Shady Ladies:

Prostitutes Swarm to S.U. Area

MAKING a contact on Jefferson Ave.

WAITING for a mark at an area cafe

By PAT CURRAN

A small, yet highly visible, number of prostitutes have established a street soliciting area adjacent to the Seattle Transit car barns and the site of the S.U. physical education center to be constructed at the old Catholic Memorial Field.

The prostitutes have been observed soliciting at the block of 14th and Jefferson. A four-way intersection crisscrosses the area and on a dark, busy night prostitutes canvass as many cars as a police meter maid.

UNDERCOVER police agents from the vice squad are constantly in the locale to make contact with the streetwalkers as customers and thereby arrest the women for soliciting. On September 28 in the Jefferson area, the police department arrested one woman for pandering. The next night two arrests were made for violation of liquor laws.

During the period of those three arrests, the prostitutes most likely managed to set up appointments with 50 lucrative and legitimate customers.

The openness of these sexual rendezvous galls the local community. The Very Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J., president of S.U., sent a letter to the City Council calling the presence of prostitutes "intolerable."

A Baptist minister whose awareness of the streetwalkers was acquired when one of the women attempted to solicit him, informed Father Fitterer of the Jefferson situation early in September.

Community action now has begun to galvanize in an effort to rid Jefferson of the prostitutes. The Central Area Motivation Program directors and the principals of Pacific School and Garfield High are disturbed by the prostitution ring.

COMMUNITY PRESSURE to oust the Jefferson prostitutes has been caused by their new visibility and brazenness. The area surrounding S.U. has long been plagued by underground promiscuity.

The women, who are mainly young Negroes, have surfaced to sell themselves because the stipulations of the city prostitution ordinance are difficult to enforce.

A series of Supreme Court and Superior Court decisions have ruled the local ordinances hitting at prostitution as unconstitutional. "These rulings have tied our hands," claims Sgt. David Buher of the vice squad.

THE COURTS HAVE judged the ordinances unconstitutional since they restrict the civil right of a woman to walk on the streets.

Policemen have resorted to loitering laws and laws dealing with persons "abroad at night" to haul the streetwalkers into a jail cell. Such indirect ordinances can be and are circumvented easily by the prostitutes; they are no solution.

Also, each of these ordinances is in serious constitutional trouble due to its vagueness of phrasing.

A LEGAL TANGLE of this dimension caused Fr. Fitterer to write the City Council requesting the new ordinance cracking down on prostitution. Chief of Police Frank Ramon is also expected to petition the Council for the new law.

If the status quo is preserved, a re-occurrence of this year's prostitution migration could occur. Police chased the night ladies from the International area.

In the words of Sgt. Buher, "They simply lit up to the Jefferson area."

University 'Sold' By S.U. Students

A small group of S.U. students are "selling S.U." The 21-member High School Affiliations Committee speaks throughout the year to various high school students in the greater Seattle area.

On a personal basis the S.U. "eds" and coeds discuss and explain life at the University to those interested in college.

Jim Lynch, junior, is chairman of the project. Under Lynch's direction this core group will speak to approximately 25 parish CCD groups this quarter. Plans are currently under way, according to Lynch, to extend the program out of the Seattle area. They hope to branch off into the southern part of the state and possibly into Portland.

JIM LYNCH

A TEAM LEADER and one or two new members visit the parish organizations on Monday or Wednesday nights. At these informal meetings the committee members stress four important aspects of S.U. The four are: spiritual, academic, financial and social. Each student follows his own particular format in discussing the points and stresses the personalized human aspects of University life which he has experienced. Also, any queries concerning S.U. are answered.

The high school Affiliations Committee, although student run, comes under the direction of Mr. Ronald Peterson, Director of Admissions. They are assisted by Mr. Jerry Evich, Director of High School Relations.

In giving some of the history of the organization Lynch said that the committee was at one time under the auspices of the night school director. The committee is also incorporating some of the duties of the now defunct Student-to-Student Committee. The Student-to-Student Committee was mutually dissolved by the students and the administration during the summer because of the general lack of effect of the group.

S.U. STUDENTS interested in working with the committee members on the project may contact either Lynch or Rob Bastasch, S.U. senior and assistant to Mr. Peterson, at the high school affiliations office or at the admissions office. Help is needed by the committee in conducting campus tours for high school students visiting during the year.

Assisting Lynch in the "sell" are co-chairmen Suzanne Campoux and Leon Mahoney.

Evans Will Address Dinner Here Friday

Governor Dan Evans of Washington will meet with central area vocational trainees and S.U. officials at a banquet in Bellarmine hall at 6:30 Friday.

The trainees are low-income heads of families being trained for community service work by New Careers Project, a federally financed anti-poverty program operated with the S.U. support.

The training project, located in a building formerly housing a funeral home at Broadway and Marion, is a one-year pilot program designed to train low-income persons for jobs as teacher aids, health or welfare aids, park service and protection service aids.

Students in the projects are paid for their training time. They attend classes at Seattle Community College for half of each day, and take on-the-job training at various Seattle and King County agencies during the remaining time.

Seattle University has a federal contract to rate and evaluate the program, and to conduct various research programs among its participants.

Whether or not the project will receive funds for another year will depend upon the nature of the report compiled by the University.

Director of the New Careers Project is Ulysses Rowell Jr. S.U. research heads are Dr. Ralph O'Brien and Dr. Winfield Fountain.

Mass

All seniors are required to attend the annual Mass of the Holy Spirit at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 12 at St. James Cathedral. Further details concerning the celebrated Mass will be published in Friday's edition of The Spectator.

Fr. Edmund Morton, S.J., S.U. Academic Vice President, has announced the compulsory attendance. Each senior must fill out a rental card for his cap and gown by 4:30 p.m., Monday at the Bookstore. Rental fee is $2.25.

Caps and gowns may be picked up from 8:30-10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 12 in Pigott Aud. They must be returned to Pigott no later than 1 p.m., Thursday.

New Enrollment Figures Show 260 More Than Last Year

Approximately 260 more students enrolled at S.U. this quarter than did fall quarter in 1966 when 3,599 students enrolled, according to Mary Alice Lee, registrar.

This fall's enrollment of 3,858 included 627 seniors, 649 juniors, 761 sophomores and 982 freshmen. In addition, about 200 transfer students enrolled, and 592, mostly five-year program students and graduate students, enrolled in the evening section. Also, 247 students enrolled but were unclassified as to class position at this time, she said.

Commenting about the efficiency of the enrollment procedure, Miss Lee said, "We made improvements on the hours spent and the number of students enrolled. In the past, it took an average time of seven minutes to enroll a student."

Adlai Stevenson III to Speak Friday

Adlai E. Stevenson III, treasurer of the State of Illinois, will deliver an address in the Lemuex Library Auditorium at 10 a.m. this Friday. His subject will be: "Whither State Government?" The Political Union is sponsoring the lecture.

STEVENSON, son of the late U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was elected to his state treasurer post on Nov. 8, 1966, leading the Democratic ticket in that election, and garnering nationwide notice.

He had previously served as a member of the Illinois House of Representatives, to which he was elected in 1964 in a statewide election in which he led all 236 candidates of both parties.

Stevenson's father served as governor of Illinois from 1949 to 1952 and was the Democratic candidate for President in 1952 and 1956. He served as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations from 1961 until his death on July 14, 1965.

THE STEVENSON record of public service does not end with Adlai Sr. Stevenson's grandfather served as secretary of state of Illinois from 1914 to 1917, and his great-grandfather was vice president of the U.S. under Grover Cleveland from 1893 to 1897.

At home in Chicago with his mother Nancy is yet another heir to the Stevenson heritage—ten-year-old Adlai IV.

HEADS UP PLAY: Soccer Coach Hugh McArdle watches as Joe Zavaglia prepares to "head" the ball to Mike Carney. The soccer team began practice only this Monday, but will play its first practice game on Friday against the U.W.

To neglect attending at least one performance of the Seattle Symphony during the season would be, under usual conditions, a shame. To ignore the ASSU's attempts to foster quality entertainment for S.U. students would be tantamount to tragedy. Tickets for the three concerts are on sale at reduced prices in the ASSU office. Box seats, $3; loges and main floor, $2; balcony, $1.50. Also available in series: $9, $6 and $4.50. October 22, January 21 and March 3 are the concert dates.

Needless to say, there are plenty of the 400 seats in the block booking yet to be purchased. Let us hope this experiment will not result in another "Nero" escape for S.U.

DRAMA

"Man of La Mancha," a KVI Radio and Northwest Releasing Event, and an award-winning, quixotic musical, is scheduled October 4-21, on stage at Seattle Seventh Avenue Theatre. Monday through Saturday, matinee and evening performances. Call Bon Marche Ticket Office, MU 2-6755.

"Once Upon a Mattress," the third Lyric Theatre musical production. Maury R. Sheridan directs; Fred Clark is the choreographer. 8:30 p.m. Oct. 3-7, 10-14, 17-21, 23-28. Lyric Theatre, 2115 5th Ave.

"Roshomon," play based on the Japanese story of four different versions of a rape and murder. 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3-5. Cirque Playhouse, 3406 E. Union. 8:30 p.m., Oct. 6-7.

"Two for the Seesaw," 8:30 p.m. Oct. 5-7, 12-14. Center Stage Theatre, Bellevue Crossroads.

An Evening with Leroi Jones, the Negro author with a violent point of view, presented through the two plays, "The Slave" and "The Dutchman." 8:30 p.m., Oct. 5-7. Ensemble Theatre, 107 S. Occidental.

Tom Jones, Fielding's 18th Century novel, is dramatized by a youthful cast with refreshing style. 8:30 p.m., Oct. 6, 7, 13, 14. Theatre East, 620 Market St., Kirkland.

"The Typist" and "The Tiger," two one-act plays by Murray Schisgal, 8:30 p.m., Oct. 4-14. Belfry Playhouse, 157 100th N.E., Bellevue.

MUSIC

Philadelphia String Quartet Concert, the quartet in residence to the state universities and colleges of Washington, will play the second of its four scheduled concerts at the U.W. 8 p.m., Oct. 13, 14, 27, 28. Book Shortage Still Problem for Moen

Remember John Moen? S.U.'s critic in residence. The Root-cellar rooter who didn't like anything else about S.U.

He made public his conviction that "individual academic achievement and expression are limited by lack of books in the library." (See The Spectator, Jan. 13, p. 4.)

Well, Moen has transferred to the Campus Across Town. Yesterday he phoned one of his old S.U. buddies and asked him to get three books from S.U.'s library.

Seems like things are tough all over.

DO PRIESTS

- Cut Ribbons at Civic Affairs?
- Wrestle with Bookkeeping?
- Balance the Budget?
- Shuffle Papers?

Let's face it. There are some things that have to be done. In that we differ from no other priest.

But — the Paulist feels he can rise above the everyday tasks that must be done. Because he is an individual and is treated accordingly, he is free to develop his own innate talents to achieve his goals. Individuality is the keynote of the Paulists. We depend on the individual to make his own unique contribution. We welcome it. We all profit by it.

The Paulist is a modern man, free from stifling formalism, a pioneer in using contemporary mediums and techniques to be of service to God and man.

New Coach to Guide Papooses This Season

By ED McCORMICK

This year's frosh basketball teams will work under a new coach. John (Jack) Schalow is now the frosh mentor, as Bernie Simpson, who handled the reins last season, is now the assistant varsity coach.

Schalow comes to S.U. from University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., where he played basketball and twice was team captain. Presently the new coach is studying for his master's degree in education at S.U.

JACK SCHALOW

whole raft of awards at Pasadena High School in California.

Commenting on this year's schedule, the coach said it would be fairly tough, with the most important games against the U.W. and Seattle Pacific frosh teams. The Papooses will play a total of 21 games.

Coach Schalow emphasized that any freshman attending S.U. who would like to try out for the team may do so. The first turnouts will be on October 12-13 from 4-6 p.m.

SCHALOW HAS an optimistic outlook for the coming season despite the fact that this year's Papooses do not have the height or depth of some of the past freshman teams. The tallest Papoose is 6 foot 6 Mike Gilleran from Seattle Prep who topped off an impressive high school career by leading Prep to fifth place in last year's state tournament.

Another player whom Schalow feels will contribute to the success of this year's team is Willie Blue, whose background is rather unusual. Blue is a Vietnam veteran who spent part of his four-year hitch in the Air Force there. While in the service, Blue scored 27 points per game on Air Force teams and was honorable mention on the Air Force all-star team.

Another standout is Bob Horn, 6 foot 4, who averaged 20 points a game for Seattle's Blanchet High School and was named to several all-star teams. Still another sharpshooter is 6 foot 3 Tom Giles, who averaged 25 points a game at Duval High School of Washington, D.C.

GILES WAS NAMED to the all-metro team in Washington and was named high school athlete of the year in metro Washington. Carl Skidmore averaged 28 points a game and won a

Lott Stars in Sonics' Victory

The Seattle Sonics battered the San Diego Rockets by a score of 122-103 last Sunday, as Plummer Lott, former S.U. star, contributed 18 points and five rebounds for the winners.

Lott hit nine of 16 field goal attempts as he helped bring the Sonics their second exhibition victory. Walt Hazzard, former UCLA and Los Angeles Lakers star, led the Sonics with 22 points.

JIM DWYER

DON HAMMOND

Don Hammond, a 20-year-old electrical engineering major, has been appointed circulation manager and accountant for The Spectator.

He will work on introducing computerized billing and mailing to those departments.

Volunteers are needed, Hammond said, to drop off Spectators around the campus on their way to Wednesday and Friday morning classes. Students willing to help should come to the loading ramp at the back of The Spectator building before 9 a.m. on those mornings.

The 1967-68 Spectator Advertising Manager is Jim Dwyer. Dwyer, a junior marketing major, was appointed by Mike Palandri, business manager and approved by Pat Curran, editor. Active in A Phi O, Dwyer is also a member of the Young Democrats and the Marketing Club.
