Tuition silence blamed on communications breakdown

by Ann Standaert

Students didn't learn of next year's tuition increase because of poor public relations and a breakdown in communications, the Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.J., University president, told students last week.

Fr. Gaffney met with students Friday to discuss the tuition hike. Students had met Thursday because they were upset about the increase and the fact that they hadn't been informed.

FR. GAFFNEY was unable to attend the Thursday meeting but said he would be available for questions the following day.

Harold Nelson, newly-elected ASSU president, explained Thursday that the meeting was "not a protest but, rather, a meeting of concerned students."

Students would like to be given at least a "general outline of policies," he added.

A group of students brought up several questions including why hadn't students been informed, what other cutbacks had been considered, who made tuition decisions and had next year's financial aid cutbacks been considered?

A STUDENT in the audience pointed out that students had already submitted their financial aid statements without knowledge of the increase.

Fr. William LeRoux, S.J., theology professor and president of the faculty senate, offered to answer some of the questions.

The Board of Trustees, he explained, had made the decision. The University did consider other cutbacks, he added. Faculty salaries, for instance, have been pared to the bone.

In the last few years, the faculty has almost suffered a cut in salary and an increase in the load, he explained.

THE FACULTY and administration had known of the increase and had assumed that the students had known, Fr. LeRoux added.

A faculty member suggested that students write letters to their Congressmen and President Nixon protesting the cutback in financial aid.

Larry Brouse, new ASSU first vice president, concluded Thursday's meeting with three resolutions for students to take to the administration.

A written policy should be instituted, he said, that would limit tuition hikes to one per four years. Students should have advance warning and the administration should consider providing a financial break for those students with overloads that are necessary to complete their requirements, Brouse said.

FRIDAY, Fr. Gaffney apologized that no formal announcement had been made to the students.

"I knew it so I thought you knew it," he said.

Fr. Gaffney added that his staff of five advisers had failed to remember as well.

The information was available in printed literature, Fr. Gaffney pointed out.

A recruiting brochure, "To Meet the Students," states: "Tuition for all students is $560 per quarter." The new Bulletin of Information is in error, though, Fr. Gaffney said. It gives tuition for new students but does not mention returning students, he explained.

When tuition rose from $385 to $510 per quarter two years ago, a "kind of a promise" was made, Fr. Gaffney said.

THE TRUSTEES hoped that they could plan ahead so that there would never be more than one increase in four years, he explained.

That was not an absolute promise, however, and it was made to those students who came in the fall of '71, Fr. Gaffney added.

The trustees still hope to keep that promise, he said, but students should count on an increase of some kind every two years.

"You can probably expect an increase in '74 but the Trustees haven't met about that yet," Fr. Gaffney said later in the meeting.

EVEN WITH the increase, the president said, the budget for next year is $45,000 short.

"We've tried hard to cut out needless expense. We're trying to make up the deficit by retention and recruitment of students," he added.

S.U., Fr. Gaffney said, has the most reasonable tuition of all the private colleges in the state.

Government aid would help the University a lot, he added. The fate of the tuition supplement grant is still undecided. The legislators would like to try a "G.I. type bill given to everyone," Fr. Gaffney said.

"IF WE could get a grant it would come close to equalizing our tuition with that of public schools," he added.

The question of a financial break for overloading was brought up again. Fr. Gaffney said that he hadn't realized that some students have to take over hours just to get in required courses. He promised that he would take the matter to the Board of Trustees.

Questioned about the possibility of having students on the financial board, Fr. Gaffney said that he could see no reason why they shouldn't be included. If students did become members, though, they would be required to attend every meeting, he said.

correction

Last Thursday's Spectator incorrectly stated that only Whitman College planned a larger increase than S.U. We failed to realize, however, that the figures we had for this year included tuition and fees while those for next year were only tuition.

The adjusted figures show that Gonzaga and Whitman will have a larger increase while those of Whitworth and the University of Puget Sound will be the same as S.U.'s.

Tuition at St. Martin's and Pacific Lutheran is determined by the number of credit hours. The business office at PLU reported that tuition for next year would not increase. At St. Martin's, tuition will increase $4 per credit hour.

The Spectator regrets the error.

Public relations director named

Richard Welsh

Richard J. Welsh, formerly university relations director on the Morris Campus of the University of Minnesota, has been appointed director of public relations here, it was announced yesterday.

Welsh's appointment fills a vacancy left earlier this year by Bill Fritz who served as a public relations consultant for the University for one year.

WELSH WILL have specific responsibilities "in the areas of both on-campus and off-campus public relations, dealing with faculty, staff and administrators, as well as the various publics upon which Seattle University relies and which the University attempts to serve," the Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.J., University president, said in making the announcement.

These duties will include responsibility for the public information and publications functions, special conferences and events on campus.

The University hopes to "tie the whole p.r. package together," Fr. Gaffney added.

"WE ARE concerned that closer relations be established not only within the campus academic community, but also between the University and its many and varied publics," he said.

Welsh will be responsible to Patrick Pheasant, newly appointed Vice President for University Relations.

Welsh started the Morris office where he spent almost eight years. Before that, he served for a time as British United Press correspondent in several major Canadian cities. He was also a public relations consultant to both political and commercial interests in B.C. and is a former Episcopal minister.

A NATIVE of Vancouver, B.C., Welsh feels that he is "kind of a Northwesterner" and is glad to get back to the area. He felt that it was "time for a change." His family will join him here in June.

Signups open for several ASSU positions

Several positions in student government are available but if you're interested you should apply now.

An executive secretary, comptroller and a publicity director are needed for the upcoming year.

IN ADDITION, the senate seat for sophomore class president is open for most of this quarter since Jan Flom, sophomore president, was elected ASSU secretary.

The senate will appoint a new president to serve until class elections come up later this quarter.

Signups are also being taken for Homecoming chairman and Political Union president.

INTERESTED students should sign up on sheets posted in Belarmine Hall, the Chieftain and the ASSU office, second floor Chieftain.

Today is the deadline for all signups but that of sophomore class president.

A minimum g.p.a. of 2.0 is required for the offices.

Rally

Cuts in social and health services to be protested

A march and mass rally has been scheduled for Thursday to protest cutbacks made by the Nixon Administration in social and health services to the Seattle area.

The rally will highlight Human Unity Day proclaimed last week by Mayor Wes Uhlman, emphasizing that Seattle stands to lose measurably in the government cutbacks. Monetarily, Seattle's loss will be $97.8 million.

PARTICIPANTS will gather at Campion Tower, 11th and Jefferson, at 11 a.m. and will march to the rally site at the Federal Court House at 5th and Madison.

Chairman of the mass rally and march is Fr. J. Michael Holland, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church.

"We're going to try to raise the level of consciousness of the general public in Seattle and also to begin to strengthen the solidarity of the people who will be affected by the cuts," Fr. Holland said.

Persons utilizing the day-care programs in the Central Area, students and those taking vocational training will be directly affected by the federal cutbacks.

"IT'S FRIGHTENING," Fr. Holland declared, "to think of the numbers of mothers who are presently serving as heads of households who will be out of work or school, forced to do so by the loss of daycare services for their children."

Persons presently receiving National Defense Student Loans will have to look somewhere else next year to help fund their education as that program will be eliminated by the cutbacks.

Lt. Col. Michael J. Dolan, director of financial aid, said that such programs should be expanded, not eliminated. Dolan explained that if we are to break the circle of poverty, a means of financing the needy students' education will have to be found.

Following the rally, leaders will meet with individuals such as national legislators, etc., who have some influence in congressional circles.

letters to editor

repugnant

To the editor:

In response to Steve Harrison's Sounding Board article in March 29 Spectator, I would question the reliability of his sources since his article included misleading statements, misconceptions and complete fallacies. As a senior in S.U.'s ROTC program, I find his article repugnant.

Here are a few facts which Mr. Harrison overlooked:

1. S.U. does have a small bore rifle range used predominantly by the rifle team which is open to all students and is chartered by the ASSU.

2. S.U.'s ROTC department has no machine guns or rocket launchers and even if they did they could not be used on the rifle range.

3. No ROTC class has ever taught "shoot to maim, then wait for the medics and then shoot the medics." ROTC cadets deplore such concepts as any other rational being should.

4. The purpose of the poster "My rifle is my best friend" is to teach the cadet the importance of maintaining equipment and becoming proficient in its use. Obviously, the factors could mean the difference between life and death in a combat situation.

I further resent the war-monger image that Mr. Harrison implies. The decision to join ROTC is a highly personal and soul-searching matter which demands that the individual examine many moral questions and choose his position. It can be argued forever whether our decision is correct, but as individuals we have no alternative than to follow our own conscience.

We deplore war, perhaps even more since we would probably be the first casualties, but we do not make national policies and if called on we will be ready.

In conclusion, I would invite Mr. Harrison or anyone else who might be interested to talk to me or some other ROTC cadet so we can clear up some of these misconceptions and at least present our side of the coin.

John Cummins

thanks

To the editor:

As chairman of the Governing Board of the 1973 S.U. Invitational High School Forensic Tournament I want to acknowledge publicly those who worked so hard planning for and running the tournament. I wish to express my sincere thanks to the following for their support and labors:

Louis Gaffney, S.J., Dr. William Guppy, James Powers, S.J., Al Mann, Dr. Charles La Cugna, Margaret Penne, James Reichmann, S.J., Dr. J. Robert Larson.

Leo Kaufmann, S.J., Robert Gorman, Elena Weickardt, James Heil, Fred Cordova, Richard Otto, Paul Seely, Anthony Regala.

Abdul Jeng, Carl Dela Cueva, Kenneth Enslow, S.J., Paul Ingildsen, Kathy Rosell.

Tim Crowley, Nick Beritich, Betty J. Seat, Judith Hansen, Br. William Yam, S.J., John Kindall, S.J., Terry Collins, Kathy Marion.

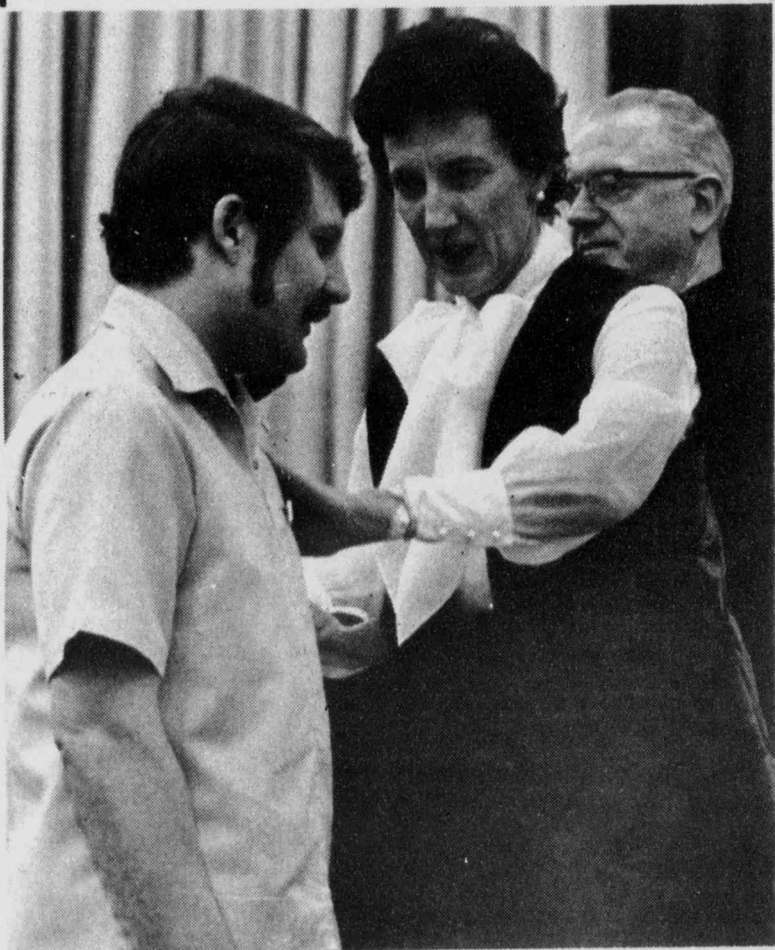

James Ozanne, Mick Schreck, Ed Blair, Dona MacDonald, Alumni Association, Mick McHugh, Olive Hozack, ASSU, political science department, Dr. Joseph Monda, Washington Interscholastic Activities Assoc.

I also wish to express my thanks to Roger Aase, Speech Director at Mountlake Terrace High School, and Steve Marques, Speech Director at Sammamish High School. Very special thanks is also extended to Linda Jacobson, President of the Washington State Debate Coaches Association, for her time and effort as executive director of the tournament.

To these and to the other students, staff and faculty of S.U. who assisted and who supported our efforts in reestablishing this worthwhile activity on campus, my thanks.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Trebon

Nurses capped Sunday

MICHAEL HANSEN of Auburn received his nursing patch from Dr. Eileen Ridgway during Sunday's Capping Ceremony. Hansen was one of two men capped, or patched, in a class of 66. William Nelson of San Jose, Calif., also was patched. This was S.U.'s third annual Capping Ceremony. The academic rite signifies the beginning of clinical training for the students.

On responsibility to others . . .

"This is not a protest," Harold Nelson, new ASSU president, told students Thursday when they met to discuss next year's tuition increase.

WE DISAGREE. Maybe Nelson wasn't protesting but we feel that the meeting was a protest, a two-fold protest at that.

To protest is to object to something—an action or a policy. Students were objecting to the tuition increase and, perhaps even more importantly, to the fact that everyone seemed to know about it—except the students.

Friday, Fr. Gaffney apologized for the poor public relations and we accept his apology but we can only remember that this is not the first time this type of situation has occurred.

S.U.'s DRAWING card has always been its small size which creates an excellent opportunity for personal relationships between faculty and students. Why can't this relationship be extended to administrators, as well?

We wonder how much respect administrators actually have for the students that this University was designed to serve if even five advisers is not enough to remember to inform students of important developments that concern them.

Perhaps we of The Spectator are more concerned than others about communication to the students since we feel a responsibility to let students know these developments.

PERHAPS WE, TOO, have slipped a little in our duty. In our enthusiasm, we may have neglected to watch ALL areas of the campus with the same "eagle eye" we use for, say, the ASSU and the senate.

Maybe next time, if everyone on campus remembers their responsibility to everyone else, there won't be a breakdown in communications and no one will have to apologize.

Chieftains 'corral' first recruit

by Evie Pech

Spring initiates open season on basketball recruits, and the Chiefs have already bagged their first big cager.

Jerry Thomas Lee, a 6'8 junior college transfer from Mesa Community College in Arizona, holds the University's 'first recruit of the year' title.

Although he has yet to sign a letter of intent, he is enrolled at S.U. this quarter—making him eligible for the 1973-74 season.

LEE'S RECORD speaks for itself. He was named all-city, all-state and most valuable player at Martin Luther King High School in Detroit. In his senior year there, he averaged an outstanding 35.5 points per game.

Jumping over to Mesa Community seemed to hardly tarnish his touch. He won all-conference and all-regional recognition (as well as most valuable player), averaging 24.5 points and 15 rebounds per game.

How did S.U. come by this 230 lb., 20-year-old bundle of talent?

"IT WAS mostly due to (assistant) coach John Burnley. He came down twice to Arizona and once to a tournament in Colorado to see me play," Lee explained. "My brother Austin did my negotiating."

He attributed a substantial portion of his decision to "some pros who went to school here (S.U.) and took the time to come down here and talk with me." One of these advocates was Elgin Baylor.

With the graduation of Center Greg Williams, Coach Bill O'Connor is left with a hole in his starting line-up. Could it be that S.U. has a copyright on 6'8 centers produced in Detroit?

The open position influenced Lee, as did other aspects.

"I KNEW I could come here and get some good playing time in. This school has the opportunity to play a lot of big teams and even to travel back East," he added.

Lee seems to bear no qualms about his abilities as a master of the court. He's ready for the varsity now.

"I feel I can play varsity basketball right away. I may even try cracking that starting line-up," he mused.

THE BIG man is impressed with the entire atmosphere at the University, especially the congeniality of the people he's come in contact with.

"I think everybody's really friendly here. I've gotten a lot of attention. Some places give a person lots of attention at first and then ignore them—but not here," Lee commented.

The attitudes of the coaches and players have been instrumental in accounting for his apparent delight with the University.

"I THINK the staff here is very together. We may get together a winner," he observed.

"I also think a lot of the guys on the team have the right kind of attitude to make a winning team. If you've got the right attitude, you'll go a long way," Lee philosophized.

The Detroit dribbler has nothing but praise for Coach O'Connor.

"The coach is a beautiful guy.

Jerry "Horse" Lee

As far as the game goes, it can't be denied — he knows a lot. His family is really beautiful, too," Lee said.

AS A MATTER of fact, he has nothing but praise for his whole new environment.

"I can't believe the student body at S.U. Everybody's really friendly. It's almost just like being home. Everything has worked out beautifully," he continued.

Lee picked up the nickname of "Workhorse" as a freshman in high school. Later, it was shortened to "Horse"

"I was so strong and so big at the time, and I really used to work hard. They started calling me 'The Workhorse' and it just stuck," he explained.

With any luck, the "Horse" could help set the pace for a winning season next year, with enthusiasm as well as talent.

Spring athletes come up with several wins and a loss

crew

From a windy, choppy Snake River Gorge the S.U. oarsmen brought home a first, second and third place in the Washington State University Regatta.

The squad competed against three other universities in the Saturday regatta, WSU, PLU and UPS.

WSU oarsmen by nine seconds.

Rowing in the shell were: Mark Wills, bow; Pat Finney, 2; Doug Ewing, 3; Mark Minerich, 4; Rudy Nikolao, 5; Chris Frost, 6; Tom Weed, 7; Dave Pellegrini, 8; and Annie Caparros, coxswain.

The varsity slipped behind PLU's boat in the first 500 meters of their race. They couldn't edge their bow beyond the stern of the first boat and ended up coming in second behind the Lutes by less than a length.

ROWING IN the varsity shell were: Jim Larson, bow; Rich Otto, 2; Jim Dupont, 3; Ted Schindler, 4; John Ruhl, 5; Lance Kissinger, 6; Mark Pembroke, 7; Steve Hooper, 8; and Larry Corell, coxswain.

The lightweight varsity shell finished third in their contest.

Rowing for the lightweights were: Brian Ponce, bow; Jun-gol Arato, 2; Mark Wills, 3; Tom Campbell, 4; Bill Sirokman, 5; Dave Pellegrini, 6; Jim Larson, 7; Rich Otto, 8; and Cindy Paul, coxswain.

This weekend, the team will face the U.W., WWSC and SPC on the Montlake course on Lake Washington.

tennis

In matches that, because of weather, lasted 'til past midnight, the S.U. tennis team lost to U.W., 4-5, Saturday at the Seattle Tennis Club.

The results of the singles matches are as follows: Mike Prineas def. Gary Yee, 6-3, 6-4; Bryce Perry def. Marc Soriano, 6-1, 6-1; Don Beer def. Gary Danklefsen, 6-2, 6-0; Dick Roth def. Joe Cannon, 6-7, 6-3, 6-3; Guy Ilalaole def. Ken Beer, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3; and Brian Adams def. Dave Mark, 7-6, 7-5.

The U.W. took all three doubles matches, with the following results: Yee-Perry def. Prineas-Soriano, 6-4, 6-2; Beer-Beer def. Roth-Ilalaole, 6-3, 7-5; and Cannon-Mark def. Adams-Danklefsen, 6-3, 6-3.

Next action for the Chieftains will be against Bellevue Community College at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Bellevue Racquet Club.

volleyball

S.U.'s Hawaiian Club volleyball team entered its first tournament Saturday and came away with second place.

The Surfers' Invitation, played at Nathan Hale High School, included teams representing Warner Pacific College (Portland), the University of Washington and other squads of amateur status.

The S.U. spikers took the second place trophy with an 11-15, 15-10 and 13-15 match score in the title contest.

Team members include: Ed Caalim, Al Castor, Martin Chang, Jeff Gomez, Kalei Ka, Moses Lawrence, Simone Lolesio, Dave Lum-Lung, Curt Morimoto and Rudy Nikolao.

Faithfully supporting the team were: Nani Castor, Stephanie Cuehlo, Stephanie Mau and Sylvia Plemer.

Lou Johnson, director of intramurals, is their manager.

women's tennis

Women's intercollegiate tennis, anyone?

The University's p.e. department is trying to get a women's intercollegiate tennis team together.

Berths are open to both A and B players.

If you're interested in playing and representing the school, there's a meeting set to organize things. It is scheduled for 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Connolly P.E. Center conference room.

Additional details may be obtained from Reba Lucey, 626-5947.

Also, women interested in participating in intercollegiate track and field events are asked to contact either Ms. Lucey at the above number or B. J. Hartman, 747-7627.

Intramurals deadlines, meetings, competition set

Read on to pick up the latest scoops on what's happening in the intramurals program.

Deadlines: Slow-pitch softball and co-rec inner-tube basketball rosters must be in by Thursday; handball, pickleball, squash, table tennis and badminton entries close Friday.

H and b a l l: Competition in men's singles and doubles begins Monday.

Meetings: There will be a meeting for all intramurals sports officials tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Connolly P.E. Center conference room.

A meeting for all intramural softball team captains is slated for 6:30 p.m. Friday in room 155 of the Connolly Center.

An important announcement to every student in the health professions:

NEW SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY.

THEY COVER TUITION AND RELATED COSTS AND PROVIDE AN ANNUAL INCOME OF $5,300 AS WELL.

If a steady salary of $400 a month and paid-up tuition will help you continue your professional training, the scholarships just made possible by the Uniformed Services Health Professions Revitalization Act of 1972 deserve your close attention. Because if you are now in a medical, osteopathic, dental, veterinary, podiatry, or optometry school, or are working toward a PhD in Clinical Psychology, you may qualify.

We make it easy for you to complete your studies. You're commissioned as an officer as soon as you enter the program, but remain in student status until graduation. And, during each year you will be on active duty (with extra pay) for 45 days. Naturally, if your academic schedule requires that you remain on campus, you stay on campus—and still receive your active duty pay.

Active duty requirements are fair. Basically, you serve one year as a commissioned officer for each year you've participated in the program, with a two year minimum. You may apply for a scholarship with either the Army, Navy or Air Force, and know that upon entering active duty you'll have rank and duties in keeping with your professional training.

The life's work you've chosen for yourself requires long, hard, expensive training. Now we are in a position to give you some help. Mail in the coupon at your earliest convenience for more detailed information.

Newsbriefs

luau tickets on sale

Tickets are now on sale for this year's Hawaiian Club luau to be held on April 14. Price is $5 per person. Locales and times for ticket sales are: Bellarmine Hall, 4-6 p.m., and the Chieftain, noon-1 p.m.

Theme for the luau is "Hawaii: Ku'u Aina Hanau—Hawaii: Land of My Birth."

couples group

A small group is currently being formed for engaged or married couples.

The purpose of the group will be to share and discuss marital relationships, communication styles and personal satisfactions or frustrations.

The group is open to those couples who feel their relationship is in trouble as well as to couples who feel happy with their relationship, but would like further growth.

The group will be led by Jeananne Oliphant and David Elder of the Counseling and Testing Center. It will meet one afternoon a week for eight weeks. Students interested in participating in this experience should notify the Counseling and Testing Center, Pigott 502, 626-5846.

pizza and books

Alpha Phi Omega is planning a pizza dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Tabard Inn.

Cost is $2. Pizza and beer will be served. All those interested in pledging are welcome to attend.

Book money for books sold by the A Phis will be returned from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. today in the A Phi room in the basement of the Alumni House.

Yellow slips are required to get any money back.

job resumes and interviews

A resume and job interview seminar for graduating seniors is being conducted next week by Pi Sigma Epsilon, a business fraternity.

Scheduled for 7 p.m. April 11, in the A. A. Lemieux Library Auditorium, the seminar will cost $15.

The fee includes a list of key job interview questions, professional resume preparation and 50 copies of your resume.

Interested students should contact Dave Entz or Bill Pebley in the PSE office, Pigott 135A, 626-6475.

tutors needed

Interested in helping others with their classwork? The Office of Minority Affairs is looking for tutors in all subjects. Applicants must have a 2.5 g.p.a.

Tutors may earn $2-$3 an hour. Inquiries are to be directed to Georgette Smith at the Office of Minority Affairs between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. or at 626-6227.

summer internships

Candidates are being sought by the General Service Administration, in Auburn, for its summer internship program. The summer intern will serve in the paperwork management branch of the management services division.

This organization provides comprehensive management analysis services required to meet paperwork management needs.

Weekly salary ranges from $132.40 for a student who has completed two years of college work to $148 for the student who has completed four years of college work.

In order to be eligible, students must have completed 90 quarter hours by June, must be U.S. citizens and must be in the upper third of their class.

Interested students should leave their names with Betty Seat, political science secretary, in Marion Hall.

white pass ski trip

All persons interested in going on the ski trip to White Pass this weekend are reminded that sign-up deadline is 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in Liberal Arts room 118. The cost is $8 which includes transportation and lodging (sleeping bags).

Cars will be leaving from Bellarmine Hall at 6 a.m. Saturday.

lockers available

Need a place to stow away those unnecessary books and other things? How about a locker on campus? Lockers are now available at 75 cents per quarter and may be rented by contacting Colleen Branagan, student personnel intern, in the Office of the Dean for Women.

Students who have been using the lockers without paying are advised that combinations will be changed on all lockers not rented. Any material found in these lockers will be confiscated.

transcendental meditation

Two introductory lectures on the technique of transcendental meditation, as taught by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, are offered to students this week.

The first lecture will be given at 1 p.m. today in the Bellarmine conference room and again tomorrow at the same time and the same place.

The second lecturer will be given at 7 p.m. Thursday, also in the Bellarmine conference room.

Lecturers are Ollie and Barbara Pedersen, who were students of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi for five months.

Father Berrigan to speak today

Fr. Phil Berrigan, one of the Harrisburg Seven, is scheduled to speak at St. Mark's Cathedral, 1229 10th E., at 9 p.m. today.

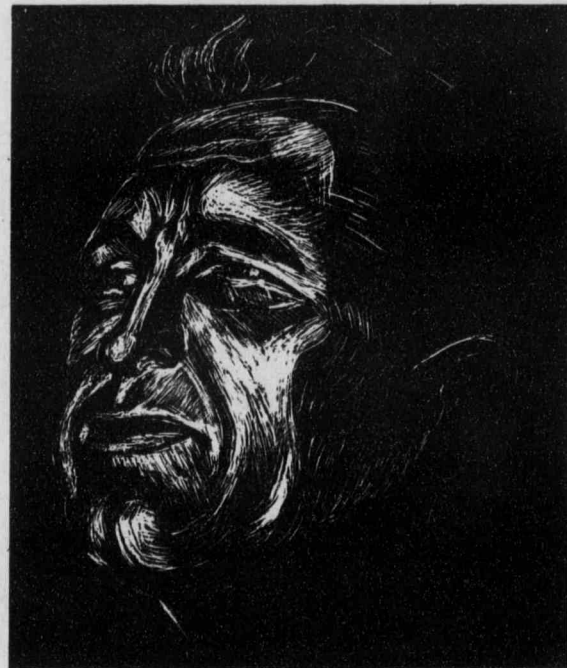

Fr. Berrigan is in the area to attend this afternoon's festival sponsored by the Campus Christian Ministry of Western Washington State College in Bellingham. He will arrive in Seattle at noon and leave again around midnight.

Fr. Berrigan and the others of the Harrisburg Seven were arrested and charged in November 1970 with conspiring to kidnap Henry Kissinger, Presidential adviser, and to blow up heating tunnels in Washington, D.C.

The government later dropped the charges.

Lupo reflects on ups and downs of office

by O. Casey Corr

Pat Lupo ended his term as ASSU president last week.

In an interview conducted yesterday, Lupo said that, looking back on this year's accomplishments, "If I had to do it all over again, I'd do it the same way."

Lupo said that he is proud of many of the programs he initiated and hopes that Harold Nelson, his successor, will continue them.

THE BIGGEST disappointment of this year was when the liquor application for the Tabard Inn was rejected, Lupo said. It was a blow to the people working on it because, according to Lupo, a lot of time was put in getting permission from the different agencies involved with Tabard.

Lupo feels the school missed out on a lot of revenue on this, but with the lowering of the drinking age, the application should be re-submitted.

Lupo hopes that Harold Nelson pursues three things. "I'd like to see the course/teacher evaluation program expanded. The activities committee should be put in charge of all student activities. This way all activities would come under one central group. And I hope that the group we've formed to lobby for the tuition supplement is retained," Lupo said.

LUPO WAS especially optimistic about what the lobby group could do. (The group is composed of representatives from eight private colleges in Washington.)

Lupo described this year's staff as, "a close-knit group that got along. If any differences were brought up, we were able to solve them with ourselves."

The government under Lupo sought a new approach to student government. This new way included "running activities that students want, instead of putting on something and hoping that the students come. This way, student government is moving toward a student service agency," Lupo said.

IN GENERAL, Lupo is satisfied with the activities that were presented. "They came from a pretty good range, considering the budget we had to work with," he said.

But this does not mean that Lupo is dissatisfied with the administration. "I think that the University is a good place. The administration and people I worked with have been helpful and friendly."

Lupo plans on entering law school in September. Plans beyond that are still undecided.

Summing up this year's administration, Lupo declared, "We established a good rapport between the ASSU and the student body — something which was absent."

IT'S EASIER TO TALK ABOUT CHALLENGES, THAN TO MEET THEM.

Times may change. The world. The Church. But one thing never changes. Our need for each other. The sick, the poor, the despondent are with us still but the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor try to help... in their own way with their own gifts.

Their mission is to nurse the needy in their own homes. Young and old without regard to race or religion. To care for the children left adrift when illness comes. To keep families together. To bring comfort to the sick. Peace to the aged. And to bring Christ's love to all.

It isn't easy to be a Dominican Sister of the Sick Poor but the rewards are far greater than a patient's smile. For now, this is reward enough.

If you feel the need of a change, and you can accept a challenge, why not find out more about the work we do?

The Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor offer a unique opportunity to work in the field before assuming any obligations. For information about the Associate Program write to:
