

1-11-1974

Spectator 1974-01-11

Editors of The Spectator

Follow this and additional works at: <http://scholarworks.seattleu.edu/spectator>

---

Recommended Citation

Editors of The Spectator, "Spectator 1974-01-11" (1974). The Spectator. 1397.
<http://scholarworks.seattleu.edu/spectator/1397>

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks @ SeattleU. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Spectator by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks @ SeattleU.

Holiday to honor Dr. King

The 44th birthday anniversary of the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., will be celebrated here Monday and Tuesday with a memorial Mass and a public ecumenical program.

The University has declared Jan. 15 a holiday with no school for students, faculty and staff. This is the first year S.U. is celebrating the holiday, largely as a result of efforts of the Black Student Union.

"THE CHALLENGE of King: A Just Man of Today" will be the theme of Monday's memorial Mass scheduled for 12:10 p.m. in the Liturgical Center. Fr. Jim Riley, S.J., will be the principal celebrant and Mr. O. J. McGowan, S.J., will present the homily. The 12:10 p.m. Mass in the Bellarmine chapel has been cancelled Monday.

Tuesday, the BSU, in conjunction with Office of Minority Affairs and Special Services, will present a public ecumenical program at 10 a.m. in Pigott Auditorium.

The program will feature black religious, political and student leaders.

REV. SAMUEL B. McKinney, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, and Rev. Leroy I. Brown, pastor of Grace United Methodist Church, will be featured during the morning session.

Rev. Cecil Murray, pastor of the First A-M-E Church and a theology lecturer here, State Sen.

George Fleming and Faye Palmer, an education junior, will speak in the afternoon.

Other participants will include Mr. McGowan, S.J., and Harold Nelson, ASSU president.

MUSICAL presentations will be given by the First A-M-E Church's Young Adult Choir, Garfield High School Choir and Maxine McCray's Gospel Ensemble.

Calvin Green, business accounting junior, is the program's steering committee chairman. The committee also includes Felecia Greene, education junior; Carol Brashear, education senior; Charles Knight, business management junior; and Karen Whitney, theology junior.

Tribute to Dr. King, p.2.

White stuff . . .

AFTER ABOUT a week of cold sunshine, Seattle got its first snow of the year Wednesday night and yesterday. Much of it on campus vanished by early afternoon, leaving icy streets behind last night.

photo by andy waterhouse

SEATTLE Spectator UNIVERSITY

Vol. XLII, No. 20
Friday, Jan. 11, 1974
Seattle, Washington

Pre-major program to be general studies

A general studies program will replace the pre-major program next fall.

The program is not really new but rather combines the interdisciplinary program and pre-major programs that have long been offered here, according to Mary Ridge, pre-major adviser.

THE ADVANTAGES of coordinating the programs, though, is that it makes options more available and more visible for the student and makes the administration of the programs more efficient, Ms. Ridge added.

The program is designed for those students who have a wide range of interests and want a broad liberal arts education as well as those who have not yet decided upon a major. The program will offer a degree in social science or in humanities.

Students will be expected to take the core curriculum subjects required for all majors. They may then select courses from two or three related fields and formulate a program themselves.

ALL THE services of the pre-major program will be continued and students will have the option of transferring to a traditional major, Ms. Ridge said.

While it will allow for new options, the new program will also require added responsibility on the part of the student because individual programs are developed by the students themselves in consultation with faculty members, Ms. Ridge said.

The idea was one of several introduced by Fr. James Powers, S.J., as he became the acting dean in the College of Arts and Sciences this fall but had been discussed for several years before that.

"It's an idea whose time has come," Ms. Ridge said.

PREVIOUSLY, the idea was dismissed because many graduate schools were against it. Now, though, many are interested in getting students with a broad education and increasing numbers of students themselves are more interested in interdisciplinary studies each year, she added.

Several students have expressed an interest in the program but Ms. Ridge expects the number to fluctuate in much the same way the pre-major program but Ms. Ridge expects decide to transfer to other majors.

Student, professor die during Christmas break

Mary Lou Baker, 37, a freshman in health information services and formerly employed in the registrar's office, died Monday morning in her sleep.

Ms. Baker began working as a telephone receptionist in the registrar's office in April, 1963. She left last fall to attend classes full time, after having taken five hours of classes for several quarters.

A sympathy card to be sent to Ms. Baker's family is in the registrar's office, second floor Pigott. All students, faculty and staff are welcome to sign it.

A memorial fund has also been established in her name. The money will be used to purchase books for the library. Persons interested in donating should contact Madeleine Ricard in the development office, Liberal Arts 117.

Fr. John Corrigan, S.J., 64, economics professor, died Dec. 26 of a heart attack suffered in the parking lot.

Fr. Corrigan was born Oct. 22, 1909, in Seattle. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1927 in Los Gatos, Calif., and was ordained in June, 1940. He received a doctorate in business from Catholic University in Washington, D.C., in 1948, and has been teaching here since.

Fr. Corrigan's funeral was Dec. 29 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Seminar to aid self-image

Would you like to change your self-image and maybe get something done?

Maybe you can. An Image Seminar, conducted by an S.U. graduate, will concentrate on increasing motivation and recreating self-images.

THE SEMINAR is scheduled for later this month with registration set for next week.

Six two-hour sessions will concentrate on self-esteem, the formation and attainment of goals and determining the direction of one's life.

Three basic questions will be answered in the course of the seminar—Why am I here, do I know where I'm going, how do I get there?

THE SEMINAR will also consider handling the pressure of grades, acquiring self respect, what is happiness, how to relax, how to create a positive attitude and sense of accomplishment.

Lou Tice, a director in the Pacific Institute, "a corporation dedicated to human fulfillment," will conduct the seminars.

Cost of the seminars will be a minimum of $3000 or $30 each for 100 students. But the student senate Wednesday night approved the allocation of $1500 to cover half of the seminar. Registration fee for the first 100 students will be $15. Those who sign up later will be charged $30.

REGISTRATION will be every day next week from 11 a.m.-1:30 p.m. in Bellarmine, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. in the Chieftain, 1-4 p.m. in the ASSU office and 4:30-6:30 p.m. in Bellarmine.

All those who sign up will be given a receipt. Classes will be Jan. 22, 24, 29 and 30 and Feb. 4 and 5 from 8-10:30 p.m. in the A. A. Lemieux Library Auditorium. Receipts and student body cards will be needed to get into the class.

The seminar has been delivered to corporations, institutions and schools throughout the state.

Argentina bound

Spanish program finalizes plans

by Val Kincaid

A residential hotel in Mar del Plata, Argentina, has been chosen for the nine-month stay of the students with the Spanish-in-Argentina program.

The students will have exclusive use of the "Residencia," located a few blocks from the Atlantic Ocean and only eight blocks from the world's largest casino.

"They'll have a very pleasant place to live and very moderate too," said Clarence Abello, foreign language instructor, who recently traveled to Argentina to make living arrangements for the students.

HOTEL RENT will average $1.10 a day per student, he explained. Two students will share a room and bath, and the kitchen will be open for their use at anytime.

"Food is plentiful, good and very reasonable in Argentina," Abello said. The students will be able to eat very well on $50 a month. Also, the hotel owner has offered to serve the students complimentary Sunday meals, and "if they want to eat Argentine food, there is a little restaurant across the street where they can eat very well for $1."

Classes will be taught at the "Residencia." Stella Maris Abello (Abello's niece), Argentine born and schooled, will be the students' sole instructor.

THE CITY of Mar del Plata where the students will be staying, living is commercial, not industrial, and is "spotlessly clean with no pollution," according to Abello, who is himself Argentine born. The students may take any tours that they like and may sail in the Atlantic as guests of the Argentine sailing club's members.

A cooperative clinic, like a small group health plan, will handle the students' medical needs.

"Two doctors speak English very well," Abello said. Also, the cultural attache of the U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires has offered his assistance in case of emergency or in case a student wants a message immediately transmitted to his parents.

SIX STUDENTS have signed up for the Spanish-in-Argentina program, which is the first organized American university program in Argentina. The program is open to approximately six more students.

"All those interested should get in touch with Professor Abello or me as soon as they possibly can," said Dr. Gerald Ricard, foreign language department chairman. An Evening-in-Argentina is also scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Bellarmine's Chez Moi to discuss additional information.

University cracks down on unauthorized parking

From now on, unauthorized parking on the malls in front of the Bookstore, A. A. Lemieux Library and other campus buildings will not be tolerated.

Warnings will be issued when cars are parked in unauthorized spaces. After two warnings, cars will be impounded.

Parking spaces and stickers may be obtained in the Bookstore, room 125. The cost for students is six dollars per quarter. No space is more than three blocks from the center of campus.

Visitors should check in with the gate guard at 12th and E. Columbia for parking instructions.

The new measures are the idea of the Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.U.'s president. The malls should remain clear of cars so that firetrucks can have access to buildings in case of emergencies and to provide for pedestrian safety.

Martin Luther King— A man with a dream

by Felecia Greene

"Freedom is never voluntarily given by the oppressor; it must be demanded by the oppressed."
Dr. Martin Luther King

Amongst the legions of honored Black leaders, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., stands in the forefront as the most honored. Not only was he a humanitarian, concerned for all people regardless of color, but he was also a man of eminent ideals and values.

Martin Luther King, Jr., was born in Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 15, 1929. He was the son of a minister and later in life became the pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church. Dr. King preached a gospel of nonviolence and equality.

In 1964, Dr. King won the Nobel Peace Prize for leadership in the nonviolent struggle for racial equality. He combined direct mass action against racial discrimination and segregation with an appeal to his followers for understanding.

Although he practiced and preached non-violence, Dr. King died a violent death. On April 4, 1968, he was shot down by an assassin's bullet and died almost immediately.

The reaction to his death was met by riots all over the country. Many people were shocked and grieved at his death. They knew that a great man, who had achieved much for blacks and other oppressed people, was no longer there to lead them.

Dr. King had a dream that all people—black, white, red and yellow—could live in a world of peace and harmony. It is now up to us to make this dream a reality.

Martin had a dream one day. He dreamed that one day people, all people, would live and love together in peace, and join together to become free, as the Lord planned originally. Martin lived a long time with this dream planted in his heart, until a man poured his hatred upon the crown of brother King. Now he is gone. But his dream isn't. Many still wait for that dream to someday come true. Will it ever? Only the King of Kings will tell.

Maxine McCray

Editorial

what was, what is to be . . .

Nineteen-seventythree started with a hint of promise. The Vietnam cease-fire went into effect on Jan. 27, supposedly ending American military involvement in Vietnam, and the POWs came home in February and March.

IT WAS downhill after that.

Watergate is the obvious example of the descending trend.

The Soviets apparently got the better end of a wheat deal with the U.S.

Americans in general noticed that the price of meat—and everything else—was skyrocketing. The Energy Crisis reared its head and cooled everyone to the upcoming winter.

The Middle East presented Part Four of its continuing series of wars.

TERRORISTS set a new record in hijack murders in Rome and Athens.

Even the astronauts, despite their Tang, had great difficulty with their Skylab.

Secretariat won the Triple Crown, but it was reported that he had trouble performing the traditional champion's duties after retirement.

AND 1974?

Vacationers bringing just bermuda shorts and/or bikinis to Southern California may have gotten a symbolic preview in the form of a surprise snowfall.

And if the showing of Kohoutek, "The Comet of the Century," is any indication of 1974 . . .

Jeffrey E. A. Rietveld

Sunday morning fellowship of Christian collegians who met to study the Word of God and to apply what they discover to "shoe-leather" faith.

Where?
At Emmanuel Bible Church

503 N. 50th, 9:45 a.m.
For more info, contact
Doug Sackville, 746-2733.

La Mediterranean Delicatessen

"The House of Gourmet Delight"

Robust Sandwiches
Hot Thick Pizzas
European Sausages
Gourmet Beans
Home made Bread, Soup and Texas Chili
Sugarplum Bakery
Home made Candies

Dine in/Take Out
528 Broadway 329-8818

S.U. opens WCAC season

The Chiefs open their WCAC season this weekend against two Nevada teams.

The University of Nevada-Reno Wolfpack is tonight's opponent while the Rebels of the University of Nevada-Las Vegas are tomorrow's foes.

BOTH GAMES are at the Arena and start at 8 p.m. The contests will be broadcast over KBES-AM and FM.

RENO IS led by Pete Padgett, the sophomore who won the WCAC rebounding crown last year and was named to last year's WCAC All-Star Team. He was named co-Freshman of the Year with Frank Oleynick.

As of Dec. 31, Padgett was ripping down 15.2 rebounds per game. He had 25 rebounds in a Wolfpack victory over Portland.

Reno's record was 7-4 before losing the conference opener Saturday to St. Mary's. 84-83.

UNLV is nationally ranked at number 16 while possessing a 9-1 record. The Rebels lost their season opener to Texas Tech, but haven't dropped a game since.

They open their quest for the WCAC title tonight against St. Mary's Gaels.

Vegas is led by two of last year's WCAC All-Stars, Jimmie Baker and Bob Florence. Baker was also the Sophomore of the Year.

Florence needs only 270 points in 14 WCAC games (19.3 av.) to break Pepperdine's William Averitt's career scoring mark of 919 tallies. Averitt played only two seasons for the Waves before signing with the ABA's San Antonio franchise.

Junior Ricky Sobers has also shown great talent for UNLV, winning most valuable player honors in the Holiday Classic in Las Vegas.

The Chiefs, meanwhile, are led in scoring by Oleynick, a member of last year's WCAC All-Star team. He has 223 points in S.U.'s 10 games so far.

Oleynick's 38 points against the University of Washington Huskies on Dec. 7 is an individual single game high this season.

The sophomore guard is also the free throw leader, hitting 87.9 per cent from the foul line in sinking 51 out of 58 tosses. Rod Derline is 84.4 per cent accurate, canning 27 out of 32.

A PERFORMANCE of 16 out of 17 free throws by Oleynick against U.W. makes him the season single game leader. Derline, however, holds the single game mark of 13 field goals against Utah on Dec. 15 in the finals of the Utah Classic.

Ron Howard and Reggie Green have been the rebounding dynamic duo this season. Howard harvested 82 rebounds while Green grabbed 80.

This season's single game mark for rebounds is 13. Green did it in the season opener at Utah State. Howard reached the number twice, against Gonzaga on Dec. 12 and against Montana on Dec. 20.

The Chieftains' offensive machine is grinding out 67.3 points per game, while the defense is allowing 71.2 tallies every game.

O'Brien secures win from free throw line

—photo by andy nishihira

RICKE REED looks for an opening to pass the ball to Reggie Green as Falcon players Al Peeler (No. 43) and Don De Hart guard them during Tuesday's game between S.U. and Seattle Pacific College. The Chiefs won, 70-66.

by John Ruhl

A small but noisy mob of Seattle Pacific College fans "helped" Buck O'Brien make three of six foul shot attempts in the last 20 seconds of the game, as S.U. squeezed past the SPC Falcons, 70-66, Tuesday night.

O'Brien eased the pressure of a shaky one-point lead when he drew four fouls from Falcon players who tried to steal the ball from him.

The lead had changed six times during the game, and both teams had established clear leads at different times during the game.

THE FALCONS outscrambled the Chiefs early in the first half, with Senior Guard Dave Hunter hitting eight of SPC's first 16 points.

The Chiefs were down 22-17 with 7:43 left in the half when Frank Oleynick made a corner shot that began a comeback for S.U. With 5:43 left, O'Brien put the Chiefs ahead 27-26, and they made nine more points to the Falcons' two before the half ended, 36-28.

The half-time statistics showed Oleynick with 14 points, Rod Derline with 13 and Hunter with 10.

WITHIN THE first two minutes of the second half, S.U. lengthened the lead briefly to 40-30. But the ten point lead evaporated and with 12:17 on the clock a lay-in by Falcon guard Carey Weedman put SPC ahead, 48-47.

Oleynick regained the lead for S.U. with 9:06 left. The team pulled as much as five points ahead during the last minutes, but SPC had fought back to one point behind before O'Brien began to shoot foul shots.

OLEYNICK was high scorer in the game, with 23 points, his average per game this season. Derline made 15; Reggie Green, 10; O'Brien, nine; Ricke Reed, eight; and Ron Howard, five.

Hunter led the Falcons in scoring with 22 points. SPC had better shooting percentages in both field goals and free throws, but lost 18 turnovers (twice as many as S.U.), most of them in the second half.

Head Coach Bill O'Connor acknowledged that the team "showed improvement in all areas, generally," but was not entirely satisfied with the offense.

"It was disturbing when they (SPC) spread their defense in the second half and we didn't recognize it," he said.

Overall, "the team is learning," he said. "It's a slow process, but that's how it goes with a young team."

ASSISTANT coach John Burnley was pleased with the performance of the first-year players on the team, Green, O'Brien and Reed.

"OUR YOUNG people came through tonight," he said, "especially Buck O'Brien, who played like a veteran."

The Chiefs face Nevada-Reno tonight at the Center Arena at 8 p.m.

Only 4 Papooses finish Tuesday

The j.v.s were victims of foul play Tuesday—their own.

Four players fouled out, leaving only four S.U. players on floor to endure the last two minutes of an 88-60 rout at the hands of Seattle Pacific College j.v.s.

Don Daniel, Tim Joyce, Rob Silver and Zac Zapalac were ejected from the game with five fouls each. Of the remaining four players, Eric Gregerson, Wayne Korsmo and Ron Richardson each had four fouls.

Joyce led the Papoose scorers with 14 points. Korsmo made 12 and Richardson had 10.

Fouls hurt Chiefs over break

Foul trouble cost the Chieftain basketball team at least three games over the Christmas holidays, as it won two games and then lost five in a row.

The Chiefs defeated Gonzaga, 72-69 (Dec. 12), and Penn State, 62-60 (Dec. 15). After that, however, it went down to Utah, 100-85 (Dec. 16); California, 66-63 (Dec. 17); Montana, 69-63 (Dec. 20); Rhode Island, 56-53 (Dec. 27); and Dayton, 74-65 (Dec. 29).

In the Gonzaga game, S.U. commanded the game until the final minutes. With four minutes to play, it held a ten point lead, 68-58.

But Gonzaga broke S.U.'s defense to score 11 points to the Chiefs' four, making the final score 72-69.

To illustrate his postgame lecture on defensive discipline, Coach Bill O'Connor took the team back onto the floor of the empty Seattle Center Arena for an overtime workout.

The extra workout paid off when the Chiefs squeezed another slim victory, this time over Penn State, the next weekend at the Utah Classic basketball tournament in Salt Lake City.

After a lethargic first half and the loss of Reggie Green because of foul trouble in the second half, the Chiefs scored 22 points in the last nine minutes, holding Penn

State to only 5 points with a man-to-man full court press.

Frank Oleynick led all Chieftain scorers in the game with 18 points, including the final 19-foot shot which won the ball game, 62-60.

S.U. was victimized by Utah, 100-85, in the tourney championship the next night. Rod Derline scored 31 points and Oleynick piled in 27, but the two did not have enough help from their teammates, who put themselves into foul trouble.

Ricke Reed fouled out with 12 minutes to play; Reggie Green fouled out with seven minutes to go; and Ron Howard committed his fifth with six minutes left.

Traveling to Berkeley for their third road game in four nights, a weary S.U. squad was edged 66-63 by the Cal-Berkeley Bears.

Cal's winning margin was due to S.U. fouls. The Bears made 26 points at the foul line, compared to the Chiefs' nine.

Three days later the Chiefs gave the University of Montana Grizzlies their first road victory of the season at the Arena.

Oleynick and Reed fouled out in the last two minutes as they and their teammates tried to break a stall strategy which the Grizzlies used to protect their five point lead.

The Chiefs had cut Montana's lead down to three points with 28 seconds to play, but fouls (including Reed's fifth) enabled the Grizzlies to build up their final lead to 69-63.

Coach O'Connor took the team to his home town, Providence, R.I., for a game against the Rhode Island Rams on Dec. 27.

S.U. made more field goals than the Rams, beat them in free throw percentages, had fewer turnovers, matched them in rebounding figures—and lost, 56-53.

Again, the opponent's winning margin could be seen in the personal foul column. S.U. had 19 team fouls, while U.R.I. had 12.

On their way home the Chiefs challenged the Dayton University Flyers and picked up their fifth loss in two weeks, 74-65.

Although S.U.'s team fouls totaled only one more than Dayton's, the team had scoring problems. Oleynick's 29 points and Derline's 24 points were all that kept the Chiefs in the scoring race. Howard made eight and Rob Silver made the other four. All five of Dayton's starters scored 10 or more points.

Winter sports newsbriefs

Basketball

Intramural basketball team rosters for A, B and C leagues as well as the women's leagues may be turned in to the Intramurals Office at Connolly P.E. Center until Wednesday. Rosters should include both students' names and student numbers, as well as the team captain's address and telephone number.

Games during the season will be played Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays between 5-9 p.m.; and some Saturdays, if necessary, 12-3 p.m.

All teams will participate in the jamboree from 6:30-9 p.m. Wednesday in the Connolly Center north courts.

Teams will play ten-minute quarters. Team captains will draw up playing schedules, and work out rules and interpretations for the leagues.

Volleyball

Intramural co-rec volleyball team rosters may be turned in to the Intramurals Office until Thursday. Rosters should include both students' names and student numbers, as well as the team captain's address and telephone number.

Games during the season will be played Wednesday nights.

All teams will play practice games from 7-9 p.m. Thursday in the Connolly Center north courts. Team representatives will draw up playing schedules at that time.

Women's Track

Get your track shoes out of the closet and start toning up your muscles, women athletes.

A women's track and field team is in the organizing stage and needs members.

All those interested are invited to a meeting at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Connolly P.E. Center.

Those interested but unable to attend are welcome to contact Reba Lucey at 626-5616 or Liane Swagle at 935-2951.

U.W. Tickets

Tickets are available for the S.U.-Washington basketball game January 26 at Hec Edmundson Pavilion on the U.W. campus.

Students may purchase the tickets for $2 (with student i.d.) at the Athletic Office in the Connolly P.E. Center daily between 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m., and Saturdays, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Crew

Chieftain rowing team will have a preseason meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the Bellarmine lobby "Chez Moi." Workouts and season schedules will be discussed.

Students interested in turning out for the crew are welcome.

The Spectator

Published Wednesdays and Fridays during the school year except on holidays and during examinations by Seattle University. Edited by S.U. students with editorial and business offices at 825 10th Ave., Seattle, Wa. 98122. Second class postage paid at Seattle, Wa. Subscription: $4.50; year; close relatives, alumni $3.50; Canada, Mexico $4.00; other foreign addresses $6.25; airmail in U.S. $9.00. Editor: Ann Standaert

Newsbriefs

seminar series continues

The School of Science and Engineering will be continuing their seminar series this quarter in the same format as last quarter.

Dr. David Ehlers, physics professor, will officially start the series again at noon Wednesday in Bannan 401. The subject will be "The Community College Scene: Some Facts and Ideas."

All are invited to attend.

free college info

The free college, sponsored by the dorm council, was planned last quarter and now has jumped from the drawing board into reality. Information on registration and course descriptions will appear in next Friday's issue of The Spectator.

Registration is scheduled to run from next Friday through Monday at the Bellarmine desk.

farmworkers meeting

A meeting for all persons interested in helping Cesar Chavez and the United Farm Workers has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Chieftain.

The meeting will include a film and discussion of different ways of developing support. Interested students may also contact Joe Rastatter, 329-1651.

i.k. pledge class

The Intercollegiate Knights, a campus service organization, is seeking new members.

A meeting for pledges will be at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday in Pigott 354.

All interested male students are welcome to attend.

homecoming meeting

A Homecoming committee meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Homecoming office, second floor Chieftain.

The meeting is "open for all those interested in working on Homecoming," according to Dennis Greenfield, committee co-chairman. The committee will discuss entertainment, set up decoration and publicity committees and select a new secretary at the meeting.

money back offer

Are you one of those persons who took the corrections class last quarter and then had your book fall apart?

If you are and you still have Corrections: A Component of the Criminal Justice System by Hartinger, El Defonso and Coffey, the bookstore has a deal for you.

Just bring the book into the bookstore by Monday and a full refund will be given.

post-game dance tonight

The A Phi O's will be sponsoring a dance after tonight's basketball game against Reno.

The Chieftain will be the site and it'll cost a dollar.

A live band will perform and refreshments will be served.

come and get 'em

The University Relations office has ODed on The Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

For the next two months, 10 P-I's will flow into the office each day. The problem is, no one is there to claim them.

Anyone is welcome to stop by the office, LA 118, anytime to pick up one or a few papers and do with them what they will.

get your money

All those persons who sold text books through the A Phi O booksale are invited to collect their money Monday through Friday 9 a.m.-3 p.m. in the basement of the Alumni House.

german-in-austria meeting

The German-in-Austria program will be described in a meeting in Bellarmine's Chez Moi at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

"All interested parties, not just S.U. students, are invited," Dr. James Stark, foreign language instructor said. Slides and an explanation of the program will be presented along with a talk by Franz Schweighofer, representative of the U.S.-Austrian Chamber of Commerce.

Alumni House has job list

So you're graduating in a few months and you're ready to go out into the cold, cruel world. But now you need to start thinking about a job, right? So how do you start?

One possibility is the Alumni House.

The office has developed an Alumni Placement Program for students and alumni. The service allows those looking for work to file their resumes at the Alumni House. Prospective employers are then given access to these files.

Resumes will also be typed at the Alumni House. The charge is $1.50 per page and includes 20 copies of the resume.

In addition, employers have contacted the office with various job openings. Some of the more recent include an opening as sales representative for A. J. Gerrard and Company, a national organization which manufactures strapping material and equipment; one is administrative assistant for Flow Research, a new research company, and one as program coordinator for the Seattle-King County New Careers Project.

Throughout the year, the Alumni House also schedules interviews with various companies from Boeing to Aetna Life and Casualty.

Interested students or alumni are asked to stop by the Alumni House, across Columbia Street from the A. A. Lemieux Library, or call 626-5875.

Reader board, calendar work of ASSU officer

by Evie Pech

Have you seen the winter quarter calendar and the new reader board yet?

If you haven't, you will; if you have, you can thank the ASSU executive coordinator's office.

The calendar idea originated in the central committee, and the $300 necessary to produce it came from the committee's fund.

"THE ONE that goes out now (the one which covers the entire academic year) isn't that complete because we had to have the dates in to the printer too early," explained Ed Hayduk, executive coordinator.

The concept moved into the planning stages mid-way through last quarter. Hayduk, along with Jean Merlino, director of University publications, designed and filled the calendar.

Now, Hayduk is asking for student feedback. "If we try it again, we want to have more people submit their activities to us because there are some areas we missed," he admitted. Anyone with ideas on how to improve the calendar are invited to direct them to Hayduk's office, second floor Chieftain.

BESIDES making the calendar available to University students, the ASSU will be sending some out to area high schools, according to Hayduk.

The reader board is a direct result of a trip that Hayduk and Fr. Mick Larkin, S.J., director of student activities, took over to the University of Washington.

According to Hayduk, they saw the U.W.'s reader board and "thought it was about time S.U. had one."

LATER, he and Larkin sat down with Joe Gardiner, assistant director of plant management, to discuss the design. Plant management built the board, but the ASSU has yet to receive a bill for it.

It displays the seven days of the week—each with eight slots for meeting announcements, etc.

The procedure for getting something on the board is simple—go up to the executive coordinator's office, fill out a form, and Hayduk will take it from there.

WANTED

Original art, any medium, cash, contract work accepted. Please contact the vice president in charge of purchasing:

Louis Bianchi
International
Art Leasing, Inc.,
12400 68th St. N.E., Kirkland
885-6279

Spectrum of events

TODAY

Spectator: 2 p.m. staff meeting in the third floor newsroom of the McCusker Building.

WEDNESDAY

Marketing Club: Noon meeting in the Volpe Room, Pigott 157.

NBoC has an easier way to find the exact change.

Don't blow your cool rummaging for loose change. With an NBoC checking account you can write a check for the exact amount and be on your way. See the NBoC office near you for a checking account to fit your needs.

National Bank of Commerce

Member F.D.I.C.

Classifieds

Help wanted—
Part time, $2.25/hour, 2-3 hours a day, 8:30-11 a.m. or 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Must have transportation to Barney Bagels and Suzy Creamcheese, Pier 70, 623-4270.

Need someone to live-in with elderly woman 7 p.m.-7 a.m., free rent, one week night and one weekend evening off, call Rosemary Bennett, 4409 S.W. Massachusetts, 937-5577, after 7 p.m.

WILL provide on-campus parking in exchange for copy delivery Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, about 3 or 4 p.m., to Grange Printing, 3104 Western, near Seattle Center. Call Ann Standaert, Spectator, 626-6850.

WOMAN wants to share house with same. Couple/child okay. Exchange babysitting for expenses. 329-1158.

FOUND: American Literature book. Call Mark, 723-0206.

"The Cellar Tavern"

1413 4th Avenue

Like worms out of a hot cheese log, so too the beer flows at the Cellar!

Every Sunday 75¢ pitchers
All day Long

Thursday night "Ladies Night"
Dime schooners from 7-11 p.m.

Seventy-five cent pitchers before & after every S.U. game.

And not bad pizza either!