm fire Sept. 20. The damage estimate was set at $250,000.

The prevocational school with an enrollment of 57 will operate on a split schedule of morning and afternoon classes.

Official Notices

The last day to add or change a course is today. Students are responsible for the academic deadlines for adding and changing courses. No additions or change will be considered official unless the student has filed the necessary card with the Registrar's office and paid the correct fees. Students who wish to change or add courses must apply at the Registrar's office for a change or add card. Then they must obtain the signature of their adviser, return the card to the Registrar's office for approval and deposit the card and fee with the office.

Students who have attended summer sessions at other colleges or universities are reminded that in order for credits to be transferred to their academic records at S.U., two copies of a transcript of credits completed must be filed with the office of the Registrar by October 1, 1966.
