Large anonymous gifts kick off fund drive phase two

Anonymous gifts of $100,000 cash and a $110,000 piece of property have kicked off Phase Two of S.U.'s stabilization fund drive. The 1972-73 segment of the drive is committed to raising $3 million for a perpetual endowment fund.

endowment fund.

THE TWO GIFTS were received recently and were from different donors, not the person who has recently offered a $1 million "challenge gift" for the endowment fund. That donor will contribute the $1 million to S.U. if the University can raise $2 million or more in matching funds by Jan. 10, 1973.

Fr. A. A. Lemieux, S.J., co-chairman, with William E. Boe-ing, Jr., of the fund drive, and Pat Pheasant, director of de-velopment, explained yesterday that the major thrust of the fund drive will now be toward raising the endowment funds.

They will also continue working on Phase One of the fund drive, which has a target goal of $1.7 million. Fr. Lemieux and Boeing also co-chair this part of the drive.

SO FAR, Phase One shows returns of $1,274,613 in cash and $317,607 in pledges for a total of $1,592,221. These monies will be used to pay back some $1 million in bank loans which S.U. had taken out to make up prenad taken out to make up previous budget deficits. Also, each year's budget depends on $250,000 in gifts, Lemieux said. The gift funds needed over a three-year period, ($750,000) plus the funds needed to pay off loans, are represented in the $1.7 million stablization target figure lion stablization target figure.

University alumni raised $60,-000 in cash and $68,000 in pledges to aid the fund drive's Phase One in reaching its $1.5 million total.

The original plan, according to Fr. Lemieux, was to use the $1.7 million for immediate needs and keep the other $1.3 million of the $3 million target figure in reserve as an endowment base.

THAT TARGET was revised, however, at Christmas, with the $1 million challenge gift by the donor who felt S.U. needed at least a $3 million endowment.

Based on 6 per cent interest, a $3 million endowment will yield an annual income of $180,000 without touching the principal, Lemieux said.

The early start of the endowment phase of the fund drive was precipitated by the anonymous challenge-contribution.

"WE ARE TRYING to identify new people who might respond to the challenge gift," Fr. Lem-ieux said, "we're calling on companies we haven't called on before or those that didn't give us a firm answer. We're also looking for new potential bene-factors and friends."

Contributions have come from corporations, individuals and foundations, as well as alumni.

Arab culture, contributions noted

by Mary Gulick

Americans a re ignorant of the Arab culture, claimed a Near-East expert here yester-day. "Future political blunders could be avoided if we allow ourselves to understand the Arab people's background."

As part of a teach-in series on Asian people sponsored by the Pan-Asian Council, Fawzi Khouri ,a graduate of American University in Cairo, and Cambridge University, spoke on the "Impact of Arab Culture on Western Civilization" in the Library Auditorium.

Khouri noted that as Western Europe was experiencing a downward trend in their civilization after the Fall of the Roman Empire, the Arabs were excelling in mathematics, scientific literature, and translating the works of the Greeks.

"Bridge-builders" was what Khouri called Arab forebearers who built cultural bridges by transmitting much Eastern in-fluence to the Westerners.

The essence of Arab culture is its adherence to "universalism," or breadth of outlook, and Khouri attributes Arab success in medicine to this ability to relate things.

AFTER RULING half the world and producing so much, the Arab civilization crashed with the successive invasions of the Mongols and the Ottomans. As a result of the pillaging invaders, the Arab civilization was to sleep for the next 600 to 700

Today, the sleeping civilization of the Arabs has to be given a chance to wake up and peel off assimilated characteristics of

ate and ASSU offices, with the exception of the office of the second vice president, will be tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The primary candidates for second vice president will run again to decide the finalists. The last primary was contested on the grounds that Bellarmine polls ran out of ballots once during the election.

PRESIDENTIAL candidates are Pat Lupo and Charles Slowe. First vice presidential candidates are Richard Otto and John Peterson. Candidates for treasurer are Tim Flynn and Tim Proctor. Jeff Jones is un-opposed for the office of publicity director.

Also unopposed are Bob Va-nina, senate position number five, John Cummins, senate po-sition number eight, and Mary Pat Johnson for the office of AWS president. The lone candidate for the positions of AWS vice president and AWS secretary are Lena Low and Maureen McGlowne, respectively.

Opposing each other for senate position number seven are Joe Moran and Jeffrey Rietveld. Senate seat number six is #### several alternatives possible Four-day class week?

Two proposals to revise the nesday. schedule of undergraduate class hours, one of them a year old, will shortly come before the students for a poll.

Bill Gross, a junior community services major, went to Matt Boyle, ASSU president, several weeks ago with a plan for a founday class week which for a four-day class week which would retain the present fivecredit hour module.

UNDER HIS plan, Gross explains, each class would be lengthened 15 minutes, to 65 minutes. In the course of four days, an extra hour would be spent on each subject, thereby eliminating the need to attend class on the fifth day.

Gross proposed using the extra day to provide a three-day weekend or perhaps a free Wed-

In November, 1970, Dr. Don-ald Ireland, assistant professor of business, also developed a new schedule of undergraduate class hours together with Dr. Fawzi Dimian.

Under Ireland's plan, five hour classes could meet two or three times per week; three hour classes could meet twice a FIVE HOUR classes could either meet three times a week (MWF) for an hour and 20 minutes; or meet twice a week (TTH) for two hours.

Total class time for five hour classes is now 250 minutes per week. Under Ireland's schedule, it would be 240 minutes per week.

Three credit hour courses could meet on any two days of Monday, Wednesday or Friday for one hour and 20 minutes. Total class time for them is presently 150 minutes. It would meet 160 minutes under the revised schedule.

DR. IRELAND drew up three different plans which varied in starting hours for classes. He then sent them with a questionnaire to the faculty. He received some 29 replies, 27 neutral or in favor of the idea, two opposed. "I don't know if the University is interested or not (in the plan)," Dr. Ireland said. "One of my main points was that this would offer a different way of presenting a class which could be more interesting and more beneficial for all concerned." HE ADDED that longer class sessions would allow longer presentation time, development of ideas and possibly presentation of films followed by discussion. According to Gross and Ireland, the registrar's office has said that either plan can be made workable, although re-scheduling would involve work. GROSS AND Boyle hope to poll student opinion within the next month. They would then present the proposals and results (if favorable) to the Academic Planning Committee of demic Planning Committee of the Academic Council.

To the Editor:

Permit me to offer a simple proposal which if implemented could substantially reduce operating costs and increase enrollment at S.U. without adversely affecting the quality of the academic program. I suggest that the University initiate a four day school week.

As most everyone knows the four day, forty hour work week is currently being tested in businesses across the country. In many cases the results have been highly satisfactory both for management and employees. A similar formula might work as well here.

tinue to hold the line on salary hikes by offering increased leisure time in exchange for increased salaries. Expenditures for food service and secretarial help might be reduced.

ENROLLMENT, and hence tuition income, would surely increase. A four day school week would be a strong recruiting weapon in the battle for incoming freshmen.

Financial benefits would also accure to individual students.

For example, commuter student travel expenses would be reduced by one fifth.

The rewards would not be only financial, however. A four day school week would make better use of that priceless commodity, time. At present most students' class time is spread unevenly throughout the day.

Our's is a financially embattled campus. If we are to preserve S.U. as a first class liberal arts institution and as a viable alternative to the secular university we must find innovative ways to withstand the financial crunch.

Injuries hit Paps' season

by Ed Hayduck

The Papooses were 8-0 and sailing along. There was talk of the freshmen being the most talented group in the school's history.

Then the bottom fell out and those spectacular freshmen were an unspectacular 5-6 the rest of the year.

What went wrong? Why did the exclamation point suddenly and unexpectedly change to a question mark?

Reasons can be given for the lackluster second half. The team played some very experienced community college teams. The long layoff at Christmas had to interrupt the progress of the players, who were playing together for the first time.

But these things probably merely reflect a painful by-product of the one thing that did go wrong. Injuries crippled the Paps at almost every turn.

The most damaging injury was to Jesse McGaffie who was lost for the last half of the year with a shoulder separation. The leaper from Oakland was the Paps offensive leader during the early going and was playing consistent basketball.

consistent basketball.

Another serious blow was Dave Mundig who tore ligaments in his leg and missed most of the season. Mundig was the sixth man and was making threatening noises toward a starting role.

before the season and was never one hundred per cent. Wayne Korsmo also missed a few games with a bad ankle.

But all in all the season has to be termed successful. Bob Gross came up to Seattle with a great reputation and lived up to it. He averaged over twenty points per game and led the team in almost all offensive categories. With only two starters returning on the varsity, Gross should move right in next year.

Chieftains wrap up the season

by Pat Smith

This week will bring a conclusion to another season of basketball at S.U.

THE CHIEFTAINS' league record of 8-wins and 4-losses, and an over-all record of 15 wins and 9 losses, is an improvement over last season's mark. But this record is not enough to entertain S.U. fans with any title hopes.

Last week started out promising as the Chiefs downed Santa Clara by three points in a sloppily played contest. Then the University of San Francisco Dons came to town and, with a 74-65 victory, destroyed all remaining Chieftain title hopes.

THE DONS played their us-

THE DONS played their usual tight defense which forced the Chiefs to take bad shots.

The closest S.U. was to come was within three points with a little over a minute to play.

Tonight the Chieftains play the Lions of Loyola-LA in the Coliseum at 8 p.m. Earlier in the season the Chiefs defeated Loyola in Los Angeles, 103 to 100, but they had to shoot 57 per cent from the field to do it.

PEPPERDINE comes to town on Saturday bringing with them one of the highest scoring guards in the college game, in the person of Bill "Bird" Averitt. Averitt, a sophomore averaging 28 points a game, is probably the sensation of the WCAC.

Saturday will also be the last game for five Chieftain seniors. They are Mike Collins, Steve Bravard, Mark Van Antwerp, Gary Ladd and Adolph Sanchez.

The Beer Drinker's Guide

HOW TO GET BEER GLASSES BEER-CLEAN.

It's surprising what a difference a really clean glass can make—not just in the appearance of your beer and its head, but in the aroma and flavor as well.

To test your glass, fill with clear water, pour out and hold up glass. If it drains leaving streaks or individual drops, there is soap, grease or foreign matter in your glass.

Wash the glass in a good detergent—never soap—rinse with clear water—and place upside down on dish drainer to dry. Never wipe the glass with a towel, or place on a towel to dry. When you fill the glass, pour directly down the middle, from just above the lip of the glass. You'll get a clear, brilliant glass of beer, with a pleasing bouquet and a snow-white, small-bubbled head.

These tips are presented by the West's oldest brewery, to help you get all the real beer flavor we brew into Blitz-Weinhard Beer. We pledge you a perfect glass of beer, every time. And we want you to enjoy it. After all, that's what beer's all about.

5) giving women a greater sense of awareness. Mary Pat feels that the first four areas are the type of things that any government should be concerned with. She adds that "the women's movement is a valid issue that should be discussed. People should become aware of it."

Lena, a junior economics ma-jor, said she was hesitant about filing for the office but decided that "you look around and see the school going down the drain—this is a good way to do something about it."

PRESENTLY historian for Spurs, the sophomore women's service organization, she would like AWS to create a sense of awareness and unity among the women on campus. She would like to keep the present AWS cabinet, including all women's groups on campus, and hopes AWS can sponsor one event per quarter for women students.

"Women's lib programs are fine," she added, "but I'd like to see more diverse activities.

Lena also favors an AWS newsletter, if funds are available, a clean up of the Chieftain lounge, plus a bulletin board to inform students of campus events.

She also feels AWS could work on the enrollment problem by helping recruit. Maureen is a freshman in community services.

"I'VE SEEN how far AWS has gone this year," she said, "it's important for it to stay representative of women's views on campus and to stay interested in working with the administration."

"I don't know if people are really aware of what's been done," she said as a possible explanation for this year's lack of candidates. "Also, it's been women's lib oriented and that's a stigma in the eyes of some people on campus."

She feels that present AWS programs, such as the women's sports program, are worthwhile and should be continued.

Senate seat no. five candidate favors more on-campus activities, active senate

Bob Vanina

Bob Vanina, a sophomore in business, is the lone candidate for student senate seat no. five. His opponent, Steve Grover, withdrew from the race.

"THERE ARE a few things on campus I'd like to see changed," Vanina says, "student government has got to give the students what they want rather than just throwing things at them."

He favors more on-campus events, such as Joe Wood Night and Las Vegas Night and hopes the on-campus drinking restrictions can be eased.

Vanina thinks the senate "still has a long way to go" and must meet more often and take more action. He says that body should be more willing to assist ASSU with projects.
