Baker Out; Gaffney Gets 'Acting' Post

by Don Nelson
Editor

The Very Reverend Louis B. Gaffney, S.J., was yesterday named acting president of S.U., effective immediately.

The appointment followed the resignation of Fr. Kenneth Baker, S.J., who succeeded Fr. John A. Fitterer, S.J., February 1 of this year.

OVER 1,000 faculty, students, and staff gathered in the AstroGym of the Connolly P.E. Center yesterday afternoon for the announcement. The resignation of Fr. John A. Fitterer, S.J., as chancellor, was also announced. Fr. Fitterer has held the post of chancellor, a fund raising position, since his resignation as president.

Fr. Baker's resignation was announced in a joint statement of the boards of trustees and regents.

INFORMED SOURCES said that the boards asked for Fr. Baker's resignation, but that Fr. Fitterer's departure was of his own accord. Both are now on vacation awaiting re-assignment.

Rumors that Fr. Baker had been asked to resign began circulating after Friday's joint meeting of the two governing boards. By yesterday noon, speculations were sweeping the campus.

FR. GAFFNEY said that several members of the lay faculty are being considered to replace him as academic vice president, a post he has held since September.

The announcement of Fr. Baker's resignation brought scattered applause from the large crowd. Prolonged applause greeted Fr. Gaffney's introduction as acting president by Fr. Joseph Perri, S.J., executive vice president. A standing ovation followed his initial address to the University community as its president.

Neither Fr. Baker nor Fr. Fitterer were present at the convocation. Fr. Perri read their resignation statements.

President Has Needed Talents

The Very Reverend Louis Benedict Gaffney, yesterday appointed as acting President of S.U., is an administrator who brings substantial experience to the most trying office on a university campus.

FR. GAFFNEY, 51, was appointed academic vice president in July and, prior to that, was dean of the Graduate School for four years. He has been a member of the faculty for fourteen years.

A native of Sprague, Wash., Fr. Gaffney was chairman of S.U.'s admission review committee which examines admission and recruiting operations by the University. He is also an extremely knowledgeable authority on Thailand, being a recipient in 1967 of a Fulbright Lecture Abroad Award to teach in the College of Education at Prasarnmitr in Bangkok, Thailand.

One of the founders of the Washington Pre-College Testing Program, Fr. Gaffney was educated in Sprague elementary schools, was graduated from Gonzaga Prep in Spokane and earned his bachelor's and master's degrees at Gonzaga University.

HE RECEIVED a licentiate (equivalent to a master's degree) in sacred theology from Alma College in California in 1950 and, in 1957, earned his doctorate in psychology from the University of Minnesota.

Fr. Gaffney entered the Society of Jesus in 1936, was ordained in 1949 and made his final vows in 1954. Since 1967,

In his address, Fr. Gaffney emphasized that "we must divest ourselves of every tinge of negativism."

"YOU ASK WHAT you can do. I tell you to exude enthusiasm and make S.U. the most enthusiastic, unified, and scholarly university in the West."

"Contagious optimism will give us the energy to close ranks," Fr. Gaffney continued. "We shall make it!"

Fr. Gaffney pointed out what he terms S.U.'s strengths in the areas of faculty and academics, and urged faculty and students to communicate enthusiasm for S.U.'s programs to others.

"No one can recruit better than you," he said.

IN REFERRING to the current financial crisis, Fr. Gaffney said that budget cuts must and will be made.

"However, none will be made without attention to all suggestions and or without consultation," he said.

The acting president drew more applause when he assured students that "the president and trustees will take every step to protect the students and their rights. You will always be treated graciously and with consideration."

Fr. Gaffney's reference was to the controversial section of the new student handbook, approved of by Fr. Baker, which grants absolute expulsion rights, with no student recourse, to the University president.

A NEW, VIGOROUS fund drive was also announced at the convocation. Board of Regents member Bill Boeing, Jr., and Fr. Albert A. Lemieux, former S.U. president, will act as co-chairmen for the drive.

FR. LOUIS GAFFNEY, S.J.

Fr. Gaffney has served on the board of the American Catholic Psychological Association, later renamed Psychologists Interested in Religious Issues.

S.U.'s new president began instructing in 1943 at Gonzaga Preparatory School and Gonzaga University in Spokane, and came to S.U. in 1956 as director of its counseling and testing center and as an assistant professor of psychology.

From 1964 to 1968, he was the state delegate to the Council of Representatives of the American Psychological Association and in 1959 was participant in a National Science Foundation summer institute in statistics at the University of Wyoming.

Fr. Gaffney assumed his duties as president yesterday.

APPLAUSE: Students give the Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.J., newly named acting president of S.U., a standing ovation yesterday following his introduction. Fr. Gaffney replaces the Rev. Kenneth Baker, S.J., whose resignation was announced at the all-school convocation in the AstroGym. The resignation of the Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J., as chancellor, was also announced. Both former officials are currently on vacation.

William Boeing, Fr. Lemieux to Chair $3 Million Fund Drive

A former S.U. president and a Seattle business leader and Board of Regents member were named co-chairmen of the University's $3 million fund drive yesterday.

The Rev. A.A. Lemieux, S.J., president from 1948-1965, will join William Boeing, Jr., chairman of Mesabi Western Corp., in the move to stabilize the school's fiscal policy and help balance the budget.

Robert O'Brien, chairman of the S.U. Board of Regents, announced the joint chairmanship at an all-school convocation in the AstroGym.

THE DRIVE was originally to have been chaired by the Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J., whose resignation as chancellor was also announced yesterday.

First planned as a $5 million, three-year enterprise the fund drive was scaled down to its present figure in the light of prevailing market conditions in the Seattle area.

The Rev. Kenneth Baker, S.J., former S.U. president, announced at last week's faculty and staff meeting that fund-raising now will begin in January and should be complete by summer.

THE COSGRIFF Company, fund-raising consultants who operate out of Omaha and Chicago, were responsible for reassessing goals and were charged with the preparation of a master plan for the drive.

"S.U.'s problem is real, and serious, but not insurmountable," O'Brien noted in his announcement.

SEVERAL substantial anonymous gifts have been received in the past week, according to O'Brien, and there is hope for greater response.

DOLLAR DUO: The Rev. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., past president S.U., left, and William Boeing, Jr., chairman of Mesabi Western Corp. and member of the Board of Regents, were named co-chairmen of the University's upcoming $3 million fund drive.

"We are heartened at the imaginative planning already begun by the faculty," he added. "We (the regents) pledge our wholehearted support to help in every way."

Boeing, a 14-year-member of the Board of Regents, asked for the support of faculty, students, alumni and friends in the upcoming drive.

"WITH ENTHUSIASM we will succeed in insuring a long and successful future," he said. Fr. Lemieux made no statement.

Walter Webster, president of the S.U. Alumni Association, called on alumni to come to the aid of their alma mater.

"WE ARE like stockholders," he said. "As stockholders, it is imperative that we come to the financial assistance of S.U. now."

Baker Time Marked by Controversies

by Don Nelson
Editor

Just nine months and one day after he officially took over S.U.'s top administrative post, the Very Reverend Kenneth Baker, S.J., resigned.

Fr. Baker's tenure was by far the shortest of any of the five Jesuits who have held the title "president" at the Northwest's largest private university. He did not even last a complete academic year.

STILL, IT WAS a crucial nine months, marked by change, controversy, and crisis, and Fr. Baker could always be found at the eye of whatever particular hurricane was stirring up the campus.

This was partially because of the surfacing of the University's most pressing problems in its history, and partially because of the nature of the man.

The tall, graying, square-jawed Jesuit was named president January 8 of this year, the same day Fr. John A. Fitterer, S.J., resigned. He took office on February 1.

Fr. Baker came to S.U. from Gonzaga University, a Jesuit institution in Spokane, where he had been instrumental in restructuring Gonzaga's Board of Trustees to include lay members.

At his appointment, Fr. Baker was hailed as a "full-time academic president" whose concern would be the students and faculty rather than the University's pressing financial problems.

"This is a tremendous advantage, to be able to concentrate solely on the academic field as president," he said of the job at that time.

Fr. Baker became the object of controversy even before he took office. The faculty senate, angered that the faculty was not consulted in the choice of the new president, insisted that "in all future appointments of senior administrative officers of this University that an appropriate search committee be formed to recommend the new appointee."

HOWEVER, MOST quarters expressed approval and optimism at the 40-year-old Jesuit's appointment.

The new president found himself in the middle of a major campus issue almost immediately, the question of minority student programs. Questioned as to his ideas about such programs, Fr. Baker responded forcefully.

"We are bound in charity to help our brothers," he said, "but not so that we bankrupt the institution."

Fr. Baker said there was no money for additional minority programs, and urged concerned groups and individuals to explore means of expanding such programs despite the shortage of funds.

DIRECTOR OF Minority Affairs Charles Mitchell challenged Fr. Baker's policy statements, especially the assertion that financial aid funds should serve basis. Mitchell argued that need should be the determining factor.

In early March Fr. Baker dropped a few suggestions that stirred campus discussion. One was that the University change its name to bolster its identity with the public. The president also suggested that basketball could be eliminated, or at least de-emphasized, and that a debate team, complete with coach and scholarships, be formed at S.U.

"I can't imagine a Jesuit school without one," he said.

IN APRIL, Fr. Baker said that a reduced budget deficit indicated that S.U. was "not on the edge of disaster," and added that the University was moving towards balancing the budget.

The biggest challenge to the new president's authority came in early May, when this campus saw its first major protests and disturbances.

Fr. Baker's initial encounters with demonstrators were peaceful. He addressed a group protesting U.S. involvement in Cambodia, assured students that no academic penalties would be addressed for strike activities, and responded to student requests to send a telegram to president Nixon expressing concern for U.S. Asian involvement.

But then student protest activities turned to S.U. campus issues, and things got somewhat rougher. Despite Fr. Baker's warnings to students that "we are not going to tolerate violence . . . or any form of violent coercion on this campus," several students forced their way into his office, caused minor damage, and demanded changes in University policies.

THE PRESIDENT responded by suspending several students allegedly involved in the melee and issuing a set of guidelines for future student rallies. The guidelines, which called for University approval of time, place and equipment, were not well received by demonstrating students.

The full measure of supposed student discontent was shown in late May, when the combined faculty and student senates came within one vote of issuing a censure of "no confidence" in the new president. Fr. Baker was criticized for "his virtually inflexible policies and action in regard to the needs and opinions of students."

However, Fr. Baker's "hard-line stand" against violence and coercion also won praise from students, faculty and especially the public.

The year ended on a somewhat formal note with Fr. Baker's inauguration at the June 7 graduation ceremony.

THE NOW-FAMOUS trip to Rome put Fr. Baker immediately in the spotlight as the 1970-71 year got under way. The president saw the trip as a useful means of promoting S.U.'s image internationally.

But the huge financial problems facing the "fulltime academic president" have been the real headline makers as the University continues its struggle for survival.

Fr. Baker's responsibilities ended, just as they had begun, quite suddenly yesterday, but the problems will continue.

Resignation Statements Stress Thanks to Faculty and Students

The resignation statement of Fr. Kenneth Baker, S. J., as read at yesterday's convocation by Fr. Joseph Perri, S.J., executive vice president:

"In the present difficulties facing S.U., I find that I do not have the full support of the community. Hence, I have submitted my resignation as president of S.U., effective immediately.

"I AM MOST GRATEFUL to the people of Seattle, to the faculty, to the students, and to my fellow Jesuits for the warm and friendly reception I have received as president of this great school that has contributed so much to the welfare of the City of Seattle.

"I call upon the all of you who are friends and admirers of this excellent Jesuit university to come to her assistance in any way you can in this hour of dire financial need.

"I will always be proud of the fact that I was honored to serve as president of S.U. Thank you."

Fr. Baker also released a statement addressed to the students, dated Sunday, Nov. 1. It read:

"DEAR STUDENTS; by the time you read these words you will all be aware of my resignation from the presidency of S.U. I have tried my best to understand you and to work for your interests in every way I could. I deeply appreciate the many kindnesses you have shown me; the opposition I expected, since it goes with the position — and it forces all of us to grow just a little bit more.

"I leave S.U. with great affection for the high-quality student body. Although I have had differences with some of you, I respect you and admire the maturity that has been developed here over the years. In the future I will follow with interest the growth of S.U. May God be with you all, yours very sincerely, Kenneth Baker, S.J."

Along with the resignation statement of Fr. Baker was read the resignation statement of Fr. John A. Fitterer, S.J., chancellor and past president of S.U. The text of that statement follows:

"MY ASSOCIATION with the the students, faculty and staff, alumni, guild board and our board of regents, as well as with our many friends in the community has been truly rewarding.

"But after 15 years as dean, president and chancellor I believe that an educational leader should have an opportunity to step aside and rekindle his energies and ideals.

"I WISH TO emphasize how proud I am to have been permitted to serve this fine Jesuit institution and assure our many friends of my sincere and prayerful gratitude. For, thanks to you, S.U. and the Jesuit Fathers have earned a permanent place in this great Northwest."

FR. FITTERER
and FR. BAKER

Gaffney Becomes Sixth Chief Administrator in S.U. History

Fr. Louis Gaffney, S.J., named to temporarily fill the post of president vacated by the resignation of the Very Reverend Kenneth Baker, S.J., becomes the 18th Jesuit chief administrator since the founding of the school in 1891.

Five other men have held the title of president.

FR. FRANCIS CORKERY, S. J., became the first president of S.U. in 1936. Before that, University executive officers held the simple title "administrator."

Under Fr. Corkery, S. U. began to expand out of its one building, what is now known as the Old Science building. Construction was begun on the Liberal Arts building, the school of engineering was added, and coed classes began in the previously all-male Seattle College.

Fr. Harold O. Small, S.J., served as president from 1944-48. He was followed by Fr. Albert A. Lemieux, S.J., who was responsible for most of the University's major expansion.

AFTER HAVING served for many years as dean of the school of arts and sciences, Fr. John A. Fitterer, S.J., became president in 1965.

During Fr. Fitterer's five years in office, work was completed on the A. A. Lemieux library and the Connolly P. E. Center was added.

Fr. Kenneth Baker, S.J., succeeded Fr. Fitterer for nine months in 1970. Much of Fr. Baker's short but action-filled term of office was taken up with finding financial avenues of keeping the University viable.

Primary Elections Billed Thursday; Nine Candidates Vie for Offices

Primary elections for two senate seats and the office of Freshman class president are slated for Thursday.

Voting places will be located in the Chieftain, Bellarmine and the Liberal Arts building and hours will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Chief and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the dorms.

VYING FOR Senate no. 2 are Steven Hampton, Bryce McWalter and Cynthia Whetsell.

Hampton proposes to "sell" the school through making prospective students aware of "the financial aid that is available for them . . . and give them a commitment . . . so that the prospective student will channel his classes toward the university."

Bryce McWalter believes student involvement is needed to make S.U. relevant to all students. He would emphasize publication of events because "students just don't know what is available for their use at this university."

"MORE POSITIVISM" is desired by candidate Cynthia Whetsell who believes the good aspects of S.U. should be examined. She is critical of section 3A in the Student Handbook's statement on student policy and feels students "must have their rights and academic freedom."

Senate position no. 3 has attracted three candidates, John Cummins, Pat Deer and Vivian Luna.

Cummins entered the race "to terminate my membership among the silent majority and become politically active." He promises to bring any measure suggested to him before the senate, establish some changes and help unite various groups on campus.

Pat Deer did not provide The Spectator with a statement of his platform.

VIVIAN LUNA sees the student as "S.U.'s prime customer" whose rights and privileges need to be respected. She proposes a cultural center for S.U.'s ethnic groups to develop awareness of themselves and fellow students.

Javonello states "I won't make any empty promises, swear to God."

Odom wants the freshman class to have more of a voice in campus activities and will develop policies and procedures to provide "fresh and positive thinking."

Otto hopes to "create a spirit of unity in the Freshman class." He plans to create activities for both freshman dorm and town residents.

Soul Hustlers, SAGA Score Intramural Wins

The team Soul Hustlers remains undefeated after Sunday's intramural encounter with the A Phi O's football team. Soul Hustler Charles McDowell threw three passes to Emile Wilson, Doug Pullen and Harold Nelson respectively. McDowell also ran for one touchdown. Three extra point kicks were added to the total score; Soul Hustlers 27, A Phi O's 7.

SAGA trampled over the Gollywogs 34-12. Rick Holmes' safety accounted for the first SAGA score, while Ron Spieker aerialized three end zone scores. Spieker's teammate Leonard caught two of them, and Willy Tolover for another.

SPIEKER contributed one score himself, running for a 20 yard touchdown. Paul Moothart of the Gollywogs passed for one touchdown and returned a 79 yard kickoff for the other score.

With Kevin Madden at the throne, the I.K.'s were able to defeat Embers 29-13. Madden hurled three touchdowns to John Nickols, Mike Sherman, Smith and Joe Fioretti. Mike Panisko added three PATs. Passes from Tom Couples to Steve Segadelli and Randy Santo as well as one extra point put 13 points on the board for Embers.

A 23 yard pass interception by Jim Ingalls started the scoring for the Brewers 38-13 victory over Quick. Brewers quarterback Jim Black tallied with two touchdown passes to Tom Sonn, Mel Williams, and Jim Ingalls. Greg Combs added six points with a 55 yard kickoff return. Mel Williams concluded the scoring with a one yard scamper for a touchdown. Art Lagreid of Quick passed twice to Irwin, resulting in 12 points.

Chiefs Play for Top Spot Against Huskies

Tonight is the big game for the S.U. booters. They come up against the Washington Huskies at 7 p.m. in Husky Stadium. The records for both teams are identical 2-1-2. The winners of this game will have the first step to NCAA regionals in San Francisco behind them.

George Irwin remarked, "There's not much love lost when we play the Huskies. It is always a physical game. All the cookies are on this game."

The 30-second jinx once again befell our Chieftain booters Friday, the only difference being in that it was British Columbia Institute of Technology instead of WWSC. The final score was S.U. 2, B.C.I.T. 3.

S.U.'s previously undefeated team was led by Morgan Turner, who put in the first goal. Minutes later BCIT came back with a 20 yard direct kick into the goal. In second half action, BCIT started the scoring with a 25 yard goal to go ahead 2-1. With the assistance of Joe Wood and Joe Zavaliga, Terry Dunn drove the ball home to tie up the game 2-2.

With about 35 seconds to the final whistle, BCIT attempted consecutive tries at the Chieftain goal. On the fourth try the ball hit the inside of the goal post and rolled in just eluding the grasp of the sprawled Chieftain goalie, Bob Wilds.

Jeff Jones and Harry Arnold were the standouts in the game. Both played excellent offensive and defensive.
